Woman Relates to Jury the Facts Connected With Alleged Murder.

Describes Suffering of Sister in the Closing Hours of Her Life.

"Mrs. Hazzard Said I Was a Hopeless and Permanent Imbecile."

P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ATTLE (Wash.) Jan. 20.—"Mrs. azzard said: 'Would you like a eatment, Claire?' and, putting hand on my sister's abdomen, essed down hard. Claire gave and became unconscious. I 'Is it all over?' and Mrs. Hazzard replied, 'Yes.'"

Miss Dorothea Williamson jury in the Kitsap County Court at Port Orchard to- the last time she saw her Claire, the wealthy English whom Mrs. Linda Burfield is accused of murdering at starvation sanatorium." Miss said she returned at once room, which was beneath that by her sister. She heard walking about the room all and wondered what they were "I didn't know that Claire alive, but was told later that not die until 4 o'clock on of Friday, May 19, sev- after they led me from bedside," she said. straightforward manner that apparently impressed the jury deeply, Miss Williamson recounted the events of the night her sister died.

MESSAGE SUPPRESSED.

Miss Williamson said that she attempted to talk to her sister, who showed by her actions that she had something to tell, but that Mrs. Hazzard and the nurse, Miss Robinson, persisted in talking so that the words of the dying woman could not be heard.

"At 7 o'clock in the evening," said Miss Williamson, "Mrs. Hazzard came to me and said Claire wanted to see me alone. I went upstairs and Mrs. Hazzard came into the room with me, but Claire said: 'I want to see Dorothea alone,' and Mrs. Hazzard left. Claire looked hard at me as if she wanted to tell me something, but did not say anything. She felt I was not in a fit condition to hear sad news. I didn't realize she was near death, and I didn't know she had been led to believe I was insane. I was half stupid with weakness. All I did was to kiss her and then go away. Later the nurse, Miss Robinson, came to my room and before she said anything I realized that Claire was dying. I rushed to the stairs and Mrs. Hazzard carried me up to Claire's room. Claire tried to speak, but was too weak. I tried to catch her message, but Mrs. Hazzard kept talking and I couldn't hear. I leaned over Claire and she spoke my pet name, 'Dorie,' but Mrs. Hazzard interrupted to ask me how I spelled it. She talked so much we couldn't hear Claire's whisper."

Then it was that Miss Williamson told how Mrs. Hazzard placed her hand on the dying woman's abdomen and pressed so hard that she became unconscious. The witness said that the day Claire died she was on the side porch which overlooked a deep gulch, and Mrs. Hazzard came to her and said she was afraid she (Dorothea) would commit suicide. She said Mrs. Hazzard introduced the subject of suicide many times.

CALLED AN IMBECILE.

The witness said that Mrs. Hazzard told her that she was an imbecile and probably would be one for life. "I asked her for food and she would not give it to me," said Miss Williamson. "I asked her for a book to read and she said I couldn't read because my brain was affected. After Claire died, Mrs. Hazzard came to me and said it was my sister's wish

WOMEN OF GREAT BRITAIN TO MAKE VIGOROUS EFFORT.

Opponents of Equal Suffrage Are Organizing for Series of Demonstrations and Trying to Induce Asquith to Declare Himself, but He Is Not to Be Caught.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

LONDON, Jan. 20.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Another and by far the severest struggle to get the parliamentary franchise for the women of Great Britain and Ireland will be a sensational event of the near future. After a month of comparative quietude, in the course of which important preparatory work has been done, the suffragists begin to show signs of action and to talk of "dramatic developments not a long way off."

Mrs. Pankhurst's accounts of her American experiences have thrilled her colleagues, who have raised a cheer over the assurance that "our sisters in the States are nearly ready to imitate us in throwing bricks if there is no other way to secure their political liberty."

In a clarion call to arms Mrs. Pethick Lawrence, the ablest feminine pamphleteer on the suffrage side bids the women sharpen "our weapon of militancy" and not forget that "there is no pressure except militancy which we can bring to bear."

On the other hand, the opponents of votes for women under the direction of the National League for Opposing Woman Suffrage, of which Lord Secomer is president and Lady Jersey vice-president, is organizing a series of demonstrations throughout the country to terminate next month in London with a "monster conclave," just after the suffragist meeting, at which Lloyd George will speak and explain just what he meant when he said Mr. Asquith, by the manhood suffrage bill, had "torpedoed the bill the suffragists desire."

Lord Curzon, Lord Cromer, Mr. Harcourt, Lord Loreburn and Mr. Hobhouse will speak for the league, and the anti-suffragists demand that Mr. Asquith take off his coat and proclaim with them the "profound conviction of the unwisdom of votes for women." But the Prime Minister is too old a fox to be trapped in quite that way.

Indianapolis Hears McManigal Started Out to Dynamite Soon After Olaf's Visit to St. Louis.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 21.—The result of the Federal grand jury's investigation of the dynamite conspiracy is to be made public within ten days. It also was learned today that the government has obtained "inside" information that has considerably expedited the work of the investigators. What the character of this help was, the government officials refused to say, but it was intimated it came from persons who before had been expected to oppose the inquiry.

Although the grand jury held no session today, attaches of United States District Attorney Miller's office were occupied in going over certain facts related to the presence in St. Louis in November, 1910, of O. A. Tveitmoe, an official of the California Building Trades Council, who is under indictment in California. Ortie McManigal said soon after that time, on orders from J. J. McNamara, he went to the Pacific Coast to dynamite.

Wife Gets Husband on the Phone so He Can Hear Her Shoot Herself to Death.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—Ulysses Grant Hauch, an inspector in the Department of Agriculture, refused today to accede to his wife's plea by telephone that he come right home.

"Just hold the receiver a second and I think I will convince you that you had better come home," Mrs. Hauch said.

She left the telephone and when she returned she asked:

"Now, dearest, can you hear perfectly?"

"Yes, I can hear. What is it?"

A revolver shot was the answer.

Hauch hurried home and found his wife dead. She had shot herself through the heart. He said Mrs. Hauch had been in poor health recently.

Weakness of La Follette and Near Collapse of Boom Are the Causes.

Pompadour Bob's Friends Call Latest Development Act of Treachery.

Wisconsin Senator Now Regarded as Goat of Anti-Taft Movement.

BY SUMNER CURTIS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Senator Albert B. Cummins of Iowa today announced his candidacy for the Republican Presidential nomination. His intentions have been understood for some time and his action today was a formality. It has created a sensation—or rather sensations—nevertheless, because of the views concerning his entry into the Presidential race that no longer are half suppressed.

The Taft forces regard the announcement of Mr. Cummins's candidacy as evidence of the collapse of the La Follette movement. The La Follette forces regard it as an unfair if not unfriendly matter, their feeling being based on the declaration that it was largely at the solicitation of Senator Cummins and by reason of the latter's pledge of faithful support that the Wisconsin Senator consented to become the leader of the insurgent cause in this year's fight. Feeling that they have been betrayed to a certain extent by the new course adopted by Senator Cummins, the La Follette managers intend to continue their fight for delegates in Iowa.

INDORSED BY IOWANS.

When seen later in the day, Cummins would add nothing to the prepared statement. His candidacy received the indorsement of the Iowa members of Congress present at this morning's meeting, the absentee being Senator Kenyon, who was out of the city. His support of his colleague, however, is assured. With Cummins out of the field, Senator Kenyon would support President Taft.

Just why has Senator Cummins entered the field? That is a question that already aroused much speculation. In the gossip among those who are not best informed there is the view that it is the Cummins plan to control Iowa so that it may be swung to La Follette at the critical moment. The La Follette managers hold to no such delusion, however. They believe that Senator Cummins, as an exponent of moderate insurgency, thinks that he may be a compromise candidate upon whom a majority of the delegates to the Chicago convention can unite.

Senator Cummins, aside from any thoughts he may have about being selected to lead the party in the coming national campaign, realizes the importance of clinching his control of the local situation for local and personal reasons, among which, of course, are those affecting his continuance in the Senate if he does not go higher and his ability to guide the State political machinery in other respects.

NO STALKING HORSE.

As for his Presidential candidacy, it has been made plain that he is not to be the stalking horse for somebody else. The La Follette campaign, it should be said in this connection, is not being conducted on the theory that stalking horses are a good thing. The Wisconsin Senator wants to be insurgent first choice in all sections.

It was stated this evening from an authoritative source that Senator Cummins had not consulted Senator La Follette relative to his latest action. Senator La Follette had "nothing to say" when asked for an opinion. All the La Follette managers would say for publication was that the La Follette campaign would not be affected in the least so far as methods or plans are concerned.

Semi-privately it is intimated once more that Senator La Follette seems to have been made the goat of the anti-Taft movement; that he is not being treated right by the friends at whose urging he was willing to make a sacrifice by leading a probably forlorn hope. It goes without saying that these evidences of feeling and development of factional strife within the progressive ranks brings joy to the regulars.

DODGED LEADERSHIP ONCE.

Senator Cummins, according to chapters of political history heretofore secret, but now being given publicity, could have had the united support of the insurgents in the Senate for the Presidency had he consented to be the leader several months ago. It is declared that Senator La Follette argued with Senator Cummins to become the insurgent candidate for President.

It is declared also that it was Senator Cummins who argued with Sen-

PRESIDENT TAFT SPEAKS AGAINST JUDICIAL RECALL.

Shows Feeling as He Refers to the Necessity of Continuing Institution of Judiciary Independent of the Majority Rather Than Let the Government Be Overridden by Popular Prejudice and Passion.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—With a feeling denunciation of the principle of pudicial recall, delivered to the Bar Association of the State of New York at his banquet tonight, President Taft concluded a busy evening here which he employed chiefly in speechmaking at three different functions.

"We do not believe that all people are fitted for popular government," he said. "Some of us don't dare say so, but I do, and the question whether a people is fitted for popular self-government depends upon the restraint that the minority can place upon the majority to see that justice is done.

"We of the bar are called upon to decide whether we are going to protect the institution of the judiciary and continue it independent of a majority during the time that it is deciding questions of law and justice.

WORDS ARE INCONSISTENT.

"The judicial recall—the words themselves are so inconsistent that I hate to utter them! Are we going to make our Constitution a liquid thing so that a majority can flood the halls of justice, decide every action and override with popular passion and prejudice every principle of this government, the greatest God ever made?

"You must bear in mind that this matter of judicial recall is being agitated the country over, that the men speaking for it are many. What I call your attention to is that it is necessary that good people like you should speak the truth that is in you in favor of courts and their independence and the restraints of the Constitution that were imposed by the wisest ancestors any people ever had."

In reference to the simplification of legal procedure, the President said he had a feeling that the bar and the bench "owed to the people greater effort toward making th administration of law effective and just by expediting justice."

"I am glad to know," he said, "that there is now a profound effort to study where it is that we can shorten litigation so that delay won't make just judgment unjust.

REFERS TO FRENCH CODE.

Referring to the French Code, the President said there, as with us, there was a "tendency to assume that litigants were made for the courts and the exercise of the refinements of reason rather than vice versa.

"There is much the same tendency there as with us," he continued, "to keep the antagonist pawing in the vestibule of justice. We have not yet reached the secret of promoting real justice, but I am glad to know there is a movement the world around to secure reform."

Throughout his speech, the President was frequently interruped by

VIOLET FOOLS THE POLICE WITHOUT AN EFFORT.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Jan. 20.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Violet Buehler arrived in Chicago from New York today accompanied by Detective Sergeant John W. Norton and her foster mother, Mrs. Herman Buehler. She was given into the charge of the matron of the South Clark-street police annex, after she had made a statement to Inspector Hunt, exonerating Roy Allen, who, with Charles McClain, was arrested following admissions she had made in New York.

In New York the girl told the police she had visited Allen in the Meyers Hotel. She told the Chicago inspector Allen was innocent, so he was given his liberty.

The girl reiterated accusations against McClain and as a result Inspector Hunt ordered the man booked on a serious charge.

VISITS A HOTEL.

The girl told the inspector McClain induced her to go to the Meyers Hotel and that she visited the hotel later five or six times.

Following the release of Allen the inspector ordered the girl be given into the charge of the police matron until disposition of McClain's case is had in the municipal court. He said the girl then will be turned over to the juvenile authorities. The inspector declared in all probability the girl will be placed by the juvenile authorities in a home.

"A home is the place for her," he said. "She is too frivolous to be any place else."

"I am mighty glad to get back to Chicago," declared Violet. "It looks good to me after being away two months. I am also glad to be back with my mother. I am sorry for what has taken place and intend to turn over a new leaf."

At the talk in Inspector O'Brien's office, Mrs. Buehler declared it was her intention to send Violet to a private school if the girl is turned over to her.

READY TO FORGIVE.

"I am ready to forgive Violet for everything," declared Mrs. Buehler. "She is all I have and I don't want to have her placed in any institution if I can prevent it. I am satisfied she intends to do right and I will send her to a private school where she can get a good education."

"I did not try to fool the police and that is why they were fooled, I suppose," said the girl with a little laugh. "I did cut my hair and make bangs in front and I got a position with a nice family in a quiet neighborhood, and beyond that I did not do much to hide myself. I walked along Broadway many times where every one could see me. I wore these same clothes. It seemed a big joke that they could not recognize me and the longer I fooled them the bigger seemed the joke."

MANCHUS ARE OUT.

Edict Delayed to Prevent Riot.

Premier Yuan Will Meet the Rebels in Tien-tsin After Its Publication.

Proposes to Use Grape Shot on Recalcitrant Princes if They Start Trouble.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PEKING, Jan. 20.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The abdication of the Manchu dynasty is an accomplished fact. The edict has been drawn up, but not issued yet, because certain measures first must be taken to prevent an uprising by the reactionary wing of the imperial family led by Prince Kung, who has formed a combination to endeavor to maintain the dynasty.

Premier Yuan Shi Kai, who has complete control of the army, is strengthening the guards in various parts of the city and should the minority of the imperial family attempt to instigate riots he is prepared to administer a salutary dose of grape shot. In case of trouble martial law will be proclaimed.

AFTER THE PUBLICATION.

After the abdication has been officially announced, Premier Yuan will invite the republican leaders to meet him in Tien-tsin to organize a new government. The capital thus will be temporarily transferred to Tien-tsin. This explains why the cars on the railroad line have been moved in the direction of this city.

Throughout the revolutionary crisis Yuan Shi Kai has been actuated by three motives—loyalty to the Emperor, desire to prevent his country's disruption and desire to unite the country by peaceful means.

He told the imperial family throughout the period of doubt that he was willing to fight for the dynasty provided the family would furnish the necessary funds, but the avaricious Princes were unwilling to risk their hoarded wealth.

CHOOSE ABDICATION.

Prince Kung, who is making the last stand for the Manchu dynasty, is the grandson of the powerful Prince Kung, sixth son of Emperor Hsienfung, husband of the last Empress Dowager, Tsi An. Prince Kung placed the Empress Dowager in control of the empire on the death of her husband in 1861 and ruled with her for many years. He died in 1898. The present Prince Kung was born in 1880.

TO SPILL THE BEANS AS DESPAIRING ACT.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NANKING, Jan. 20.—The foremost of the republicans here today declared their belief that the Manchus and the younger imperial Princes are determined to bring China to ruin and dismemberment as a final despairing act. Few persons now refuse to recognize the hopelessness of the Manchu struggle. Yuan Shi Kai is practically held a prisoner in Peking and poses as a champion of the Manchus in order to save his own life. He still urges a monarchy, according to advices received here, though Tang Shao Yi, his closest friend, and intimate associates assert that Yuan really favors a republic.

A few days ago a complete agreement was reached between Yuan and Tang and President Sun Yat Sen and Wu Ting-fang, the Minister of Justice in the provisional Cabinet, whereby the Manchus accepted the liberal terms offered Yuan Shi Kai and President Sun actually agreed to a different government in the North and ally drafted and initiated when Yuan, and President Sun, the signers guaranteeing to administer affairs conjointly until the permanent government is decided upon by the national convention. This agreement was actually drafted and initiated when Yuan on behalf of the Manchus, sought to amend it. This alarmed the republicans and they broke off negotiations. President Sun and the members of the Cabinet are firmly convinced that recognition of the republic by the powers will come quickly unless the influence of certain of the powers is too strong against it. They asked today that they be allowed to express through the Associated Press the hope that the United States would sustain its original broad policy and be the first to stretch a friendly hand to preserve China's integrity. Members of the republican assembly which elected Dr. Sun Yat Sen to the Presidency are now engaged in drawing up a form of Constitution for the new Chinese republic.

Declines to Talk of the Watterson Incident.

Nebraskan Named Ross Also Wants Presidency.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Jan. 20.—Gov. Woodrow Wilson will make a three days' invasion of the West from February 29 to March 2. It is possible the time may be extended to March 4. This will not mean the cancellation of his trip to Chicago, February 12, but his speech here will be the only one at that time.

ADDRESSES THE VETERANS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

GRAND RAPIDS (Mich.) Jan. 20.—Gov. Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey, addressed a mass meeting of war veterans at the Soldiers' Home here today. His talk was along the lines of his speeches here last night and in Detroit. Gov. Wilson maintained today his attitude of absolute refusal to discuss the utterances of Henry Watterson on his candidacy for the Presidency.

WILSON ON THE BALLOT.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

LINCOLN (Neb.) Jan. 20.—The name of Gov. Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey was presented as a candidate for President on the Democratic primary ballot by a petition signed by thirty citizens of Omaha and South Omaha, filed with the Secretary of State today. The petition is signed by men who have been prominent in affiliation with the Bryan-Wilson party.

WHO IS ROSS?

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

LINCOLN (Neb.) Jan. 20.—Lexington, Neb., presented a candidate for Presidential honors today when the Secretary of State received a petition requesting that the name of Robert G. Ross of that town be placed on the Democratic Presidential primary ballot. Ross's petition was signed by himself and twenty-five other residents of Lexington.

It was made out on a blank provided for candidates to the State Legislature, and was accompanied by the following letter:

"To the Secretary of State:

"Dear Sir: File this Democratic filing amediately. I will send the Repulican and Probitn and Socelist later on. Get them others filed if you can. I am entitled to first filing. Nock Roosevelts filing out the lau don't say to file in 1911, but speaks of 1912.

WANT PROHIBITION IN ALL PLATFORMS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Jan. 20.—For the first time since 1884 temperance advocates will invade the Republican and Democratic conventions this year and ask that each party include a prohibition plank in its platform. A sub-committee of the National Federated Committee, a body representing several prohibition organizations, made public today the names of the men prominent in the two parties who will be asked to wait on the delegates in behalf of the temperance bodies. Gov. Stubbs of Kansas and J. Frank Hanly, formerly Governor of Indiana, are the Republicans named, and William J. Bryan and Congressman Richmond Pearson Hobson, the Democrats.

ST. LOUIS PRIMARY IMPOSSIBLE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 20.—No official primary to elect delegates to the Democratic State convention in Joplin, February 20, which will determine whether former Gov. Folk or Speaker Champ Clark shall have the Missouri indorsement for President can be held in St. Louis under a ruling of the Board of Election commissioners today. The board denied the request of the city committee for the use of the ballot boxes and duplicate copies of the poll and primary election books or to assume jurisdiction over the primary. Without the board's jurisdiction, there will be no way to punish fraud or determine who is entitled to vote.

THERE ARE FEWER SUICIDES.

But at that California Leads the List with Twenty-nine for Every Hundred Thousand Persons.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—Fewer persons committed suicide during 1910 than in 1909, according to the latest statistics on the subject, announced to day by Dr. Cressy L. Wilbur, chief vital statistician of the United States census bureau.

The death rate from suicide in 1910 was 16 per 100,000 of population in the census bureau's death registration area, which comprises about one-half of the country's population, and covers twenty-two States and a number of larger cities in other States. The rate was 16.5 in 1909. There were 8590 suicides in 1910.

Suicide by fire-arms was the favorite method of self-destruction, and showed an increase over 1909. Poison was a close second.

California led the States with twenty-nine suicides per 100,000 of population, while Maryland with 10.3 had the lowest rate. In the re-districtation of over 100,000 population, San Francisco with 44.2 suicides per 100,000 led. Oakland, Cal., with 32.4, was third, and Seattle with 32.3, fourth; Los Angeles 30, fifth. The Portland (Or.) rate was 24.4, and Spokane, 23.7. New York's rate was 16.4, and Chicago's 20.9.

The rate per 100,000 population by States includes: California 29, Montana 21.4, New York 16.7, Utah 10.7, Washington 19.9.

FEDERATION OF UNIONS.

Laborites Form One in Arizona and Call in the Politicians for a Long Conference.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PHOENIX (Ariz.) Jan. 20.—Forty-four delegates, representing every union labor organization in Arizona, with a total membership of 7000, met here today and formed the Arizona State Federation of Labor. E. B. Simonson of Globe was elected president, and Harvey P. Greene of Phoenix, secretary. They will serve until officers are elected by a referendum vote of the federation.

Committees on constitution, rules, legislation and resolutions were appointed and reports will be heard tomorrow. The convention will be in session until Wednesday.

It was decided, the organization should apply for membership in the American Federation of Labor, although it was admitted the Arizona membership included unions or trades not recognized by the national body.

The principal work of the State federation will be to recommend laws to the first Legislature of Arizona. If, it was declared, the Legislature fails to take steps deemed adequate by labor, the initiative will be invoked.

Among the laws desired are an employers' liability, workmen's compulsory compensation, mining inspector, mining laws, prohibition of the black list, child labor, eight-hour day on public work, letting of State contracts to those who employ union labor, the recall applying to Federal judges, United States Senators as well as all other State officeholders, and laws putting into effect the initiative, referendum and recall.

Politicians were in conference with manyof the union labor leaders today, and it was announced tonight the delegates have practically been promised the right to name the mine inspector and boiler inspector.

TO BOOST ROOSEVELT.

CHICAGO, Jan. 20.—Chicagoans favoring the nomination of Col. Roosevelt for President today launched a national Roosevelt committee which they said was organized to aid similar organizations in other States to promote Roosevelt sentiment. Chicago business and professional men, it was announced, are back of the movement. Alex. H. Revell, a merchant and former Republican candidate for Mayor, was elected chairman, Dwight Lawrence, treasurer, and Edwin W. Sims, formerly United States District Attorney, secretary. Possibility that the insurgent Republicans, who are to meet at Springfield, Ill., next Saturday in a State conference, may be divided into Roosevelt and La Follette factions, caused comment among politicians here today. It was said the leaders in the insurgent movement would endeavor to agree on some plan which would prevent friction at the conference.

ator La Follette that he had been the real leader throughout the whole progressive movement and that he was the logical person to carry the flag; that he pledged his support to La Follette if La Follette would consent, and that the Wisconsin Senator yielded to be a "forlorn hope" champion if need be, to wage the fight for insurgent principles. It is said to have been mutually understood that the fight, if made, must be made around one man.

Undoubtedly the most interesting as well as the most sensational feature of the new situation and the fresh complications confronting the Republicans is the indication of an open break between the La Follette forces and such as may not attach themselves to the Cummins standard. Matters may be patched up, but the signs are otherwise and it will be strange, under the circumstances, if one of the results is not the creation of two distinct insurgent elements, the radical insurgents and the moderate insurgents.

IT CAUSES TALK.

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 20.—The Pittsburgh Leader, which four months ago at the request of Theodore Roosevelt eliminated his name from its editorial page as its candidate for the Presidency, today restored the name with the statement that it advocated his nomination. At the time Col. Roosevelt asked the removal of the name, he said he would consider it a calamity if his friends made him a candidate. The Leader complied with the request, announcing it would respect Col. Roosevelt's personal desires. While no revocation of the request is announced, the Leader declares the name will remain, at least until after the Republican nomination, as the issue is greater than the desires of any individual.

TWO MORE BODIES FOUND.

BOSTON, Jan. 20.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] Two more bodies, both women, were recovered today from the ruins of the Revere house, making with the woman's body found Thursday, three victims of Tuesday morning's fire. It is believed the bodies found today are those of employees of the hotel.

PSYCHOLOGIST INDIGNANT AT LOS ANGELES REPORT.

Mutters With Rage Over Story of His Theory's Demonstration Here and Declares Man on Trial Was Merely Excited, as Any Man Would Be in Court.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BOSTON, Jan 20.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Sorrow, anger and indignation mingled in the countenance of Prof. Hugo Munsterberg at Harvard all day today. He heard of the dispatch from Los Angeles telling how a local court had in the case of Arthur Schmidt, up for vagrancy, "given the first demonstration in the history of criminology of Prof. Munsterberg's theory that the pulsations of the heart betray either guilt or innocence."

Snorts of contempt proceeded from the professor every time he recalled how the court had found the prisoner's heart beats jump ten beats to the minute, while he was giving a wrong name. Mutterings of indignation proceeded from the professor when he remembered that the court had felt the theory had been tried and found sound.

"My theory? bah, bah," said the professor. "In this subject, this prisoner of the town of Watts, Cal., this vagrant of the streets, as the papers say, there had been no test for the theory I have worked out. This man was merely excited. No wonder his heart beats jumped.

"A grotesque exaggeration and mistake. The trouble is that my theory is not properly understood. Such an experiment as that mentioned in the morning papers is no test of my doctrine at all. It's absurd, ridiculous; they don't comprehend.

"My theory? It's too much to discuss now; the time I have not. I have no patience with such grotesque interpretations."

STOMACH DISTRESS AND DYSPEPSIA GO.

As there is often some one in your family who suffers an attack of Indigestion or some form of Stomach trouble why don't you keep some Diapepsin in the house handy?

This harmless blessing will digest anything you can eat, without the slightest discomfort, and overcome a sour, gassy Stomach five Minutes after.

Tell your pharmacist to let you read the formula, plainly printed on these 50-cent cases, of Pape's Diapensin, then you will readily see why it makes Indigestion, Sour Stomach, Heartburn and other distress go in five minutes, and relieves at once such miseries as Belching of Gas, Eructations of sour, undigested food, Nausea, Headaches, Dizziness, Constipation and other Stomach disorders.

Some folks have tried so long to find relief from Indigestion and Dyspepsia or an out-of-order stomach with the common, everyday cures advertised that they have about made up their minds that they have something else wrong, or believe theirs is a case of Nervousness, Gastritis, Catarrh of the Stomach or Cancer.

This, no doubt, is a serious mistake. Your real trouble is, what you eat does not digest; instead, it ferments and sours, turns to acid, Gas and Stomach poison, which putrefy in the digestive tract and intestines, and besides, poison the breath with nauseous odors.

A hearty appetite, with thorough digestion, and without the slightest discomfort or misery of the Stomach, is waiting for you as soon as you decide to try Pape's Diapepsin.

CRIES IN AGONY

that I remain at Olalla the rest of my life. Mrs. Hazzard said I was an imbecile and must stay at Olalla always. I said that I didn't want to stay there and that I knew my sister would not want me to stay against my will. I wanted to go back to Australia."

Witness said that after Claire's death she was induced to give to Mrs. Hazzard's husband, Samuel G. Hazzard, formerly adjutant of West Point Military Academy, a power of attorney authorizing him to look after some affairs in Vancouver, B. C. She had $550 deposited in a bank there, and told Mr. Hazzard to send $500 to her uncle living in Toronto. Two checks for $590 drawn by Lieut. Hazzard against the Vancouver bank account were introduced in evidence. The State will attempt to show that this money was not disposed of according to the instructions given by Miss Williamson, who was still on the stand when court adjourned.

DOCUMENT INTRODUCED.

John Herbert of Portland, uncle of the Williamson sisters, identified a typewritten statement which he said Lieut. Hazzard gave him as the last formal statement of Claire Williamson.

The statement was addressed "To my relatives and friends," and said that the Williamson sisters placed themselves under Mrs. Hazzard's care unsolicited and that every act of theirs while in her charge was of their own free will. It contained the following sentence:

"I am writing this statement to say that Dora and I entered on this course of treatment only after thorough investigation, that we continued it voluntarily, and that if death occurs I believe that it is inevitable and that it would have come in any circumstances."

The statement was unsigned. Herbert said Hazzard told him Miss Williamson wished to sign it but was too weak to do so.

CUMMINS'S ACT WORRIES GOVERNOR.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

DES MOINES (Iowa) Jan. 20.—"I cannot see at the present time how Senator Cummins's announcement as a candidate for President will help along matters in Iowa. It is too early to say what the result will be."

This was the only comment Gov. B. F. Carroll would make regarding the Cummins candidacy for President, today. Iowa Republican leaders, however, seemed to be more interested in what the effect of the announcement would be on the Iowa situation, rather than in a national sense. While some of them were of the opinion that Senator Cummins would have no difficulty in obtaining the united support of the State convention at Cedar Rapids, April 24, others asserted that it would be impossible for him to get the delegates of all the eleven Congressional districts.

W. C. Hayward, Secretary of State, said he believed the entrance of Cummins in the Presidential contest would clarify the Iowa political situation.

"The Senator is entitled to the solid Iowa delegation," said Mr. Hayward.

BOY BANDIT A WIT.

DENVER, Jan. 20.—A boy bandit and Anthony G. Kilker, owner of a local laundry, played a game of "hands up" and "hands down" when Mr. Kilker was on his way to his place of business early today. The shifting of the position of Kilker's hands became necessary for the welfare of the robber, who saw an automobile approaching. He ordered Kilker to raise and lower his arms in a rapid automatic fashion, thus giving the occupants of the car no reason to suspect that the man executing the movement was being held up. When the car had passed the highwayman relieved Kilker of $40 and disappeared.

HEAVY FIGHTING IN THE STREETS.

CONTENDING FORCES BATTLE IN GUAYAQUIL.

American and British Consuls Are Spectators of Fierce Engagement Following Their Efforts to Promote Settlement—Citizens Fear a Further Attack.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

GUAYAQUIL (Ecuador) Jan. 20.—Fighting occurred in the streets last evening and was kept up all night between adherents of Gen. Leonidas Plaza and supporters of Gen. Alfaro. The followers of Gen. Plaza were defeated. The losses of both parties were severe.

The affair began at the moment of the arrival of a peace commission, composed of the American and British Consuls and four other prominent personages. The commissioners went to Duran to meet Gen. Julio Andrade, who yesterday attacked and defeated an army of Guayaquil troops. Their purpose was to learn the conditions on which an understanding between the two armies could be brought about.

Gen. Andrade's whereabouts could not be discovered by the commissioners, who then returned to Guayaquil. Upon their landing cheers for Gen. Plaza and counter cheers for Gen. Alfaro were given by a large crowd, and shooting commenced shortly afterward.

There is a panic in the city, as the inhabitants fear an attack by the Quito troops. It is thought probable that Gen. Andrade is advancing with his army.

One Million, Two Hundred Twenty-Two Thousand Seventy-Four Inches of Paid Advertising Printed in The Times During 1911.

Advertising Supremacy Means Circulation Superiority

The Times gain of 28,938 inches of advertising in 1911 over 1910 clearly indicates that advertisers in Los Angeles, and throughout the Pacific Southwest, realize that by using The Times alone they can cover this rich and profitable field at one cost.

In 1911 The Times printed 1,222,074 inches of advertising against 1,193,136 inches in 1910.

This splendid increase is truly remarkable in view of the fact that for more than five years The Times has regularly led every newspaper on earth, and completely obscured its local contemporaries in the volume of advertising printed. Sentiment does not in any degree enter into this journal's phenomenal and over-increasing advertising patronage.

The extraordinary preference for The Times as an advertising medium is due to the fact that it brings the buyer and the seller together; and keen and expert advertisers have found that the most direct and profitable way of reaching all the people all the time is through its columns.

LAUNCH IS LOST; FIVE DROWNED.

Life Saver Has Narrow Escape from Death.

Break in Engine Leaves Boat at Mercy of Tide.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

MARSHFIELD (Or.) Jan. 20.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Five men lost their lives on the Coos Bay bar by the capsizing of the small gasoline launch North Star, which was carried out to sea just before dark this evening.

Those lost were:

JOE TONKERS, the skipper.
FRANK TANNER, married.
IRA ALBEE.
CON FERRI.
WILLIAM BRAINARD.

The last named is a married man with four children. All lived on South Slough.

The launch was operated by Joe Tonkers between Coos Bay and South Slough. The boat left Marshfield this afternoon. Evidently the engine broke soon after leaving Empire and the little craft was utterly helpless without power in the strong current and the tide. It was carried out over the bar. From the lookout at the bar the launch was seen to strike the jetty and turn over. The look-out sent word at once to the life savers and they went out.

Reports from the life saving station state that the crew did not succeed in rescuing any one. One of the life saving crew was swept overboard and nearly lost his life, but was rescued.

Tonkers had another accident in the bay about two years ago when a boat he was running sank. On that occasion the passengers swam ashore.

Two detectives who had heard what they at first believed to be an alarm of fire ran Sullivan down.

Your TeethWorth Money

Now, friends, you don't need to be told that when the teeth need attention they need it right away. They won't wait until you get ready. Every tooth in your head is worth money to you, for try as we will, no dentist has yet found a substitute that equals nature's teeth. I believe I can come as close to it as any dentist living, with my Plateless Teeth, but I would not claim they were as good as those which grew in your jaws.

EYEGLASSES NOT NECESSARY

Eyesight Can Be Strengthened and Most Forms of Diseased Eyes Successfully Treated Without Cutting or Drugging.

That the eyes can be strengthened so that eyeglasses can be dispensed with in many cases has been proven beyond a doubt by the testimony of hundreds of people who publicly claim that their eyesight has been restored by that wonderful little instrument called "Actina." "Actina" also relieves Sore and Granulated Lids, Iritis, Cataracts, etc., without cutting or drugging. Over ninety-three thousand "Actinas" have been sold; therefore the Actina treatment is not an experiment, but is reliable. The following letters are but samples of hundreds we receive:

Mrs. E. F. Tucker, 2041 Antonio ave., Alameda, Cal., writes: "After using 'Actina' a short time, I discarded by glasses, and have not used them since. This is over five years ago."

Mrs. Harriet Brewster, 2246 Market st., San Francisco, Cal., writes: "'Actina' gives me great relief both for my eyes and insomnia."

Mr. M. M. Moyer, 1170 E. 20th st., San Francisco, Cal., writes: "My wife suffered excruciating pain in one of her eyes. The use of the 'Actina' completely removed this. Granulated lids cannot exist where 'Actina' is used."

Augustine L. Viots, 429 No. Commerce st., Stockton, Cal., writes: "I think 'Actina' a fine instrument, invaluable in the household. It strengthens the eyes and acts as a tonic and a massage."

Mr. F. M. Hallett, 1636½ Maple Ave., Los Angeles, Cal., writes: "I can certainly recommend 'Actina' to anyone who has eye trouble."

Mr. Louis Leonard, 737 American Ave., Long Beach, Cal., writes: "I find 'Actina' unexcelled for weak eyes."

"Actina" can be used with perfect safety by every member of the family for any form of disease of the Eye, Ear, Throat or Head.

MUSIC TEACHER ARRESTED

Ex-Angeleno Is Alleged to Have Planned to Dress a Girl Pupil in Boy's Clothing.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PORTLAND (Or.) Jan. 20.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Derome Wood, a music teacher, formerly of San Francisco and Los Angeles, who was arrested in connection with the marriage of 14-year-old Mabel Seekratz, was returned to Portland from Seattle last night. Evidence tending to show his relationship with young girls who were his pupils was presented to the grand jury today.

Wood planned to take an 11-year-old girl to Germany so she could not testify against him, to dress her as a boy, having made a suit to fit her, the girl confessed. This suit was presented before the grand jury today by officers from the juvenile court. When the police interfered with his scheme Wood left for Seattle.

Parents of two other girls under 14 were also before the jury this morning to tell what they knew of Wood's actions. In the case of the Seekratz girl, Wood persuaded his son to marry her and perjury is alleged to have been committed in obtaining the license. Young Wood is under arrest on this charge.

Revenue Cutter Reports That The Gloucester Boats Caught In The Ice Are Safe.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

GLOUCESTER (Mass.) Jan. 20.—"All now free," was the wireless message received this afternoon from Capt. Daniels of the Revenue Cutter Androscoggin concerning the fleet of Gloucester fishing vessels that has been icebound on the west coast of Newfoundland.

Two dozen craft were icebound at Bay of Islands and Bonnie Bay, and the revenue cutters Androscoggin and Gresham were sent to their aid. On Thursday the Bay of Islands fleet was able to get away when the wind blew the ice off shore. Yesterday the vessels at Bonne Bay sought to make the passage, but were caught in the ice. Today however, these craft freed themselves and all are now bound for this port

A PANDORA'S BOX. OPENED BY A JUDGE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 20.—On order of the Superior Court, a safety deposit box containing valuables left to Emma Hayes Benedict by her husband, the late Courtland S. Benedict, was opened today in the presence of Judge Thomas Graham and found to contain bonds and deeds to mining property and real estate valued in all at about $250,000. The box was opened at the request of Mrs. Lena Holly and Mrs. Arabella Barringer of Flatbush, N. Y., sisters of the deceased. Under the terms of the will Benedict left everything in the safety deposit box to his widow. Counsel for the sisters of Benedict announced that the will would be contested.

WILL PLEAD GUILTY AND ASK A PAROLE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PORTLAND (Or.) Jan. 20.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Temple W. Alexander, bridegroom of a few weeks, and formerly clerk in the purchasing department of the O. R. & N., confessed embezzler of $25,000 from the railroad by means of forged vouchers during the last few years, will plead guilty to two indictments charging him with embezzlement in Circuit Judge Gaten's court next Thursday and will ask for parole. This announcement was made today by Alexander's attorney, Dan J. Murphy, who went before the court with the young man to respond to the indictments. A strong effort is being made by the bride and friends of the accused to get the consent of the railroad company to a parole and evidence will be presented to the judge at the hearing to show Alexander's previous good reputation.

DINE IN A JUNGLE. BUT GRUB TASTES THE SAME.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 20.—With an austere and dowager-like parrot sitting on a limb and making grave comments, 35 guests of Mrs. Andrew Welch, Jr., dined "in the jungle" here last night. Mrs. Welch gave an animal dinner, in a tropical setting of palms and bamboo, with lions and tigers and giraffes peering through the brake. Some of the animals were stuffed and some were not, and there was much claque and chatter of monkeys and ducklings and little green parakeets mingling with the more restrained conversation of the other guests. The table was arranged in the fashion of a jungle landscape, showing miniature mountains and forests and streams. Everywhere was a tangle of undergrowth, with pathways cut through and beasts lurking at every turn. Azaleas, acacias, orchids and pasmine, brought from South America, were used in the decorations.

LIFE'S DERELICTS. CHIEF WANTS HAVEN FOR THEM

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 20.—The numbers of homeless and penniless men who apply nightly at the city prison for a lodging caused Chief of Police White today to propose a municipal free hotel before the Board of Supervisors. "From ten to a hundred of these men apply at the prison nightly for a warm dry place to sleep," said the Chief. "Each is given a blanket and allowed to lie on the cement floor. There ought to be a place where they could at least lie on something soft and get a cup of hot coffee before leaving in the morning. Most of these unfortunates really want to work, but find nothing to do."

He did not have the clothes so he stole them from a friend, going into the friend's room in Astoria, and taking two tailor-made suits. These suits form the evidence upon which Lohmne was arrested and following which a requisition issued by the Governor of Oregon was honored today by Gov. Johnson.

INDIAN THREATENING TO KILL A MEDICINE MAN.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

MADELINE (Cal.) Jan. 20.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Incited by superstition, and loyal to an ancient custom, the Indians near Likely, Modoc county, are said to be preparing to enact a tragedy as the fitting finale to a series of deaths among the tribesmen who have been treated by Pete Otto, an Indian medicine man. They are in an excited state and their plans are said to be the sacrifice of the medicine man.

The officials of Modoc county are investigating the more recent deaths and keeping a close watch on the Indians. The culminating event which aroused the Indians to their excited condition was the sudden death at Likely of Jennie Jackson, Indian wife of George Jackson, a prominent white rancher, following treatment by Otto.

It is the custom of the Indians to kill a medicine man after he has lost a certain number of patients, and coupled with the reason for Otto's death contained in this custom there is the additional cause, in the Indian minds, in the suspicion that he deliberately caused the Jackson woman's death by the administering of a potion in which there was a large mixture of wild parsnip, a potent poison frequently used by the Indians.

Why suffer the stares of those about you because of a poor, muddy and bleary looking complexion? What you need is rich, strong, generous flowing blood to furnish a clear, clean pigment (color) to the face so that with each beat of the heart the blood courses uninterruptedly through the small surface veins of the face, thereby keeping a glowing color ever present.

Stuart's Calcium Wafers are composed of the most powerful of blood builders and purifiers, yet they are harmless and may be taken into the system by anyone, even a child. What is invigorating to the weak stomach most certainly will aid the well one. Any invalid may take Stuart's Calcium Wafers and be benefited, so that no one need feel the slightest hesitancy in using these little purifiers continuously.

They work very fast and many severe cases of discolored complexions are thoroughly cleared and beautified after a brief time. The number of testimonials we have attesting to the strength, vigor and effectiveness of Stuart's Calcium Wafers would astonish one. Every druggist carries them in stock, price 50c. Don't wait, but go to your druggist today and buy a box of these Wafers. Take them after each meal and give them an honest trial and the rapid results will astonish you.

We will send you a trial package containing an amount of these Wafers sufficient to show their value. Send us your name and address and we will send you a trial package by mail, free. Address F. A. Stuart Co., 175 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

NOT ANXIOUS TO BUY BONDS.

SEATTLE, Jan. 20.—Eastern investors today again declined to submit bids for municipal street railway bonds, although the bids received for the other soduritles offered were slightly better than those rejected ten days ago. At that time bidders were requested to submit an offer for $250,000 of the $800,000 municipal street railway bond issue authorized by the electors last March.

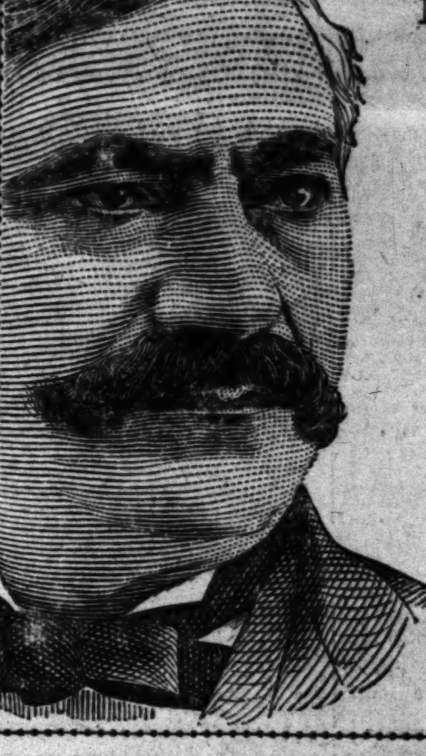
HAD CATARRH THIRTY YEARS.



EX-Congressman Meekison Gives Praise To Pe-ru-na For His Relief From Catarrh.

EX-CONGRESSMAN MEEKISON COMMENDS PE-RU-NA.

"I have used several bottles of Peruna and I feel greatly benefited thereby from my catarrh of the head. I feel encouraged to believe that if I use it a short time longer I will be fully able to eradicate the disease of thirty years' standing."—David Meekison.

PERUNA RESTORED HEALTH.

Mr. C. N. Peterson, 132 South Main St., Council Bluffs, Iowa, writes: "I cannot tell you how much good Peruna has done me. Constant confinement in my store began to tell on my health, and I felt that I was gradually breaking down. I tried several remedies, but obtained no permanent relief until I took Peruna. I felt better immediately, and five bottles restored me to complete health."

A SINCERE RECOMMENDATION.

Mr. D. C. Prosser, R. R. 6, Shelby, Oceana Co., Michigan, writes: "Two years ago I was badly afflicted with catarrh of the stomach. I had had a run of typhoid fever, was very depleted. I could find nothing I could eat without causing distress and sour stomach. Finally I came to the conclusion that I had catarrh of the stomach and seeing Peruna advertised began to take it. It helped me soon, and after taking three or four bottles I was entirely cured of stomach trouble, and can now eat anything."

EFFORTS TO BRIBE MAYOR.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CINCINNATI, Jan. 20.—Dr. August Hembold, mayor of Newport, Ky., declared today that he had been offered $1000 in cash and $100 a month if he would allow a racing pool room to run in that city. As a result he held a conference with the Board of Commissioners and a crusade to remove hand books was decided upon.

DENIES THAT HE'S DEAD.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SCRANTON (Pa.) Jan. 20.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Micajah Wise, 109 years old, known for many years as "Wayne county's grand old man," made the rounds of the newspaper offices in person today and demanded retractions of the published accounts of his death. Glowing encomiums of his character and deeds, deft allusion to the void in the community caused by the passing of one so full of years and honors, failed to modify the patriarch's wrath. He was not a "dead one" and he was prepared to show it if he had to lick someone.

PEAHEN HAS COCK'S FEATHERS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

MOUNT CARMEL (Ill.) Jan. 20.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] This city, long famous as the site of the Frances Shimer Academy, the habitat of about three hundred remarkably beautiful girl students, has laid fresh claim to distinction. J. M. Allison, a farmer west of the city, claims to have the greatest natural freak on record in a peafowl which has developed the tail features of a peacock. The bird is five years old. Each season, including the one just past, it has laid eggs. A few weeks ago it began to develop long tail feathers and now has all the markings of a peacock except the male "squawk." The peculiar freak is vouched for by the neighbors and scientists who have investigated the farmer's claim.

BABY GIRL DESERTED

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

AKRON (O.) Jan. 20.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Startling evidence was given of the spread of race suicide here and the desire of childless families for a little one in a case now in the hands of the humane society. A remarkably beautiful baby girl, deserted on a doorstep, probably by some young mother on the verge of starvation, was taken charge of by the humane society, which announced in the newspapers that unless the parents of the baby called for it, the society would give it for adoption. Immediately there was a rush of applicants and the rooms of the society have been crowded day and night by men and women eager to secure the child. The situation has become so embarrassing, that to avoid jealousies and charges of favoritism the society has announced that ten of the most eligible applicants will be selected and the baby will be disposed of by a raffle.

Title Cleared.

THE CUDAHYS WILL STAY ON CALIFORNIA RANCH.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Jan. 20.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Noble B. Judah, Jr., one of the attorneys for the Cudahy estate, today declared the California decision was of little importance, as it was the result of a friendly suit brought by the heirs themselves to clear the title on California real estate.

"There is no thought of attempting to break the will," said Mr. Judah. "The trustees have the right to sell real estate and were selling certain California lands. On account of the trust provision of the will the purchasers thought the title might possibly be clouded and the heirs brought suit against the executors of the estate merely to get a decree declaring the trust provision of the will void as concerns California real estate.

"There they have a provision in the statutes which prohibits the holding of real estate in trust for more than five years. That was why it was possible to get a decision. We handled the case from Chicago. There is nothing in the decision that affects the Illinois property of the estate, and it is practically all here.

"The Cudahy heirs are, with one exception, in California, on the Cudahy ranch, where they have passed their winters for a number of years. They are not selling the home ranch and the value of the land that is being sold is comparatively small, nothing like $800,000 as mentioned in dispatches."

"WRECKING CREW" FIRED.

President Francis Feehan of Western District Succeeds in Unseating Opponents at Convention.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 20.—Charging that Robert Gibbons was "the foreman of the unon wrecking crew of the coal corporations of Pittsburgh," Francis Feehan, president of the western district of the United Mine Workers' of America, today succeeded in having Gibbons, Abe Kephart and James Sabin unseated as delegates to the mine workers' convention in this city.

The three men are leaders of the anti-Feehan faction of the Pittsburgh district, and lately were expelled from the organization on the charge of instituting a rival union in the field of the United Mine Workers. They came to the national convention as representatives of local Pennsylvania unions, unauthorized to elect them, according to national officials.

A proposed scale contract, demanding higher wages for both bituminous and anthracite miners, is expected to be submitted to the convention early next week by its scale committee.

ARMLESS, HE MAKES GOOD.

A Lesson for the I.W.W.'S Is Presented in the Career of a Little Rock Man.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

LITTLE ROCK (Ark.) Jan. 20.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] That a man without arms need not become dependent upon others is proven by the career of J. Oscar Humphrey, who is a candidate for Assessor of Sevier county for a second term, without opposition.

Notwithstanding a handicap that would have driven ninety-nine in every hundred to beg for alms, Humphrey has, through his own efforts, made an honorable position in his community, and has a course in law in view and an ambition that knows no bounds.

At the age of 6 years Oscar lost both arms, near the shoulder, in a gin accident. At the age of 15 his father died, and he was brought face to face with the necessity of supporting himself. He writes by holding his pen with his left stump and chin, and has won especial recognition for the superiority of his penmanship.

DANES WANT CANAL TRADE.

Apply to Government for Lease on Harbor of St. Thomas and Plan Making It Canal Trade Port.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—In connection with the opening of the Panama Canal it is announced that a Danish financial group has asked the Danish government for a long term lease of the harbor of St. Thomas, a little island forty miles east of Porto Rico. The company proposes to deepen the harbor and build wharves and docks, the idea being to make it an important port for canal trade. The scheme is now under consideration and will come before the Danish Rigsdag, the consent of which is indispensible.

TO ABOLISH ALL LOTTERIES.

Mexican Government Itself Is Going to Quit the Business and Will Renew No Concessions.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 20.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The lotter, a national institution in Mexico, is to be abolished. Abraham Gonzales, Minister of Gobernacion, is leading the fight, backed by President Madero, who is opposed to all gambling.

A measure dealing the knockout to this ancient custom will be presented very shortly in Congress, making it a misdemeanor and imposing a big fine for anyone engaging in, encouraging, or financing lotteries.

Included in this measure will be the abolition also of the national lottery, which brings to the national treasury $175,000 per year. Most of the concessions granted for this line of business expire during the year and the promoters have already been advised that there is no possibility their concessions will be extended.

"A TIZ Bath, My Boy, a TIZ Bath! You Can't Beat It for Sore Feet, Corns and Bunions!"

"Sure! I Use TIZ Every Time for Any Foot Trouble."

When your feet are so tired they feel like stumps, when they ache so that they hurt way up to your heart, when you shamble your feet along and it seems as though all the misery you ever had has settled in your feet, look at the happy TIZ man in the picture.

You can be happy-footed just the same. If you have corns and bunions that everybody seems to step on, just think of this happy TIZ man. He had corns and bunions, too. This man used TIZ, and now he has no more tender, raw, chafed, blistered, swollen, tired, smelly feet, corns, callouses or bunions.

As soon as you put your feet in a TIZ bath, you feel the happiness soaking in. It's like mountain ozone to lungs.

Nothing else but TIZ can give you this happy foot feeling. Don't accept any substitutes.

TIZ, 25 cents a box, sold everywhere, or sent direct, on receipt of price, by Walter Luther Dodge & Co., Chicago, Ill. Recommended by all Drug Stores, department and general stores.

"YSOBEL" A SUCCESS.

Mascagni's Latest Opera Is Produced in Venice, But the Composer Is Challenged to a duel.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

VENICE, Jan. 20.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Pietro Mascagni's "Ysobel" was produced here tonight and at the close was acclaimed a tremendous success.

There was great excitement before the performance over the attempts of Mascagni and the music publisher, Son Zogno, with whom the composer had become reconciled, to stop the premiere at La Scala at Milan tonight. The telephone was kept busy for several hours, but without success. Finally Mascagni called up the Duke of Modrone, the president of La Scala, and asked him to postpone the premiere there. The Duke refused, whereupon Mascagni lost his temper and insulted the nobleman. The Duke thereupon challenged Mascagni to fight a duel.

Mascagni was called before the curtain nine times.

DUEL CALLED OFF.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

MILAN, Jan. 20.—[Exclusive Dispatch..] The production of Mascagni's "Ysobel" at the La Scala here tonight was a great success for all concerned.

The prospective duel between the composer and the Duke of Modrone because the latter was insulted when he refused to order the premiere postponed will probably be declared off owing to the good feeling over the triumph of the production.

How to Get Rid of Catarrh.

A Simple, Safe, Reliable Way, and It Costs Nothing to Try.

Those who suffer from catarrh know its miseries. There is no need of this suffering. You can get rid of it by a simple, safe, inexpensive, home treatment discovered by Dr. Blosser, who, for over thirty-six years, has been treating catarrh successfully.

His treatment is unlike any other. It is not a spray, douche, salve, cream, or inhaler, but is a more direct and thorough treatment than any of these. It cleans out the head, nose, throat and lungs so that you can again breathe freely and sleep without that stopped-up feeling that all catarrh sufferers have. It heals the diseased mucous membranes and arrests the foul discharge, so that you will not be constantly blowing your nose and spitting, and at the same time it does not poison the system and ruin the stomach, as internal medicines do.

If you want to test this treatment without cost, send your address to Dr. J. W. Blosser, 526 Walton street, Atlanta, Ga., and he will send you by [illegible] enough of the medicine to satisfy you that it is all he claims for it as a remedy for catarrh, catarrhal headaches, catarrhal deafness, asthma, bronchitis, colds and all catarrhal complications. He will also send you free an illustrated booklet. Write him immediately.

Excursion February 23 by S. S. Mauna Kea from Honolulu to the Volcano of Kilauea, including trains from Hilo and ride to Volcano, hotel at Hilo and Volcano House and back to Honolulu, $30.00.

SEE WHAT THE BOYS WRITE: "On New Year's Day (January, 1912) three of us went up to the Volcano. Talk about activity. It is certainly GRAND. You know the ledge where the rest house is; well, just under that (about 30 or 40 feet) there is another; well, the boiling lava IS UP to that; it keeps rising and falling all the time. Jack and I went down on the second ledge and pulled out red-hot lava with an iron hook on the end of it and got some fine specimens; in some of them we put coins, but hard luck was with us, for they all broke coming down in the machine."

Government Says Restraint of Trade Is Shown.

Counsel for Packers Say No Case Has Been Made.

Seventeen Witnesses Have Given Testimony.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Jan. 20.—United States District-Attorney Wilkerson declares that the government in the first six weeks of the trial has made substantial progress in support of its charge that the Chicago packers maintained a combination in restraint of trade.

When court adjourned today the government had examined seventeen witnesses and offered in evidence 120 documents of various kinds.

The packers between 1894 and 1902 had a pool which met every week and divided territory, figured percentages of shipments, agreed on prices and followed a uniform system in figuring the test cost of beef.

MEETINGS RESUMED.

These weekly meetings stopped for a few months after the issuance of Judge Grosscup's injunction against the packers in 1902. The meetings, it is claimed, were resumed in the summer of 1902.

That the Armour, Swift and Morris interests acquired by purchase on joint account the plants of eight competitors and attemped to form a giant merger of the packing interests of the country with a capital of nearly a billion dollars. This plan was abandoned because of inability of the promoters to finance it.

That the National Packing Company was formed in March, 1903, to operate the plants of the eight competitors, and that its stock was divided between the Armour, Swift and Morris interests.

WORK UNDER NEW NAME.

That since then the packers, as directors and officers of the National Packing Company, have held weekly meetings at which the practice of dividing territory, fixing percentage shipments and agreeing on margins was continued.

That the representatives of Armour, Swift, Morris and the National Packing Company in New York and Boston met daily and exchanged figures on shipments, margins and selling prices in 1905 and 1906.

That the packers sent weekly instructions to their branch house managers in every territory, giving shipments to be made, and margins.

Counsel for the defense maintain the evidence so far presented does not substantiate the charges in the indictment, and are prepared to call scores of witnesses who, they declare, will disprove the contentions of the government.

VERY EASY ON THE LADY.

She Horsewhipped a Judge and Has Not Been Punished for It Yet.

[A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SEATTLE, Jan. 20.—Mrs. Christina Olson, convicted of horsewhipping Superior Judge John F. Main in the county Courthouse last October, was sentenced today in the criminal division of the court to the lowest possible penalty, which was a fine of $1 and costs, amounting to $42.70 in all. Judgment was stayed for ninety days, and Judge J. T. Ronald, in passing sentence said a further stay would be granted if desired. Olson and wife, who paid rent in advance to an unauthorized agent, and who won a verdict in a suit against them, were defeated when Judge Main set aside the verdict, which action he said he was obliged to take under the law. The horsewhipping followed.

MAY CLEAR UP MYSTERY.

Stranger in Oakland Confesses in Religious Fervor He Witnessed a Murder Near Nevada City.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

OAKLAND (Cal.) Jan. 20.—The possibility that the alleged admissions of Walter Urwiler made to two missionaries under stress of religious feeling, may lead to the disentanglement of a murder mystery which has been a subject of investigation in Nevada City since 1903, has become a probability in the minds of the Oakland police. Urwiler, a man of no particular habitation has declared that he witnesed a murder committed nine years ago, near Edward's bridge, on the stage road to Nevada City.

He declared the murdered man was John Frandela, a stage driver, and that the murderer was a physician whose name Urwiler gave to the police. Urwiler furthermore said an innocent man had been convicted and is now serving a life sentence in San Quentin for the crime. The police here have received a letter stating that the physician of the name given had been employed at a mine in Nevada City at the date given by Urwiler. Warden Hoyle of San Quentin has informed the Oakland police that of the life termers there, not one has declared his innocence of the crime for which he was sentenced. Urwiler now maintains a sullen silence and denies his earlier statement.

CUT TO THREE HUNDRED.

Only the Super-Elite of New York Will be Bidden to Meet the Duke of Connaught.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—All New York interested in affairs social, is awaiting the coming of next week, which will bring the first visit to this city of royal guests purely on a social mission. From Monday until Thursday the most representative of the so-called Four Hundred will extend courtesies to the only surviving son of the late Queen Victoria, his wife and daughter.

The royal guests, who will reach here from Ottawa Monday morning are the Duke of Connaught, Canada's new Governor-General, the Duchess and the Princess Patricia, born on St. Patrick's Day and familiarly known as Princess Pat. They come, not as the guests of the nation, State or city, but as democratic individuals who will stay at the New York residence of Whitelaw Reid, American Ambassador to England. On Monday night the Reids will give a dinner and dance in their honor, and on Wednesday night Mrs. Ogden Mills will be the host at a dinner.

Not more than 300 persons, it is understood, will be invited to these affairs, and there is much speculation as to just who will be honored by invitations as the best of Knickerbocker aristocracy.

The Duke is 61 years old. A great deal of his life he has spent as a soldier. No one approaching his rank has visited New York since Prince Henry of Prussia was here ten years ago.

King Edward VII, as the Prince of Wales, paid a visit to this country in 1860.

WORRIED ABOUT RICHESON.

Lawyer Says the Divine Is in "Awful Shape," But the Boston Jailer Differs With Him.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BOSTON, Jan. 20.—"The Rev. C. V. T. Richeson is in an awful state. If he should be told that commutation of the death sentence had been refused by the Governor, I really believe that the words would prove a death blow," said William A. Morse, counsel for the prisoner, in an interview published here today.

Mr. Morse added that Richeson is suffering from nervous shock that may mean his death before the date set for his execution.

Sheriff Quinn, the keeper of Charles street jail, disagrees with Mr. Morse and declares the prisoner is not in any danger of collapse. "He is in good physical condition," says the sheriff. "He will go from the Charles street jail alive when his time comes."

WEDS A DIVORCEE.

Los Angeles Woman Gets a New Husband in Reno Before the Ink Is Dry on Her Decree.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

RENO, Jan. 20.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] William T. Wilber and Gertrude May Watts, the latter a divorcee of a few days, were married this afternoon by a justice of the peace. Mrs. Watts obtained a decree of divorce only a few days ago from William F. Watts of Los Angeles, she coming to Reno several months ago from the Southern California city for the purpose of establishing a residence.

A peculiar incident in connection with the divorce and remarriage is that Donnelly Frederick Watts, a minor child of the Los Angeles couple, was only a few weeks ago adopted by the family of W. H. Morley of this city.

Wilber's age is given as 48 and that of Mrs. Watts as 33, in the marriage license.

HEAVY SNOWS OVER THE EAST.

Mercury Is Up a Little, but It Is Still Cold.

Duluth Conditions Indicate No Blizzard in Sight.

Icy Streets in Chicago Cause Many Accidents.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Jan. 20.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Heavy snow in the Great Lakes region today greatly hampered transportation and telegraph and telephone service. In this city where no attempt is made to clean the streets, the snow made travel exceedingly dangerous. Large areas of ice were covered by the snow and served as pitfalls for men and horses; many of the latter breaking their legs, resulting in their being shot.

With the exception of Iowa the entire map tonight shows warmer weather with indications that the situation will continue to improve tomorrow. Only three spots show below zero at 8 o'clock tonight—St. Paul, Minn., Charles City Ia., and Battleford, Can., all two below.

SNOW IN NEW YORK.

Snow is falling in western New York, upper Ohio, Michigan, Yellowstone Park, portions of Illinois and western Canada. Oregon and Washington still have rain, which has been practically steady for several days.

All Iowa points are from four to ten degrees colder tonight than they were at daylight this morning. On the contrary all the east, the central west, the northwest, south and southwest show higher temperatures. Cincinnati rose from 10 to 32; St. Louis from 16 to 26, Chicago from 6 to 14; Indianapolis from 8 to 26.

In the Gulf Coast country, Jacksonville gained from 46 to 52; Tampa 62 to 64; New Orleans 38 to 50 and San Antonio 38 to 52.

FARING BETTER.

Boston rose from 18 to 24; New York 16 to 26; Pittsburg 10 to 28; Washington 22 to 30. Atlanta, indicative of conditions between New York and Florida, rose from 36 to 46.

On the Pacific Coast, Los Angeles had a maximum of 82 and a minimum of 53—the warmest place in the country. Portland, notwithstanding its continual rainfall, rose from 38 to 44.

As showing there is no immediate cold wave in sight, Duluth which had 14 below this morning is at zero tonight. Moorhead, Minn. makes precisely the same showing.

Predictions for tomorrow are for generally fair weather and rising temperature.

BOYCOTT HIGH BUTTER.

Housewives' League of New York Will Try Novel Plan to Head Off Exorbitant Cost.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—An appeal to the women of New York to let no butter pass their lips for the next thirty days unless the price is reduced has been made by the Housewives' League. Printed appeals to "eschew butter and make the dealer come down off his high perch" will be sent out in a statement designed especially for the rich and well-to-do.

Experts here estimate that the present "butter boom" has thus far cost New York consumers about $6,000,000. According to one statement, "cold-storage speculators gathered their stocks of butter last summer at 26 cents a pound; it has cost them 2½ cents a pound for storage. The balance between 28½ cents and the prevailing price, less interest money, represents profit."

SHIPPERS ARE SANGUINE.

Claim They Are in Control of Conference Where English Cotton Buyers Seek to Inaugurate New Plan.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

MEMPHIS (Tenn.) Jan. 20.—Cotton shippers believe themselves practically in control of the situation at the conference concerning the proposed "Liverpool plan" of validating bills of lading, which began today with representatives of southern cotton men and English buyers attending. Their conference is the result of an Interstate Commerce Commission regulation which forbids railroads giving information concerning lading bills without permission of shippers.

The so-called Liverpool cotton bills of lading plan provides for a central bureau which shall have power to validate such paper before funds may be advanced on the cotton it presumably represents. It is to the central bureau in principle that the southern cotton shippers almost without exception object. They claim they do not desire to be classed with shippers whose methods are irregular.

House Delays War on Harvester Corporation—Shipping and Money Combines "Discussed."

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—Atty.-Gen. Wickersham told members of the House Committee on Rules today it would not be necessary for them to recommend a Congressional investigation of the International Harvester Company, as his department was actively planning the dissolution of that corporation. On this information the committee agreed to delay action on the resolution of inquiry introduced by Representative Foster of Illinois.

The Attorneq-General did not indicate the department's plans, but members said they understood the harvester corporation had been informed it must dissolve voluntarily or be forced to dissolve.

The Harvester case has been before the department since 1906.

Members of the committee said the Attorney-General declared the government intended to carry out the administration's policy to dissolve illegal combines, but it was not disclosed whether the government would permit a friendly suit, or would proceed with a direct suit charging violation of the Sherman law.

As to a shipping trust inquiry, both Cabinet officers, it was reported, agreed some decisive step should be taken.

Hearings on the "money trust" resolution of inquiry will be held next week.

CONSTIPATION, BILIOUSNESS, COATED TONGUE, HEADACHE OR BAD STOMACH.

Furred Tongue, Bad Taste, Indigestion, Sallow Skin and Miserable Headaches come from a torpid liver and clogged bowels, which cause your stomach to become filled with undigested food, which sours and ferments like garbage in a swill barrel. That's the first step to untold misery—indigestion, foul gases, bad breath, yellow skin, mental fears, everything that is horrible and nauseating. A Cascaret tonight will straighten you out by morning—a 10-cent box will keep you feeling good for months. Millions of men and women take a Cascaret now and then to keep their stomach, liver and bowels regulated and never know a miserable moment. Don't forget the children—their little insides need a good, gentle cleansing, too, occasionally.

Navy to Have a Big Chain of Wireless Stations.

Instant Communication With All Our Warships.

Scheme Contemplated Will Make Cable Needless.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Navy Department has drawn up plans for a chain of wireless stations which will bring the department into aerial communication with all its ships wherever they may be, from the coast of West Africa to Chinese waters. Congress will be asked to appropriate $1,000,000 to establish this system, which will be superior to any of the kind now in existence in any part of the world. The chain will consist of seven stations. One already is under construction in Arlington, Va., across the Potomac from Washington. Others will be on the canal zone, at San Francisco, at Pearl Harbor, Hawaii; another on the Island of Guam, the next on the Island of Luzon in the Northern Philippines and the last on Tutuila Island, one of the American Samoan Islands.

The Washington station is expected to cover the entire Atlantic Coast with a sending radius of 3000 miles. The station on the canal zone will cover the Caribbean Sea effectively, besides being in touch with both Washington and San Francisco. From the San Francisco station communication will be had with Pearl Harbor; Pearl Harbor will easily reach the Guam station and the operator at Guam will be able to talk to the man at the Luzon station. From Luzon it is proposed to control all naval vessels in Japanese or Chinese waters.

The station in the Samoan Islands will cover the South Pacific. Each of these stations will be equipped with a 100-kilowatt generating apparatus and will have a sending and receiving radius of 3000 miles. Regular communication will be had directly between the Washington and San Francisco stations.

WORLD PEACE EXTENDED.

Argentine and Colombia Enter Into Arbitration Treaty After Formula by President Taft.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—World peace was strengthend by the signing in Washington today of a general arbitration treaty between the Argentine Republic and the United States of Colombia. The treaty, which is almost exactly like those negotiated by the United States with Great Britain and France, was signed by Romulo N. Naon for Argentina and Gen. Pedro Nel Ospina for Colombia, Ministers from those countries to the United States.

As neither country had a diplomatic representative in the capital of the other, the treaty was signed here. The United States took no part in the negotiations.

In general the pact, while following closely the lines of the pending treaties between the United States, Great Britain and France, is like the arbitration treaty signed between Italy and Argentine thirteen years ago and the one made by Argentine and Venezuela last October.

Practically every question involving sovereign rights in international disputes, except those which may conflict with provisions of the Constitution of either country, may be settled by arbitration under this treaty. A court consisting of a representative of each country, and a neutral person mutually agreed upon, will constitute a permanent adjudicating body.

FIND NO CORRUPTION IN STEPHENSON CASE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—The Heyburn sub-committee report to the Senate Committee on Privileges and Elections exonerating Senator Stephenson of Wisconsin of charges growing out of his election was considered today by the full committee. Final action, however, was deferred two weeks. The committee made public the sub-committee's report, which was unanimous and concluded as follows: "Your sub-committee has given the fullest consideration to all of the testimony introduced and has considered its weight and effect under the rules pertaining to the investigation and is of the opinion that the charges preferred against Senator Isaac Stephenson have not been sustained and your sub-committee finds that the election of said Isaac Stephenson as a Senator of the United States from the State of Wisconsin was not procured by corrupt methods or practices, and there was not used or employed corrupt methods or practices in said election of Isaac Stephenson."

THUS WE ARE SECOND AS A NAVAL POWER.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—The naval yearbook, issued today under the auspices of the Senate committee on foreign relations, gave the United States second place among the naval powers, this government having 37 battleships, one more than Germany. In armored cruisers Germany has 14, and the United States 12. The combined tonnage of battleships and cruisers shows the United States has 787,638 tons and Germany 768,241.

ASTHMA
Hardening of The Arteries

The continued use of HYPODERMIC injections of some drugs cause HARDENING of the ARTERIES. Hence they are more DANGEROUS than Cocaine, Morphine, Codein and other HYPODERMIC DOPE, and as wholly devoid of any curative properties as they.

Another DANGEROUS DRUG is the unpalatable IODIDE of POTASSIUM so hurtful to the digestive organs that it must be taken plentifully diluted with water after each meal. If tolerated, it is at best only a palliative, and in addition to the digestive disorders it soon induces a severe BRONCHITIS. Deprive the ASTHMATIC FAKERS of these DANGEROUS drugs and you divest them of their meal tickets. Dr. Owens does not use these or any other DANGEROUS DRUGS in his Asthmatic treatment. He has discovered that ASTHMA IS CURABLE ONLY BY TREATING EACH INDIVIDUAL CASE WITH PRECISE DISCRIMINATION OF THE CAUSE. YOU MUST NOT CONFOUND HIS METHOD OF TREATMENT WITH THAT OF THE NOSTRUM PEDDLERS WHO DISTRIBUTE FREE TRIAL BOTTLES OF IMPOSSIBILITIES GUARANTEED TO CURE ALL CASES REGARDLESS OF CAUSE. Dr. Owens' treatment is of the same discriminating care that your physician bestows upon you in acute ailments, his method is scientific and rational, he eliminates Asthma and "Asthma cure," individualizes every case and removes the cause and complications which produce and maintain the disease.

The worst cases are PERFECTLY FREE FROM ASTHMA AS A RULE IN TWENTY-FOUR HOURS WITHOUT OPIATES, SPRAYS, SMOKES, ATOMIZERS, MASSAGE OR HYPODERMIC INJECTION DOPE. His remedies are harmless, pleasant and easy to take.

An interview will cost you nothing. Office hours 10 to 4.

Puritas Distilled Water

Admittedly the Purest, Most Healthful Water Obtainable in Southern California.

There's no two ways about it—PURITAS Distilled Water is the universal favorite water in the Southland. Steadily increasing deliveries attest the popularity, the purity, the widespread use of PURITAS.

PURITAS Distilled Water is pure—thoroughly pure. It is utterly devoid of vegetable matter or mineral properties. Its absolute purity is obtained by the most modern processes of distilling. It is filtered and aerated with great care—sealed in air-tight demijohns before leaving our plant.

PURITAS isn't expensive—a five-gallon demijohn (enough to last the average family a week) costs but 40c, delivered to your residence, if you live within the old city boundary lines. Simply phone our office—or drop a card. Your demijohn of PURITAS will be delivered to you promptly.

Few persons in Los Angeles prefer to drink mineral waters. Aside from the uncertainty of the mineral quantity, there's the question of mineral quality. Some minerals undoubtedly are beneficial—for some persons. But pure water is safest, all in all—and most persons demand it.

You can get absolutely pure water in Los Angeles. Its name is PURITAS. Try a five-gallon demijohn. If you live outside of Los Angeles, a regular PURITAS dealer undoubtedly is near you. If not, phone the PURITAS office—or send your name and address on a postal. Your order will be filled immediately. Home 10053, Sunset Main 8191. Los Angeles Ice and Cold Storage Company.

—Warning—The Offering Below Referred to will Expire, Absolutely and Positively, Sat. Jan. 27, at 5:30 P.M.

-A Most Extraordinary
Piano
OFFERING

—Tomorrow morning, Barker Bros. will begin one of the most extraordinary offerings in all the history of western piano selling. As a result of the great piano business which we have built up during the past two years, we have recently closed contracts with the numerous famous factories which we represent, for an enormously increased output during the year 1912, which calls for a volume of sales undoubtedly exceeding anything heretofore known on the coast.

—In preparing for this immense business which we have undertaken, we find it imperative to begin this great 1912 campaign immediately, as it is absolutely necessary to move a large number of pianos quickly, to make room for shipments of the newly-contracted-for instruments which have not only arrived, but are due to reach us, carload after carload, in the near future.

—Accordingly, to start the ball rolling, we shall offer inducements in a short, sharp, inaugural sale, such as are probably without a precedent in the history of piano selling in the Southwest.

—Beginning Tomorrow morning—we will present to Every Buyer of a New Piano, of Any Style, an Order Good to the Amount of —which will be accepted in any department of our Great Store,—for furniture, draperies, carpets, rugs, linens, bedding, china, stoves, household ware, etc., etc.,—or which may be applied as partial payment on the piano itself—

$100 Absolutely FREE

—An actual, bonafide, genuine concession of real tangible value, worth exactly the amount stated—not a "certificate" of uncertain or no real value whatever—but an order for something which is REAL.

—This offer Applies to Every New Piano upon our floors—Uprights in all grades and styles—Player Pianos at all prices—and Grands in a wide variety of the finest creations—a Magnificent Stock!

—Free Railroad Fare to Out-of-town Purchasers
—In addition to the $100 free order, we will refund round-trip railroad fare to any purchaser from out-of-town points within 100 miles of Los Angeles.

—Free Freight on Pianos to be Shipped Away
—As another inducement, we will prepay freight on any piano bought in this sale, which is to be shipped to any point within 100 miles of Los Angeles.

— Free Scholarships in the Famous Von Stein Academy
—Furthermore, with every new piano sold during this sale, we will give, if desired, a full term $24 scholarship in the well-known Von Stein Academy of Music, and also the merchandise order as above mentioned, less the amount of the scholarship.

—Every Piano at the Same Low Price as regularly in force—Not a single "Raise" or alteration—The same "Double" guarantee of satisfaction as always! The finest makes in America to choose from—and, to make the buying easy

Terms To Suit!

—Regular selling prices remain on every instrument—the same strict One-Price policy as prevails invariably in the Barker Bros. piano department. The same "double-guarantee" as always—that of the maker covering construction, quality and finish, and of Barker Bros. covering your absolute and permanent satisfaction. Splendid, beautiful, latest style Uprights at prices beginning as low as $275. Latest improved 88-note, standard auto-action Player-Pianos as low as $370, $435 and $487 and your old upright piano. Terms as liberal and as easy, as always. Inducements combined, which are without precedent. A piano sale that should bring you out bright and early Monday morning, to take advantage of an opportunity that may never be equalled in its economical and musical possibilities.

MES BRITAIN FOR MONARCHY.

Shuster Says England Could Have Saved Persia.

Declares Russia Will Obtain Warm Water Port.

And Then John Bull Will Have a New Issue.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

VIENNA, Jan. 20.—"The net result of the British and Russian action in Persia renders a nation which was making progress toward peace and order and building up its finances for the establishment of a constitutional government, a land of chaos and anarchy, without prestige among its own people, and, in addition, has meant the sacrifice of hundreds of innocent lives."

This statement was made today by W. Morgan Shuster, the American who was dismissed as Treasurer-General of Persia recently, and who has just arrived here.

MOHAMMEDANS AROUSED.

"The Mohammendan people," continued Mr. Shuster, "are further aroused against the Christian nations. Great Britain and Russia, far from being on a more solid basis of friendship, are now face to face on opposite sides of a disorganized territory.

"The Russian and British legations are the real governing forces in Persia. They are acting through a directory of seven Persians in order to avoid international responsibility, but morally they are responsible for the destruction of Persian nationality, when it gave promise of establishing a stable constitutional government.

"The seven men who are nominally governing Persia are without character or reputation. They do not command the slightest respect of their countrymen and would not exist a day without the protection of the Russian and British legations.

RUSSIAN FORCES.

"Russian forces and influences are steadily advancing southward, and unless there is a break in the present trend of events, the realization of Russia's dream of a warm water port is a matter of only a few years. Great Britain will then be confronted with a living Russo-Indian frontier problem.

"The past year's action of the European nations in Morocco, Tripoli and Persia does not encourage the hope of international peace. The fact that the Mohammedans have been driven to the wall renders future retaliation inevitable. The most regrettable feature of Persia's dismemberment is the fact that it might have been entirely prevented had Great Britain frankly objected at the beginning to Russia's flagrant violation of the Anglo-Russian agreement, commencing with her claim last summer, of the right to veto appointments of Persian officials, and culminating in the dispatch of her army into Persia on the false pretext that a Persian official had printed a pamphlet criticising Russia's previous action in Persia.

SPLIT ON ALDRICH BILL.

Congressman Vreeland Defends and Former Secretary Shaw Attacks It in New York Addresses.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—Representative Edward E. Vreeland, vice-chairman of the National Monetary Commission, defended the proposed Aldrich currency bill, and former Secretary of the Treasury Leslie M. Shaw attacked it, in addresses today at the Republican Club.

"I may say," declared Mr. Vreeland, "that after three and one-half years of discussion and study of the proposed system, the man who now disagrees with it entirely should be prepared at least to submit something better.

"The trouble is our present system falls apart when panics are impending and each unit must take care of itself. We want co-ordination and uniformity. We now lack leadership in our fiscal policy. This was shown in the panic of 1907."

Mr. Shaw announced himself opposed to the proposed national reserve association. He said the same influences which dominate the monetary plan at present now dominate the financial interests of the country, and that continued domination of the system by Wall street would be assured through the plan of scattering the stock of the central reserve association over the country.

GOVERNMENT OWNERSHIP.

Wisconsin Man Introduces a Bill for the United States to Take Over the Telegraphs.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—Representative Cary of Wisconsin, Republican, today introduced a bill providing for government ownership of telegraph lines, a project recently urged by Postmaster-General Hitchcock. It was referred to the Postoffice Committee.

The bill places the telegraph systems under the supervision of the Postoffice Department in charge of a commissioner of telegraphs.

It provides that the Interstate Commerce Commission appraise at their bona fide market value all the telegraph properties engaged in interstate commerce, the Attorney-General then to begin condemnation proceedings.

The measure stipulates that wages should not be increased more than 15 per cent. over those paid the year preceding government acquisition, and would bar any immediate decrease of telegraph tolls.

BELLS ON BRIDEGROOM.

GEORGETOWN (Col.) Jan. 20.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] When Mr. and Mrs. George E. Lake, recently married, returned here today after a short honeymoon they were met at the station by twenty men. They fastened cow-bells to Lake's ankles and body. A heavy chain was placed about his neck and handcuffed on his wrists. He then was chained to the end of a dray and marched through the principal streets. Later he was harnessed to a burro cart and compelled to haul his wife through the business portion of the town. Chief Fred Parker of the volunteer fire department, of which Mr. Lake is a member, headed the procession with a band of twenty pieces.

CATCHES THIEF ON FISH HOOK.

San Francisco Cop Does the Jules Verne Stunt on a Pilferer.

[A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 20.—Fishing for thieves with a hook and line is the latest innovation in the San Francisco police department. Patrolman Louis Cornelius, an enthusiastic angler, conceived the idea. Arming himself with a hook and line, the policeman baited a trout fly with a newspaper and waited in the vestibule of a residence on his beat early today. Presently he had a vigorous "bite" and upon opening the door found Charles Allen leaving with the newspaper "bait." The thief was lodged in jail.

Anxiety.

AWAIT WORD OF SOUTH POLE.

MAYBE CAPT. SCOTT HAS ARRIVED AT THE GOAL.

New York Geographers Are Reported to Be Lying Awake Nights in Expectation of Intelligence that a Briton Has Finally Got to the Bottom of the World.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—Officials of the Geographical Society and various similar organizations interested in polar explorations are awaiting word from Capt. Robert Falcon Scott, who expected to reach the South Pole on Christmas Day, and they believe that when he announces the result of his British Antarctic expedition, it will be to say that his quest was successful.

Lieut. Shackelton reached the farthest south on January 9, 1909, ninety-seven geographical miles away from his objective point, and then turned back only because he ran short of provisions.

Capt. Scott had 750 miles to cover from his winter quarters, to reach the pole. His journey consisted of a dash across the comparatively level ice to the ice barrier, then up the glacier's side to the plateau, some ten thousand feet above sea level, and then to the pole.

The Scott expedition was outfitted as no other exploration was equipped before. The British government subscribed $100,000 to the fund and the British public contributed an equal amount. Accompanying him, in addition to a picked crew, were five lieutenants of the royal navy, two surgeons, and three biologists.

Three motor sledges were carried in the hold of his vessel, seventy tons of provisions, 130 dogs and thirty Siberian ponies.

LA FOLLETTE IS COMING.

He May "Touch" the Pacific Coast, But the Pacific Coast Won't Mind It Much.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Jan. 20.—Senator La Follette will take his Presidential candidacy west, possibly as far as the Coast on a trip that will start early in March. Plans for the trip are now being perfected in the La Follette headquarters, here.

"It is more than likely the Senator will touch the Pacific Coast," said Robert M. Buck, secretary of the La Follette committee today. "But even if he should fail to go that far it is certain he will be heard in the Dakotas, Iowa, Kansas, Nebraska and Okahoma.

The Senator is said to be anxious to get his campaign under way in Kansas, which State he regards as highly favorable to his candidacy.

ANOTHER BLUE SUNDAY.

Only the Graveyards and Flower Shops Will be Open in Salt Lake City Today.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SALT LAKE CITY, Jan. 20.—Citizens of Salt Lake are facing the privations of another "blue Sunday" tonight. The commission government, heedful, perhaps, of the predictions that their policy will make Salt Lake a dead town, have exempted flower shops from the operation of the Sunday closing rules, thus permitting the proper arrangement of funerals. Other lines of business, including cigar stands, markets, bakeries and barber shops are outside the pale of the law.

The sale of candy was permitted last Sunday. Under cover of this exemption, certain dealers, it is alleged, sold peanuts. The grocers claim that the peanut is a variety of bean and that beans in cans are as legitimate objects of sale as beans in shells. The bean question will not be brought into the courts until after the hearing of a test case on the right of the commission to close cigar stands, which will be tried next week.

CHURCH JOLTS COAL MEN.

Opens Yard and Sells Coal for Ten Cents a Basket, Where Dealers Have Been Charging Thirty.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Jan. 20.—Coal dealers in the West Side tenement district have cut their prices for fuel delivered in baskets, in half, as a result of the establishment of a small coal yard by the Episcopal Cathedral, at which coal was sold for 10 cents a basket. Dealers previously sold it at 23 and 30 cents a basket.

SUN WOULD RETIRE TO HELP MATTERS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 20.—Dr. Sun Yat Sen announced yesterday he was willing to withdraw from the Presidency of the republic in favor of Yuan Shi Kai, according to a cablegram received by the Chung Sai Yat Po, a Chinese daily newspaper here, today. The cablegram, dated Hongkong, said President Sun would step aside immediately after the abdication of the throne.

Prominent Chinese here for the most part strong supporters of Dr. Sun, do not doubt the authenticity of the Hongkong report, as they declare the republican leader has in the past announced his willingness to yield his claims to the Presidency if it should be found expedient.

Another cablegram received by the same paper told of the plundering of a large steamer en route from Canton to the town of Chen Sha, by pirates. Many registered packages of foreign mail were said to have been taken.

PEKING HEARS OF INTERVENTION.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PEKING, Jan. 20.—It is unlikely the foreign powers will permit the latest demands of the republicans, which include the abdication of the throne, the surrender of its sovereign powers, the exclusion of the Manchus from participation in the provisional government and Premier Yuan Shi Kai's elimination from the provisional government until the republic has been recognized, to be fulfilled without protest. It is even possible there will be intervention.

Should the throne comply with the republicans' ultimatum and abdicate without delegating any authority over the northern provinces, the foreign legations here fear chaos will ensue and foreign lives will be endangered in the interim.

The Chinese soldiers hitherto loyal to the imperial government might transfer their allegiance, but the Manchu soldiers, forming a majority of the imperial army in and near Peking, may be expected to fight. It is a question whether or not Yuan Shi Kai will be able to restrain them in event of abdication.

The foreign legations have no desire to transgress neutrality. They seek only to prevent the northern provinces being left to the mercy of the lawless soldiery.

The republican ultimatum promises that President Sun Yat Sen will retire from his position and that Yuan Shi Kai, although he will not be permitted to have control of the provisional government, shall be nominated for permanent President of the republic.

FAMINE IN CHINA SOMETHING APPALLING.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—The American Red Cross has received through the State department and through C. D. Jameson, its own representative in China, who recently traversed the famine district, information revealing appalling conditions of starvation and suffering. It is estimated approximately 2,500,000 persons will be in dire need of help before a new crop of grain can be harvested.

The unsettled conditions in China will prevent the government from affording the relief ordinarily it would provide. The Red Cross has been assured the actual work of relief can be carried on without interruption and that the relief operations will have the co-operation of both Imperial and revolutionary authorities.

Relief measures are under the control of the Central China Famine Relief Committee, of which Rt. Rev. Bishop F. R. Graves of Shanghai is chairman, and many prominent Americans and Europeans are members. A plan of relief by which the Chinese famine sufferers will be employed in rebuilding broken dikes and roads, has been put into operation with the promise of good results.

Any contribution of money for the famine sufferers will be accepted by the treasurer of the American Red Cross at Washington and promptly forwarded by cable to the relief committee at Shanghai.

Sees Only Uncertainty Ahead.—

BOSTON, Jan. 20.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] "Much uneasiness is felt as to the political conditions of this country," says a dispatch received today by the American Board of Foreign Missions, from the Rev. Howard S. Galt, missionary at Peking. Continuing the dispatch says: "It is uncertain what will be done. Union College of Liberal Arts, Tung Chow, has been dismissed. Missionaries are remaining at the station. There is no apparent danger."

Will Wonders Never—

TIGHT SKIRT AND PICTURE HAT TABOO BY WOMEN.

ONTARIO, Jan. 20.—Women of the Southland in the tenth annual convention of the California Federation of Women's Clubs, in their closing session yesterday placed the tight skirt and the picture hat under the ban and also decried the tendency of writers for the press to feature the dress part of their gatherings.

The resolution tabooing the extremes of dress was but one among eleven passed yesterday by the convention, and it was far from being passed without a dissenting voice. In fact, there were those who were of the opinion that the resolution did not carry, but as Mrs. Ella L. Westland, the district president, announced its passage without hesitancy, nothing more could be done. The president did, however, warn her sisters to have a care how they voted before she called for the eyes and noes.

The resolution follows: "Resolved, that we repudiate the prevalent thralldom of fashions that make women ludicrous and unwomanly, and commend the independent spirit of those who refuse to be bound by tight skirts and topped by unwieldy headgear. Moreover, we regret the tendency on the part of some writers in the public press to emphasize these features of our gatherings."

Among other things, the women indorsed the election of women officials in the cities of Southern California and urged that at least one woman be placed on each school board and that the women voters see that this is done. They urged that women be appointed on the boards of State institutions, and the movement for social hygiene be pushed, indorsed the movement for the erection of a peace monument at the entrance to the Panama Canal and the action of the San Diego W.C.T.U. in asking the directors of the Panama-Pacific Exposition to put liquor under the ban on the fair grounds.

A resolution was also passed urging the women's clubs of the Southland to co-operate with the various chambers of commerce in attracting visitors to the biennial in San Francisco next June to stop off in the southern part of the State.

ONTARIO HIGH WINS.

The Ontario High School today practically cinched the Citrus League championship cup for boys' basketball for the second year in succession when they defeated Riverside High in one of the swiftest basketball games ever witnessed on the local courts, this afternoon.

Ontario has this year defeated Pomona, Chino, Colton and Riverside, while the last-named team has defeated San Bernardino, Redlands and Colton by one-sided scores, thus leaving the two teams playing today practically the only ones in the race for the championship.

The game was a fierce one from the start. The Riverside team started in with a rush that nearly carried the locals off their feet, and for a time the visitors took the lead. Ontario succeeded in overtaking her adversary, however, before the end of the first half, at which time the score stood at 14 to 12 in favor of the locals. In the second half the Riverside team showed signs of fatigue, scoring but six more points, while Ontario scored at will, leaving the final result 27 to 18 in Ontario's favor.

Mrs. I. W. Miller of this city was today appointed to the position of deputy County Clerk, County Clerk Charles Post journeying from San Bernardino for the purpose of making the appointment.

WHY GARY RESIGNED.

Quits Two Directorates Because of Criticism Before the House Steel Trust Committee.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—Referring to the affairs of the American Steel Foundries Company, from whose directorate he recently resigned, Judge Gary, chairman of the United States Steel Corporation, said today:

"I have not disposed of any stock and am a holder of a large amount. I have confidence in the company and its management. I understand its business is increasing and its prospects are very good.

"I retired from the board not because of any dissatisfaction, but for personal reasons."

From other sources it was learned that criticism before the Stanley Congressional Committee and other committes had an influence on Mr. Gary's action in retiring from the Allis-Chalmers and Steel Foundries boards.

LEEDS BOY LOCATED.

Son of the "Tin Plate King" Lives In State Near New York And Has About a Score of Servants.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Jan 20.—Nine-year-old Bateman Leeds, son of the late "Tinplate King" William B. Leeds, is living in solitary state near here on his mother's estate with a governess, housekeeper and fifteen servants to meet his slightest wish. It was thought that the boy, who is heir to $40,000,000, was traveling with his mother in Europe. Each day the boy drives to a private school near here and then drives home again, after which he drives out behind a team of fast bays with a coachman and footman. Under his mother's orders, the boy, wherever he goes, is kept under the strictest surveillance and he is never permitted to leave the carriage. Mrs. Leeds keeps in touch with the lad almost daily through cable messages and is kept posted as to his physical condition and progress in school.

LIPS SEALED WITH MURDER.

Headless Body Found at St. Louis Is Identified.

Belongs to Important Witness in Murder Trial.

Was Called Back by Defense to Testify Tomorrow.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 20.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] That the headless body found in an ash pile Friday morning in the rear of No 1122 North Ninth street is that of Salvatore Leoni, and that he was murdered to prevent him from testifying for Tony Sansone, who will be tried Monday for the alleged killing of Joseph Amarata in September, 1910, was finally established by detectives late this afternoon. The identification of the dead man was the result of a report made to the police today that Leoni had not been seen since Thursday. The report was made by Sansone, who had imported Leoni to St. Louis from Kansas City to testify in his behalf.

Sansone feared that his witness had met with foul play. A search of the rooms which Sansone occupied revealed the clothing by means of which the dead man's identity was established. The trousers corresponded in cloth with the half coat found on Leoni's body and established the first clew. Later several pieces of underwear and a pair of socks like those worn by Leoni were found in the room.

Leoni arrived in St. Louis from Kansas City Thursday. Owing to threats that had been made on his life in the event that he testified in the trial, Sansone had sent him to Kansas City for safety. A week ago Sansone wrote him and asked him to come here, as the case was due to be called Monday.

CLING TO THE RIGGING.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NORFOLK (Va.), Jan. 20.—After clinging for more than thirty hours to the masts and rigging of their sunken vessel, the four remaining members of the crew of the three-masted schooner Harry Prescott were rescued today by the revenue cutter Itasca, which proceeded to Wilmington, N. C.

The four men were nearly exhausted. After resting for a while on the jib boom of their vessel late yesterday they were compelled at nightfall to take to the rigging again, and there lashed themselves for a night that proved to be one of great suffering, in the face of a severe northwest wind that carried the temperature below freezing.

The Prescott, bound for Wilmington, N. C., with a cargo of salt, struck Thursday night on the inner Diamond Shoals when her master mistook the Hatteras light for the Diamond shoals lightship.

It was a battle for life from the start for the seven members of the schooner's crew. The men were without food and drink from midnight Thursday until their rescue.

Capt. V. R. Philbrook, Mate T. S. Smith, and Steward G. O. Robbins cast themselves into the seas from the masts of the Prescott and were rescued by life savers. Philbrook's condition is serious.

The Itasca arrived off Hatteras at 9 o'clock last night, but it was found impossible to reach the shipwrecked mariners until daybreak, when volunteers from the Itasca, assisted by life savers, took the men off the wreck.

EVIDENCE GATHERED BY BURNS IN LORIMER CA

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—Developments more or less sensational, about to take place in the Lorimer case, will disclose that William J. Burns, the detective, who built up the evidence around the McNamara dynamiters, has been at work for at least three months gathering evidence to be presented next week to the committee investigating the election of the junior Senator from Illinois.

Detective Burns was employed for about a month by the Senate Committee and later was engaged by the interests fighting to unseat Senator Lorimer. The committee discontinued his services, according to members today, because of the almost prohibitive expense. It is reported that the end sought by the anti-Lorimer interests is the impeachment of a certain witness, who gave evidence in Senator Lorimer's defense relating to the alleged statement of C. F. Wiehe, a brother-in-law of Edward Hines, that a "jack-pot" fund of $100,000 was used to "put Lorimer over."

In substance Burns is declared to have represented to the committee that he was prepared to offer evidence that one of the witnesses who testified in regard to this incident had confessed he was paid $1500 to come to Washington. A phonographic method by which Burns obtained the alleged confession is also said to have been laid before the committee. Burns came to Washington last Tuesday and remained until Wednesday night. His report was communicated to some of the members of the committee and it is said later was laid before the committee in executive session.

It is not claimed the evidence Burns promised to produce is intended to establish whether there was a $100,000 "jack-pot" fund, or that [illegible] had knowledge of it. It [illegible] ly the veracity of a witness [illegible] by the defense.

The new evidence will be [illegible] fore the committee after the examination of Senator Lorimer [illegible] finished next week. He will [illegible] the witness chair on Monday [illegible] noon and probably will finish his testimony by Wednesday.

Striking Mill Operatives Say that It Was Planted.

A Number of Arrests Made in Lawrence, Mass.

Employer Appeals to Men to Return to Work.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

LAWRENCE (Mass.) Jan. 20.—The discovery today of three lots of dynamite with fuses and caps and the resulting arrest of several persons are regarded by the military and police authorities as lending weight to fears of attempted destruction of mill property in connection with the textile strike.

Tonight in a cobbler shop a bundle containing six sticks of dynamite and seven caps was found. The proprietor insisted that the bundle had been left by a strange man. He was taken to the police station.

A house in the Syrian colony held the first lot of dynamite discovered. All the residents were arrested. The second lot was found in a cemetery, lying on the snow.

FIFTEEN STICKS.

In this were fifteen sticks of dynamite, with eighteen percussion caps. The first bundle contained seven sticks.

Through Jose Ettor, their leader, the Union strikers tonight issued a statement charging that the dynamite was "planted."

Those under arrest are Sarris Mared, a tailor, in whose room dynamite was found and a union strike leader; Joseph Assaf, Trinidad Boshon, colored; David Roshed, David Bishara of Fishkill, N. Y., Miss Zekla Rasheli and Miss Mary Swizy.

The authorities learned dynamite had been brought into the city and a search today located it in a closet in [illegible]'s house.

MAKES AN APPEAL.

The appeal by William H. Wood, president of the American Wool Company, the principal corporation affected by the mill operatives strike, to the striking employees to return to work, promising when conditions warranted he would recommend an increase in wages, was the subject of discussion among the strikers today. There were no indications, however, that the appeal would have any effect. Orders became effective today for the additional patrol of four companies of the State militia.

Picket duty was carried on in a peaceful manner and no trouble was reported when the mills opened for operation today.

BLAMES BRITAIN FOR MONARCHY.

Shuster Says England Could Have Saved Persia.

Declares Russia Will Obtain Warm Water Port.

And Then John Bull Will Have a New Issue.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

VIENNA, Jan. 20.—"The net result of the British and Russian action in Persia renders a nation which was making progress toward peace and order and building up its finances for the establishment of a constitutional government, a land of chaos and anarchy, without prestige among its own people, and, in addition, has meant the sacrifice of hundreds of innocent lives."

This statement was made today by W. Morgan Shuster, the American who was dismissed as Treasurer-General of Persia recently, and who has just arrived here.

MOHAMMEDANS AROUSED.

"The Mohammendan people," continued Mr. Shuster, "are further aroused against the Christian nations. Great Britain and Russia, far from being on a more solid basis of friendship, are now face to face on opposite sides of a disorganized territory.

"The Russian and British legations are the real governing forces in Persia. They are acting through a directory of seven Persians in order to avoid international responsibility, but morally they are responsible for the destruction of Persian nationality, when it gave promise of establishing a stable constitutional government.

"The seven men who are nominally governing Persia are without character or reputation. They do not command the slightest respect of their countrymen and would not exist a day without the protection of the Russian and British legations.

RUSSIAN FORCES.

"Russian forces and influences are steadily advancing southward, and unless there is a break in the present trend of events, the realization of Russia's dream of a warm water port is a matter of only a few years. Great Britain will then be confronted with a living Russo-Indian frontier problem.

"The past year's action of the European nations in Morocco, Tripoli and Persia does not encourage the hope of international peace. The fact that the Mohammedans have been driven to the wall renders future retaliation inevitable. The most regrettable feature of Persia's dismemberment is the fact that it might have been entirely prevented had Great Britain frankly objected at the beginning to Russia's flagrant violation of the Anglo-Russian agreement, commencing with her claim last summer, of the right to veto appointments of Persian officials, and culminating in the dispatch of her army into Persia on the false pretext that a Persian official had printed a pamphlet criticising Russia's previous action in Persia."

SPLIT ON ALDRICH BILL.

Congressman Vreeland Defends and Former Secretary Shaw Attacks It in New York Addresses.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—Representative Edward E. Vreeland, vice-chairman of the National Monetary Commission, defended the proposed Aldrich currency bill, and former Secretary of the Treasury Leslie M. Shaw attacked it, in addresses today at the Republican Club.

"I may say," declared Mr. Vreeland, "that after three and one-half years of discussion and study of the proposed system, the man who now disagrees with it entirely should be prepared at least to submit something better.

"The trouble is our present system falls apart when panics are impending and each unit must take care of itself. We want co-ordination and uniformity. We now lack leadership in our fiscal policy. This was shown in the panic of 1907."

Mr. Shaw announced himself opposed to the proposed national reserve association. He said the same influences which dominate the monetary plan at present now dominate the financial interests of the country, and that continued domination of the system by Wall street would be assured through the plan of scattering the stock of the central reserve association over the country.

GOVERNMENT OWNERSHIP.

Wisconsin Man Introduces a Bill for the United States to Take Over the Telegraphs.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—Representative Cary of Wisconsin, Republican, today introduced a bill providing for government ownership of telegraph lines, a project recently urged by Postmaster-General Hitchcock. It was referred to the Postoffice Committee.

The bill places the telegraph systems under the supervision of the Postoffice Department in charge of a commissioner of telegraphs.

It provides that the Interstate Commerce Commission appraise at their bona fide market value all the telegraph properties engaged in interstate commerce, the Attorney-General then to begin condemnation proceedings.

The measure stipulates that wages should not be increased more than 15 per cent. over those paid the year preceding government acquisition, and would bar any immediate decrease of telegraph tolls.

BELLS ON BRIDEGROOM.

GEORGETOWN (Col.) Jan. 20.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] When Mr. and Mrs. George E. Lake, recently married, returned here today after a short honeymoon they were met at the station by twenty men. They fastened cow-bells to Lake's ankles and body. A heavy chain was placed about his neck and handcuffed on his wrists. He then was chained to the end of a dray and marched through the principal streets. Later he was harnessed to a burro cart and compelled to haul his wife through the business portion of the town. Chief Fred Parker of the volunteer fire department, of which Mr. Lake is a member, headed the procession with a band of twenty pieces.

[A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 20.—Fishing for thieves with a hook and line is the latest innovation in the San Francisco police department. Patrolman Louis Cornelius, an enthusiastic angler, conceived the idea. Arming himself with a hook and line, the policeman baited a trout fly with a newspaper and waited in the vestibule of a residence on his beat early today. Presently he had a vigorous "bite" and upon opening the door found Charles Allen leaving with the newspaper "bait." The thief was lodged in jail.

AWAIT WORD OF SOUTH POLE.

MAYBE CAPT. SCOTT HAS ARRIVED AT THE GOAL.

New York Geographers Are Reported to Be Lying Awake Nights in Expectation of Intelligence that a Briton Has Finally Got to the Bottom of the World.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—Officials of the Geographical Society and various similar organizations interested in polar explorations are awaiting word from Capt. Robert Falcon Scott, who expected to reach the South Pole on Christmas Day, and they believe that when he announces the result of his British Antarctic expedition, it will be to say that his quest was successful.

Lieut. Shackelton reached the farthest south on January 9, 1909, ninety-seven geographical miles away from his objective point, and then turned back only because he ran short of provisions.

Capt. Scott had 750 miles to cover from his winter quarters, to reach the pole. His journey consisted of a dash across the comparatively level ice to the ice barrier, then up the glacier's side to the plateau, some ten thousand feet above sea level, and then to the pole.

The Scott expedition was outfitted as no other exploration was equipped before. The British government subscribed $100,000 to the fund and the British public contributed an equal amount. Accompanying him, in addition to a picked crew, were five lieutenants of the royal navy, two surgeons, and three biologists.

Three motor sledges were carried in the hold of his vessel, seventy tons of provisions, 130 dogs and thirty Siberian ponies.

LA FOLLETTE IS COMING.

He May "Touch" the Pacific Coast, But the Pacific Coast Won't Mind It Much.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Jan. 20.—Senator La Follette will take his Presidential candidacy west, possibly as far as the Coast on a trip that will start early in March. Plans for the trip are now being perfected in the La Follette headquarters, here.

"It is more than likely the Senator will touch the Pacific Coast," said Robert M. Buck, secretary of the La Follette committee today. "But even if he should fail to go that far it is certain he will be heard in the Dakotas, Iowa, Kansas, Nebraska and Okahoma.

The Senator is said to be anxious to get his campaign under way in Kansas, which State he regards as highly favorable to his candidacy.

ANOTHER BLUE SUNDAY.

Only the Graveyards and Flower Shops Will be Open in Salt Lake City Today.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SALT LAKE CITY, Jan. 20.—Citizens of Salt Lake are facing the privations of another "blue Sunday" tonight. The commission government, heedful, perhaps, of the predictions that their policy will make Salt Lake a dead town, have exempted flower shops from the operation of the Sunday closing rules, thus permitting the proper arrangement of funerals. Other lines of business, including cigar stands, markets, bakeries and barber shops are outside the pale of the law.

The sale of candy was permitted last Sunday. Under cover of this exemption, certain dealers, it is alleged, sold peanuts. The grocers claim that the peanut is a variety of bean and that beans in cans are as legitimate objects of sale as beans in shells. The bean question will not be brought into the courts until after the hearing of a test case on the right of the commission to close cigar stands, which will be tried next week.

SUN WOULD RETIRE TO HELP MATTERS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 20.—Dr. Sun Yat Sen announced yesterday he was willing to withdraw from the Presidency of the republic in favor of Yuan Shi Kai, according to a cablegram received by the Chung Sai Yat Po, a Chinese daily newspaper here, today. The cablegram, dated Hongkong, said President Sun would step aside immediately after the abdication of the throne.

Prominent Chinese here for the most part strong supporters of Dr. Sun, do not doubt the authenticity of the Hongkong report, as they declare the republican leader has in the past announced his willingness to yield his claims to the Presidency if it should be found expedient.

Another cablegram received by the same paper told of the plundering of a large steamer en route from Canton to the town of Chen Sha, by pirates. Many registered packages of foreign mail were said to have been taken.

PEKING HEARS OF INTERVENTION.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PEKING, Jan. 20.—It is unlikely the foreign powers will permit the latest demands of the republicans, which include the abdication of the throne, the surrender of its sovereign powers, the exclusion of the Manchus from participation in the provisional government and Premier Yuan Shi Kai's elimination from the provisional government until the republic has been recognized, to be fulfilled without protest. It is even possible there will be intervention.

Should the throne comply with the republicans' ultimatum and abdicate without delegating any authority over the northern provinces, the foreign legations here fear chaos will ensue and foreign lives will be endangered in the interim.

The Chinese soldiers hitherto loyal to the imperial government might transfer their allegiance, but the Manchu soldiers, forming a majority of the imperial army in and near Peking, may be expected to fight. It is a question whether or not Yuan Shi Kai will be able to restrain them in event of abdication.

The foreign legations have no desire to transgress neutrality. They seek only to prevent the northern provinces being left to the mercy of the lawless soldiery.

The republican ultimatum promises that President Sun Yat Sen will retire from his position and that Yuan Shi Kai, although he will not be permitted to have control of the provisional government, shall be nominated for permanent President of the republic.

FAMINE IN CHINA SOMETHING APPALLING.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—The American Red Cross has received through the State department and through C. D. Jameson, its own representative in China, who recently traversed the famine district, information revealing appalling conditions of starvation and suffering. It is estimated approximately 2,500,000 persons will be in dire need of help before a new crop of grain can be harvested.

The unsettled conditions in China will prevent the government from affording the relief ordinarily it would provide. The Red Cross has been assured the actual work of relief can be carried on without interruption and that the relief operations will have the co-operation of both Imperial and revolutionary authorities.

Relief measures are under the control of the Central China Famine Relief Committee, of which Rt. Rev. Bishop F. R. Graves of Shanghai is chairman, and many prominent Americans and Europeans are members. A plan of relief by which the Chinese famine sufferers will be employed in rebuilding broken dikes and roads, has been put into operation with the promise of good results.

Any contribution of money for the famine sufferers will be accepted by the treasurer of the American Red Cross at Washington and promptly forwarded by cable to the relief committee at Shanghai.

Sees Only Uncertainty Ahead.—BOSTON, Jan. 20.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] "Much uneasiness is felt as to the political conditions of this country," says a dispatch received today by the American Board of Foreign Missions, from the Rev. Howard S. Galt, missionary at Peking. Continuing the dispatch says: "It is uncertain what will be done. Union College of Liberal Arts, Tung Chow, has been dismissed. Missionaries are remaining at the station. There is no apparent danger."

Will Wonders Never—

TIGHT SKIRT AND PICTURE HAT TABOO BY WOMEN.

ONTARIO, Jan. 20.—Women of the Southland in the tenth annual convention of the California Federation of Women's Clubs, in their closing session yesterday placed the tight skirt and the picture hat under the ban and also decried the tendency of writers for the press to feature the dress part of their gatherings.

The resolution tabooing the extremes of dress was but one among eleven passed yesterday by the convention, and it was far from being passed without a dissenting voice. In fact, there were those who were of the opinion that the resolution did not carry, but as Mrs. Ella L. Westland, the district president, announced its passage without hesitancy, nothing more could be done. The president did, however, warn her sisters to have a care how they voted before she called for the eyes and noes.

The resolution follows: "Resolved, that we repudiate the prevalent thralldom of fashions that make women ludicrous and unwomanly, and commend the independent spirit of those who refuse to be bound by tight skirts and topped by unwieldy headgear. Moreover, we regret the tendency on the part of some writers in the public press to emphasize these features of our gatherings."

Among other things, the women indorsed the election of women officials in the cities of Southern California and urged that at least one woman be placed on each school board and that the women voters see that this is done. They urged that women be appointed on the boards of State institutions, and the movement for social hygiene be pushed, indorsed the movement for the erection of a peace monument at the entrance to the Panama Canal and the action of the San Diego W.C.T.U. in asking the directors of the Panama-Pacific Exposition to put liquor under the ban on the fair grounds.

A resolution was also passed urging the women's clubs of the Southland to co-operate with the various chambers of commerce in attracting visitors to the biennial in San Francisco next June to stop off in the southern part of the State.

ONTARIO HIGH WINS.

The Ontario High School today practically cinched the Citrus League championship cup for boys' basketball for the second year in succession when they defeated Riverside High in one of the swiftest basketball games ever witnessed on the local courts, this afternoon.

Ontario has this year defeated Pomona, Chino, Colton and Riverside, while the last-named team has defeated San Bernardino, Redlands and Colton by one-sided scores, thus leaving the two teams playing today practically the only ones in the race for the championship.

The game was a fierce one from the start. The Riverside team started in with a rush that nearly carried the locals off their feet, and for a time the visitors took the lead. Ontario succeeded in overtaking her adversary, however, before the end of the first half, at which time the score stood at 14 to 12 in favor of the locals. In the second half the Riverside team showed signs of fatigue, scoring but six more points, while Ontario scored at will, leaving the final result 27 to 18 in Ontario's favor.

Mrs. I. W. Miller of this city was today appointed to the position of deputy County Clerk, County Clerk Charles Post journeying from San Bernardino for the purpose of making the appointment.

WHY GARY RESIGNED.

Quits Two Directorates Because of Criticism Before the House Steel Trust Committee.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—Referring to the affairs of the American Steel Foundries Company, from whose directorate he recently resigned, Judge Gary, chairman of the United States Steel Corporation, said today:

"I have not disposed of any stock and am a holder of a large amount. I have confidence in the company and its management. I understand its business is increasing and its prospects are very good.

"I retired from the board not because of any dissatisfaction, but for personal reasons."

From other sources it was learned that criticism before the Stanley Congressional Committee and other committes had an influence on Mr. Gary's action in retiring from the Allis-Chalmers and Steel Foundries boards.

LEEDS BOY LOCATED.

Son of the "Tin Plate King" Lives In State Near New York And Has About a Score of Servants.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Jan 20.—Nine-year-old Bateman Leeds, son of the late "Tinplate King" William B. Leeds, is living in solitary state near here on his mother's estate with a governess, housekeeper and fifteen servants to meet his slightest wish. It was thought that the boy, who is heir to $40,000,000, was traveling with his mother in Europe. Each day the boy drives to a private school near here and then drives home again, after which he drives out behind a team of fast bays with a coachman and footman. Under his mother's orders, the boy, wherever he goes, is kept under the strictest surveillance and he is never permitted to leave the carriage. Mrs. Leeds keeps in touch with the lad almost daily through cable messages and is kept posted as to his physical condition and progress in school.

Belongs to Important Witness in Murder Trial.

Was Called Back by Defense to Testify Tomorrow.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 20.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] That the headless body found in an ash pile Friday morning in the rear of No. 1122 North Ninth street is that of Salvatore Leoni, and that he was murdered to prevent him from testifying for Tony Sansone, who will be tried Monday for the alleged killing of Joseph [illegible]marata in September, 1910, was finally established by detectives late this afternoon. The identification of the dead man was the result of a report made to the police today that Leoni had not been seen since Thursday. The report was made by Sansone, who had imported Leoni to St. Louis from Kansas City to testify in his behalf.

Sansone feared that his witness had met with foul play. A search of the rooms which Sansone occupied revealed the clothing by means of which the dead man's identity was established. The trousers corresponded in cloth with the half coat found on Leoni's body and established the first clew. Later several pieces of underwear and a pair of socks like those worn by Leoni were found in the room.

Leoni arrived in St. Louis from Kansas City Thursday. Owing to threats that had been made on his life in the event that he testified in the trial, Sansone had sent him to Kansas City for safety. A week ago Sansone wrote him and asked him to come here, as the case was due to be called Monday.

CLING TO THE RIGGING.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NORFOLK (Va.), Jan. 20.—After clinging for more than thirty hours to the masts and rigging of their sunken vessel, the four remaining members of the crew of the three-masted schooner Harry Prescott were rescued today by the revenue cutter Itasca, which proceeded to Wilmington, N. C.

The four men were nearly exhausted. After resting for a while on the jib boom of their vessel late yesterday they were compelled at nightfall to take to the rigging again, and there lashed themselves for a night that proved to be one of great suffering, in the face of a severe northwest wind that carried the temperature below freezing.

The Prescott, bound for Wilmington, N. C., with a cargo of salt, struck Thursday night on the inner Diamond Shoals when her master mistook the Hatteras light for the Diamond shoals lightship.

It was a battle for life from the start for the seven members of the schooner's crew. The men were without food and drink from midnight Thursday until their rescue.

Capt. V. R. Philbrook, Mate T. S. Smith, and Steward G. O. Robbins cast themselves into the seas from the masts of the Prescott and were rescued by life savers. Philbrook's condition is serious.

The Itasca arrived off Hatteras at 9 o'clock last night, but it was found impossible to reach the shipwrecked mariners until daybreak, when volunteers from the Itasca, assisted by life savers, took the men off the wreck.

EVIDENCE GATHERED BY BURNS IN LORIMER CASE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—Developments more or less sensational, about to take place in the Lorimer case, will disclose that William J. Burns, the detective, who built up the evidence around the McNamara dynamiters, has been at work for at least three months gathering evidence to be presented next week to the committee investigating the election of the junior Senator from Illinois.

Detective Burns was employed for about a month by the Senate Committee and later was engaged by the interests fighting to unseat Senator Lorimer. The committee discontinued his services, according to members today, because of the almost prohibitive expense. It is reported that the end sought by the anti-Lorimer interests is the impeachment of a certain witness, who gave evidence in Senator Lorimer's defense relating to the alleged statement of C. F. Wiehe, a brother-in-law of Edward Hines, that a "jack-pot" fund of $100,000 was used to "put Lorimer over."

In substance Burns is declared to have represented to the committee that he was prepared to offer evidence that one of the witnesses who testified in regard to this incident had confessed he was paid $1500 to come to Washington. A phonographic method by which Burns obtained the alleged confession is also said to have been laid before the committee. Burns came to Washington last Tuesday and remained until Wednesday night. His report was communicated to some of the members of the committee and it is said later was laid before the committee in executive session.

It is not claimed the evidence Burns promised to produce is intended to establish whether there was a [illegible] 000 "jack-pot" fund, or that [illegible] had knowledge of it. It [illegible] ly the veracity of a witness [illegible] by the defense.

The new evidence will be [illegible] fore the committee after the [illegible] examination of Senator Lorimer [illegible] finished next week. He will [illegible] the witness chair on Monday [illegible] noon and probably will finish his [illegible] mony by Wednesday.

You Don't Need A New Stomach

You Can Now Look Any Meal Square in the Face, and Then Just "Go For It," If You Take Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Trial Package Sent Free to Prove It.

The stomach will go on patiently for years enduring abuse, overwork and general ill-treatment. So we're apt to think it can stand anything. But when the stomach does rebel, look out!

The minute the stomach ceases to perform its functions properly the whole body begins to suffer. The food is only half-digested, the body only half-nourished. And the undigested portion of the food ferments and decays, generating nauseating gases which derange the whole system. The eventual result is chronic dyspepsia, heartburn, bad breath, dizziness, flatulency and sick headache.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets instantly relieve all ailments of the stomach and digestive tract. They act quickly, safely and naturally—just like Nature herself. They contain in themselves the elements which go to make up the natural gastric juices. They actually digest the food, relieving the stomach of all the hard work. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are the stand-by of many a doctor in the worst cases of stomach trouble, and they never fail him.

All druggists carry and recommend Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. They are sold at 50 cents a box. If you want to try them first, we will send you a trial package free on receipt of your name and address. F. A. Stuart Co., 150 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

cheers, and his declaration that he was not afraid to express his opinion on popular government in connection with his denunciation of the recall brought the big assemblage to its feet.

Ambassador Jusserand of France spoke on the law's delays, reviewing the attempts to simplify legal procedure. He said he was glad that at last members of the bar themselves were leading in the fight to abolish the delays from which they do not suffer.

PRINCIPLES OF JUSTICE.

Senator Elihu Root, president of the bar association, spoke on the principles of justice and declared that if they are to be subordinated to the majority the liberty of the people would soon be lost.

President Taft arrived from New Haven, Ct., at 6 o'clock in the evening, after attending a meeting of the Yale corporation. He dined with the bar association, and, after the dinner, dropped in upon a gathering of 600 jewelers at the dinner of the Twenty-four-Carat Club and then attended the dinner of the Society of the Genesee, returning later to speak before the bar association. The nearest the President came to anything political in his early speeches was in thanking the jewelers for a gold watch with which they presented him, and it was not certain whether his reference then to "difficulties in running" involved his avoirdupois or politics.

"I brought a watch with me, but it stopped," he told the jewelers. "Your representative has kindly presented me with another, which, up to the present, has run. Whether it is association with me that makes running difficult, I do not know, but up to this time I have been very unfortunate with watches."

Before the Society of the Genesee the President said that New York City would be a bad place if it were not for the men who came from the country.

After his speech before the bar association, the President drove to the train, leaving shortly after midnight for Washington.

PRESIDENT SEES A FIRE AT YALE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW HAVEN (Conn.) Jan. 20.—President Taft "cut" chapel at Yale this morning to go to a fire. That fire was in Old South Middle Hall on the college campus, and did little damage.

The President rose early and dressed and left his hotel to go to college chapel, only a block away. he was passing by Phelps gateway, which is half way along the college street to Battell chapel, when he saw the heavy smoke beating down into the college campus.

With all the ardor of his college days the President joined the rush of under-graduates who were streaming pell mell toward the burning dormitory. He mingled with the crowd of students standing in the back row, and for twenty minutes watched the firemen at work until he saw the red helmets of the fire-fighters poking out of the upper windows. He then walked to chapel, arriving there as President Hadley had concluded his prayer.

The programme of the stay of President Taft at Yale today included attendance at the meeting of the Yale corporation, of which he is a member, and luncheon with President Hadley at the university.

At the corporation meeting was submitted a report of the Yale expedition to Peru.

TILL THE SOIL WITH DYNAMITE.

GIVE DEMONSTRATION OF NEW METHOD AT COLEGROVE.

Exponents of Powder-and-Auger Farming Assert that It Makes for Bigger and Better Crops in Addition to Reducing Labor of Preparing Soil to Minimum.

"Farming with dynamite" was given a practical and successful test in the presence of leading Southern California orchardists and agriculturists yesterday afternoon at the Schuyler Cole ranch, Colegrove. Over 100 persons witnessed the unique demonstration.

The experiments were made under the supervision of H. D. Gaskill and A. L. Jones of the agricultural department of the E. I. Du Pont de Nemours Powder Company. Others present were Schuyler Cole, Fred Winton Downing, director of the school farm at Whittier; Prof. H. Elton Christie and B. A. Platt, an agriculturist who spent many years establishing farms in China and other countries in the Orient.

The experiments were made solely to demonstrate the utility of dynamite in the treatment of soils so as to render them more productive agriculturally. The theory, as was explained by Gaskill, is that the effect of a dynamite explosion in subsoil is to render it porous and sponge-like, thus conserving moisture and inducing greater and deeper root development, making crops and citrus trees less susceptible to hot, dry spells and greatly increasing the size and yield of their products.

Under the direction of Gaskill, Demonstrator Jones bored seventy holes, three feet deep and three or four feet from the lemon trees in Cole's grove. Half a dynamite cartridge then was lowered into each hole and carefully tamped. The cartridges were exploded at intervals of half a minute. It is possible to wire the cartridges so that the explosions will be simultaneous, but Gaskill asserts that the individual explosions accomplish better results.

The explosions shattered the hard adobe subsoil a radius of five or six feet from the point of the discharge, the hard soil being disintegrated and rendered porous.

The roots of the lemon trees were not disturbed by the explosions. The disruptions hurled the hard soil in some instances thirty feet in the air, but generally the soil was not disturbed more than six or seven feet. The noise from the explosions could not be heard fifty feet away.

The cost of "farming with dynamite and plowing with an auger" is fixed at approximately $18 an acre, and it is said that the treatment need not be repeated for five years or more. Meanwhile, the experts say, the yield because of the dynamite treatment will be increased two and often three fold.

"Dynamite not only saves much labor and time in planting trees, but insures the best growth and largest yields," said Gaskill. "A man will spend an hour digging a tree hole that dynamite will excavate in an instant. The spaded hole will be hard all the way down, making it difficult for the transplanted roots to take hold. This is one of the chief reasons why transplanted trees so often die. A whole row of trees can be excavated in one instant when the dynamite is electrically exploded. The dynamite keeps the ground loose, and free from grubs and kills bugs and insects injurious to plant life.

"When older trees begin to fail it is sometimes of much benefit to detonate a charge of explosives directly under them. This tends to keep the soil open so that it will hold moisture and give the tree roots a chance to spread. The beneficial results from this blasting will not appear in the succeeding crop, but will be manifest in the second and third crops afterward.

"If the soil is inclined to be swampy, heavier charges, detonated deeper in the ground, will break up the lower impervious stratum and permit the surplus water to sink into the earth, where it will be conserved, and afterward given up to the roots of the trees as they require it. Dynamite takes alkali out of the ground.

"Dynamite has been used with wonderful success by farmers in several of the eastern and middlewestern States in clearing land, cultivating fruit trees, blasting hard pan, digging ditches and splitting logs, blasting boulders and burning out stumps. The orchardist and farmer are beginning to appreciate the value of dynamite as a labor-saving device and an indispensible factor to improve farm and fruit products."

Messrs. Gaskill and Jones have given several demonstrations on the Pacific Coast during the past few months and intend to devote several weeks of their time to public demonstrations in Southern California.

A Long Head.

BELIEVES TAFT SURE WINNER.

PRESIDENT GAINS SUPPORT BY IMPROVING CONDITIONS.

General Manager of Pennsylvania Lines Says Country Is Flourishing as It Never Has Before—"Steady Application to Business" Is Motto of Success.

"Taft will be nominated and be reelected. I have been all through the South and the Southwest and while I have not talked much politics I know that the sentiment of the country is for Taft. He is conservative and honest and is trying to benefit the conditions of the people. For that reason he is being supported."

General Manager S. C. Long of the Pennsylvania lines arrived in Los Angeles yesterday after an extended tour of Southern California and gave expression to the above opinion last night. He is accompanied by his wife and three daughters, Frances, Marion and Helen. After leaving their private car they registered at the Alexandria.

Long, in response to questions, declared that rebating by the railroads in the East was a practice which had long been discontinued.

"The Pennsylvania road has not been in the rebating game for a number of years. Several years ago A. J. Cassett, then president of the road, who is now dead, took a firm stand against rebating and instructed every official of the system to avoid giving a rebate. The Pennsylvania has followed this system and for that reason has nothing to fear from any investigation."

In regard to the financial prosperity of the country Long said:

"This country is flourishing now as it never has before. The fields are blooming and California in particular is showing up as the garden spot of the world. This is my first visit to California and I am delighted with the State and the climate. Good crops mean good business for the railroads. Nowadays the up-to-date railroad man is trying to further the agricultural development of a section of the country knowing full well that upon this development depends the financial prosperity of his road. I am glad to say that my tour of the Southwest has shown me that this part of the country can be depended upon for a large and prosperous crop."

Long, a quiet, self-contained man, began his career in the railway business as an engineer. By perseverance he worked his way up from post to post until he became general manager of one of the greatest systems of railway lines in the world.

"I started as an engineer and I worked my way up by paying attention to my business. The railroad business today offers the same opportunity to every man," said Long yesterday. "All it takes to get along nowadays is a steady application to business. Before long your boss will realize that you are in line for promotion and you will be promoted. Any young man with sufficient enthusiasm and ability can climb to the top."

Manager Long and his family were entertained yesterday by Southern Pacific and Pacific Electric officials. They were shown the orange groves of Southern California and were informed of the wonderful producing wealth of the country.

PASADENA IS GOLF WINNER.

Defeats San Gabriel Club by Close Score.

Woodcock Beats Johnstone in Exciting Match.

BY ALMA WHITAKER.

The second match in the Southern California Golf League took place on the San Gabriel links yesterday afternoon, when the visiting Pasadena team proved victorious by 3 points.

Unquestionably the most interesting match of the day was that between the best players on each team, H. N. H. Woodcock, captain of San Gabriel, and Hugo Johnstone of Pasadena. Woodcock ultimately won by 3 up and 2 to play, but first-class golf was witnessed on both sides.

Hugo Johnstone stands about 6ft. 4in. in his shoes, with proportionate width, and he started out with a mighty swipe that carried his ball almost on to the first green, a distance of 306 yards, making the hole in an easy three. Par there is 4, so that Woodcock gracefully conceded that hole without further argument. The next was a matter of continued brilliance, Mr. Johnstone simply walking in in 4, up on par. That sort of thing is apt to have a weakening effect upon one's opponent, but even with a fight against 3 up at the third hole, Woodcock did not lose his head. From the second on he made the whole of the outward round in fours, and even par for No. 6, is 6—a distance of 6?? yards.

At the fourth, Mr. Johnstone had exceedingly bad luck with a most impossible lie, from which he recovered with difficulty, afterwards achieving a wonderful iron shot which drew the admiration of all who witnessed it. But alas, it carried clear over the green into the hazard and this he was punished for a superb shot. At the sixth Woodcock was 1 up, and at the seventh Johnstone holed a shot off the green with his mashie, making the hole in 3, where par is 4. But Wood cock secured the eighth, nineth and tenth. They halved the eleventh in 5. The twelfth went to Woodcock with a particularly good 3, both par and bogey being 6 for this hole. The thirteenth they halved, both achieving the hole in par, for which Woodcock had made a remarkable recovery from te hazard into which a too lengthy tee shot had placed him.

The next holes were also halved, until at the Sixteenth Woodcock holed out in 2, par being 4, thus giving him the match in 3 up and 2 to play.

Their respective cards read as follows:

Woodcock.

Out —	4	5	4	4	4	4	4	4	4
Home —	4	5	3	4	4	2	4	4	4

Johnstone.

Out —	3	4	3	5	5	4	3	5	5
Home —	5	5	4	4	4	4	4	4	4

After the official match was over they played the remaining holes, and each player was enthusiastic in describing the other as a "good sportsman and a most enjoyable partner to play with."

The next best match was that between E. S. Armstrong, the Coast champion, and Frank Wade, in which the former won by 5 and 4. The outward half was a well-fought even contest, exhibiting very fine play on both sides, in which Frank Wade showed 1 up, but at the turn the champion seemed inspired and made three 3's out of the six holes and doing the other three in par figures. All Frank Wade's steadiness proved unavailing against such a brilliant onslaught.

Young Robert Tatum played a return match against E. R. Williams. It will be remember last week's was carried to the twenty-first hole and won by a putt by Mr. Williams. This week Tatum proved the victor by 4 and 3—a fairly definite decision. It was a good friendly match, which both players seemed to thoroughly enjoy.

J. V. Elliot, also turned the tables on his opponent and won his match against Conde Jones by 3 and 2. Mr. Elliot, is, of course, familiar with the San Gabriel links, being a member of both clubs, and on this occasion, he was playing his usual steady, excellent game, whereas Conde Jones did not appear to be quite up to his usual standard, after the first half.

Franc Q. Wood lost his match after being one up at the turn. He played the first half in good style excelling in driving and making with the accuracy of sound knowledge. But during the second round his strength gave out to some extent and he was unable to maintain his lead. After winning the first three holes in particularly good style, there were many to back Mr. Wood as the winner, but he was eventually beaten by 2 and 1.

Altogether it was a most satisfactory day, which all the players on both sides thoroughly enjoyed. There is an atmosphere about the San Gabriel Club that makes for amiability and good sportsmanship.

The scores were: A. W. Braund beat G. S. McCausland by 4 and 2. A. A. French beat George Cline by 6 and 5. E. S. Armstrong beat Frank Wade by 5 and 4. R. L. Tatum beat E. R. Williams by 4 and 3. H. N. H. Woodcock beat Hugo Johnstone by 3 and 2. J. V. Elliott beat Conde Jones by 3 and 2.

Coulon Is Ready.

CHICAGO, Jan. 20.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] Johnny Coulon, claimant of the bantamweight championship, today ended training for his ten-round contest with Harry Forbes, former champion, which will be decided before a Kenosha (Wis.) club, Monday. They have agreed to weight in at 116 pounds at 6 o'clock. Coulon, it was reported, was below weight.

Welsh Has Sprain.

VENICE, Jan. 20.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Welsh passed the entire day in bed, and indications are that he will be an invalid for several days. His trainers say that what was at first thought to be muscular contraction is nothing more serious than a severe sprain sustained in westling.

DUCK CLUB ORDERS SHOOTING STOPPED.

In the hope that other duck clubs will follow suit, the Bolsa Chica Gun Club yesterday passed a resolution whereby shooting will close on the club preserves February 15 instead of March 1, when the closed season goes into effect by the provisions of the State law. The opinion of the club is that the State Legislature made the season too long. The ducks are breeding in February.

To Close With Circus.

BERKELEY, Jan. 20.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] A mammoth circus is to be made the closing event of the second annual interscholastic field meet held on the University of California Athletic field on Friday and Saturday April 26 and 27. Word has been received that besides the preparatory and high schools of the State, a number of Oregon and Washington schools will send teams and the Salt Lake City high school athletes also will enter. Vaudeville shows have been planned in the University gymnasium for the two nights of the meet.

Americans For It.

AUCKLAND (N. Z.) Jan. 20.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] William A. Larned, the American tennis player, said today he did not believe that Harry Waldner, secretary of the Western Lawn Tennis association, had made the statement that American players would not compete for the Davis Cup unless the Australian players came to America. The conditions of the contest for the Davis Cup are, said Mr. Larned, definitely fixed and the American team is strongly opposed to any alteration.

SOPHOMORES IN FRONT AT POMONA MEET.

The sophomores romped away with the interclass meet at Pomona yesterday afternoon by a good score, winning with 51 points. The seniors were second with 45; juniors third with 28 1-6, and the Freshmen were in the rear with 10 2-3.

The time in all the events was good for so early in the season. The brightest spot in the day was the work in the hammer throw by Barnes, who got the 16-pound pellet over for a distance of 134 feet and 7 inches. This is by far the best heave in the South in many months, and Barnes should get in front of the procession this season without a struggle.

The events and the first, second and third-place men were as follows:

One-mile run—Sturgis, Merrit, Lorbeer; time, 4m. 43s.

The 440-yard dash—Lorbeer, Pendergaft, Osgood; time, 5? 1-5s.

Pole vault—Barnes tied for first with Seward, and St. Clair tied with Jones and Clary for third; height, 10ft. 6in.

High jump—Gillett and Weeks tied for first; Shoemever La Follette and Clark tied for third; height, 5f. 3 in.

The 880-yard run—Carver, Davies, Coxswell; time, 2m. 6s.

The two-mile run — Loveland, Sturgis, Peck; time, 10m. 36s.

DUARTE HOCKEY TEAM WINS EASY HONORS.

THe second of the cup matches, for the Nell Nettleship trophy, and the women's hockey championship of Southern California, was played at Vineyard yesterday afternoon before a large and enthusiastic gathering. Duarte not only piled up ten goals but whitewashed the locals into the bargain.

Good coaching by Bacon and Young and magnificent team work was what carried the day and put Duarte in the lead as regards winning the cup.

It would be impossible to say which individual on the winning side played the most spectacular game. All were so good and knew their positions so well that the issue never was in doubt.

Duarte's goal was impregnable. Miss Dolly Scott saved many a hot shot from Miss Millier and Mrs. Barnes by her adroitness and safe passing. The champions' half-backs and forwards played like machines. Whenever Los Angeles appeared to be gaining even the slightest headway, they would rally and reverse the situation.

The local team has some excellent talent, but needs good coaching. Miss M. Millier did all the hard work of the match and proved a real star. Miss Barnes was invaluable as left wing and Miss Crosby, by her hard drives and sturdy rushes, saved many a shot at goal by the Duarte forwards.

The two captains, Miss Alice Scott of Duarte and Miss M. Millier of Los Angeles, "bullied off." The former maneuvered the ball from her opponent, but was promptly stopped before any headway was made.

For the first few minutes play was confined to Duarte's twenty-five-yard line. Mrs. Seymour took the ball and made a brilliant run. Had it not been for Miss Crosby the visitors would have scored.

From the outset, it was noticeable how well the champions supported each other. They were always on the ball, and when crowded passed at lightning-like speed. Miss Alice Scott scored the first goal. This was followed quickly after by one from Miss Lorraine Handyside. Miss Alice Scott again scored, after which it was a regular walk-over for the visitors.

MRS. SEYMOUR SHINES.

After a superb pass by Mrs. Seymour, Marjorie Maddock came into possession of the ball and dribbled it up the ground at a great pace. By deftly passing it to Miss Alice Scott, who was waiting for it on the striking line, the Duarte captain scored the fourth goal. In return for this, the Duarte captain passed the sphere to Miss Maddock, who scored from the center of the striking line.

Not content with this lead, Miss Alice Scott again shot a goal. Six goals to nothing and as fresh as paint, the visitors carried all before them. Miss Lorraine Handyside, ably supported by Mrs. Munroe and Mrs. Graham, hit the seventh goal; while from a general mix-up in front of the home goal Mrs. Seymour scored the eighth. At this juncture half time was called.

Miss Millier tried all in her power to prevent Duarte from scoring again, but it was useless. Miss Dolly Scott and Miss Lorraine Handyside each shot a goal, making the score ten goals to nothing when the whistle sounded.

Following is the line-up:

Los Angeles—Miss Marguerite Millier, captain; Miss G. Barnes, Miss Irene Millier, Miss M. Crosby, Miss C Mytton, Miss N. Nelson, Mrs. Barnes, Miss W. Millier, Miss H. Gross, Mrs. Blomfield. Duarte—Miss Alice Scott, captain; Miss Enid Handyside, Miss Marjorie Maddock, Mrs. Gordon Maddock, Mrs. J. Allen Munroe, Miss Dolly Scott, Mrs. Montague Graham, Miss Lorraine Handyside, Mrs. E. Seymour, Miss M. Scott.

Gerald Young acted as referee.

Bird-Lover Talks.

AN EXPERT'S VIEWS ON THE PROPOGATION OF GAME.

BY L. M. GRIDER.

SO MUCH is written and talked about this subject and yet so little is being done except the passing of a lot of laws that permit one man to go out and kill, destroy, murder, or whatever you may call it, all kinds of game in season, and punish another that has one live game bird in his possession, even though that may be a pet dearly loved and having the best of protection and care.

A few game farms have been established at a large cost and expense and are devoted to the breeding of, supposed to be, foreign and valuable game birds, and our native birds, the grandest of all the game birds the world over, are entirely lost sight of.

Where among all their new-fangled imported game birds, on which thousands of dollars are being wasted annually, can they show one like our prairie chicken or ruffled grouse, or bob white, and last but not least, our grand California quail?

Can they show us among these imported birds one that could be turned out on the fields of North Dakota or Manitoba, which would survive a winter there?

Can you, or any one else, find any foreign game bird that is equal in sagacity to our ruffled grouse? That can hold his own anywhere as that bird is doing in the New England States today?

About once or twice a season some one hands out hot air about pheasants; the grand game birds they are; how easily they are propagated, and how money could be made breeding and raising htem.

PHEASANTS IMPRACTICAL.

The fact, however, is, and I write from actual expensive experience, that the pheasants, as a rule, show very little intelligence and have only a small quantity of what we call self-preservation. A small bob white or California valley quail can run them any time and anywhere. They will drop their eggs any old place and run and abandon their offspring at the slightest sign of danger

To obtain any increase at all from them they must be hatched under bantam hens and they require constant supervision and attendance. Any bird that has to be nursed that way can certainly not be called a game bird fit to inhabit our depopulated fields and forest. They may do for parks and poultry yards, but when it comes to where you turn them out and it means bird hunt, hide or die, they are lost every time.

Another and very important point generally not understood at all, or entirely ignored, is that you cannot raise any quail anywhere if there are pheasants about, as they will kill and eat every young quail and other small bird they can get hold of, and they have eaten hundreds of them in my yards until I discovered the malefactors.

There is no bird like our California valley quail in intelligence and ability of self-preservation. How carefully they hunt for a place to prepare their nest, deposit their eggs therein one by one to the number of twelve to twenty, both male and female keeping watch, and if need be, leading astray any enemies that may approach. How the cock quail stands ready to take charge of the first babies hatched and leads them to safety; how he will mother the little brood, find them tidbits to eat and, when required, take them one by one under his wing and carry them safely over, to them, unsurmountable obstacles.

GAME DWINDLING.

I am a native of the Golden State, where I have for more than fifty years, both as a lover of nature and sportsman, observed and watched our native birds of all kinds. In these years I could not help but notice the gradual decline in the number of all our game, in some cases almost to the entirely disappearing point, and that in the face of the most stringent game laws, in behalf of which we are always making frantic efforts to have them observed and enforced.

Still our game is becoming less in number all the time, just slowly but surely dwindling away. We have fewer quail now than ever before, and I can now almost see the time when most of our grand California game birds will have entirely disappeared unless some effort is made in some sensible amendments to our present game laws.

As the laws of this State are interpreted at present, they prohibit the sale of all quail at all times, no matter whether alive or dead; they may be for breeding purposes or to restock some depleted fields, it means no difference whether they are Chinese, Mexican, European or any other kind of quail. You may have imported them at a large personal expense or may have raised them in your back yard with great care and labor, but you cannot sell them, or trade them, or give them away; you cannot ship them out of the State, and you cannot import any from other States or countries.

Now what benefit is such a law to our at present too-fast diminishing supply of birds?

Most of our indigenous game birds, especially valley quail, breed easily in captivity. A moderate amendment of our present game laws, permitting game birds to be kept in captivity for breeding purposes and allowing them to be sold alive and only for breeding and propagation, would start hundreds of people keeping just one or two pairs of birds for breeding purposes. The demand for them is great all over the country, and a good price could be obtained for live birds and there is no danger of their ever being sold for market purposes. Thousands could be raised annually right on the back lots of Los Angeles, and in time they would become so tame that they could be seen most any place about the city, and what a pretty sight they are at any time!

ABOUT GAME PRESERVES.

This talk about establishing large game preserves is all very well in theory, but give the small man a chance, hundreds and hundreds of them all over the country. Show them that they can get $12 or more per dozen for all live quail they can raise, and you will see them raising them, and every one will be a game warden all by himself at no expense to the State, and will see that none of his birds are killed off.

By permitting these birds to be kept in captivity, we would teach the public at large a grand moral lesson that would surely react to the benefit of all wild birds. It would give people opportunities never had otherwise to watch and observe the birds, and by so doing they would learn the true value of the birds, their magnificent beauty, their gentle friendship and home life; they would learn to admire, to respect, to love these grand creatures as with protecting and preserving, and not as at present, when one accidentally sees a quail anywhere, his first thought is, how can I kill him?

MEXICAN BIRDS.

There are millions of quail in Mexico. Let us open the law to have some of them imported and sold for breeding purposes throughout the country, and we will soon have a new supply of birds coming from a source that never produced any before, and cannot, with the laws interpreted as they are at the present time.

This new supply of birds could be started with Mexican birds and we would not have to trap a single native bird. A good many of these birds held in captivity would escape from time to time, and the very sportsmen, for whose benefit the present laws are being enforced, will be the gainers all the time.

Personally I breed quail and other birds because I love them. I would never kill one at any price, but when I am prevented from giving my own property, things that I have created, produced through my own efforts, to my friends and neighbors, by a law that was passed to protect and increase the game birds of the State, I cannot help but criticise the wisdom and justice of such laws.

Natural Toothbrushes.

[Philadelphia Record:] On the island of San Domingo there grows a plant (Gouamia domingensis) which in certain parts of the island is dried and powdered by the natives and used as a tooth-powder; in other parts it is employed as a tooth-brush. The cleansing properties have been attributed to the presence of caponin. Pieces about four inches long are cut off from the stems of the plants and dried. When about to be used they are moistened—just like our own tooth-brushes—and the teeth are rubbed therewith. In doing this the end of the piece gets frayed out, giving it the appearance of a tooth-brush. The plant is also known and used on Jamaica Island, and in Kingston pieces ready for use can be bought in shops for a trifle.

A Rose Leaves Delicacy.

[The Believing Years:] You took rose leaves—fresh rose leaves—and mixed them with brown sugar. Then you wrapped the in a leaf froma grapevine, and buried the whole business in the ground. You let them stay for three days. At the end of that time you dug them up and ate them; ate them with rapture known only to those who have eaten this particular delicacy.

For to the natural fragrance of the rose leafs and the nourishing and delicious properties of the brown sugar, that interval of three days in the warm earth has added a new quality. A mysterious alchemy had been at work and transformed the mixture into something exquisite—a dish to be envied by great kings and sultans. It had about it odors of the East; savors of Araby the blest.

Looks Good.

COLLEGES ARE STRONG FOR BIG A. A. U. MEET.

THE track and field meet that the local branch of the Amateur Athletic Union is to pull off at Bovard Field, Washington's Birthday, is to be strongly supported by U.S.C., Occidental, Pomona and Whittier, and the high schools, according to assurances that have been received by the S. P. A. A. officials since it was announced that the big meet will be held in February.

Warren Bovard of U.S.C. says that the Puritans will enter a full team of athletes and will make a strong bid to carry off the prize that will be awarded to the organization scoring the largest number of points. The other colleges are to be well represented and the meet promises to assume the proportions of a college conference meet, in addition to being open to all amateur athletes in the Southland.

The meet will be the first track and field affair of the season. From present indications it will be by far the most successful that the A.A.U. has ever pulled off here. In addition to the regular events in the meet, there will be several stunts that will add interest to the affair. The finish of the Venice-to-Los Angeles foot race is to occur during the meet. The long-distance runners will encircle the track twice before completing the long trip. Also, a relay race for grammar-school athletes is to be added to the list of events.

Medals are to be awarded to the three place winners in each track and field event. First place winners will receive gold medals, second place, silver, and third place, bronze. Silver loving cups will be awarded to the team scoring the largest number of points, the victorious relay team, and the athlete registering the most tallies.

As the meet will be open to all amateur athletes, an excellent opportunity is presented to everybody who is athletically inclined to try himself out. The number of entries will not be limited. If necessary, several heats can be run off in all the track events and if the entries in the field events run heavy, the preliminary trials can be held in the morning.

Entries for the meet will be received by O. R. Bird, secretary and treasurer of the Track and Field Committee of the S.P.A.A., care of the sporting desk of The Times.

VETERAN OF DIES IN

AT his home, No. 1316 Warren street, with a Victoria medal of honor upon his breast, Dominque Foix, yesterday closed his eyes upon world in whose drama he had entered with the spirit of a soldier of France, for eighty years.

The medal had been pinned on him by the hand of her late Majesty Queen Victoria of England, on a visit which she made to Paris in 1857, in recognition of his valiant services in behalf of Britain in the Crimean War, in which he served with distinction in the advance guard under Gen. Pellissaren in 1854-1856.

Foix was born in Montrejeau, Haute-Garonne, France, in 1832, and his life was exceptional for its activity and success. Of all that the years brought him in romance, wealth and adventure in the mellow days of his reminiscence, he delighted in nothing so much as in the memories of the Crimean campaign. He was in the battles of Sebastopol, Alma and Inkermann, and in one famous siege, himself and his entire regiment of voltigeurs were forced to eat rats to prevent starvation.

Foix made his first trip to the western continent in 1875, going to Santiago de Chile. Later he returned to France and in 1882 he came to Los Angeles, where he resided until the end. Almost immediately upon his arrival here he located a tannery on Macy street. Cattle raising was a big business in this country then, and the tannery paid handsomely. In 1890 he established a French bakery, called the Central, on Macy street. This business was later taken over by his son, Auvin Foix, No. 1498 Sunset boulevard, who later merged the plant with the GLENDORA.

GLENDORA, Jan. 20.—The newly-elected and appointed officers of the Glendora Masonic Lodge, No. 404, were installed Thursday evening in the presence of the wives, daughters and sisters of the members by the Rev. Dr. S. E. Burke, deputy District Grand Master. He was assisted in conducting the impressive and beautiful ceremonies by D. M. Sutherland, master of ceremonies.

At the conclusion of the installation service the members and guests repaired to the banquet hall, where elaborate refreshments were served.

Post-prandial speeches were delivered by Dr. Burke, D. M. Sutherland and several members present, eulogistic of the high aims and noble purposes of the order of Masons. The officers installed were G. B. Gordon, W.M.; Leslie A. Warren, Senior Warden; T. E. Wallace, Junior Warden; F. E. Odell, Treasurer; G. E. Odell, Senior Deacon; H. C. Warren, Junior Deacon; K. M. Suydam, Senior Steward; F. Rall, Junior Steward; J. A. Jones, Chaplain; R. B. Bidwell, Marshal, and R. D. Kneeshaw, Tyler.

BREAKS UP A COLD AND CURES GRIPPE.

The Most Severe Cold and Grippe Misery Will Be Relieved In Just a Few Hours.

You can surely end Grippe and break up the most severe cold, either in head, chest, back, stomach or limbs, by taking a dose of Pape's Cold Compound every two hours until three consecutive doses are taken.

It promptly relieves the most miserable headache, dullness, head and nose stuffed up, feverishness, sneezing, sore throat, mucous catarrhal discharges, running of the nose, soreness, stiffness and rheumatic twinges.

Take this harmless Compound as directed, without interference with your usual duties and with the knowledge that there is no other medicine made anywhere else in the world, which will cure your cold or end Grippe misery as promptly and without any other assistance or bad aftereffects as a 25-cent package of Pape's Cold Compound, which any druggist in the world can supply.

Pape's Cold Compound is the result of three years' research at a cost of more than fifty thousand dollars, and contains no quinine, which we have conclusively demonstrated is not effective in the treatment of colds or grippe.

Hearing.

BIG SMOKE, BUT NO FLAMES.

GIRLS EXAMINED ONLY BY WOMEN PHYSICIANS.

Investigation of the Health and Development Department of the City Schools Begun Yesterday by the Board of Education Continued to Next Saturday.

Yesterday's meeting of the Board of Education to hear charges against the members of the Health and Development Department of the public schools brought out nothing of consequence. The meeting began at 1 o'clock, p.m., continued until 4, and was then adjourned to next Saturday at the same hour, with the announcement that it will be continued from Saturday to Saturday until everybody has been heard. It will not be permitted to descend into a squabble, but decently and in order, each person who wishes to say anything will be given the opportunity.

Yesterday's hearing began with a brief statement from City Superintendent Francis, made to clear the atmosphere at the start He said there are two departments of the schools closely allied—the health and development department, operating under the State law, and the department of physical education. The former department, against which rumors were circulated in connection with the physical examination of pupils, and which was brought into ridicule by United States Senator Works, in a speech delivered at Chicago, is under the superintendence of Prof. George L. Leslie, and has seven qualified practicing physicians and seven trained nurses.

Prof. Leslie was called upon for the first statement, and he told at length of the scope and purpose of the department. Questioned as to his qualifications, he said he is a graduate of the University of Iowa, took post-graduate work in the University of Chicago, had two years of medicine and has been in this line of work practically all his life, and has been connected with the Los Angeles schools since 1895, excepting an interim of two years. He asserted that at least 80 per cent. of the school children examined have had defects corrected; that 30 per cent. of them were afflicted with adenoids, and a larger per cent. with eye troubles. The pupils to be treated are selected by the principals and teachers, and these have the first are, and as provided by the law, treatment will be extended to other pupils as rapidly as possible.

The real point in the investigation is the charge, ruthlessly handed around at election time, that girls had been stripped to the waist and examined—leaving the intimation that this had been done by male physicians.

Prof. Leslie testified that if such examinations had been made, he had his entire staff of male physicians at the meeting ready to be placed on oath that they had never made any.

Dr. Bennett, the woman physician of the staff, testified that she had made a few such examinations of girls but never without the consent of the parents, and rarely without the presence of the mother.

Dr. H. F. True and Dr. A. M. Moore, two other members of the staff, testified that they had never made any such examinations, and both stated that most of the protests received against the examinations, though they were few, came from Christian Scientists. The array of folks in the lobby showed that this is where the principal interest is centered, and there is no expectation of sustaining any charges against the department but a stand is simply being made against a single school of physicians being employed in the schools. This was apparent by the loud laugh from Mrs. Craig and Mr. Blight when Prof. Leslie testified that it merely happened that the physicians were all allopaths.

It is probable that on next Saturday a demand will be made that if any one has specific charges to prefer they must present them at that time.

Eyes Search Everywhere.

WEARS WOMAN'S WIG AND FLEES.

DRESSES, TOO, ARE DONNED, SAY PURSUING DETECTIVES.

Physician Held Accountable by District Attorney's Office for Death of a Young Woman Is Believed to Be Hiding Here While Preparing for His Defense.

Dr. C. H. Carleton, of No. 939 Westmoreland avenue, who is wanted by the police to answer to the charge of murder, resulting from the death of Miss Sadie Jones, who succumbed in her room at No. 510½ East Fifth street, to the effects of alleged malpractice, is still at large. Dectectives McCann and Williams searched the city for him yesterday. They said last evening they expect to have the doctor in custody soon

"His personal affairs are in such shape he can't go far," said Detective McCann. "His wife is here and so is his baby. We believe the man is in hiding while fixing up his defense."

Clues were found yesterday which lead the detectives to believe that Friday night Dr. Carleton remained with a friend and when he left that man's house yesterday morning he was disguised as a woman. He shaved off his mustache and wore a wig. The man's features were still further disguised by use of a wig, bonnet and heavy veil. The fugitive did not visit his office. Had he done so he would have been arrested.

Dr. Carleton's neighbors have taken a hand in the hunt for him. They are watching his house with the avowed purpose of notifying the police if he or any mysterious person is seen going in or out of it.

Notice was served upon three physicians who are known to be in the same business as is alleged against Dr. Carleton to close up shop and leave the city. Detectives have been placed close to their offices and every man or woman who enters is shadowed. Their name and address is learned and why they visited the doctor in question.

"We are going to break up this business in Los Angeles," said an attache of the District Attorney's office, yesterday afternoon. "We know who these doctors are. We have warned them, but they have laughed at us. Now we propose to take drastic measures to rid the community of them. When persons who go to them for treatment find they are being shadowed, why, they'll quit visiting these doctors.

FIVE-YEAR-OLD BOY NERVY.

Wilbur Molitor, the 5-year-old son of Mrs. Anna Molitor of No. 1832 South Main street, proved himself a little hero at the Receiving Hospital yesterday afternoon when, without screaming, he permitted Dr. Kidder to set his broken right shoulder. He sat on the operating table and refused to permit even his mother to hold his hand as Dr. Kidder searched for the fracture. Once or twice the tears came to the boy's eyes, and a sob or two escaped him involuntarily. The boy fell or was kicked off a donkey in Luna Park, landing on a pile of rock

NEWS REPORTS FROM CORRESPONDENTS OF THE TIMES.

Pasadena.

DEATH TAKES NOTED CITIZEN.

Former Chicago Man Dies at Pasadena Hotel.

Council Will Consider the Question of Incineration.

Retired Railroad Official Dies of Heart Disease.

PASADENA, Jan. 21.—William Morgan, a retired Chicago capitalist and one of the most prominent residents of Pasadena, died late last Friday night at the Hotel Maryland, where he had lived for eight years. He had made his home in Pasadena for twenty-one years. Death came after a short day's illness resulting from a chill. He was 81 years of age.

He was a heavy property owner in Pasadena and Chicago, having been part owner of the Chamber of Commerce building in the latter city, and had mining interests in California. Mrs. Morgan was with him at the time of his death. She returned from Cima, Cal., where she had gone to inspect mining property, upon receiving news of his illness.

Morgan was born in Surrey, Eng., and came to the United States when 13 years old, with his parents, crossing the Atlantic in his father's sailing vessel. At the age of 25 years he and a brother, James Morgan, with Percy Hannah and A. Tracy Lay, formed the partnership of Hannah, Lay & Co., which is well known in Chicago financial circles. The deceased was a benefactor of the Throop Polytechnic Institute, and took much interest in educational problems.

Besides a widow, Mrs. Ida Whitlow Morgan, he leaves a sister, Sarah Weed of Chicago, a niece, Mrs. L. D. Lowery, who lives at No. 85 South Marengo avenue. Mrs. Morgan will leave for the East with the body on the Santa Fe limited next Tuesday morning and the funeral services will be held in Chicago. Interment will be made in Mount Greenwood Cemetery, Morgan Park, Ill.

WILL CONSIDER INCINERATOR.

The City Council will concentrate its attention this week upon the incinerator problem. Besides the regular session next Tuesday a special meeting will be held some evening this week at which any who have matters to take up with the Council concerning the project will receive attention. A San Francisco incinerator expert is expected to be present.

"We are geting down to the meat of the thing now," said Mayor Thum last night, "and expect to have the specifications ready a week after the election so that the incinerator may be completed by the middle of August, next. They say one can be built in a little less time, but we are allowing enough to be cautious and at the same time hurry the work on with all possible haste."

The Mayor added that residents of Alhambra have consented to the disposal of garbage at the city farm in the meantime.

Later a system of wagons for conveying the garbage through the city will have to be worked out, and this, Mayor Thum states, will also require much study.

"However," he said, "we shall do nothing with that now. We are giving all our attention to the incinerator itself. The wagons now in use will do for a while."

MEMORIES OF THE WAR.

Capt. George G. Spear, a Civil War veteran who lives at No. 540 Ladera street, yesterday received a letter of thanks for a much-appreciated Christmas present, which he made last month, but which has just become known.

It was a Confederate flag captured by Union soldiers at Baton Rouge in June, 1862. The letter received by Capt. Spear was signed by Jules Roux, Mayor of Baton Rouge, and reads:

"Dear Sir: Your letter of December 17, 1911, duly at hand. Flag enclosed under separate cover also received.

"The history of this flag is being looked up and every effort being made to locate the place from which the flag was taken. The Council will meet in the near future, at which time the flag will be officially received and steps for its preservation will be taken.

"Assuring you of the city's appreciation for the kind motive which prompted your donation, and extending you the hearty thanks of our citizens, I beg to remain,

"Very sincerely yours, [Signed] "JULES ROUX,
"Mayor."

DEATH COMES SUDDENLY.

Elias A. Ford of No. 276 Markham avenue died suddenly of heart disease late last Friday night. He was 72 years of age. A few hours before his death he was apparently in perfect health and spent the evening reading aloud to his family.

He was formerly general traffic manager of the Pennsylvania Railroad, with which company he was connected for twenty-five years. He was well known both here and in the East.

Ford leaves a widow and three married daughters. One, Mrs. Henry B. Vilas, lives at the Ford residence in this city. The other two are residents of St. Lous and Minneapolis, respectively. Funeral arrangements have not been made.

An active continuous railroad service of forty-seven years gave Ford a notably wide acquaintance in railroad circles. He was born April 15, 1840, in Burton, O., and started his railroad career in 1862 as ticket clerk in the Union office at Cleveland. He was later advanced to general western passenger agent of the Cleveland, Columbus and Cincinnati Railroad, and afterwards held official positions with the Missouri Pacific and Iron Mountain lines, the Vandalia, and previous to his promotion to passenger traffic manager of the Pennsylvania lines with headquarters in Pittsburgh, he held the position of general passenger agent of the lines west of Pittsburgh. Ford retired April 10, 1910, and took up his residence at No. 276 Markham avenue in Pasadena. He belonged to the Los Angeles Traffic Association.

WANT NEW SCHOOLHOUSE.

A petition to the Board of Education asking that Altadena schoolhouse be replaced with a modern school building of a size adequate to meet the requirements in that part of the city was in circulation yesterday.

The signers declare that the present structure is old-fashioned and that it no longer answer the needs of the community, despite the additions that have been made.

OFFICERS ARE ELECTED.

Mrs Frank S. Wallace, who was the first president of the Pasadena Young Women's Christian Association, was re-elected to that office when the new board of directors met yesterday and organized. She is also territorial vice-president of the California, Nevada and Arizona branch of the national association.

Mrs. E. S. McKittrick was elected first vice-president; Mrs. James A. B. Scherer, vice-president in charge of religious work; Mrs. Roscoe C. Olmstead, vice-president in charge of educational work; Mrs. N. M. Hayden vice-president in charge of social activities; Mrs. Elizabeth G. Carder, secretary; Mrs. LeRoy D. Ely, recording secretary, and Mrs. Albert Hatcher Smith corresponding secretary.

CONCERT PROGRAMME.

McKinley inauguration march (Herbert;) "Lead Kindly Light," (arranged by Mulford;) themes from "Wizard of the Nile" (Herbert;) cornet solo, "Inflammatus," from "Stabat Mater" (Rossini;) grand selection from "Madama Butterfly" (Puccini;) overture "William Tell," by request (Rossini;) the Angelus, from "Scenes Pittoresque" (Massenet;) prologue from "Pagliacci" (Leoncayallo;) "Chant Sans Perolos" (Tschaikowsky;) minuet, "Celebre" (Boccherini;) "Star-Spangled Banner."

CITY BRIEFS.

J. W. Bengough, one of the leading cartoonists of Canada, is visiting J. S. McDonnell of No. 421 Olcott place. He will take part in the programme at a meeting of the Canadian Club which will be held at the Shakespeare Clubhouse next Tuesday night.

Those who are appraising the salvage at the Pasadena Hotel, which was destroyed by fire last Sunday night, expect to complete their work tomorrow.

The Pasadena Horticultural Society is making plans for the spring flower show, which will take place April 11, 12 and 13. The place has not been decided upon as yet.

A meeting of the City Temperance Commission and the leaders of the movement to secure the enactment of a new liquor ordinance was held yesterday afternoon, but at the close of the session it was announced that nothing definite had been accomplished and that another meeting will be held soon.

Morning concerts at the Hotel Green will begin this week. The first will be held at 11 o'clock next Wednesday morning.

AZUSA.

AZUSA, Jan. 20.—Mrs. Nancy E. Clark, mother of Fred L. Clark, died yesterday afternoon at 1:20 at the residence of her son on San Gabriel avenue. Mrs. Clark was born in Derry, N. H., 86 years ago. In 1863 she came, with her husband, to Sonoma, Cal., where she lived until the death of Mr. Clark, nine years ago, when she came to Azusa to make her home with her son. For some time, owing to deafness, she had lived a quiet life. For the past year she had been feeble, but she was confined to her bed for less than a week. Her death, the doctor said, was due to age.

NUMEROUS PUMPING PLANTS.

Water Prospects for Antelope Valley Are Being Improved by the Activity of Various Companies.

LANCASTER, Jan. 20.—So numerous are the power pumping plants becoming in the Antelope Valley that steps are being taken to secure electric power for pumping, and a meeting called for January 27, at the Roosevelt school is for the purpose of forming a district and determining on the size of plant necessary to develop the energy required. A district has been laid off comprising about fifty full sections on the east side of the valley, in townships 7 and 8 north, and ranges 10 and 11 west, but this is subject to expansion to accommodate those who are willing to join in the enterprise and come into the bonding district.

It may not be necessary to build a plant at this time, as the Southern Sierra Power Company is now running its power line from Bishop to San Bernardino, past the east end of the valley, crossing the Santa Fe Railroad at Kramer, and realizing this chance to secure dependable power from no great distance, the Antelope Valley Ledger, through its editor, Charles E. Jones, has arranged for a representative of that company to attend the meeting ready to submit proposals.

This will be a great step in advance for the Antelope Valley, insuring ideal conditions for the raising of irrigating water.

NEWS BRIEFS.

Sales of land in the Antelope Valley for improvement are of daily occurrence now, and presage much activity for the coming spring. B. F. Carter has this week sold one forty-acre tract on the east side to George Irvine, for immediate improvement, and a tract of several hundred acres on the west side, which is also to be put to productive use.

R. B. Cameron, while in Los Angeles during the past week was sworn in as deputy registration clerk for this district, a post he has filled before, but which will be much more strenuous under the enlarged franchise conditions.

New Company Takes Over Old Bank's Property.

LONG BEACH, Jan. 20.—After starting the construction of the mile of beach walk on the strand between Hotel Virginia and the San Gabriel jetties, and laboring under countless unforeseen difficulties from high tides in sinking his cement bulkheads, which has resulted in a loss to him of $25,000, Contractor T. W. Young of Los Angeles tonight withdrew from the unequal struggle, throwing the completion of the contract onto his bondsmen, the Fidelity Company of Maryland, who in turn will look to Charles Stansbury, a Los Angeles contractor, for indemnification.

A representative of the bonding company was in the city today and said that the work would be carried to completion and would be according to contract. The pile-driving operations have not been stopped, but the other gangs of workmen have been called off pending a rearrangement of the contract.

The upper portion of the bulkhead has been built as far west as Golden avenue. Lack of familiarity with this particular kind of work, it is claimed, caused Young to make mistakes which resulted in heavy financial loss.

The West Beach walk has been a sort of hoodoo to the abutting property owners. The plan was projected three years ago and provided for a thirty-foot sidewalk with a three-foot parapet on the south side, equipped with boulevard lights.

FORFEITED HIS BOND.

A contract was let under the Vrooman act but the successful bidder, after an opinion from his lawyers, forfeited his bond and refused to start on the work on the ground that the improvements contemplated were not protected by the act and that the bonds would be difficult to collect.

Then property-owners started over again under the provisions of a local improvement act under which all money for the work was assessed and collected before the contract was let and is still in the bank.

The Pacific Coast Investment Company has been incorporated and articles were filed yesterday. It is composed of directors of the defunct Citizens' Saving Bank and is formed to take over the tangible property of the bank, which was not sold to the Farmers' Bank at the time it took over the deposits of the Citizens'.

These assets consist of a half-interest in the First National Bank building, $146,000 (par value) of Union Home Telephone bonds, and some properties on Second and Fourth streets valued at $17,000. Under the savings bank organization it was impossible to sell or mortgage these properties and the new company was formed to dispose of them to the best interests of the stockholders.

The value of the telephone bonds is problematical, but it is said the bank was recently offered $50,000 for them. Stockholders in the old bank will probably realize about half on their holdings.

MUCH COMPLAINT.

The removal of the Pacific Electric depot to a point one block west of the old station is causing much complaint from passengers, who wait at the Pine-avenue station and see the main-line cars sail by without stopping. Signs are posted in the old station and a caller announces that cars start from the new station, but travelers pay no attention to this until after they have missed one or two cars.

Protest was made to the Council last night that the new station was too small to accommodate more than forty persons, and that the company should be made to stop at Pine avenue to take on people waiting in the old station. The Inspection Committee was instructed to take the matter up with the road officials.

There is a strong probability that Long Beach will give to the North Pacific Steamship line a year's free terminal, including dockage, wharfage and water, on condition of the weekly visit to this port of the steamer Santa Clara. Application was made last night and a special meeting of the Harbor Committee and steamship representatives will be held next Tuesday. The steamer will visit Long Beach, Santa Barbara and San Francisco, making weekly trips.

Theodore Dittell, a china manufacturer of Germany and later of Syracuse, N. Y., and now head of the Los Angeles China Manufacturing Company, is in the city endeavoring to secure a location at the harbor for the company's kilns and factory. The plant will cost $90,000 and from 200 to 300 employees will be used. The company expects to secure most of its clay from Nevada, while other clays used are found in abundance in Southern California. The company expects to make a superior kind of ware as well as cheaper ware, such as is in common use in hotels and restaurants. Just what inducements will be required has not yet been given out.

The Dominguez Investment Company is building a large dredger in Cerritos slough near the George Bixby ranch, which will be used in dredging out the slough and building up the banks on either side of the channel which runs through the company's property.

The High School student body is taking steps for a better and more efficient form under which to conduct its affairs, and it is likely that a commission form of government will be adopted. President Lorne Middough and Tom DeCoudres are advocating the change.

Owing to delay in preparing specifications for the proposed new piers at Pine avenue and Devil's Gate, the Council last night, on suggestion of the Board of Public Works, delayed decisive action on the question for one week. Meanwhile the sentiment for private ownership of the Pine-avenue pier is growing and it is possible the Council will be asked to offer a franchise for sale and obviate the necessity of a bond issue.

An election to fill the vacancy of second lieutenant in Co. H, of the N. G.C., will be held February 5. The former holder of the title, C. J. Martin, has been transferred to San Bernardino by his employers.

The first wharf rates for outgoing freight over the municipal docks were collected today by Collector Pillsbury from Capt. J. D. Loop of the Crescent boat line, who took from the wharf eastern supplies shipped him for his whaling expeditions.

Mrs A. R. Wilcox of Magnolia avenue purchased a new Ford auto yesterday. This morning she reported to the police that during the night the lock was pried off the garage and the machine stolen. A full description has been sent out to surrounding towns.

Men Wanted.

AN ERA OF PROSPERITY BEGINS AT WILMINGTON.

WILMINGTON, Jan. 20.—That over one thousand additional worken will be required for the various improvements to be made in Wilmington during the coming spring and summer was the announcement made by C. H. Eubank, president of the local Chamber of Commerce, at a special meeting of the board of directors of that organization at the First National bank this afternoon.

The meeting was called for the purpose of finding ways and means for housing and feeding this great army of artisans, who have already begun to arrive, and who will come in rapidly increasing numbers immediately upon the announcement of the success of Los Angeles in disposing of the $3,000,000 harbor bond issue.

Even under normal conditions it has for more than two years been necessary for scores of workmen employed in Wilmington to make their homes in Long Beach, San Pedro and Los Angeles on acount of the dearth of residences here, and now that the city is entering upon one of the greatest development booms the west has ever seen, the situation is becoming acute. It is estimated that over 300 residences could be permanently rented durin the next ninety days, while within less than a year there will be a demand for more than twice that number.

In outlining the situation to the directors of the Chamber of Commerce, President Eubank called attention to the fact that the local harbor development work by Los Angeles during the next several months, although involving the expenditure of many hundreds of thousands of dollars, will constitute only a comparatively small portion of the work to be done in Wilmington.

Immediately following the sale of the harbor bonds the contract will be let for the permanent improvement of Harbor boulevard from the northerly city limits to the waterfront, Seventh street from Vermont to End street, and Fries and Canal streets from Seventh street to the waterfront, a total of over six miles of street improvements to be paid for out of the harbor bond funds under the head of "approaches to the harbor."

Proceedings are already under way to asphalt South Broadway First, Second and Third streets, and in addition to this the city has let the contract to the Mercereau Bridge and Construction Company for a 1000-foot bridge on Seventh street, just east of the Consolidated Lumber Company's mills. The cost of this structure, together with the approaches thereto, will be slightly in ewcess of $12,000, and when completed will insure a splendid highway between Wilmington and Long Beach.

Work will begin next week on six large buildings for the Wade Art Tile and Pottery Company, where over 300 workmen will find permanent employment, and within the next three weeks it is expected that the Brennan Shoe Manufacturing Company will have returned to this city with its big plant.

Plans are already practically completed for the erection of one of the finest public school buildings in the county, to be located in the center of the block owned by Los Angeles at the southwest corner of Seventh and Canal streets. This edifice, the bonds for which have already been voted and sold, will cost $55,000, and will house both the Intermediary and High Schools. Work on the new structure will be rushed as rapidly as possible this summer, as it will be absolutely necessary to have it finished and ready for occupancy in time for the fall term of school.

The steel for the Southern Pacific Company's enormous drawbridge is now on the ground, and within the next week or ten days the work of putting the structure together will be started. The early completion of this bridge will make it possible for the Standard American Dredging Company soon to begin work on its big contract with the Federal government for dredging the west basin. This company now has a force of about 100 workmen in Wilmington, and with the arrival of one of its big dredgers from Honolulu next week the number will be practically doubled.

The necessity for haste on the part of Los Angeles in the construction of about 4000 feet of wharves and several large warehouses along the waterfront will result in the employment of a great many more men during the coming spring and summer than would be used if the time for the opening of the Panama Canal were not so close at hand, and this, together with scores of smaller enterprises which have been held up pending the sale of the harbor bonds will soon cause Wilmington to take on more the appearance of a beehive than an ordinary townsite.

TO EXTEND FILL.

A movement was launched here today to have the property west of Fries street and south of Sixth street filled with the sand that is to be taken from the west basin under contract with the government. Owners of property in this district now realize that unless they embrace this opportunity it will be some time before other material is available, and as a consequence the demand for having the improvement made appears practically unanimous. It is estimated that the expense to the owner of each fifty-foot lot in the district will be slightly under $75. The argument in favor of having the work done is that the property will not be available for improvement until after the fill is made.

DRINKING MEN ARE FAILURES.

This statement applies to all men who drink alcoholic liquors. It may seem to be a strong statement, nevertheless it is a true one, and no one knows it better than the man who drinks. There are many successful business and professional men who drink, but how much more successful they might have been if they had not drunk at all, and how many, after a long, apparently successful business or professional career, find themselves without the necessary means to support themselves in their old age, or who, if suddenly stricken with death leave their family in a destitute condition. Drink apparently did not interfere with their business, but in reality it warped and blunted their judgment to such an extent that they lived only in the present, and the future naturally held only poverty and unhappiness for them. Drinking is first a social habit, but soon becomes a chronic poisoning and a necessity which can only be relieved by proper medical treatment which eliminates the alcohol from the system and neutralizes its effect upon the tissues. The Neal Institute at 945 South Olive street, Los Angeles, is one of the fifty-three institutes established in the United States, Canada and Australia for the treatment of liquor and drug addiction. The Neal Treatment for the "drink habit" is a vegetable remedy, administered internally—no hypodermic injections — and requires but three days of the patient's time. The treatment for drug addiction requires from ten days to three weeks. For full information, call at the Los Angeles Institute, or write or phone G. U. Neal, Manager, and receive an interesting little booklet entitled, "For a Jolly Good Fellow," written by a former "Jolly Good Fellow."

CELEBRATED SPECIALISTS DRS. SHORES 20 YEARS EXPERIENCE

THOUSANDS DIE ANNUALLY WHOM A CORRECT DIAGNOSIS AND TREATMENT COULD HAVE SAVED.

EVERY sick person is vitally interested in knowing the exact nature of their disease, and the probabilities of a permanent cure. It is presumed that if you are sick you are taking medical treatment. Does your doctor tell you frankly what your trouble is or does he evade your questions? Does he know how to treat your trouble and give you relief? or does he experiment with first one thing, then another? Are you getting results from his treatment or do you stay the same or get worse? Answer these questions for yourself—look at the matter in a strictly business light. You are paying for a cure; but what are you getting for the money?

If you want to know all about your trouble—what it is, how it can be cured and what it will cost—DRS. SHORES & SHORES offer a FREE medical examination to all who apply THIS WEEK. Begin treatment now and get cured. Don't be too skeptical. Drs. Shores' fees are low and payments easy. INVESTIGATE OUR TREATMENT FOR CONSUMPTION. RESULTS COUNT.

WE TREAT ALL CHRONIC DISEASES.

Drs. Shores not only treat Catarrh, but they treat Nervous Diseases, Kidney Diseases, Bladder Troubles, Heart Diseases, Rectal Diseases, Diseases of Women and Children, Nervous Debility, Spinal Trouble, Skin Diseases, Asthma, Consumption, Chronic Bronchial and Lung Trouble, Sciatica, Rheumatism, Hay Fever, Neuralgia, Hysteria, Deafness, Ear Diseases, Goitre, Epilepsy, La Grippe, Varicocele, etc., and all forms of Nervous, Chronic and Private Diseases that are curable. CHRONIC DISEASES A SPECIALTY.

Drs A. J. and G. W. Shores have spent their lives in the study and treatment of Catarrh, Chronic, Nervous and Private Diseases of Men, Women and Children. They have treated over 100,000 cases in the past twenty years, an experience rarely ever granted any specialists, and have gleaned therefrom information that is invaluable to sick people. They would not attempt to treat Scarlet Fever or Diphtheria at any price, not because they don't know how, but because they have not given it the thought and constant study that other doctors have, and in short, it is not in their line of specialties. Every moment is given to the study and treatment of Catarrh, Consumption, Chronic, Nervous and Private Diseases. That is where they excel, and that is where they can serve you better than most anyone else. Don't be a permanent invalid.

They know what causes Catarrh. They know how to cure it. They know what causes Stomach Trouble. They know how to cure it, instead of merely relieving it. They have studied the Liver, the Kidneys, the Ears, the Throat, the Lungs, and Private Diseases, and they know what to do for these troubles. A LITTLE DANDERINE WILL MAKE YOUR HAIR LUSTROUS, SOFT, FLUFFY, ABUNDANT

Get a 25 Cent Bottle Now and Forever Stop Falling Hair, Itching Scalp and Dandruff

If you Wish to Double the Beauty of your Hair in Ten Minutes surely Try a Danderine Hair Cleanse

Your hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, abundant and appears as soft, lustrous and beautiful as a young girl's after a Danderine hair cleanse. Just try this—moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt and excessive oil and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair.

A delightful surprise awaits particularly those who have been careless, whose hair has been neglected or is scraggy, faded, dry, brittle or thin. Besides beautifying the hair at once, Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff; cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair.

Try as you will, after one application of Danderine you cannot find any dandruff or a loose or falling hair, and your scalp will never itch, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use when you will actually see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair sprouting all over the scalp. Danderine makes the hair grow long, heavy and luxuriant and we can prove it. If you care for pretty, soft hair and lots of it surely get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any druggist or toilet counter, and just try it.

Plant Peaches

Peaches and apricots produce rich returns. It costs less to plant these fruits than many others and less labor to take care of the orchard. Reliable firms are ready to contract the fruit ten years ahead at a price that will produce $300 per acre. Not so bad on $100 acre land. Think of getting an assured income of $24,000 from an 80 acre farm. The soil I am offering you for this purpose is just right. The climatic conditions are proven good by the success of neighboring farmers and ranch owners. The water is plentiful and supplied at actual cost. It is owned by the property itself. You get a share of water stock with every acre you purchase.

This land is equally well suited for the growing of alfalfa and all sorts of vegetables. Some of the best alfalfa ranches in California are here. The location of the tract is close to the Santa Fe Railroad and near Perris. The fact that there is a local cash market for its products, is an advantage well worthy of your careful thought, especially in connection with my offer of this land.

BATTLE WITH THIEF.

Santa Fe Officer Engages in Fierce Conflict with Robber in Railroad Yards at Santa Ana.

SANTA ANA, Jan. 20.—C. E. Rothenhoefer, a Santa Fe special officer, and Policeman S. P. Hamilton had an exciting encounter with a boxcar thief in the Santa Fe yards at an early hour this morning, in which Rothenhoefer escaped probable instant death by thrusting his hand in front of the hammer of the thief's revolver as the latter pulled the trigger.

The two officers were in the yards when a freight train pulled in, and saw that the door to one of the cars was broken open. Rothenhoefer went to the door of the car and called to whoever was inside to come out. A man dropped to the ground with a bundle containing about two dozen ladies' shoes in one hand, and a revolver in the other. He pointed the gun at the officer and pulled the trigger, but Rothenhoefer seized the weapon and the hammer came down on his palm, tearing the hand badly.

Rothenhoefer turned his captive over to Policeman Hamilton, and started after two other men who, in the meantime, had come out of the car, but they made good their escape. The arrested man was taken to the County Jail, where he gave the name of John X. Gordon. He had a quantity of cheap jewelry and three fountain pens in his pockets.

NEWS BRIEFS.

Rev. W. H. Wotten, for many years rector of the Church of the Messiah, Episcopal, of Santa Ana, has received a call to St. James Church, South Pasadena. He has not determined as yet what action he will take on the call. Rev. Wotten is one of the most popular pastors in the city.

Articles of incorporation have been filed with the County Clerk by the Newport Beach Social and Athletic Association. The announced purpose is to "promote social intercourse between its members, to promote athletic contests and to furnish amusement and recreation for its members." Directors named are J. Landis and W. P. Conley of Newport Beach and J. C. Lanham of Palms. The association has no capital stock.

The local lodge of Elks entertained several hundred visitors from Long Beach, San Pedro and Santa Monica last night. A programme of athletic exhibitions was furnished by members of the Los Angeles Athletic Club, and was followed by a banquet.

Marriage licenses: Marshall S. Culver, 37, Los Angeles, and Ethel K. Melbourn, 30, Denver; Marlen S. Flippen, 33, and Edith H. Rose, 22, both of Orange; Walter A. Shoaff, 43, and Helen A. Ashley, 25, both of Los Angeles; Henry H. Myers, 49, and Tillie L. Swart, 26, both of Los Angeles; Edward J. Partington, 41, of Los Angeles, and Mary Stavevsky, 31, of Portland, Or.; Edwin Berghardt, 29, and Maud J. Stromberg, both of San Francisco.

Eat and Get Thin.

This is turning an old phrase face about, but modern methods of reducing fat have made this revision possible.

If you are overfat and also averse to physical exertion during this warm weather, and likewise fond of the table and still want to reduce your excess flesh several pounds, do this: Go to your druggist (or write the Marmola Co., 235 Farmer Bldg., Detroit, Mich.) and give him (or send them) 75 cents. For this modest amount of money the druggist will put you in the way of satisfying your ambition for a nice, trim, slim figure, without fear of harm even on the hottest summer days. He will hand you a large case of Marmola Prescription Tablets (compounded in accordance with the famous Marmola Prescription,) one of which you must take after each meal and at bedtime until you begin to lose your fat at the rate of 12 to 16 ounces a day. That is all. Just go on eating what you like, leave exercising to the athletes, but take your little tablet faithfully and without a doubt that flabby flesh will quickly take unto itself wings, leaving behind it your natural self, neatly clothed in firm flesh and trim muscles.

BLOODY COAT IS FOUND.

VENTURA, Jan. 20.—Sheriff McMartin is working on a mystery and it is a bloody one, too, from developments so far. Some person in Saticoy this morning called up the officials here and stated that a bloody coat had been found in a gulch near that place, and the conditions were so peculiar that it was thought an investigation should be made. The Sheriff procured the coat which, upon investigation, showed a half dozen unmistakable knife holes through the fabric and every knife hole had a fringe of blood about it and the coat in places was soaked with blood.

In the pocket of the garment was found a bill of yesterday's date showing that A. Valenzuela had purchased a half dozen bottles of beer from J. Lagomarsino of Oxnard. The Sheriff is now bending every energy to finding out who A. Valenzuela is and where, also to determining whether the bloody coat belonged to him and if so whether he is dead or alive. If a dark and bloody deed was committed it is quite certain it was last night from the recent date on the beer invoice.

Humphreys' Seventy-Seven Breaks up Grip and COLDS

COLDS NOT DUE TO LOW NECK GOWNS.

Some physicians attribute the colds and sore throats which have been so common that they threatened to become epidemic within the last week in large measure to foolish dressing on the part of women and especially to the Dutch necks and lace yokes. On the contrary, the tendency to wear lighter clothing and especially to expose the throat has hardened women and increased their vitality that they can withstand exposure far better than they could ten years ago.

"It is not lack of protection but inconsistency that is dangerous." If women would always wear low necks or always high ones the system would accommodate itself to it.

If the women will carry a vial of "Seventy-seven" and take a dose at the first feeling of a cold, they may dress as they please.

Talks On Teeth

Advantages of Our Alveolar Method

We were the first to introduce the Alveolar Method of Dentistry in Los Angeles, and the success that has attended our work in this line, during the years since it was first offered by us, here, has confirmed our judgment as to its merits. In this case as in all others we were the leaders. Our record of successful practice covering as it does nearly seven years in Los Angeles has been made because we are painstaking and progressive. It is only those who are engaged in the dental profession who fully realize the great progress that has been made in methods and means for the alleviation and correction of tooth troubles. One of the most important of all recent discoveries is

This is the new, sanitary and scientific method of restoring missing teeth in a way that so perfectly duplicates the natural teeth in appearance and efficiency that it marks the climax of perfection in modern dentistry. No plate or bridge is employed. But two or more natural teeth are needed in the jaw in order to permit the introduction of the Alveolar work in the mouth. When finished in the superior and correct manner that this work is executed in our office, our patients are highly elated with the results. Our Alveolar Method enables us to give you practically a new set of teeth which will last as long as nature's best. They will never ache—you can cleanse them as you do natural teeth, owing to the fact that no plate or bridge is used they are much more sanitary.

OUR WORK AND OUR OFFICE.

No one who has not had dental work executed at our office can realize how superior our work is. It is just the best dental work that can be obtained anywhere at any price, and it is executed by men who know how, men who keep abreast of all advances in modern dentistry. Our office equipment is complete in every detail. This combination has built us up a reputation that we are proud of, and if you want to learn just how good our work is before you try us, ask any of our patients. We can and will give you names of hundreds of them located in this city and county.

OUR CHARGES ARE REASONABLE.

We do not ask fancy prices for our work. Just a fair fee—a reasonable sum, just what anyone will gladly and willingly pay for high grade work such as we invariably execute. Remember that you can always consult us free of charge regarding your tooth troubles, and there is no obligation incurred on your part in so doing.

This Corset not only makes you LOOK smaller, but actually drives away the fat, so that you ARE smaller

DEAR MADAM:

You have quickly adopted this latest Nemo invention—the "Auto-Massage Self-Reducing Corset"—so now you have another and very useful friend in the Nemo family.

We don't blame you for having doubted our claim that this corset actually reduces the size and weight of your figure; but now you believe—for the corset has "made good."

You need never question any statement we make. "Nemo" always stands for 100 per cent. truth.

These new corsets, Nos. 353 and 354, would be wonderful figure-shaping corsets even if they hadn't the auto-massage feature.

Though only $3.50, they are really in the $5.00 class, as corset-values go.

No. 353 low bust
No. 354 medium
$3.50

Note the very long skirt—it gives you superb slender style when you stand, but you have lots of room when you sit down; and the corset can't bind or ride up.

MRS. SELBY AND HER PRIZE BABY

Redondo Beach, Calif.—Mrs. G. A. Selby says: "I have always used Cuticura Soap and no other for my baby and he has never had a sore of any kind. He does not even chafe as most babies do. I feel sure that it is all owing to Cuticura Soap, for he is fine and healthy, and when five months old, won a prize in a baby contest. It makes my heart ache to go into so many homes and see a sweet-faced baby with the whole top of its head a solid mass of scurf, caused by poor soap. I always recommend Cuticura, and nine times out of ten, the next time I see the mother she says, 'Oh! I am so glad you told me of Cuticura.'"

Although Cuticura Soap and Ointment are sold by druggists and dealers everywhere, a liberal sample of each, with 32-page booklet will be sent, post-free, on application to "Cuticura," Dept. 9H, Boston. Tender-faced men should shave with Cuticura Soap Shaving Stick.

This Girl Recovered From Consumption

The makers of Eckman's Alterative, which is doing so much good for Consumptives, are continually in receipt of really wonderful reports of cures brought about solely through the use of this medicine. These reports are always at the command of anyone interested, and many of the writers, in their gratitude have suggested that like sufferers write direct and learn what it did for them. Here is one specimen:

421 Second Ave., Aurora, Ill.

"Gentlemen: Pardon me for not writing sooner, but I wanted to see if I would stay cured. I can now truthfully say I am perfectly well. Never felt better in all my life. I wish to express my heartfelt thanks. I never have any pain, no cough, no night sweats, no hay-fever. Since a child of two years I have been ailing with lung trouble, which grew worse as I grew older. At the age of fourteen the doctor said if I could not be sent South, I would surely die of Consumption. Every winter I would be sure to have either Bronchitis, Pleurisy, or Pneumonia. I had Typhoid-Pneumonia one time. I had catarrh of the stomach and bowels and had Hay Fever for the last few years; but have not anything of the kind this year.

"I will answer all letters sent to me, asking a history of my case, from any one suffering from lung trouble.

"I remain with many thanks to you, your grateful friend."

(Signed Affidavit) ETTA PLATH.

Three years later reports still well.

Eckman's Alterative is effective in Bronchitis, Asthma, Hay Fever, Throat and Lung Troubles, and in upbuilding the system. Does not contain poisons, opiates or habit-forming drugs. For sale by The Owl Drug Co.'s Stores and other leading druggists. Ask for booklet of cured cases and write to Eckman Laboratory, Philadelphia, Pa., for additional evidence.

BREVITIES.

We sell custom-made clothes at $15 that have been made to order from $25 to $40. We have contracts with many of the leading tailors in Los Angeles and other large cities to take all the uncalled-for tailor-made suits and overcoats that they have left on their hands for any reason, whatever. You can buy an elegant suit for from 1-3 to 1-2 their value. Just arrived, a man's blue serge suit made by Kelly of Boston, about 37 chest, imported goods, silk lined, made for $40; it's yours for $15. Another blue serge, heavier weight, large weave, mohair lined, about 38 chest, made for $45; yours for $15. Brown cheviots, size 36; brown velours, size 40; black unfinished worsted, size 39; all at $15. Over 500 suits to choose from. Don't wear ready-mades. Look in our two large windows and see for yourself. Come in and try them on. No trouble to show goods. The Anchell Tailor Parlors, 214 Mercantile place.

GLENDORA BRIEFS.

GLENDORA, Jan. 20.—Scattered forces of men may now be seen any day defoliating the shade trees aligning the street frontage over the city. This is being done in compliance with an ordinance passed by the City Council at the suggestion of the County Horticultural Commissioner for the purpose of destroying the black scale with which these pepper trees are infested. The task will not be a light one, since there are thirteen miles of this particular kind of shade trees, many of which have attained a large growth. It is expected that the great quantity of wood taken from the severed branches will more than pay the expenses of defoliation.

Dr. W. R. McNair has signed up a five-year lase, with the privilege of another five years, if desired, with Frank Chance for a room at the corner on the ground floor of his business block to be occupied with a stock of drugs as soon as the building is completed and ready for occupancy. It is understood that negotiations are underway for the other three rooms.

The City Trustees have under consideration an ordinance, which, if passed, will prohibit the railroad companies from maintaining stations for unloading fertilisers within the city limits. There has developed considerable opposition on the part of a few of the fruit growers while those who reside in close proximity to the two unloading switches are quite as insistent that a nuisance so dangerous to the health of the community must go. About all are agreed within the city limits that stringent sanitary measures should be adopted and that when it comes to be a question of health or dollars and cents that the former should not be opposed successfully.

FULLERTON.

FULLERTON, Jan. 20.—The reunion the Chapman family was held last night at the beautiful suburban home of C. C. Chapman, the millionare of the Chapman family was held last tended by about seventy members of the family from Los Angeles, Uplands, Covina and Chicago. The los Angeles contingent formed a long automobile parade which arrived early in the evening, the guests being dressed in hard times costumes. The entire party remained over night and were served an old time breakfast repast at Mr. Chapman's home.

A Simple Kidney Recipe

Tells How to Relieve Kidney and Bladder Trouble, Gives a Prescription Which Is Easily Prepared at Home and Is Said to Give Permanent Relief to Every Sufferer Who Will Try the Mixture—Forces Kidneys to Filter Out the Germs.

Here is a prescription which should be valued by all who are subject to rheumatism, stomach, kidney and bladder trouble, and especially catarrh. While the latter is said by most sufferers an incurable disease, there are few men or women who will fail to experience great relief from the following simple home prescription, and if taken in time should prevent an attack of catarrh during the entire season. Anyone can mix the following: Fluid Extract Juniper Berries, one ounce; Compound Fluid Balmwort, one ounce; Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites, four ounces. Shake well in a bottle and use in teaspoonful doses before each meal and again at bed time. Get these ingredients from any pharmacist whom you know handles only pure drugs. This prescription acts directly upon the eliminative tissues of the kidneys to make the filter and strain from the blood, the poisons that produce all forms of catarrhal affections. Relief is often felt even after the first few doses, and it is seldom that the sufferer ever experiences a return attack within the year.

This prescription makes a splendid remedy for all forms of blood disorders and such symptoms as lame back, bladder weakness and rheumatism pains are entirely dispelled.

As this valuable, yet simple recipe comes from a thoroughly reliable source, it should be heeded by every reader who suffers from catarrh.

STEINWAY
---a World's Standard

Russia has its Makers of Pianos.

Germany has its several Makers of repute.

England is proud of one or two of its great instruments.

France believes that the "Errard" is a great Piano.

America has a number of pianos of superior quality.

But one of these is pre-eminent, standing above any instrument made in Russia, Germany, England, France—or in America. It is recognized as the greatest of all Pianos—the World's standard. It is the famous Steinway. In recognition of its supreme quality, the Crowned Heads and Governments of the Kingdoms named have paid tribute to Steinway & Sons by granting them special recognition. In Europe, Messrs. Steinway & Sons have been made official Piano Makers to the courts of many rulers. This recognition of the Steinway has been given in preference to all Pianos made abroad—proof that the Steinway is the World's Standard Piano.

We are Exclusive Representatives

We are exclusive Steinway representatives for Southern California and Arizona. New Steinways can be purchased nowhere else. Steinways are priced at $575 to $775 in uprights, and $850 and upward in grands. We ask regular New York prices, making a small additional charge to cover the cost of freight and handling. Favorable terms of payment can be arranged on the purchase of a Steinway.

Problem of the Human Tide.

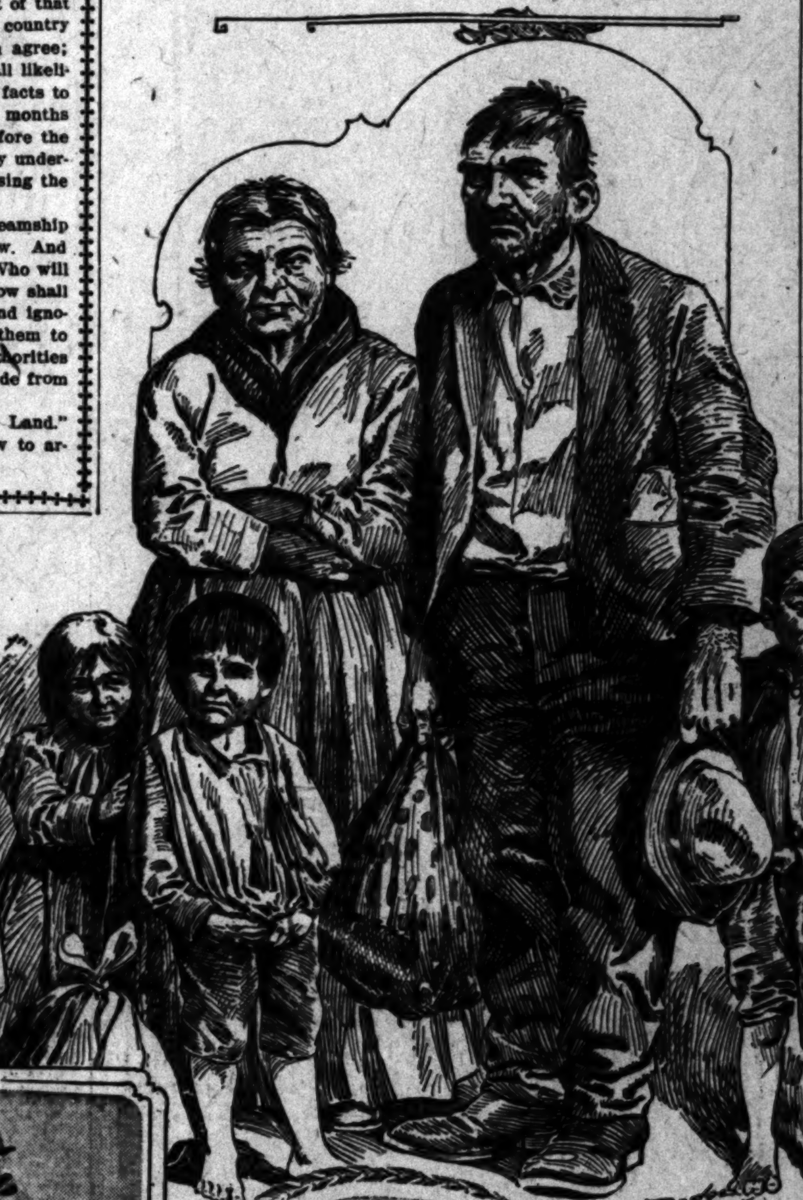
CENTER OF IMMIGRATION MAY SHIFT FROM NEW YORK TO LOS ANGELES.

Hundreds of Thousands From Many Lands Expected on Opening of Canal and No Preparation Yet Made to Care for Them Here—Time for Action, But What Shall Be Done?

LOS ANGELES IS DESTINED, with the opening of the Panama Canal, to become the distributing point for the greater part of that immigration from Southern Europe that is now entering the country through New York, all experts who have studied the situation agree; perhaps not at once, perhaps not within a few months, but in all likelihood by the end of the first year. It takes time for even great facts to trickle down into the masses of the Old World, and it may be months after the ships shall be passing through the great short cut before the restless multitudes will know anything about it, but they already understand what Southern California means and only the cost of crossing the continent by rail keeps them away now.

With the opening of the canal, it is generally admitted, steamship rates will be made direct to this port that will be surprisingly low. And we must prepare for a tremendous rush. What shall be done? Who will look after these strange peoples? Where shall they be sent? How shall the dangerous element be handled? How shall the innocent and ignorant be kept out of the hands of those who will be awaiting them to preach anarchy and breed crime? Shall the State and county authorities get into action and make arrangements for looking after the horde from foreign lands that will come for assimilation and citizenship?

The general answer to the problem seems to be "To the Land." How to receive the newcomers, how to care for them and how to arrange to get them on the land will yet have to be determined.



From Roumania

New buildings Ellis Island

From Norway

They're Expected to Make a Tremendous Rush on Southern California

With the opening of the Panama Canal, and may shift the center of immigration from Ellis Island to Los Angeles. These are a few types of the mighty hordes the ships will bring through the new waterway. Some of them are already buying their tickets on the installment plan.

The steamship agencies throughout Europe are looking forward to the approaching westward movement. They are preparing for it, are nursing it, petting it, and seeing that the people get the emigration idea thoroughly absorbed in their minds. In the past ten years more men, women and children came from Southern Europe to the United States than descended from the roof of the world upon Germany, Italy, Spain and Northern Africa in all the centuries with the hordes of Alaric, the Teutons, the Huns and the Vandals. Sober, careful judges believe that, while the main stream of this current has heretofore passed through New York, now all is to be changed and it will find its way through Los Angeles.

ALREADY BUYING PASSAGE.

At the steamship agencies here reports throughout the Balkan region, in Hungary, in Roumania, parts of Italy, Southern Austria, Greece and the Catalan coast of Spain, representatives of the companies are disposing of large numbers of tickets on the installment plan, to be delivered to the purchasers when the Panama Canal shall be opened. In this country men and women who are already established are buying tickets for their relatives in their native land in the same way through the small loan agents and private bankers.

So far nothing has been done to care for those who are coming. It is believed that the center of immigration will shift from Ellis Island, in New York harbor, to this port—immigration authorities, steamship men, railway officials, real estate men, all look for something like that to happen, but not a tangible step has been taken toward receiving and placing the numbers that will come. Of the 3,455,040 alien immigrants from Europe who passed into this country in the past ten years through Atlantic ports figures of the Western Passenger Association show that 365,117 found their way 3000 miles across the continent to this coast. As many as that may enter the United States through Los Angeles within a year after the opening of the canal, most of them to remain in Southern California. Figures based on estimates that were in turn founded on figures of years, promise at least that much, but men are chary to say what the immigration will amount to.

WAYS AND MEANS.

What shall be done?

"Appoint a State commission at once," says Secretary Wiggins of the Chamber of Commerce.

"Let our representatives at Washington bestir themselves and have a great immigration station constructed immediately at the harbor," says United States Immigration Agent Connell.

"Block out the land," says the Realty Board, "so we shall know where to locate the immigrants."

"We have the room to take care of them all, but let us know where they can be placed on agricultural land," says General Passenger Agent Peck of the Salt Lake Railroad, an admitted authority on the question.

"Consider the conditions under which Europeans like to live and see whether you can offer them such conditions," says Manager Sanner of the Lehman Steamship Agency. These men have studied the immigration question deeply and some of them have spent years in Europe, on the ground whence the great influx is to come.

The movement is already in evidence. When the snows in the mountains begin to melt in spring, the torrents that are to sweep down on the plains below always give some

James Gorman, No. 445 Gladys avenue, reported to the police detectives yesterday that earlier in the day he visited the Cathedral of St. Vibiana at Second and Main streets. When he left the pew where he offered up a silent supplication, Gorman says he left a grip.

When he returned for it, it was gone. The grip, an imitation alligator skin, contained the following articles, valued at several thousand dollars:

Glass jewel box, necklace of pearl beads, black velvet band with three pearls, two turquoise rings, one ring containing five garnets, one Malakite ring, a diamond cross stick-pin, a gold cross with small gold chain, a pair of women's shoes, a copy of "The Faith of Our Father," a black purse, a silver hand bag, a claim check and a $25 check, issued by George Terrill to Nellie Terrill.

CHINA Y.M.C.A. HEAD COMING.

A Booster With the Spirit of an Angeleno.

Seeks Pointers for the Great Shanghai Building.

Benevolent Men of This City Have Big Part.

Within a few days S. K. Tsao senior Chinese secretary of the Y.M.C.A. work in China, will arrive in Los Angeles, according to reports just received by G. Fletcher Quillian, assistant secretary of the Los Angeles association, who has been the guiding official of the heavy appropriation sent to China each year from this city.

"Tsao came to America more than ten years ago, studied American methods of Y.M.C.A. and missionary work, and on returning to that country became one of the greatest factors in the organization of a Chinese Y.M.C.A.," said Quillian. "From nothing at all he helped to build up a wonderful organization in China and attracted the attention of a number of Los Angeles people to what had been accomplished, particularly in Shanghai.

"With the boost spirit of Los Angeles to work with, it was not difficult to arouse enthusiasm and today much of the success of the Shanghai Y.M.C.A. and the work throughout the empire and in Korea has its foundation in what was accomplished by local people."

BRINGING THE PLANS.

When Tsao arrives he will bring with him detailed plans of the new buildings which are to be erected in Shanghai. One of these, the International Y.M.C.A. building, has been largely the outcome of the contribution of Charles M. Stimson of this city, who subscribed $30,000 in gold for the property adjoining the present building in the Oriental city. This sum in Chinese money is equal to $60,000, silver being the standard of coinage there.

When Miss Helen Gould heard of this, she at once subscribed a fund sufficient to erect a building, to cost not less than $50,000. She placed no limitation on the size nor on the amount, and it is to familiarize himself with the largest developments in Y.M.C.A buildings that Tsao is coming here.

This is not the only building that will be added to the one existing. The plan has been evolved for a group of buildings similar to the plan followed in this country in the erection of schools on the unit system. Two other buildings are contemplated, corresponding in size with the international building—one for boys' work and one for technical students and men.

Nor is this all that Los Angeles has contributed to making the Chinese work successful. Mr. Stimson gave $2000 to start the work; last year Arthur Letts paid the salary of Secretary W. W. Lockwood, $2000, while subscriptions from individual members paid the same amount for the salary of a second secretary. At the last meeting of those interested in Chinese work, Mr. Letts renewed his subscription and it was decided by the local association to send $4000, thus providing for three secretaries. The HISTRIONISM MONUMENTAL.

Great Drama of the Missions at Last Written.

John Steven McGroarty Is Its Creator.

Details of an Illustrious Stage Effort.

Early in March, according to present plans, which do not seem possible to miscarry, the "Mission Day" of John S. McGroarty will be staged at San Gabriel.

This "Mission Play" is no ordinary drama.

It represents years of work upon the part of its talented and well-known author, and to date is the foremost western dramatic product upon the most romantic period of Western American civilization—the mission epoch, inaugurated by Junipero Serra, and instrumental in bringing civilization, peace, and prosperity to the whole Southwestern coast country.

The play is a stupendous compendium of all that day, its first act finding the fleet of Don Gaspar de Portola at rest in the placid, aboriginal-shored bay of San Diego, and its third and concluding scene being laid in the ruined cloisters of San Juan Capistrano.

Between first and final curtains the magnificent dynasty of the missions will pass before the spectator in grand review. The great personages, the civilizing influences, the educational works, the arts and crafts, and, above all, the poetry and languorous charm of the Spanish-Franciscan ascendency will be mirrored to the twentieth-century eyes, beholding.

Names of individuals, from Don Gaspar de Portola to the immortal Junipero Serra, were considered as fitting titles, but finally—the inevitable comparison with the great Oberammeragau passion play forced itself strongly upon all who saw Mr. McGroarty's work, and realized its unusual comprehensiveness—it was decided that the simple name of "The Mission Play" best suited this really big dramatic creation.

The most surprisingly complete preparations have been made for its production.

The financial end of the scheme has actually been incorporated under the laws of the State.

A suite of five offices has been taken in the Union League building.

A new theater is to be built at San Gabriel for this enterprise.

Europe and America are being ransacked for correct materials. A splendid cast will soon be announced.

BIRTH OF IDEA.

The idea of a mission play for California was first conceived in the mind of Frank Miller, the master of the famous Mission Inn at Riverside. Several years ago, when Mr. Miller was abroad, he visited the "Passion Play" at Oberammergau, and it was then that he was seized with the inspiration of securing an author to write a mission play which he hoped to see produced in the patio of his hotel.

Upon returning to America Mr. Miller at once called on Dr. Lyman Abbott in New York, with a view to securing the proper man to write the play. Dr. Abbott suggested Henry Van Dyke and Miller at once called on Dr. Van Dyke at Princeton. Dr. Van Dyke, however, was fascinated with the idea and expressed a great desire to do the work, but declared that he would first have to come to California and live at least two years among the old missions before attempting the task. This being impossible in his case, he expressed his belief to Miller that the man to write the play must be found in California.

Some months after Mr. Miller's return to his Riverside home, and after he had made a careful and patient survey of authors in the California field, selected John S. McGroarty as the man best fitted by a knowledge of California history, as well as by sentiment and ability as a writer, to do the work. Mr. McGroarty was sent for with the result that he undertook the great task.

More than two years of hard work was put in by Mr. McGroarty in the writing of the Mission Play, which, when he had finished, had assumed proportions entirely out of the capabilities of Riverside. The consequences were that it was decided by all concerned to produce the play at the old Mission of San Gabriel as the most fitting setting for such a production. Thus Los Angeles secures a new asset of incalculable value.

THE SCHEME.

Mr. McGroarty, with his thorough knowledge of California's history and traditions, with his poetic gifts and a temperament eminently fitted to absorb the glamorous romance of California, has performed his great task with striking success.

The Mission Play will be produced in three acts, following Aristotle's rule for the play, which is to say that the story has a beginning and an end.

The scenes of the first act are laid on the shores of San Diego Bay in the year of 1769, when California began. The stage settings show the lovely harbor of the sun with Point Loma shouldering its dim outlines out to sea. An old Spanish galleon rocks gently at anchor. The rude huts of the Spaniards stand under old Presidio Hill. A guard of Catalonian soldiers lie lazily about and the dialogue brings out the story of the hardships and hopelessness of the situation. The return of Portola from his fruitless quest of Monterey has been awaited for none weary months. The settlement is pathetically worn with sickness and is on the verge of utter starvation. Father Junipero Serra, the immortal founder of the Missions appears early in this act and at once takes his place as the commanding figure of the play, as he was the commanding figure in history for the first sixteen years of the establishment of his immortal dream of a Christian California. On this day Portola at length returns, his expedition in a pitiful condition. As the full knowledge of the awful situations dawns upon him Portola gives orders for the people to board the ship in the harbor and sail back to Mexico with the tide at night. California is to be abandoned. Father Serra begs and pleads with Portola to retract his orders but the Gobernador is obdurate. Then Father Serra ascends the old brown hill and prays for a ship to come to the relief of starving San Diego. Everybody regards him with the most profound pity while the preparations for departure are being feverishly prosecuted. The day passes. But just as the sun is setting in a flame of splendor across the waters the white speck of a sail is seen rounding Point Loma. The sail grows larger and larger. In the gathering darkness great shouts of joy are heard. San Diego is saved.

The second act is laid at Carmel Mission across the green, pineclad hill fom Monterey. In this act Mr. Kabierske displays at his best his remarkable abilities as a stage artist. The matchless old church with the great patio that once surrounded it come forth in the glory of the break of day. The three hundred people of the play take part in the morning hymn. The act is projected to typify a day in the life of the Missions at a time when they were at the zenith of their success. A wonderful pageant of Indians is put into motion showing how successfully the natives have been brought out of savagery into the full stature of civilized men. They display their trades. At noon a holiday is declared and the second part of the act is given over to Indian dances and games and to Spanish dancing a supposed company of dancers from Monterey. Spanish music, which is used throughout the whole performance, is here made doubly fascinating. At the end, the same scene that unfolded itself from the gray dawn slips away in the gorgeous sunset and the last we see of beautiful Carmelo is the white loveliness of it all under the witchery of the moonlight.

The third act is laid at San Juan Capistrano, showing the old Mission in ruins as it stands today. In this act the author brings out the sad story of spoliation and secularization.

A complete orginization for the production is being rapidly put in shape. For the leading parts the best actors available are being signed. Real California Indians have been secured for the pageants. Musicians of the first order have already engaged themselves to take part. We shall see perhaps the best Spanish dancing yet witnessed in these parts on any stage. Every detail of historical accuracy will be faithfully followed. The actor selected to play the role of Junipero Serra will be sent to live with the Franciscans at Santa Barbara in order that he may the more sympathetically imbibe the soul of the great character which he is to portray.

In a few days the erection of the theater for the production will be begun at San Gabriel.

CONFESS!

Confess that your sole reason for not visiting a competent dentist and having your missing and defective teeth replaced or restored has been your fear of the dentist's chair—of the pain and discomfort that for generations had been both a tradition and a reality.

It is nothing to be ashamed of, but—

Conditions aren't what they used to be. There has been a vast improvement over the old day when the dentist's office was a mere chamber of torture. Really, you have not kept pace with the march of progress.

So, too, with the dislike of those partially obsolete methods, plates and bridge work.

My Improved Method of Dentistry, the last word in modern dental achievement, has removed all the objections which has prevented thousands from having in either jaw a complete set of strong, handsome teeth—not to be distinguished from the originals, and capable of fulfilling every function of the best set of natural teeth that nature ever bequeathed to Humanity.

All that is necessary in order to avoid plates or bridge work is the presence of two or more teeth in the jaw to be equipped. I will do the rest.

I exercise personal supervision over all work, from the operating chair to the laboratory, and back again. My operators and assistants are gentle, sympathetic and careful. They could not work for me otherwise. In every department and at all times this plan is carried out. Pain is a thing to be banished. The unpardonable sin is to give unnecessary pain.

I wish to call especial attention to my porcelain work. This is more expensive than gold or aluminum, but fastidious people, who demand the best, regardless of price, will accept nothing else. It is known as continuous gum dentures, and imitates gum color so closely that it cannot be detected even on the closest inspection.

My prices are surprisingly reasonable; often more is paid for inferior work. Consultation and examination free.

GRAND JURY MAY FINISH MONDAY.

SPECULATION AS TO WHAT IS TO BE FINDING.

Officials Concerned in Investigation Into Bribery of Jurors in the Trial of McNamara Are Non-committal. Many Rumors, Nothing Authentic. Tracing the "Slush" Fund.

The bribery investigation that has been conducted by the Los Angeles county grand jury for the past three weeks is nearing the end. It is predicted by county officials that the inquiry into the alleged attempts to corrupt prospective jurors in the McNamara case will terminate tomorrow afternoon.

Asst. Dist.-Atty. Ford, who has been in charge of the investigation was decidedly non-committal yesterday. "All I can say is that nothing can happen today, Sunday," said he.

The grand jury met at 10 o'clock yesterday morning. It is an unusual proceding for the inquisitorial body to meet on a Saturday, but there were several unfinished ends to complete in the chain of evidence.

W. H. Leutz, and George Young, bank officials, were before the grand jury for a few minutes. George Monroe, clerk of Department Nine, where the McNamara trial was staged, also gave brief testimony.

The whole proceeding did not last more than an hour. Adjournment was taken until 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. It is evidently the purpose of the prosecution to keep its proceedings secret. Nothing authentic has leaked from the grand jury chamber. Deputy Sheriff Lips, who has been the guard, has carefully scrutinized all persons loitering about the ante-room to the grand jury chamber, and has not allowed outsiders to remain there.

There are no more witnesses to be examined, as far as is known, and the next session may produce one or more indictments. The name of one of Bert Franklin's employers has been often mentioned in connection with the case, but there is so far, no intimation that he may be indicted. There has been plenty of evidence to indict Franklin, but the reason for such a procedure would be hard to find, inasmuch as he has already pleaded "not guilty" to two informations charging him with bribery.

There was also a report yesterday that Robert F. Bain, a permanent juror in the McNamara case, might be indicted. But Bain has already been a witness for the State in each of its two preliminary examinations of Franklin, and there seems to be no cause for getting after him, especially as both he and his wife have confessed and made restitution of the money given them, as both say, by Franklin.

It is believed that several San Francisco laborites have been under strong suspicion in connection with the probe. According to evidence in the possession of the District Attorney, the "slush fund" was kept in a safe deposit box and currency was taken out as occasion demanded.

This fund was supposedly constantly replenished by contributions sent here by way of San Francisco, representing the offerings of labor unions throughout the country. The money used for attorneys' fees, rent off offices, salaries, etc., was kept in the banks and checked out, but the prosecution has never found any check that could be traced to the "slush fund."

If no indictments are returned tomorrow or within the next few days it will indicate that the Grand Jury does not consider the actual evidence warrants making arrests. As Capt. Fredericks said just before he went East: "It is one thing to be morally certain that a certain person instructed Franklin to bribe those jurors and another to connect him legally with the deed."

TO EXPEDITE CASE.

CONNORS TRIAL TOO SLOW.

When the trial of Bert is resumed tomorrow morning, Judge Willis will make every effort to expedite it. When it was set for hearing in Department Eleven of the Superior Court, Chief Trial Deputy Horton thought it ought to be finished within a week. Two weeks have been consumed so far. The defense has a lot more witnesses who will testify as to the reputation of Detectives Parks and Bishop, the principal witnesses for the State. Judge Willis may order evening sessions in addition to the regular day sessions unless more progress is made.

Connors, who is charged with having attempted to dynamite the Hall of Records on the night of September 8, 1910, has not been on the stand so far. The lawyers for the defense say he will be given an opportunity to give his side of the case. If he goes on the stand, the prosecution can give him a cross-examination that may prove embarrassing.

The case has been of unusual interest to the unionites the past week. Witnesses for the prosecution swore that the striking metal workers maintained gangs of thugs known as "wrecking crews" for the express purpose of disabling independent workingmen. According to other witnesses there was an inside ring of laborite bosses who talked over various dynamiting "jobs" and actually selected Connors, Maple and Bender to blow up the Hall of Records. They also planned to destroy the Hotel Alexandria Annex, according to other evidence.

The State is holding in reserve some sensational testimony that will be used in rebuttal after the defense concludes its side.

Coal Is Gold
In California

A real bituminous coal mine is the rarest, and yet the greatest, safest and least competitive business in California.

It is greater wealth than the most fabulously rich gold mine, and yet has none of the gold mine's risks.

We have 20,000,000 tons of splendid coal. It is clean; stands shipping well; does not disintegrate; tests 10,000 to 12,000 B.T.U. in heat values; is suitable for steam or domestic purposes.

Our capitalization is $1,000,000. Par value $1 per share. There are no bonds or preferred stock.

There are 10 tons of coal, that wholesales at $9 and retails at $14 per ton, back of each share of this stock.

At 50c a share (present price) there are actually 20 tons of coal as security, $180 security for each 50c you invest.

20,000,000 tons of coal at $3 per ton profit represents an asset of $60,000,000. At $9, the wholesale price, it is $180,000,000.

At 50c a share you are investing on a basis of 2½c per ton for the coal in the ground.

At 50c a share, if we mine only 600 tons per day, your actual dividend should be 100 per cent. per annum.

One coal dealer has offered to contract to take 1000 tons daily.

Call or write for the facts about these mines. You will hunt far for anything as good, and you will not find anything more safe.

50c is the present price. Terms 10 per cent. (5c) a share now, and 10 per cent. (5c) monthly.

This price is temporary and very low. The right is reserved to advance it without notice.

Every dollar put into this company now should pay back from $1 to $5 annual income for twenty to forty years.

A POSSIBLE PARALLEL.

Speaker Before High School Refers to Revolutions of the Past and Compares Them With China.

Rev. L. A. Gould lectured before before the French Club of the Los Angeles High School on Friday on "The French Revolution, the American Revolution and the Chinese Revolution, Compared and Contrasted." He maintained that while there are diversities in certain features of the revolutions of the past, in the cause of popular sovereignty, there are fundamental similarities. The speaker maintained that the French with their motto, "Liberty, Equality and Fraternity," had struck upon the basic principles of republicanism. Attention was called to the fact that January 21 was the anniversary of the execution of Louis XVI, virtually estaablishing the French republic, and January 31, the anniversary of the execution of Charles the First of England, virtually settling the principle of popular rule in Great Britain. "Possibly there is a deadly parallel between the closing days of January and conclusion of the activity of the Manchu dynasty in China, and the establishment of the Chinese republic," said Mr. Gould.

CELEBRATE GOLDEN WEDDING.

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Brayton of No. 658 East Thirty-sixth street, celebrated their golden wedding on Thursday last, and enjoyed the congratulations of a large number of friends. Of their five children only one, George Brayton, lives in this city. They came here from Clearlake, Iowa., six years ago.

BABY SHOW ON TUESDAY.

A baby show will be held in Vermont-avenue Square Methodist Church, Budlong and Vernon avenues, on Tuesday afternoon from 2 to 5 o'clock. Prizes will be awarded to all babies under 3 years of age, in all different classes, all to be entered before 3:30 on the day of the show. There will be no charges whatever for entering the babies. The prizes are all for the prettiest babies of their several ages, except one which is for the smallest baby of its age.

Quick Action Prescription Cures Colds In a Day

The best and quickest prescription known to medical science for colds and coughs is as follows: "From your druggist get two ounces of Glycerine and half an ounce of Concentrated Pine compound. Take these two ingredients home and put them into a half pint of good whiskey. Shake it well. Take one to two teaspoonfuls after each meal and at bed-time. Smaller doses to children according to age." Be sure to get only the genuine (Globe) Concentrated Pine. Each half ounce bottle comes in a tin screw-top sealed case. Any druggist has it on hand or will quickly get it from his wholesale house. There are many cheaper preparations of large quantity but it don't pay to experiment. This treatment is certain cure. This has been published here for six winters and thousands say it has no equal.

CENTER OF IMMIGRATION.

sign. The streams that have been dry begin to swell and there is a sluggish commencement of a current. So at San Diego the signs of the immigration that is to sweep down on Southern California within the next two years are already to be seen. The territory surrounding San Diego is receiving alien immigrants at the rate of 1000 a month. Last year more than 4000 came into the United States through Tia Juana, the little border town, sixteen miles south of San Diego. This year the number coming in is considerably larger, many arriving by steamers from down the coast. Most of these men and women are Mexicans, as is natural, but there is a large sprinkling of Russians from the south of the Czar's domain, and from Southern Austria. The Russians are mostly from Kishinev and Sebastopol, and immigration authorities at the southern port expect an enormous inflow from those districts, as soon as the Panama Canal shall have been opened to shipping.

"Unless the immigration laws shall be amended," the immigration authorities at San Diego say, "Southern California will be over-run with Europeans."

SEND THEM WHERE NEEDED.

"What to do?" said Secretary Wiggins of the Chamber of Commerce, who has for years been studying the subject of immigration in all its phases. "What to do? Let the State appoint a commissioner who shall find out definitely how many are coming and from whence they are to come. Let him find out where these people can be sent when they do come. Let the local authorities be forwarned so that provision shall be made for the men and women coming from foreign lands to make their homes here. It is for the State to act. At the next meeting of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of California, the subject of establishing agencies throughout Europe, already broached by the Los Angeles Chamber, will be taken up, and something will be done toward that end. At present what we need is funds for such a purpose. We had hoped that the World's Fair Commission would expend some of the funds at its disposal on this purpose, but nothing has been done toward that end as yet.

"What shall we do with the people when they come? We can't keep them here in Los Angeles. We want to send them out into the country, and that will have to be done. To that end we shall have to hear from localities as to how many they can care for. We expect many thousands and we must be prepared for them when they reach this city, so that they will not settle down here, but will go into the agricultural and horticultural districts, where they will be needed, and where they can care for themselves. Let the several county authorities in Southern California and in this neighborhood, the land-owners and others get together at once, find out how many people can be settled in their vicinity, and let us know. These facts, however, should be collected by the State and a commissioner should be named right now to do it."

DETENTION-PLACE NEEDED.

Capt. Charles T. Connell, United States Immigration Inspector for this district, sees the immediate need of a place of detention and examination of the immigrants that will pour down upon the harbor.

"Our representatives in the Senate and House of Representatives," he said, "should begin at once to take steps for the construction of a large detention and examination station for this port. At present we have nothing. We can scarcely take care of the arrivals from coastwise ports. What will it be when the canal shall be opened? The experience of other communities is that it takes time to get such a station as will be needed, and unless we begin at once, it will be several years after the throngs have begun to arrive before the station will be provided for. We have no such accommodations as Boston, as New Orleans, as Galveston, or as San Francisco. These must be provided."

Capt. Connell does not think the present immigration laws require amendment, believing them to be sufficiently comprehensive. He quoted from them to show that insane or chronically sick persons, paupers, criminals, immoral persons, anarchists, polygamists, assisted immigrants and contract laborers, are barred at present, and the wording of the law and regulations is such that he thinks all possible undesirable individuals could be prevented from entering this country and making their homes here. There must be men and means to enforce these laws and regulations, however.

The number of the possible arrivals naturally interests the transportation people and they have been making efforts to ascertain how many may be expected by all ports of entry of the United States.

SAYS ROOM FOR ALL.

"It is utterly impossible to estimate how many will arrive on this Coast through Los Angeles or any other port after the opening of the Panama Canal," said Thomas C. Peck, general passenger agent of the Salt Lake Railroad. "No living man can give a satisfactory guess. But we must look to agricultural workers. These should be provided for. There is room for all, and that should be understood.

"I am not one of those who expects to see a great tidal wave of immigration immediately following the opening of the canal, however, as I think it will be spread out over months. Everybody in Europe is not going to race to be abroad the first ship that passes through the canal. Los Angeles, however, will probably be the point of distribution for all these immigrants who intend to settle in Southern and Northern California, New Mexico, Arizona, Nevada, Idaho, and perhaps as far to the Northwest as Montana. For Washington and Oregon the point of distribution will probably be San Francisco, Portland or Seattle.

Peck gave figures collected by the Western Passenger Association, showing the distribution of alien immigration in the last ten years from Atlantic points, and also showing the relative importance of Atlantic ports in this respect. Of the 8,455,040 alien immigrants at United States and Canadian Atlantic ports since June 30, 1901, 6,850,503 arrived at New York; 285,323 at Philadelphia; 438,593 at Baltimore; 554,023 at Boston; 274,897 at Canadian ports; 1028 at Norfolk, 38,199 at New Orleans, and 45,474 at Galveston.

Of these arrivals in a decade, 4,764,234 stayed in New York City or State, or went to New Jersey and Pennsylvania; 1,029,733 found their way to New England; 187,180 went down along the Southern Coast; 114,734 struck out into Kentucky, Tennessee, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, Arkansas and Oklahoma; 1,364,642 found their way to Chicago and the Middle West, and the remaining 365,117 came across the continent to this coast.

"Whatever the number," said the Salt Lake road's authority "it is going to be large. And what we ought to be doing now is figuring on what to do with these people when they arrive. They will have to be put somewhere. Where?"

On the land, is the answer to that question, not only given by the man who asked it, but also by all the others who have studied the question.

At the Land Show in March it may be that those interested will have a plan ready to lay out the country, so to speak, that great tracts will be designated to which the attention of imigrants may be drawn. In the pamphlet advertising the show, just issued, attention is drawn to the fact that of the immigrants arriving in the United States last year, one-third gave their occupations as connected with farming. The pamphlet draws attention to the comparative sparsity of population in all the region west of the Rocky Mountains, specifying this State, Arizona, Nevada, Idaho, Colorado and Montana.

Meanwhile, what of the morals of the incoming hosts? Whatever they may believe in religion, there will be no way of finding it out until too late unless steps are taken now, but nothing has been done and strange, helpless people of vicious sects may find their way into this land unhampered by restrictions of any sort. Hindus are preparing to come by the thousand, too, introducing their villainous worship of Shiva's dusky bride and the Left Hand Path. Some talk of establishing a home to care for immigrants has been begun, but one home that might possibly housea hundred would be useless n looking after 10,000 or 100,000 a month.

These immigrants will bring children with them, too—a great many, doubtless. But the educational authorities of the State and county have done nothing to anticipate the coming of their charges. County Superintendent Keppel said yesterday that the matter has not even been touched upon.

Everybody agrees that something must be done, and that it is for Los Angeles to do it—now!

WITNESS MISSING.

Stool-Pigeon in Blind-Pig Cases May Have Been Murdered, the Police Believe.

The police have abandoned hope of ever locating Alexander Indrie, former "stoolie" of the Metropolitan Squad, Acting Sergt. Varey of that command, fearing the man has been murdered. The thirteen liquor cases, in which he was to have testified, were dismissed by Deputy Prosecutor Nimmo in Police Judge Frederickson's court, yesterday morning.

About six months ago Officer Marshall of the squad, was detailed to secure evidence against and suppress a number of blind pigs known to be flourishing at that time, in and about Sonoratown. He secured the services of Indrie, who then lived with his wife at No. 337 South Flower street. Marshall and Indrie opened a "fake" employment office in the northern end of town, and it was not long before they had secured the trust and confidence of the men they were later expected to arrest and prosecute.

October 2, 1911, Archie Audrick, M. Budencich, M. J. Firden, Frank Granan, Steve Galich, John Tukich, John Perrin, P. Ruiz, M. Repocisk, Anita Sanchez and J. Volk were arrested. Two months later F. E. Brown and Ed Maybaugh were taken into custody.

About two weeks ago, before the cases came to trial, Marshall got into trouble with his superior officers on the police force, and was suspended. He was to have appeared before the Police Commission last Wednesday. About three weeks ago Indrie dropped out of sight. Since then not a trace of him has been found, although detectives, plain-clothesmen and patrolmen have looked for him.

Mrs. Indrie remained at No. 337 South Flower street until a few days ago in the hope that her husband would return. Then she moved. Where she went the landlady does not know.

NATIVES AND PIONEERS.

Will Make Occasion of Installation of Officers an Occasion for Rejoicing—Dancing and Whist.

Native Daughters of the Golden West and many members of the Pioneer Society will be guests of honor at a public installation of officers of the several parlors of the Native Sons of the Golden West, of this city, at Native Sons Hall next Friday evening. Members of the organization from neighboring cities also have been invited to attend.

It is planned to make the occasion a striking precedent for this year's social activities, and following the ceremonies there will be dancing and progressive whist. Good music and worth-while prizes for the card players are promised.

UNION HYGIENE MEETING.

A union meeting of the Temple-street, Custer-street and Logan-street Parent-Teachers' Associations will be held in the Echo Park Clubhouse on next Friday evening, at which Mrs. Terrill will preside. Mrs. Alice S. Wells, Dr. Maud Wilde and Rev. C. T. Murphy will speak on local hygiene. There will be good music under the direction of Mrs. Fenner.

ENGINEERS TO MEET.

Illumination will receive an illumination at the coming meeting of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers, Los Angeles section, which will be held in the music hall of the Blanchard building Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock. E. Y. Porter will read a paper, "Comments on Show Window Lighting," and F. R. Lewis will give a talk on "Practical Illumination," illustrated with lantern slides.

SANITY QUESTIONED.

Henry Lauder Mills, of whom the police have been able to learn but little, was picked up at East Third and Los Angeles streets yesterday, raving about a man he said had run away with his wife. His sanity is questioned.

Leads in Construction.

California leads all other States in the Union in miles of new electric track laid last year, with 120 miles. The total number of miles laid in the United States and Canada in 1911 was 1191 miles. North Carolina and Illinois are tied for second place with 104 miles each. The new cars of all kinds ordered by the electric railways total 4015 cars, a decrease over the number ordered in 1910. Of the total 2884 were city passenger cars, 626 interurban passenger cars, and 505 freight and miscellaneous cars.

TRAFFIC ACCIDENTS.

COLLIER'S, THE BREVET BULLY OF JOURNALISM.

Montaigne says: "After a tongue has once got the knack of lying, it is almost impossible to reclaim it."

Collier's—"the National Weekly," so called—illustrates in nearly every one of its issues the truth of this aphorism. For months it has steadily misrepresented the attitude and record of The Times and its principal proprietor—General Otis. It has attacked the members of the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association—men who are of the bone and sinew of our business community, and who are habitually deep in the work of promoting the welfare of the city, holding up the hands of her citizens and supporters, and making the pay-rolls upon which her workers have to lean. It has insidiously endeavored to arouse adverse sentiment against those whom it designates as "Big Business," and "Predatory Capitalists" and "Tyrannical Wealth." It had no direct, unequivocal word of censure for those who destroyed The Times, or for those who attempted to blow up the Llewellyn Iron Works, or for those who were guilty of dynamite outrages in the Eastern States. It apologized for and defended union-labor crimes, even after the confession of the McNamaras; and in its course it has steadily lied, not merely for a purpose, but for "the very lust of lying." Collier's is essentially reckless, biased, proscriptive and domineering in the field of politics and journalism.

The Times has been and still is reluctant to enter into a controversy with a journal which disgraces the profession and dishonors and misrepresents honest labor. The Times is not unmindful of the proverb that one who applies a boot-toe to a noisy perro incurs the danger of acquiring a large supply of fleas. But it refuses to remain silent in the face of repeated assaults upon it and its principal proprietor, and reiterated falsehoods concerning them, and it will therefore undertake the unwelcome but necessary task of gibbeting this newspaper marauder.

In its issue of May 13th last, Collier's published, in its editorial columns, the following:

> "The arrest of the McNamaras and McManigal emphasizes a situation to which the courts have time and again, in their opinions, called the attention of Congress and legislatures. Under the Constitution of the United States and the decision of the courts, to bring any person within the definition of 'a fugitive from justice,' such person must have been at the time the alleged crime was committed, actually present in the State where the crime was committed, and must have fled therefrom. The very term 'fugitive,' as these decisions point out, signifies that the person has fled from somewhere. Now, at least JOHN J. M'NAMARA did not 'flee' from California. It is admitted that he was not in California at the time of the destruction of the Times Building. In the early history of the Mormon Church in Illinois, one of its leaders was charged with a crime committed in Missouri. It was alleged that he had conspired with another and had procured the other to go into Missouri and commit the crime. The accused leader secured a writ of habeas corpus out of the Federal Court in Illinois. He proved that he had not been in the State of Missouri on the day of the commission of the crime, nor at any time since, up to the time of his arrest. He therefore could not have 'fled' from Missouri. He was released, and never having been 'kidnaped,' and never having afterward been found in Missouri, he was never prosecuted. This would have proved the case with John J. McNamara had he secured a writ of habeas corpus in any State but California, provided the court before whom he was produced on a writ of habeas corpus followed the law. The courts hold, however, that once in the State where the crime was alleged to have been commited, no matter whether the means by which the prisoner was brought there be lawful or unlawful, the State whose laws have been violated can not be compelled to surrender the prisoner. This confusion is due to the fact that the Constitution was framed before the various States abolished the distinction between principals and accessories in crime. In most of the States the man who plans a crime and procures it to be carried out by another is now charged as a principal offender. Every time, therefore, one of these accessories before the fact 'commits' a crime in another State by proxy, he must be 'kidnaped,' or he escapes punishment. Everywhere this 'kidnaping' is done without fuss—it is a common practice in police circles—until the 'kidnaping' of some prominent citizen calls attention to the matter, as in the present instance."

Collier's omited to state, either because it did not know, or, as is more probable, because it was disinclined to tell the truth, that it is an elementary principle of the criminal law that on habeas corpus, if it appears that the process by which the prisoner is held in custody is regular and sufficient upon its face, and was regularly issued by a court or tribunal having competent jurisdiction, the judge before whom the habeas corpus proceeding is brought will not inquire into the guilt or innocence of the prisoner, or whether the facts upon which the warrant was issued were sufficient to justify its issuance, but will dismiss the writ.

The McNamaras were regularly indicted for murder by a Grand Jury of this county and State. Upon that indictment the Governor of California issued a requisition upon the Governor of Indiana for their arrest and return to California. Upon that requisition the Governor of Indiana, in turn, issued his warrant. This warrant was approved by an Indiana court having jurisdiction.

Upon these papers the McNamaras were taken into custody by the officer who was empowered to bring them to California for trial. They were no more "kidnaped" than is a convicted felon "kidnaped" by the officer who is taking him from Los Angeles to San Quentin. They were no more "kidnaped" than is the murderer who is caught red-handed and taken to jail by an officer. The officers having the McNamaras in custody did not consider it their duty to stop at every wayside station in Indiana, Illinois, Kansas, Colorado and Arizona to give jack-leg lawyers employed by union labor misleaders a chance to try the effect of a writ of habeas corpus before some complaisant frontier judge, any more than the officers who, after the confession of the McNamaras, and their conviction and sentence to imprisonment, would have deemed it their duty to linger for an hour or two in Ventura, Santa Barbara, San Luis Obispo, Monterey, Santa Cruz, Santa Clara, San Mateo and San Francisco counties to answer to successive writs of habeas corpus which possibly might have been sued out before Superior Court judges.

Kidnaping is the forcible abduction of a human being without authority of law. The McNamaras were arrested, not forcibly but peaceably, and upon due authority of law.

Collier's continued its campaign in behalf of anarchy, and lauded the leaders of disorder during the summer and fall. In its issue of November 4th, last, it said editorially:

> "But for the courage and persistence of Francis J. Heney, California would have been a longer time in reaching her proud position."

This tribute to Heney will provoke laughter from those who know that loud-voiced disciple of Anarch, and will cause even his own brazen features to be irradiated with a derisive smile.

On December 9 Collier's said editorially:

> "It is the Otises, the Posts, the Parrys, the Van Cleaves and the Kirbys who are the most active in raising up revolutionary socialism in this country."

The practice of indirectly libeling a gentleman by bracketing him with undesirables is common with weak and cowardly kindergarten "gernalists." It belongs to the old red sandstone era of newspaper life. If The Times were to resort to it, it might say: "It is the Colliers, the Iscariots, the Wilkes Booths and the Guiteaus who are the most active in promoting treachery and assassination in the world." Yet such a bracketing of Judas with Collier's would have been unjust to Judas, who had the grace to go and hang himself—something that Collier's will never do.

Its hypocritical epithets were of a class with those used by the club-wielding inventor of the term "anarchy of soul," applied in this direction, also.

On the 23d of December Collier's said editorially:

> "Out of six daily papers in Los Angeles five were for Harriman. . . . There was intimidation of voters."

The brazen impudence of these two lies does not need comment from The Times. In the same issue Oscar Lawler was complimented as follows:

In another editorial in the same issue, it referred to "the importance of sending rich men to jail." In still another it said:

> "For labor, its McNamaras; for capital, its legal representatives. For capital, the railroad pass; for labor, dynamite."

It concluded its Christmas offering to its readers with another bracketed tribute to The Times. It said, editorially:

> "Unionism has made important gains for itself and for humanity [by the use of dynamite?] We hope that the views of capital will be expressed by men of different quality from the Parrys, Kirbys, Otises and Posts."

On December 30 Collier's assured its readers editorially that:

> "Measures are being prepared to use the public wealth of the nation for the good of the whole nation, instead of for any special class."

The "public wealth" of the nation consists of lands, mines, coal lands, oil lands and forests. The coal lands, oil lands and forests have been withdrawn from entry. The quartz and placer mines are open to location by any citizen on terms which make their acquisition by monopoly impossible, and it is many years since government agricultural lands could be acquired except by homestead settlers.

On January 6 of this year Collier's said editorially:

> "Most socialism in the United States, like insurgency and progressiveness, is merely the desire to nourish virtues—honesty, unselfishness, justice."

This definition of socialism will hardly be accepted even by Socialists themselves. They will not claim that it is honest to seize the property of A and distribute it among B, C and D. They will not assert that it is unselfish to claim the earnings of others. They will not declare that it is just to force a general division of all property.

In the same issue of January 6, Collier's resorts once more to bracketing, and declares that:

> "For Haywood (the Idaho murderer) Collier's has as little respect as it has for Parry, Kirby, Post and Otis."

Collier's has studiously sent its men to Los Angeles with instructions to write against The Times, its cause and its acts, without regard to the facts—to keep away from it in their search for facts and information, and to get "pointers" and inspiration from known enemies of this journal, who would not tell the truth about it if they knew how.

Gen. Otis feels flattered by these assaults from the champion newspaper demagogue and "progressive" pretender of the United States. If, instead of denouncing him, Collier's had praised him, he would have overhauled his record to ascertain if he had not been unconsciously guilty of some act of moral turpitude.

At the same time have come to him, obliquely and privately, overtures of professed courtesy and friendship, upon which no possible interpretation can be placed save that of manifest and contemptible hypocrisy.

The position of The Times is too well understood by the people of the Pacific Coast—by the people of the United States, in fact—to be affected by anything that Collier's may say. The Times is in favor of liberty, law and industrial freedom—"only that and nothing more." It concedes and upholds the right of the worker, whether a member of a union or not, to contract, either by personal or collective bargaining, to sell his labor to whomsoever he will, for whatsoever price he will, and to deliver the goods. It demands for the employer the right of free contract and the right to select his employees, with their own consent, without dictation from walking delegates or other labor leaders. If an employee, not under a specific time contract, as few are, is dissatisfied with his job for any reason, or without any reason, and desires to throw it up, he may do so, and nobody can force him to work. But if he lifts a club to strike the man who picks up the hammer or the trowel he has dropped, he should be sent to the county jail for the offense; and if he dynamites the property of his late employer and murders fellow workmen for no other offense than peaceably earning their bread, the gallows should, upon conviction, be his portion.

For its twenty years' open advocacy of industrial freedom—a freedom guaranteed by the Constitution of the fathers and the laws of the land—The Times has been rewarded by the people who have known and read it, and who know it now better than ever before. By their almost unexampled patronage they have helped to make it the power in the world of public duty, business, journalism and progress that it is acknowledged to be, resulting in an abounding and continuous prosperity, freely gained and as freely enjoyed.

This journal has at the same time incurred the hostility of criminals and anarchists, and of a few newspaper organs supporting crime and anarchy, either directly or indirectly; either "head on," like the "Appeal to Treason," or with obliquity, like "The National Weekly." It thanks God for the hostility of such, and will try and merit it in the future as in the past. "The battle goes on."

BEING BROKE.

A man at Santa Ana threw himself in front of a moving train Thursday because he was without means. Suicide from this cause is not unusual. It is strange that mankind should make nothing of the fact that each individual for himself is born penniless and makes so much of the incident when, after a number of years, a man suddenly finds himself in the same condition as at birth. It may not be lucky to be broke, but in many instances the situation is not half so tragic as it seems.

TOO MANY.

A man in the East learned seventeen languages and then died. We know many bright people who are not threatened with death from any such cause, since they speak only one language and do not write any

TWO BLADES OF GRASS.

Science is becoming in these days of thinkers and doers more entertaining in its utterances and more enthralling in its conclusions than the pages of romance or the climaxes of fiction. It is ever unfolding fresh vistas to the idealist and pointing out untrodden paths to the man of action. Science has become the airiest of fairies, the most wonderful of wizards and the wisest of prophets.

But, unlike the prophets of Ahab, who made a point of foretelling for the irresponsible tyrant only pleasant happenings, science never shirks from pointing out the dangers and pitfalls in the path of advancing civilization. Watching carefully the trend of modern events, science has just declared that, unless we bestir ourselves and in actual unpoetical fact make two blades of grass grow where one grew before, the danger of semi-starvation for the majority of the human race is not so far distant as unreasoning optimism would have us believe.

Now optimism and a cheerful confidence in the ultimate good of all things is a boon and a blessing to mankind than which there is none greater. But an optimism that, like King Ahab, demands from its prophets only pleasant things, is likely to bring on its votaries the fate of the Israelitish monarch—a swift arrow between the fourth and fifth ribs. The Lord will provide as long as we do our parts—and no longer.

The population of America has increased during the last decade twice as fast as the available food supply. If these proportions are maintained in another fifty years the food supply per capita will only be 75 per cent. of what it is today. Science has pointed out this possible danger; the signs of the times bear out the contention; the price of all foodstuffs has risen during the last decade in an alarming fashion. Evidently there are not enough blades of grass to feed the human race as abundantly as it was fed during the last century. The luxuries have increased, while the necessities have diminished—not a favorable sign.

The investigations and prosecutions of illegal combines undertaken by the government are proving these to be only a small factor in this steady and increasing uprise in the debt we must pay for living. One has only to observe the universal prosperity of our farmers to see how directly the dollars of the consumer are going into the pockets of the tillers of the soil.

The remedy is obvious. There are millions of acres in the West capable of producing abundantly which at present have never known the rhythmic scrunch of the plow or the tingling teeth of the harrow. There are also thousands of men and women in our overcrowded cities, of good muscles and average intelligence, who could drive the plow and harrow across these uncultivated lands. The price of foodstuffs would be curtailed at both ends if the people would get onto the land, by an increase in the production and a decrease in the competition of city wage-earners.

Science is also bringing every day fresh agencies to work for increasing the fertility of our lands already under cultivation. Knowing all this to be true, it is idle for us to embrace the fads of socialistic experimentation in order to thwart the inexorable law of supply and demand. Indeed, in the very rapid rise in the price of farm products we see the remedy being brought about. So promising a field for making big money will attract an increased number of laborers till the old-time equilibrium is restored.

The making or unmaking of present economic conditions depends on the individual taste and effort of each citizen. We still have enough land and enough laborers to till it. All we need is to make the two connect. As long as the bulk of the people prefer the artificial delights of the city to the cool sequestered paths of country life—and the people themselves are the only arbiters in this matter—so long will they have to pay the piper in ever-advancing prices for meat, butter, milk, eggs, sugar, vegetables and tobacco.

LORD ROBERTS'S RETORT.

There is nothing vague or uncertain in the statesmanship of Field Marshal Lord Roberts. The words of "Bobs" may have been blunt and soldierly, but his facts were terrific when he answered the theories of Lord Haldane about the defense of England the other day in the National Review.

"These islands might be exposed to a descent of 70,000 of the best troops in the world. What resistance could we offer? Absolutely none," wrote "Bobs."

The field marshal then continued: "I have no hesitation in saying that in most respects the regular army is not fitted for war. Our rifle is very inferior to the rifle with which the French and German troops are armed.

"The equipment of our artillery is scarcely more satisfactory. Our fuse and fuse-setters are not up to date; with the result that our gun is not an automatic-firing gun.

"Again, in aviation we are behind other nations. That science is in its infancy, but it has already proved of the utmost service in detecting the movements of an enemy and thus eliminating to a great extent in military operations that uncertainty which we are accustomed to call the 'fog of war.' France and Germany have recognized the supreme importance of the command of the air. The former already possesses a fleet of 200 aeroplanes. Germany proposes to spend this next year one and a half millions sterling on aviation alone. In England there are only four aeroplanes fit to take the field."

As to the territorial force Lord Roberts writes: "Upon this subject I confess I find it difficult to write temperately. Under the conditions of modern warfare two things are essential for a soldier. He must have discipline and he must be able to shoot with precision, whether with rifle or cannon. How is the ordinary citizen to acquire either this discipline or the skill from a few afternoons in a drill hall and a fortnight at the outside in camp once a year? The thing is impossible; the absurdity is so glaring that it is difficult for any man who cares for the safety and honor of this nation and empire to write of it with patience."

Disappointing News.

[Evening Mail:] "What time does the 5:30 train leave?"

"Five-thirty, sir."

"Well, what's the time? The station clock says 5:25, the church clock says 5:30, the postoffice clock is 5:22—what clock am I to go by?"

"You can go by any clock you like, sir, but you can't go by the 5:30 train—it's gone!"

THE AVIATOR.

Intent as silent, sailing cloud,
I float above the wond'ring crowd;
Far off and faint, its murmur swells,
Like sound from deepest Alpine dells,
And earth's an island in the sea,
With all its plain outspread for me.

Wind of the Southland softly hails,
He breathes within my snow-white sails,
And like an old-time plumed knight,
With blade of steel, with armor bright,
I launch my bark upon the surge
That sweeps to some enchanted verge.

The storm wind sits upon my mast,
Recounting dole of vengeance past;
The air's leviathans of ill
Lie in the leashes of my skill;
They rise, and with a soundless leap,
They bear my boat along the deep.

Forever fixed among the stars,
Above me burns the fire of Mars—
I'll serve the warrior in his wrath,
Along my elemental path,
And, godlike, o'er contending clans,
Hold life and death within my hands.

A thousand sun-lit sails shall dance
Across the crystalline expanse;
Aeolus' airy plains thy
Shall bear the weight of frightened ships—
Imperial pageants, tipped with light,
Flashing through the purple night.

No beacon sets a bound for me
In my broad, blue immensity!
Those magic isles that in my realm
Shall stay to serve me at my helm;
They shall be my seamen bold
That guide me to the sunset's gold.

I'll cleave a track into the west,
Where turrets of the twilight rise;
I'll steer my galleon of the skies
And where their crimson banners stream,
I'll find the lure of fancy's dream.

Item Welcomed By Many Men

This recipe can be filled at home, so that no one need know of another's troubles, as the ingredients can be obtained separately at any well stocked drug store. They are in regular use, and many different prescriptions are constantly being filled with them.

This will prove a welcome bit of information for all those who are overworked, gloomy, despondent, nervous and have trembling limbs, heart palpitation, dizziness, cold extremities, insomnia, fear without cause, timidity in venturing, and general inability to act naturally and rationally as others do, because the treatment can be prepared secretly at home and taken without any one's knowledge.

Overworked office men and the many victims of society's late hours and dissipation will, it is said, find the restorative they are in need of.

If the reader decides to try it, get three ounces of ordinary syrup sarsaparilla compound and one ounce compound fluid balmwort; mix and let stand two hours; then get one ounce compound essence cardiol and one oz. tincture cadomene compound (not cardamom), mix all together, shake well and take a teaspoonful after each meal and one when retiring.

A certain well-known medical expert asserts that thousands of men and many women are sufferers all because of dormant circulation of the blood and a consequential impairment of the nervous force, which begets the most dreadful symptoms and untold misery.

SUMMARY OF THE DAY.

Because of political wire-pulling, the Council may consider abandoning the proposed aqueduct investigation.

Developments expected in the motion for a new trial for a money-lender convicted of embezzlement and sentenced to San Quentin may lead to an investigation of the methods of money-lenders and mortgage brokers doing business in Los Angeles.

MAY ABANDON INVESTIGATION.

COUNCIL IN DOUBT ABOUT THE AQUEDUCT INQUIRY.

Unable to Find the Right Kind of Men and Harassed by Socialist Politicians, in and Out of Council. Final Action to be Taken at Committee Meeting Tomorrow.

Investigation of the aqueduct may be abandoned by the Council at Tuesday's session, unless the special committee trying to find disinterested investigators, makes better progress than it had made yesterday. Councilman Betkouski, chairman of the committee, said he found the task of assembling five men fitted for the work so difficult that he believes it will be best to abandon the investigation at this time.

"The Council as a whole will probably go over the work in a month or two" said Betkouski," and the more we think it over the more the investigation seems to be unnecessary."

Councilman Lusk agrees with Betkouski and other members intimate that they believe investigation unnecessary.

Councilman Topham, another member of the special committee favors further effort to find investigators. The other member, Reed, declined to express any opinion yesterday.

Betkouski has called a meeting of the committee for tomorrow at 11 o'clock in the Council Chamber for final action. Unless five men can be selected then it is probable a divided report will be made to the Council Tuesday.

The trouble seems to have come since the Council increased the number of investigators from three to five. Betkouski says the men the committee would choose cannot serve and those who present themselves are not of the grade wanted. He says about 100 have applied for the "jobs" and many of them are what he calls "lame ducks" looking for "easy money." He says political "wire pullers" are busy too.

The investigation was asked for six weeks ago. The Council asked the Chamber of Commerce to take charge and select investigators, the city to foot the bills. The Chamber returned the request for consideration by the new Council which decided to appoint the investigators itself. Betkouski made this motion and was made chairman of the special committee. It selected Fred C. Wheeler, Socialist, Charles E. Warner, an electrical engineer and John A. Potter, an iron expert. Because there was no concrete expert on the Board and because Potter declined appointment, the Council decided to increase the number from three to five and Betkouski's committee was asked to try again.

One of the obstacles seems to be the demands of the Socialist "pay roll" squad that no Socialist be put on the committee unless the party committee makes the selection. Reed, who is on the committee, is regarded as favorable to the Socialists' demand. The others are not. There has been no meeting of the committee since last Council meeting and there is no promise that a meeting will result in any progress.

If Wheeler accepts appointment, and he says he will, he may imperil his standing in the Socialist camp. He may have the same experience as McDevitt of San Francisco, who has just been read out of the Socialist party, whose candidate for Mayor he was last fall, because he has accepted appointment from Mayor Rolfe. If Wheeler serves the "pay roll" squad promises excommunication.

This has suggested to the Council the situation Los Angeles would have found itself in if the Harriman ticket had been elected. It would have been subject to the orders of the party committee, which in turn takes its orders from Alexander Irvine, who is not a citizen of Los Angeles, and who wants to be one of the aqueduct investigators. It was Irvine's "charges" that led Mulholland to ask an investigation.

MAY COMPROMISE. HOME 'PHONE RATES.

A report from the special committee of the Council, appointed to discuss a compromise of the Home Telephone Company's rate injunction suit, is promised by Tuesday's session. Councilmen Reed and McKenzie, who constitute a majority of the committee, said yesterday that no agreement has yet been reached, but that final consideration will be given the compromise proposed by the company tomorrow morning.

Reed and McKenzie have been doing the "discussing" with the Home Telephone Company officials and it is understood that they made a counter proposal which the company has under consideration. But is is not expected that the report will mention the counter proposal unless the company is willing to make its answer known. The report will probably be without recommendation.

Councilman Andrews, the other member of the committee, has not participated in the late negotiations. He was the leader of the old "solid five" which fixed the rates in question and he is disposed to defend the company's suit rather than compromise. The suit is still pending on the question of jurisdiction raised by City Attorney Shenk, who holds that the Federal courts cannot take jurisdiction until the State courts have been exhausted. A majority of the Council expresses the belief that a compromise would be injudicious until Judge Wellborn has ruled on this important point.

It also appears that no matter what report the special committee makes the majority of the Council will choose fight instead of compromise.

POLE RENTAL. FIRE ALARM ITEM.

The Council Legislation Committee learned by a conference with Secretary McDonald of the Joint Pole Association, composed of seven utility organizations that maintain poles in the streets, that an extension of the fire alarm system, or its reconstruction, may use the pole systems now standing.

The city will have to pay a rental of $1 a year for each pole. In addition, it will cost $3 to install each cross arm. If the city requires 5000 poles it will cost $20,000 to start with and an annual rental of $5000 thereafter. Secretary McDonald said the ordinary charge per pole to others than the public is $1.65 a year. The city must take any position on the poles it can find.

The committee also learned that it costs $14.60 to buy, erect and equip a pole for the attachment of cross arms and that the annual cost of maintenance for each pole each year is $2.03. This includes depreciation.

The committee cannot estimate the value of the terms offered until it learns the number of poles the city will have to use if it builds a new fire and police alarm system.

There is still much uncertainty as to whether the budget makers next spring will be able to find the $500,000 necessary to put in the complete system that the Council has been considering.

BUCKS OWN GAME, LANDS IN JAIL.

FIGHT TO SAVE MONEY LENDER FROM STATE'S PRISON.

Motion for New Trial May Lead to Investigation of Methods of Mortgage Sharks Doing Business in This City—Shuffling of Paper at High Interest Disastrous.

Nice points of law are involved in the motion for a new trial for John W. Watson, a money-lender, which will be heard by Judge McCormick tomorrow afternoon. The result may be an investigation of the methods of money-lenders and mortgage sharks doing business in this city.

Jud Rush, Watson's attorney, will likely show that Watson "bucked his own game." Rush contends that the alleged fraudulent transaction which landed Watson behind the bars, was nothing more or less than a game of frenzied finance in which Watson went up against his own game.

In other words, Watson borrowed money at a high rate of interest and loaned it out at a higher rate and expected to realize a profit. It proved a losing game and he sank considerable money.

In the fatal deal Watson obtained a note as agent for which he received $300; another broker bought the note, giving his check. Rush asserts Watson can collect from his client, but that the client is not entitled to the return of the note.

Dep. Dist.-Atty. Blair will argue for the prosecution that a new trial should be denied as the testimony clearly showed Watson retained the money, failing to turn it over to his client when he sold the note which was secured by a trust deed for a loan.

ARGUE WATER QUESTION. RECEIVER FILES PETITION.

Partial argument on the petition of Maj. W. H. Holabird, receiver, to make a contract with the Bernice Water Company to furnish water to the company at the Bernice diversion works, to furnish material and supplies and to purchase lands at an estimated cost of $65,000, was heard by Judge Bordwell yesterday in the suit of the Title Insurance and Trust Company against the California Development Company and Boaz Duncan, intervenor.

It was stated that the funds in the receiver's hands amount to $60,000 and that there is due for water delivered in Imperial Valley, $115,000. The cost of the proposed improvements will come out of the funds in the receiver's hands.

According to the petition in a portion of the system of canals under the control of the receiver, it is necessary to divert from the Colorado River into the main canal supplying the system, more water than is naturally used for the irrigation of lands and the water users served by the system, in order that the water carried through the main canal may have the effect of scouring it and preventing an accumulation of deposits of silt.

The receiver also petitioned to extend the main gate of Hanlon's heading by the addition of two openings to the west of the present opening which is used to control water diverted from the Colorado River into the main canal of the system. The elevation desired is ninety feet above sea level. The estimated cost is $30,000.

HIS LUCK FAILS HIM. OLD OFFENDER SENT UP.

George Law came to the end of his tether yesterday when Judge McCormick sentenced him to two years at San Quentin.

Law was charged with robbery and was acquitted. He went to San Pedro and forged several checks. He was arrested and applied for probation. Meantime, it was discovered that he had been previously arrested fifteen times and placed on probation six times.

With this remarkable record before him, Judge McCormick denied Law's petition for probation and scored him for his dissolute habits.

"Drink has brought you to your present condition," he said. "Now I am going to send you to a place where you will have to keep straight."

OVER FOR A WEEK. KEATING TRIAL MOTION.

Because attorneys for Mrs. Hazel M. Keating, the divorced wife of Edward Keating, one of the heirs to the large Keating estate, had not been given sufficient notice of the time set for hearing arguments for a new trial of the famous divorce case, Judge Church of Fresno continued the case for one week yesterday. The motion for a new trial will be argued before Judge Church in Judge Monroe's courtroom at 10 o'clock next Saturday morning.

As soon as court convened Attorney Clark, for Mrs. Keating, arose and made the objection that he and Former Judge York had not received a written notice from Judge Church in regard to the time set for the hearing.

"Judge Monroe wrote me a letter stating that his clerk had not served the written notices, but that he personally had informed the attorneys of the date set for this hearing," said Judge Church.

Attorney Clark submitted to the court affidavits of the County Clerk, a deputy, and one of his own, to show that he had not been legally notified in regard to the case. On this representation Judge Church granted the continuance.

Judge Church's wife, Mrs. Harriet Church, is alleged by Keating's attorneys to have unduly influenced her husband when he granted Mrs. Keating a divorce and awarded her $55,000 in lieu of alimony. Mrs. Church makes a strong denial of the charge, and in an affidavit declares that while she visited the courtroom frequently during the Keating case she simply went there to accompany her husband to lunch.

SUGGESTS NO CHANGE. PROBATION COMMITTEE LETTER.

The Probation Committee of the Juvenile Court has put the soft pedal on the attempt to oust Judge Wilbur from the bench of that court. Presiding Judge Hutton yesterday received a letter and a copy of a resolution adopted by the committee deploring the charges being made against Judge Wilbur and heartily approving his work. The committee suggests that no change be made in the Juvenile Court in the re-assignment of the judges at this time.

"We think that the charges are unfounded," the letter, which is signed by Edwin P. Ryland, chairman, states; "that they are the result of an unfortunate misunderstanding all of which can be readily explained upon proper investigation. We are firmly convinced that it would be a public calamity at this time to make any change in the presiding judge of this court.

"Both the court and the law relating to dependent and delinquent children are products of our advancing civilization which require time, ability and experience to work out. We believe that Judge Wilbur is wisely, faithfully and intelligently carrying that law into effect and that he should be given ample time to make the experiment in California a model for all other States to follow."

The letter and resolution will be placed before the Judges of the Superior Court at their next luncheon.

The Probation Committee comprises Miss Evelyn Stoddard, president; Miss O. P. Clark, secretary; Leonard Merrill, treasurer; Rev. E. P. Ryland, Mrs Nora McCartney, Miss Fannie Bixby, D. W. Beswick and H. C. Dillon.

This unqualified indorsement of Judge Wilbur has a dampening effect on the endeavor to have another judge appointed for the Juvenile Court, although the fight, it is understood, will not be dropped. The opponents of Judge Wilbur assert they have a series of grievances which culminated when Mrs. McCracken, Probation Officer, was let out without any public explanation. Action in this matter was taken by the Probation Committee, Judge Wilbur passing on the recommendation to oust her.

COURTHOUSE NOTES. BREVITIES MISCELLANEOUS.

WIDOW GETS JUDGMENT. Mrs. Nora B. Jenkins obtained judgment for $3500 against the Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation before Judge Hutton yesterday by stipulation of the attorneys. She sued the corporation for the death of her husband, which occurred last September in the briquette-making plant on Macy street.

WANTED ELSEWHERE. With a charge of assault lodged against Maurice Apadoco, the authorities have received word to hold him on suspicion of murder committed in San Bernardino. Apadoco robbed a drunken Mexican in Chinatown, the only witnesses being two Chinese boys, too small to testify. The degree of his crime was reduced in consequence.

SUES SHERIFF. Stanley S. La Due filed suit yesterday against Will H. Grosscup, his attorney; F. E. Davis, and Sheriff Hammel for false arrest and asks $15,000 damages. This suit cember 27 last, following two civil is based on the arrest of La Due Deactions in April and his discharge on habeas corpus proceedings by Judge Willis last Saturday.

PRISONER CONFESSES. Arthur Gray, who was sentenced to one year at San Quentin for burglary by Judge McCormick yesterday, confessed to a robbery about which he had hitherto kept silent. He was caught in a house into which he had broken. The same night a nearby house had also been entered, the burglar leaving the marks of hob nails on the floor. When this crime was fastened on Gray, he admitted his guilt.

REPORTERS EXAMINED. Attorneys Hunsaker, Haas and Drake were selected by Judge Hutton as a committee yesterday to examine applicants for the position of court reporter. The examination was taken by E. A. Grivin and Charles McGee.

INCORPORATIONS. Bella Vista Terrace Company, incorporators, Anna W Lewis, F. B. Lewis, Albert E. Dunning; capital stock, $32,000; subscribed, $14,000. Dos Banderas Oil and Gas Company, incorporators, A. M. Pondexter, C. A. Nash, George H. Crawford, W. C. Martin, A. W. Campbell; capital stock, $400,000.

IN THE INFERIOR COURTS.

"Counseling a crime that was never committed," is the charge preferred against H. Warner, Thomas Armell and S. Kassen, by Deputy Prosecutor Nimmo. Through connivance with Alfonzo Clenard, 15 years old, they secured an advance sheet of the aviation meet programme. The men will be tried before Police Judge Frederickson on the 29th inst.

The trio wanted the programme for advertising purposes. Clenard is employed by the Provident Print Shop, No. 438 Wall street. After he had given the men the advance sheet, they were arrested. Clenard had previously told the foreman of the shop what he was going to do, and a trap was set to catch the trio.

Clenard's telling what he was going to do precluded his being charged with theft or a misdemeanor, consequently no charge predicated upon his actions could be made against Warner, Armel and Kassen. After some research Nimmo found that a charge of "counseling a crime that was never committed," could be made, and he swore to the complaint.

It is said this is the first time in the history of the city that such a charge has been made. As far as the City Prosecutor's office knows, it is the initial case for the State.

SOBS TOO SOON. 'CELLOIST IN TEARS.

Frank Anger of North Figueroa street, considered in local musical circles as one of the most proficient 'cello payers in the United States, whose penchant for pawning those instruments to secure money to buy liquor has gotten him into trouble before, created a scene in Police Judge Frederickson's court yesterday morning.

He was up on a felony embezzlement charge, pawning a 'cello not his own. Near him sat his wife. The musician, in pleading for clemency, said:

"I used to play solos for President Taft."

"I sentence you to 100 days," said the court.

"Oh, my God," exclaimed the man, and he began to cry.

In an instant the man's tears were changed to smiles, and apparently a happier couple never lived than Mr. and Mrs. Anger when they walked out of court a few minutes later.

Cream Baths for
The Complexion
Beauty's Best Aid.

By Massaging the Skin With This Cream the Complexion Takes on the Health Tint of Youth.

Delightful results follow cream baths for the complexion, and oily or shiny skins become clear and satiny, once this treatment is used. The most satisfactory cream for the purpose is made by dissolving two ounces of cerol in a scant pint of boiling water and stirring until thoroughly dissolved and very smooth.

A gentle massage and patting with the finger-ends, using plenty of this cream, rids the pores of secretion and energizes the delicate muscles, resulting in a wrinkle-less skin and a youthtint to the complexion. This is especially nice to use during winter months.

Alleged Burglars Arraigned.

Charles Gardner, alias Thurston, and P. G. Parker, known as "the liver-lipped kid," were arraigned before Police Judge Frederickson on burglary charges yesterday. On the 17th inst, they robbed Donald Ross's room at No. 807 South Hill street, and were chased about half a mile by the landlady's son. In default of $1500 bail the men went back to jail. They will be examined on the 23rd inst.

Charges Dismissed.

The charges against Ella Brandon and Mabel Scudder, alleged shoplifters, arrested by Detective Zeigler February 20, last, were dismissed in Police Judge Chambers' court yesterday morning. It is said there was an insufficiency of evidence to convict.

GIPSY SMITH PROBLEMS.

There are two problems in connection with the Gipsy Smith campaign—getting the crowd and caring for it afterward. They are both big ones. Shrine Auditorium cannot be filled by an ordinary crowd, and once it is, there it cannot be handled like an ordinary crowd. "Uncle Ben" Pearson, so well known as superintendent of the Southern California Edison Company, has been selected as the busy man to head the committee to gather in the crowd, and D. L. Durand, a man of industry and experience in that line, has been selected to boss the job of seeing that the people are carefully handled and comfortably seated.

One is just as important as the other, for if a great crowd is gathered and there is neither comfort nor good order, they might as well not be there. One of Mr. Durand's big tasks is securing the 5000 chairs and having them placed in the great hall. The main publicity feature thus far, is the brief announcement on huge banners, "Watch for Gipsy Smith." Beginning with next Saturday this will be changed to "Tonight, Gipsy Smith." The final appeal for personal workers will be made today in all the churches.

LOYAL LEGION COMMINGLING.

COMPANION HAS MORE THAN NINETY AS GUESTS.

Maj. Klokke Entertains Pleasantly at His Home—Composer of "Marching Through Georgia" and One of the First Members of the Grand Army of Republic Speak.

More than ninety members of the Southern California Association, Companions of the Military Order Loyal Legion of the United States, were entertained last night at the home of Maj. E. F. C. Klokke, No. 2105 South Figueroa street. The occasion is an annual jollification which Maj. Klokke gives to his fellow members of the Loyal Legion.

The guests were received by the host and a pleasant time was enjoyed meeting old friends. Later in the evening an informal buffet lunch was served. Following it, old-time military songs were sung, including the old battle hymns, and several impromptu speeches were made.

Lieut.-Gen. Adna R. Chaffee, U.S.A., (retired,) president of the association, presided. Among those called upon for remarks were the following-named:

Maj. S. H. M. Byers, president of the Iowa Commandery and composer of "Marching Through Georgia;" Capt. C. Reibsame, one of the first to join the Grand Army of the Republic, and Maj. Martin Maginnis.

There was the customary silent toast to the President and a toast to the genial host.

Among those present, as arranged alphabetically, were the following: Col. C. C. Allen, Capt. C. H. Albers, Gen. W. L. Alexander, U.S.A. (retired,) Gen. G. H. Burton, U.S.A. (retired,) Capt. S. W. THIEVES BERATE VICTIM.

Ransack His Room While He Lies in Bed Awake—Take His Shoes, Swear About Men With Small Feet.

R. A. Lasswell was the victim of an exceptionally daring hold-up Friday night, according to a story he related to the detectives yesterday morning. He rooms at No. 453 South Hope street. About midnight, he says, two masked men entered his room. After covering him with a revolver, they proceeded to ransack his room. They took between $30 and $40, a ring, worth $75, a stick-pin, sweater and several minor articles.

One of the men took such a fancy to the sweater that he put it on before leaving the room. He said he hoped Lasswell would have pleasant dreams.

The other man wore No. 7 shoes. He used profane language when he found he could not get his feet into Lasswell's No. 6 shoes. While trying on the shoes the thief sat at the foot of Lasswell's bed and made uncomplimentary remarks about persons with small feet. After taking everything in the room that they wanted,

LOS ANGELES DINNER OF IMPORT TO CHINA.

Man Who Gave It Soon Going, in Response to Cabled Call from President Sun Yat Sen, to Help Form First National Assembly of New Republic—An Interesting Talk by Local Revolutionary Factor.

BY HENRY CHRISTEEN WARNACK.

Ho Lee, More Than a Dreamer,

Who will leave Los Angeles for China next week to participate in the organization of the new republic's first national assembly, President Sun Yat Sen having cabled him. He was one of the strong factors in bringing about the successful revolution.

TEN YEARS ago an energetic young Chinaman of intelligent countenance, animated personality and long queue, walked into a Los Angeles barber shop, to emerge fifteen minutes later with an American haircut of latest fashion: the queue was off and the Chinese revolution was on.

Next week this same young Chinaman, his countenance aglow with increasing intelligence and his head crowned by a haircut even more fashionable than the first, will leave Los Angeles for his native land, at the cabled request of President Sun Yat Sen, to participate in the organization of the first national Assembly of the Republic of China—the Chinese revolution will have ended in victory.

The haircut of Ho Lee and the trip he will make to China a few days hence are representative of the thousands of progressive young Chinese who came to California, absorbed American methods and ideals and were thus encouraged and inspired to bring into actuality the dream of the Chinese for the past 270 years.

Now that the end is in sight, the Chinese are no longer the secretive people of old. In the Chinatown of Los Angeles today yellow men who formerly shook their heads uncomprehendingly now answer interrogations in fluent English, and members and officers of societies hitherto maintained in strict secrecy speak with engaging frankness of the mission and method of these orders. Ho Lee, himself, last night made startling revelations with regard to the life of the Chinese in America during the last decade, placing an illuminating emphasis upon a score of points absorbing in their international interest. Perhaps the most sensational of Ho Lee's statements to The Times has to do with the Masonry of that land.

MASONRY MAY SURPRISE.

"I think, perhaps," he said, "that what we call Chinese Masonry will surprise the world, now that its great mission is accomplished. Ever since the fall of the Ming dynasty, which was pure Chinese and which was overthrown by the Manchus over 270 years ago, the Chinese Masons have had an outer circle, devoted exclusively to charities and benevolence, and an inner circle in which the fires of our ancient patriotism were kept burning and which nursed the seeds of the revolution which was one day to overthrow the Manchus and give China to the Chinese.

"We did not at that time know that the end would be a republic, but we knew that it would be the elimination of the Manchu yoke which was bearing our people down into the dust of poverty and suffering. Ten years ago we had an organization called Pow Wong Wui. This society had a military company of young men organized by Gen. Homer Lea and Capt. O'Bannion. The name Pow Wong Wui means the Protectors of the Emperor. By this we did not mean the protection of a Manchu Emperor, but of the new Chinese Emperor we would one day enthrone.

"I think nothing changed our minds more from a monarchy to a republic than the arrival in Los Angeles eight years ago of Liang Kai Chu. Liang was a young Prince who pretended to be a fugitive from China, but was really an advocate of the Manchu government, and who has never been heard of in the revolutionary movement. It is evident that the government had become suspicious of the ideas and the activity of the California Chinese, for Liang made us long speeches in which he praised our society for the protection of the Emperor, and in which he declared the Chinese people were too ignorant for any sort of self-government, and that no republic could ever be successful in China on this account.

"Speeches of the same sort were made to us by another emissary of the government, Kang You Wei, who had been Premier to the Empress and who claimed he had been driven from China with a price on his head. He said that we could never reinstate the Chinese because our people were not organized and spoke too many languages.

"I didn't like those speeches, and for three years we held many discussions about what was the wise thing to do. The first thing we did was to encourage the young Chinese in China to study the English language. As a result, thousands of our young men over there are now able to conduct statecraft in English

DINNER OF DESTINY.

"I had many talks with Gen. Lea and one night at a dinner which I gave five years ago, I made an open speech in which I declared myself opposed once for all to the policy of the Pow Wong Wui society, which, though it worked cleverly under cover against the present dynasty as in favor of a Chinese regime, nevertheless deceived the people and did not work with the best possible results on this account. I made an argument for a Chinese republic and Gen. Lea, who had never announced himself before in favor of a republic, did so at this dinner.

"For three years more we worked in secret, educating all American Chinese and those we could trust in China to the idea of establishing a republic by revolution, and raising what money we could by voluntary contribution. Our people soon became enthused, and were generous in their donations. One or two Chinese who favored the Manchu government found how well we were organized a few weeks ago, when they tried to raise money here to support the federalists and could not get a dollar.

"Eighteen months ago we were visited by Wong Won Sue and T. R. York, both prominent in our national revolutionary council. They encouraged us to organize the Young Chinese Society of Los Angeles, and I was elected president. This society consists of seventy of our best educated young men, and they have served as a sort of executive board through the lang campaign. A few of them have been in China in the war. In all, California has sent something more than 100 well-educated Chinese boys to take executive places in the army of the revolution and to serve as clerks among the forces.

SUN YAT SEN.

"We had several visits from our President, Dr. Sun Yat Sen. More than one of these visits resulted in conferences on finance, in which some of the prominent business men of Los Angeles participated as advisors.

"Dh. Sun Yat Sen is 45 years of age, about 5 ft. 9 in. in stature, and weighs 160 pounds. His education was chiefly in Honolulu and England, although he has traveled and lived much in Amrica. He has a sort of Scotch dourness, being a man of few words and exceedingly definite. He speaks with a sort of Chinese boom like that of the old Lama described by Rudyard Kipling in his story of Kim. Ask him a question and he will answer in faultless English, but without the waste of a syllable. His fund of information seems inexhaustible. The term 'walking encyclopedia' probably applies to him more than to any other Chinaman in the world. If he hasn't much imagination, he can always be relied upon for the facts, and during the last eight years he has needed only to lift his hand to command the obedience of 65,000,000 people."

OPIUM, LIFE, DOLLARS.

Ho Lee was asked about opium smoking in China, and he was immediately aglow with ardor. "It is in this respect that I respect the American people above all others, and hate the English government most of all. Your people do not try to destroy human beings for the sake of a few dollars. I am a druggist by profession, as well as a merchant and importer, and I have had sadly abundant opportunities to study the opium evil. I could shock you with information about this practice locally among the American people, and I say this at the risk of loss of trade to myself. What is trade in the face of human life?

"It makes me sick at heart to think that a government could stoop as low as the English do when they encourage the cultivation of the poppy and the sale of opium to China. We have less opium-smoking in China than you have whisky-drinking in America, but about the same percentage of smokers as you have drunkards. Opium was introduced in China sixty-eight years ago by foreigners, who took it internally as a cure for dysentery. They began to sell it to the Chinese as a drug and our government rebelled and ordered it burned. While it was burning some of the officers caught its fumes and the sticks with which they punched the flames were often conveyed to their nostrils for a sumptuous sniff. These officers reported that opium was pleasant and not injurious, and for ten years it was the correct thing among the upper classes to indulge in the smoke. It spread like a disease among the men of the army and the idle classes. Its evil effects upon the mind and body were soon observed and for twenty-five years the government has tried to stamp out the vice. It has reduced it 95 per cent. in the last ten years. Chinese quit smoking opium out of will power and without any cure, but Americans find it much harder to stop. It is rather odd that the best cure that we know about has been discovered by a Japanese woman who manufactures her cure in Japan. This is singular because few Japanese are addicted.

"The evil has had a terrible effect upon Americans in Los Angeles. I do not exaggerate when I say that as many as 3000 cases have come under my personal observation. I have fought opium-smoking all my life and belong to a society organized among the Chinese for the eradication of the vice.

"Don't imagine that the Chinese have sold the thousands of American users in this city their supply and don't imagine that the large quantities of contraband goods so often captured of late were intended for Chinese sale. You could locate the intended purchasers on Fifth street and in other localities like that much quicker than you could find it in Chinatown, where the evil has been practically stamped out. The habit will die entirely both among Americans and Chinese now that strict Federal laws in this country are rigorously enforced.

"We are waiting," concluded Ho Lee, "with much eagerness for a sight of the new Chinese flag. The flags with which our stores have been decorated the last few weeks are simply our battle flag. The red is the symbol of war and the blue we have used as a background for the white circle indicating our unity as a people; while the twenty-one triangles intercepting the circle represent those provinces of China which have entered the present struggle for liberty. Exactly what the flag of the republic will be, we do not know."

HYGIENE CAMPAIGN.

Social hygiene campaign meetings will be held every day this week. Mrs. Alice Stebbins Wells, chairman of the committee for the Campaign of Education in Social Hygiene, will lead off with a talk to the Ministerial Union at the Y.M.C.A. at 10:30 o'clock, Monday morning. Other speakers will be Dr. Laura Bennett, State Normal school, 10:45, a.m., Monday; Dr. Rose Bullard, District Federation Board of Women's Clubs, noon, Tuesday; Mrs. Hester T. Griffith, Young Women's Boarding-house, 7 p.m., Tuesday; Mrs. Norine Law, Angelus Laundry, noon, Wednesday; Clifford Howard and Dr. Maude Wilde, Los Angeles Business College, 11:15 a.m., Thursday; Dr. F. D. Bullard, Angelus Laundry, noon, Thursday; Dr. Sherwin Gibbons, Santa Fe freight house, 12.30 p.m., Thursday; Clifford Howard, Unity Club; 8 p.m., Friday; Rev. Mr. Murphy and Mrs. Alice Stebbins Wells, Echo Park Clubhouse, 8 p.m., Friday; Horace M. Rebok, Dr. Norman Bridge, Col. J. M. Complexions Flaked Off At Home.

(From Pilgrim Magazine.)

The girl with the poor complexion complains, "I have to touch up my cheeks. I am sallow and a sight, and only my makeup saves me."

Now, as a matter of fact, more women spoil their good looks than improve them with cosmetics. The practice certainly is inexcusable, now that the virtues of ordinary mercolized wax have become known. The mercolide in the wax has wonderful absorbent powers. It causes the faded or discolored scarf skin to flake off in minute, almost imperceptible particles, so gently, gradually, as to cause no inconvenience at all. In this way the old complexion is actually removed—likewise all fine lines, pimples, blotches, moth patches or other surface defects. A new complexion appears—a clear, smooth, youthful, healthy-hued skin such as no paint, powder or lotion can produce. An ounce of mercolized wax, to be had at any drug store, is sufficent. It is applied like cold cream.

Mary Brodbeck, No. 212 North thinks birds are the best of whistling. "I like to surbird in every kind of note," said she. "Every whistler knows that her success depends upon her ability to imitate and interpret the birds. If we interpret a bird truly we also interpret the human heart, for birds seems to feel and express every emotion experienced by persons. You can find a bird note for the deepest hurt the heart can know, and another ringing note of gladness that will tell of mankind's greatest joy. Everything from happiness to pain is in the song of many birds if we can find it there. After we have discovered a new bird note and feel that we know what it means, it is still difficult sometimes to perfectly reproduce it."

"I like improvising," said Margaret McKee, No. 824 Bryan street. "I just imagine what kind of song I would like to make if I were a bird, and then I whistle it. The trouble with that kind of song is that one cannot always remember it so that it may be whistled again. But improvising is only for one's own pleasure. In whistling in public it is safest to follow the rule."

Miss Lucile Stockwell, No. 1046 West Thirty-ninth place, is another apt pupil in whistling whose friends find delight in her ability to entertain.

"I want to whistle as well as possible," she said, "for the pleasure it gives to others. I will always respond to offers for concert work and public entertainments, but I am learning mostly because I like it, and because I think it an accomplishment like any other form of music."

DEDUCTIONS BY POLICE.

How Patrolmen Arrived at the Conclusion that Mexican May Have Been Murdered.

Three soiled glasses on an unwrinkled cloth covering a table in front of an open window, the sill of which was much scratched, were considered by Patrolmen Farley and Mailheau sufficient evidence to warrant them arresting M. Carrillo and R. Melandez on suspicion of murdering Marcial Sentigatos, a fellow Mexican, by throwing him out of the second-story window at No. 211 New High street, early yesterday morning.

Detectives Rico and Talamantes, who have been assigned the case, are working on the theory that the three men quarreled while drinking, and that Sentigatios fought savagely while being pushed through the window. He struck the sidewalk with sufficient force to kill him instantly. Carrillo and Melandez, it is thought, then rearranged the table and placed it in front of the window, evidently with a desire to create the impression that Sentigatos did not leave the room by that exit, because to do so he must have crawled over the cloth, and wrinkled it.

Carrillo and Melandez at first denied all knowledge of Sentigatios or how he chanced to be on the sidewalk. Later they admitted the three had been drinking, and that a quarrel followed. They made a partial admission that Sentigatios fell out of the window, asserting it was through his own carelessness.

RISE AND FALL OF THE SPANISH.

University Extension Course to Be Conducted at Polytechnic High School Building by Teachers' Club.

The Los Angeles City Teachers' Club will offer a university extension course of lectures on "The Rise and Fall of Spanish Power in Europe and America," with special reference to California. They will be delivered by Prof. Don E. Smith of Berkeley, commencing on the evening of February 8 and continuing every Thursday and Friday for six weeks, in the Polytechnic High School. Some of them will be illustrated with fine lantern slides. The course will be free to all members of the club, but all other persons will be charged a fee of $2. Members' cards will be honored at the door of the auditorium, but may be presented at the clubrooms at the Y.W.C.A., on January 22 and 29, from 3 to 5 o'clock, and tickets secured. Tickets for other persons will be placed on sale with the principal of each school, or they may be purchased at the door.

DREDGE CONTRACTS.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Yuba Construction Company of Marysville is anxious to build two dredgers for use in California river improvement work, on which it submitted bids that were somewhat higher than the bids submitted by the Ellicott Machinery Company of Baltimore, the lowest bidder. The competition was held by Maj. Cheney of the War Department at San Francisco and bids were opened December 27, 1911. The dredgers are to be steel hull, 20-inch pump, thoroughly modern and up-to-date in design. They will be known as the Sacramento and San Joaquin. One-half of the cost is to be paid by the State of California and one-half by the national government.

William P. Hammon, a wealthy mining man, is president of the Yuba Construction Company. He has written to Senator Perkins representing that the bid of his company is no higher than that of the eastern firm, taking into consideration the difference of cost of transportation to California, and he believes he is in better position to do first-class work because of the great experience of his company with this class of construction. Senator Perkins has placed the matter before the War Department and has vouched for the high standing of Mr. Hammon and his associates in the construction company.

GRAND TRUNK PACIFIC TO FORT GEORGE MUST BE COMPLETED EARLY NEXT FALL

Vancouver Province, Jan. 6.

The management of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway has issued peremptory instructions to Messrs. Foley, Welch & Stewart, railway contractors, that the main line between Tete Jaune Cache, fifty miles west of Yellowhead Pass and Fort George, must be completed early next fall. The railway contractors have passed the communication on to the various sub-contractors who were recently awarded work and who are now engaged freighting in supplies over sleigh roads and establishing camps with a view to making a start at construction work as soon as possible. They are confident of their ability to complete the work within the time specified.

Construction of the western portion of the unfinished gap between Aldermere in Bulkley Valley and Fort George will also be rushed. Mr. P. Welch, a member of the contracting firm, will leave Vancouver on Monday for Prince Rupert to confer with Mr. B. B. Kelliher, chief engineer, in regard to this portion of the contract. On Mr. Welch's return the names of the successful sub-contractors will be announced.

May Hurry Vancouver Line.

The rapidity with which the 415-mile gap is to be finished has a direct bearing on construction to Vancouver as the Grand Trunk Pacific has agreed to finish the main line before undertaking the construction of its proposed branch line from Fort George to this city. Unless the agreement is modified two years are likely to elapse before the railway company can get around to the last mentioned project.

The railway policy of the Provincial Government, to be made public within a few weeks, is said to embrace provision for assistance for a railway from Vancouver to the Peace River district via Fort George. The decision of the government as to which of the various companies and syndicates submitting offers shall be favored with government aid will be awaited with interest. Should the Grand Trunk Pacific be in the running—a contingency questioned in well-informed circles—its attitude towards the Fort George-Vancouver branch may be changed, for the building of both the main line and the branch line could be carried on simultaneously.

FORT GEORGE is the geographical and strategic commercial center of British Columbia, Canada's largest and richest province.

All railroad building through the Peace River or Central British Columbia must go through FORT GEORGE in order to maintain water grade. Therefore FORT GEORGE must be a great railroad center.

FORT GEORGE is at the junction of the Fraser and Nechaco Rivers, with 1100 miles of navigable waterways.

FORT GEORGE is the supply point for an immense territory rich in agricultural, timber and mineral resources, and will be able to compete with Edmonton and eastern cities for the trade of the Peace River country, as well as the whole of Central and Northern British Columbia.

With the opening of the Panama Canal freight rates to FORT GEORGE will be lower than to Edmonton, thus making FORT GEORGE a great wholesale and jobbing center.

FORT GEORGE will be one of the largest cities in the West. An enormous development will take place during 1912.

Recent Sale Involving Millions

—Our first consignment here.

—The first portion of our allotment of Rugs purchased in the great Auction Sale of the celebrated Alex Smith & Sons' Rugs, have arrived.

—The sale this year involves millions of dollars and was attended by Rug Buyers from all over the country.

—We are going to place on sale the first allotment of this purchase, beginning Monday. While the first half of our purchase is not quite as large as we would like it to be, still we have made the price list so sensationally low that it is likely to prove one of the most notable Rug Sales this city has seen in years.

—You have but to read the prices which follow to realize the full importance of this event. We cannot guarantee the quantities to last very long because of these low prices, therefore if interested, come early.

Look! 9x12 Axminster Rugs $12.95

8.3x10.6 Axminster Rugs $12.25

8.8x12 Manor Brussels $7.95

—Rugs that are so remarkably low that you cannot afford to overlook this buying opportunity. The assortment is good.

7.6x9 Manor Brussels $6.95

6x9 Manor Brussels $5.95

$1.50 Velvet Rugs 89c

—27x54 size, different patterns.

$2.50 & $3 Axmin. $1.85

—27-inch Axminster, irregular in size. They should be 27x54. If they were absolutely true to measurement they would be $2.50 and $3.00. Sale price $1.85.

$4.50 Axminsters $2.65

—36-inch, these are also irregular in size, should be 36x70, but they run shorter, therefore instead of $4.50 you pay $2.65.

POLITICAL TIPS.

The height and depth of President Taft's political manhood is well evidenced in his recent orders to his supporters to make no attacks on Mr. Roosevelt, no matter what the ultimate intention of the ex-President in regard to the Presidential nomination might be.

Senator Penrose of Pennsylvania has assured President Taft that the seventy-six delegates from the Keystone State to the Republican national convention will be instructed to support Mr. Taft's renomination.

The supporters of President Taft are considering the importance of having the election of delegates to the Republican national convention as early as possible. This will not be possible in Pennsylvania, as in that State the delegates to the State convention which will choose the four delegates at large to the national convention are to be chosen at primaries, which will not be held until April 16. It will take some days to ascertain the results of these primaries and issue the certificates of election, so that it would not be possible to hold the State convention before April 22.

Of the early conventions for the choice of delegates to the Republican national convention, Florida's will be held on February 8; North Dakota, March 27, and Wisconsin, April 2. The Progressives are banking on having the support of the North Dakota delegates, and La Follette is claiming those of his own State of Wisconsin.

In the opinion of Kirk Prather, a member of the Kansas Democratic State Executive Committee, the Democrats of the Sunflower State are strong for Champ Clark. "The Seventh District of Kansas, which includes thirty-two counties, already has indorsed Speaker Clark," said Mr. Prather, at the Raleigh. "The Second District, which is the most populous district in the State and includes Kansas City, two months ago was almost unanimous for Gov. Wilson. Now it is for Speaker Clark by an overwhelming majority. I believe that the other districts of the State have experienced the same change of sentiment, and that seven of the eight members of the State Executive Committee are for the speaker. Mr. Clark, in my opinion, will be nominated and elected."

The Missouri Democratic State convention will be held at Joplin, February 20. The time for holding the convention was considered by the adherents of Speaker Champ Clark as a victory. The admirers of former Gov. Joseph W. Folk claimed they obtained a victory when the committee decided to hold the convention in Joplin. Both Clark and Folk are contending for the Missouri indorsement as Presidential candidates.

Gov. Harmon voted the Republican ticket after the war, but he went into the Greeley movement, and became a Democrat for the first time in 1874.

Mayor Gaynor of New York again states his political position as follows: "I am not a candidate or aspirant to any office. I would give a good deal to be let alone. All I want is to try to be a fairly good Mayor. To be that I have to try hard. Beyond that I have no desire or ambition. Is not the office of Mayor of this great city, with the powers vested in it, as important as that of President? It is a far more difficult one to fill. I would hate to go out of this office with the ill will of the community. I want to serve the community as well as I can. I am certain that if this Presidential bee could be got into my head it would impair my efficiency as Mayor, and of all things I do not want that to happen. I am satisfied to be Mayor instead of Governor, Senator, President or anything else."

Gov. Harmon says Senator La Follette's trip through Ohio stirred up the Taft people and aroused them to action, and has apparently done Taft more good than it did the Wisconsinite.

The control of the Indiana Democratic organization is in the hands of Thomas Taggart, national committeeman, and it is therefore believed the national convention delegates will be for Gov. Harmon, on the early ballots.

Gov. Wilson, in his arguments for the abolition of the prohibitive tariff, represents the working people of the country in coalition with their employers in a grab game to get their special slice of pie at the expense of the consumer. He has gone further in his attack on labor than any other candidate mentioned in connection with the Presidential nomination.

The New York Times says: "Woodrow Wilson never penned a sentence more creditable to his political judgment, or one that reflected a spirit of higher loyalty to the Democratic party, than that contained in his letter to Mr. Joline: 'Would that we could do something, at once dignified and effective, to knock Mr. Bryan once and for all into a cocked hat.' Proof of the soundness of Mr. Wilson's political judgment at the time this letter was written, in August, 1907, is put distinctly before the eyes of all men by Mr. Bryan's fussy and harmful activities at the meeting of the Democratic National Committee in Washington."

Senator La Follette had hard luck in his Illinois tour. He was attacked by ptomaine poisoning at Peoria, and at Norris he had a bad fall on the platform of the railroad station which dazed him considerably. Nevertheless he continued his campaign speechmaking, during which he reiterated his support of the initiative, referendum and recall, the election of United States Senators by direct vote and the general "restoration of representative government."

A correspondent of the Washington Post says of La Follette: "It must be rather disconcerting to Senator La Follette and his friends to observe the reluctance of the so-called Progressives to come out frankly in an indorsement of his candidacy. La Follette is frankly campaigning for his own nomination, and not for the general insurgent movement. His speeches give no recognition to Senator Cummins of Iowa; to Senator Bristow of Kansas, or to any other insurgent. La Follette is engaged in a La Follette movement exclusively, and the men who are supposed to be working with him have a very discouraging way of indorsing him as a statesman, but not as the leader of his faction or as a candidate for President.

"The indecision of the insurgents can mean but one thing. They are not convinced that La Follette is the best man to be their factional standard bearer and are feeling around in the fear that they may make a mistake. It may be that they realize, with the rest of the country, that President Taft is the real leader of the progressive movement and that he is certain to be nominated, and perhaps they are preparing the way to an indorsement of his nomination."

Carl C. Countryman of Sheffield, Ill., is making a campaign for Congress in the 16th district, but he was so poorly informed regarding the boundaries of the district that he went over to Kewanee, and approached voters regarding his candidacy, to the amusement of the Kewaneeans, as that town is in the 15th district. To give his candidacy more prominence he wore a high silk hat in weather 20 below zero.

Former Representative S. Brundidge of Searcy, Ark., who is opposing Senator Jeff Davis for United States Senator, is arraigning Davis for the number of times he has been absent from the Senate and has been paired with Republicans. He caused a sensation when he said he would pay the Senator's campaign expenses, would let Davis select an Auditing Committee of farmers, union men or bankers, and would put up $2000 for an audit of the Senator's expense account.

"I defy him to accept this challenge," said Brundidge.

Gov. Wilson has been away from his executive duties as the State's Chief Executive more than any other New Jersey Governor, and the majority members do not want the lawmaking machinery held up while he is telling people outside of the State his views on certain important questions, says a Trenton dispatch.

It is stated that at a recent election in Lancaster, Pa., 3000 voters sold their votes through the scheme of assistance in the election booth. It is therefore proposed to start a movement for an amendment of the law so that hereafter no one can be assisted unless he be blind or has lost both arms.

The Democrats of the Maryland Legislature are determined to obtain full control of both branches, and will therefore attempt to unseat four Republicans from Baltimore. Former Senator Gorman, who was defeated for Governor, and former Senator Moss of Anne Arundel, are counsel for the defeated candidates who are seeking the Republicans' seats. By this method they expect to nullify the Governor's veto power. The members of the House would go even further were they not held back by several Senators who have said they will not tolerate a single move that looks to the deprivation of Gov. Goldsborough of the power to make appointments.

The Ohio Democratic Progressive League has been organized with ex-Congressman John J. Lentz of Columbus to oppose Gov. Harmon as a candidate for the Presidency. The league is affiliated with the National League of Democratic Precinct Clubs, of which Senator Owen is the President. The present indications are that Ohio may have no instructed delegation to the national convention.

The Missouri Democrats will have no trouble in finding a candidate for the gubernational nomination. The latest one, and the fourth in number, is John T. Barker of Macon, Speaker of the Forty-sixth General Assembly, who says he will be a candidate for the nomination provided only Elliott W. Major, Dave Ball and W. D. Vandiver get into the race. Barker challenges an attack on his legislative record and says he was thoroughly in accord with Gov. Folk and did all he could to help out Folk's administration policies. The choice of Barker by the Democratic State convention would evidently be a victory for the supporters of Folk.

The convention at work in Columbus, O., on the reconstruction of the State Constitution is recognized as preponderantly "progressive" if not radical. Politically there are 65 Democratic delegates, 48 Republicans, three Independents, and 3 Socialists.

This is the fourth of Ohio's constitutional conventions. The first was held at Chillicothe in 1802, and its work, Ohio's first Constitution was adopted November 29 of that year. The second convention was in Columbus and Cincinnati, in 1851. Its work was ratified by a popular vote June 17 of that year by a majority of 16,288. The third convention was in Columbus and Cincinnati in 1873 and 1874. The first two had something to show for their work, while the last, the most costly and gorgeous, after entailing an expense to the State of more than $200,000, had its work rejected by the voters. It is the result of the labors of the convention of 1851 that is still the supreme law of the State.

"FIERCEST IN THE WORLD."

Even Savage Bulldog Not Above Making Friends—He's Charged with Complicity.

W. Nakanura is minus $547 although he bought a "fierce" dog to guard his money. The Japanese had no faith in savings banks. He did place a great deal of dependance upon the ability of a savage dog when it came to guarding property. Now his estimation of banks has increased and his value of the prowess of a dog for watching purposes has slumped considerably.

Nakanura lives at Manchester and Central avenue. He kept his money in a large purse in his room. Tied to the leg of the bed was a large bulldog.

"The man I buy him from tell me he fiercest dog in world," explained Nakanura to Detective Davis while reporting the loss.

While Nakanura was absent some one entered the room, petted "the fiercest dog in the world," stole the pocketbook and decamped.

third one will probably be taken from the Los Angeles association.

It is expected that if the old empire becomes a full republic, the Y.M.C.A. work will be given further impetus, for the reason that Dr. Sun Yat Sen, the first President, is a Christian and has always been highly in favor of the Association. He established his headquarters in Shanghai, which is termed the New York of China, because of its size and its importance as a port of entry.

The work done by Los Angeles has been emulated by one or two other cities, and just a few days ago ten Cleveland financiers subscribed $80,000 to match the same amount which was raised by the Chinese themselves in Shanghai, who recognize the needs of the organization with its rapid growth.

The present building accommodates 1600 people and during the year just closed, the membership reached 1627 and is now growing faster than ever. The educational work was one of the great attractions last year and Chinese to the number of 627 were enrolled and studying the system of American business at one time.

Forty-nine Chinese secretaries and teachers are employed in the work, which includes the latest American physical culture stunts, the study of Christianity and a general educational course. Dr. T. T. Wong, former chairman of the board of directors of the Shanghai Association, is expected to accompany Tsao or follow shortly after on a visit to this city.

ENJOY BALM OF JANUARY.

Central Square Is Mecca of Easterners These Days Who Have Come Here to Thaw Out.

"Yes," said the man in the faded green overcoat—the coat had originally been a dark blue, warranted by the makers not to fade—"if it wasn't for the free, open-air sanatorium in Los Angeles I would be dead and buried today."

Seated in Central Square yesterday, while the man with the peagreen overcoat was speaking, was a wonderful and curious collection of human beings. Most of them were basking in the warm January sunshine trying to get rid of hacking coughs and other ailments that overtake the man who misuses the heritage of boundless and perfect health.

"This is the greatest boon that was ever furnished by any city in the world," said the faded overcoat man, as he shifted his position on the bench and made room for another sufferer. "I have been coming to Los Angeles for the past five years in the winter time. I am a laboring man but five years ago the doctors gave me up and said I couldn't live another six months. I managed to scrape enough together to get out here to Los Angeles and here I am with just enough to pay my board and room until spring. Then I will get work and save enough money to come back here next winter."

According to patrolmen detailed in the vicinity of the park, Central Square accommodates at least 5000 persons a day who sun and warm themselves there. Among the sunshine seekers are a number of women.

MANICURIST'S SYMPHONY.

Persuades Verdant Stranger From Salt Lake City He Should Have Whiskers Dyed.

His eyes almost hung on his cheeks and he appeared to have every symptom of the fright that overtakes a Kansas jackrabbit when a fast mail train disputes its possession of the prairies.

"Say," he demanded of Secretary Snively, "for the love of Mike tell me what color my whiskers are?"

"They appear to be a dark sea green. They look like a marine view after sunset," said Snively, squinting critically at the whiskers.

"Great Jehosephat!" wailed the man, clapping a trembling hand to his brow. "How will I ever go back to Salt Lake City and face Mary?"

When he had regained his composure somewhat, he unfolded a tale of duplicity and deceit which [illegible] ished the entire police department.

"I went into a manicure and [illegible] parlor on South Spring street [illegible] afternoon," he said, "and while [illegible] ting my face massaged the [illegible] lady suggested that my whiskers [illegible] getting gray and that I ought to have them blackened. She talked so [illegible] guilingly that I gave her $1 to [illegible] them. I walked out of the place [illegible] after reaching the street noticed [illegible] everybody I met grinned at me. Finally I looked in a glass and to my horror discovered that my whiskers [illegible] green instead of black."

The Chief's secretary told the Salt Lake City man that he could find no ordinance that is applicable to the green whisker case. The man with the green lilacs departed from the City Jail. He took his crop of green whiskers with him.

GOOD THINGS GONE.

Tom Garcia, Frank Garcia, [illegible] ham Brown, Ralph Lincoln and [illegible] Fries were sent to the Detention Home, charged with having [illegible] the store of P. Pallimara, No. [illegible] East Seventh street. A quantity of chocolate candy, cigarettes and [illegible] was taken.

EASY FOR THIEF.

FALLS ON IRON BEAMS.

John Whitmore, an [illegible] employed at First and Broadway, was severely injured by falling [illegible] thirty feet, yesterday morning. [illegible] stepped on the loose end of a [illegible] and landed on a pile of iron [illegible]. He was removed to the C[illegible] street Hospital.

A Skin Tightener to Reduce Wrinkles

(From Popular Medicine.)

In beauty culture, as in the [illegible] ment of disease, the tendency [illegible] adays is to seek the removal of [illegible] rather than to treat symptoms [illegible] fects. In the matter of wrinkles [illegible] instance, we know that the lines [illegible] furrows are caused by the skin [illegible] coming loose in places, as it does [illegible] perfectly fit the flesh beneath. [illegible] skin then "wrinkles" or sags. [illegible] rally, the proper thing to do is [illegible] tighten the skin—make it fit—[illegible] there's no room for lines, wrinkles and folds, and no surplus skin to [illegible] or bag.

The best known formula for [illegible] purpose is: Saxolite, 1 oz., in [illegible] witchhazel. Use as a wash lotion [illegible] effect is truly remarkable, [illegible] as results are immediate. Ask [illegible] druggist for the powdered [illegible] which dissolves more quickly [illegible] any other form.

COR. 4TH. LOS ANGELES

FACTS, FEATURES AND FANCIES FOR WOMEN AND MEN

BY OLIVE GRAY

DAILY BEAUTY HINT: You may cultivate physical habits even during sleep. The woman who trains herself to avoid lying with her chin drawn low upon her neck during slumber, will be late in acquiring a double or a triple of that same chin. You may place a small pillow below your chin to hold it well up, as you sleep, until you have formed the habit of holding it in the proper position.

Tabulate your blues and you won't have them.

I know a girl who makes a practice of indulging in the blues, about once in so often, although she has no reason in the world for entertaining them.

She has a friend who has several reasons for having them, but she has cured herself in a novel way. It begins to look, too, as though she had cured or at least broken the case of her No. 1.

They lunch together and when one day recently Jean was plainly wearing her favorite color, Jane asked her why. Informed, she said—"But what are you blue about?" "Oh, about everything"—replied Jean sweepingly. "Well, what is the first thing?" "Oh, there are so many that I cannot even begin to name them!" "Well, I'll tell you the way I do, when I have the blues," said Jane. "I say to myself, 'What are you blue about? Is it this? Or is it that?' No. I take pencil and paper and make myself think until I come to a reason definite enough to write down. Usually by the time I find that reason it is so small and trivial that I am ashamed to write it and there are no blues left."

Jean says she has tried tabulating her reasons for the blues and in every instance, by the time she has been able to formulate even one reason, she has been cured.

Worth trying, don't you think?

Aviation Window.

You may have been too busy watching the parade to notice it, but take a look at that window when you pass on Broadway. The grocery business is certainly "looking up," if one may judge by what one sees there. Or perhaps it is the business at the candy counter—for there is shown every possible sort of aero-receptacle for candy and bonbons; while in the "field" below are toy people and animals all craning their necks at the ships up in the sky. Even the tall giraffe is craning to see that perihelion of most air bodies. Every kind of air craft is craftily presented as though en route to the great atmospheric contest. One odd little balloon affair is shaped like a champagne bottle and the bonbons which bear the name of the sparkling drink are said to go to your head when you eat them.

Imported Evening Frocks.

I spent a morning among the imported evening frocks, in one of the big stores, and found myself fairly raving over the beauty of many of them. It is not time to begin telling about the creations, with the Fashion Show so far away; but I must tell you about one or two of those.

There was first that adorable little frock of point d'esprit trimmed in bud roses of rose, bebe and lavender, with such quantities of tiny ruffles of val. I had just about determined on that, when I caught a glimpse of a cream chiffon over canary chiffon, the outer garment embroidered delicately with flowers in the Pompadour style and with the most delightful arrangement of blue satin ribbon outlining the square neck and disappearing under an embroidered motif, at back and front, which caught the ribbon firmly to the garment as though it had been manufactured there. All the gowns were charmingly girlish and many had the prim little fischus, which give quaintness to any face and figure. Brilliants were employed to outline the design upon many of these gowns and in some instances were encrusted with pearls.

Valentines.

With a view to parties upon the Saint's birthday many of the shoppers are picking up everything heart-shaped or in any way appropriate as favors for that occasion. One woman found a silver heart-shaped box in one of the Oriental stores which she will make her first prize at progressive hearts at her party. Another has heart-shaped bonbon dishes of brass, and also some heart-shaped candle bases which she intends to use with candles.

In one of the art stores I saw a cunning little picture representing a baby standing in a saucer, and below was the verse: "I wish I were the china cup from which you drink your tea; for then I know with every sup you'd give a kiss to

* * *

Hat Pin Tariff.

At least it is protection for hat wearers. Incidentally it also protects the innocent bystander, as well. It is a tariff for the sharp points of the long hat pins upon which, heretofore, it has been the habit of many girls and some women to impale their neighbors in street cars and in theaters. Seen at one of the Broadway stores. These will be particularly useful if we use last year's hat pins with this year's hats, for the new hats are, many of them, so small that the hat pin would extend through a yard of them; and yet they are not a bit safe, worn that way.

Clothing for Boys.

A great clearance sale of everything in the way of boys' clothes which is offered at one of the best clothing stores on Spring street. No odds and ends are these, but the best of materials and makes.

Learn to Bake.

Cookery lessons are under way, in the kitchens of one of the big Broadway stores. The making of breads, cakes and pastries will be demonstrated by a competent woman. Not only cookery by means of the gas range but by fireless and also—we are told—that later there will be electric baking.

* * *

New Frying Product.

There is a new product for use in deep frying. It was claimed by those putting this "fat"—or rather oil—upon the market, that it would create a new era in cookery and it seems as though it were to make good their claims. One of the principal virtues of this substance is that almost none of it is absorbed by the food in cooking. Another virtue is that it does not give off a disagreeable odor, as do so many frying compounds.

Fashion Mentions.

One-piece silk dresses are highly regarded.

Some costume skirts are draped either on one or on both front sides.

Although still narrow, costume skirts simulate a slightly fuller appearance, the fullness being often pleated, gathered or draped to waist line, though the skirt width at the hem remains narrow.

Waist line approximates normal.

In sleeves, three-quarter length preferred.

No Cobwebs, Either.

OLDEST HOUSE IN THE WORLD.

IRISH NOBLEMAN AND LADY ON TOUR AROUND WORLD.

Their Castle Is Seven Hundred Years Old and Has Been Their Ancestral Home Since Henry II. Honeymoon Trip Through This City Pleases Titled Britishers.

Lord and Lady Talbot de Malahide, whose ancestral castle at Malahide, County Dublin, Ireland, is the oldest inhabited castle in the world, arrived in Los Angeles yesterday, homeward bound on the last lap of a honeymoon tour. They are guests at the Angelus.

Lord and Lady Talbot started on their trip in September and when they return home they will have circled the globe. Lord Talbot is a traveler of note, having been around the world seven or eight times.

Malahide Castle, occupied almost continuously by the Talbots since the reign of Henry II, 700 years ago, is one of the most famous castles in Great Britain. It has been the inspiration for much Irish folk-lore and legends. It was to this castle that Oliver Cromwell sent Miles Corbett, one of the signers of the death warrant of Charles I. The Talbots were ousted and were not allowed to return until several years later.

With the ousting of the Talbots, a beautiful statue of the Virgin Mary disappeared from the Oak Room of the castle, and that, although all of Ireland was searched, it could not be found, according to a popular legend of Ireland.

The image was finally found, it is said, in its regular place, when the Talbots returned. They disclaimed all knowledge of its disappearance. It still stands in the room. Lord Talbot has been offered thousands of dollars for it by American collectors of antiques but refuses to part with it.

Both Lord and Lady Talbot expressed themselves as being delighted with America. En route from the Orient they stopped at Honolulu. Lord Talbot declared that he thought Americans should be proud of the Hawaiian Islands.

Lord Talbot is a strong Unionist in the British political sense, and opposed to home rule. He says that the Irish people are better off under existing conditions and that with home rule they could not expect any material advantages.

The Talbots will remain in Los Angeles several days. They will go East over the Southern Pacific and expect to stay a week at New Orleans. They are accompanied by Samuel Gurney who has business interests in London.

ANGELENOS AT DURBAR.

Member of Party Writes Graphic Description of Crowning of King George as Emperor of India.

From far away Delhi has come a description of the Durbar in December by a member of a party of Angelenos who are touring the Orient. The party occupied a pavilion near the Emperor and Empress and describe the coronation and ceremonies that followed as the most gorgeous spectacle they have ever witnessed.

The day following the coronation the whole camp bubbled with excitement, the writer states, on account of the royal edict transferring the capital of India from Calcutta to Delhi.

"After their majesties left the arena," says the writer, "the people massed on the mounds across the arena to the royal canopy, wherein stood the thrones from which the King Emperor and Queen Empress made their impressive appearance. There they did humble obeisance to the empty thrones."

The fort at Delhi was the scene of a radiant garden party. The arrival of the royal couple was heralded by the playing of the national anthem and salutes from various guards of honor. The Emperor wore a gray frock coat and the Empress a dress of pale heliotrope-colored brocade and a hat surrounded by large white ostrich plumes that was of especial interest to the Los Angeles women present.

There followed a parade in which their majesties appeared in their coronation robes. It was a brilliant spectacle. Among the Angelenos who witnessed these sights are Mr. and Mrs. Willets J. Hole, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Bayly, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Perry, Misses Elizabeth and Florence Wood, Charlotte Livingston, Edith Kirkpatrick and D. F. Robertson.

POLITICAL WATCH TOWER.

Los Angeles county, seems to be clearing. Senator N. W. Thompson of Alhambra is regarded as sure to enter the race soon and formally announce his candidacy. Former Mayor Windham of Long Beach is a candidate, formally and with considerable emphasis. He has an organization behind him—principally in Long Beach. He is bidding for the insurgent support but this will probably go to Thompson, who followed the Lissner-Johnson programme pretty thoroughly, except on the recall of judges, in the regular session. The prospective appointment of Senator C. W. Bell as Postmaster at Pasadena will take him out of the race if her ever was in it.

The joke of the district is the candidacy of McLachlan as a "progressive" Taft man. Whatever hold this former Congressman had on the old district was due to his position as a member of the Rivers and Harbors Committee and this membership was valuable to Los Angeles. But it meant nothing in McLachlan's hands and counts for nothing now. The "insurgents" do not want him and he is not Taft candidate, if there is such a candidate anywhere. McLachlan is simply a pachydermatous pest who won't understand that he is politically dead and buried.

THE WATCHMAN.

BUSINESS GROWING. Thirty-eight complaints were filed at the County Clerk's office yesterday morning and $340 received as filing fees. This business was handled in two hours and will go to swell the already crowded calendar of the Superior Court. Fifteen judges are sitting. In some of the departments the calendar is full three months ahead.

Fat Folks Favor

Home Mixture That Takes Off the Fat Rapidly, Is Harmless in Hot or Cold Weather —Causes No Wrinkles—No Stomach Ills and Requires Neither Dieting Nor Exercise.

Too much fat is both uncomfortable and dangerous, especially in summer, but usually fleshy people prefer to put up with its inconvenience rather than punish themselves with the tiresome exercising usually prescribed, or endanger their health by taking the socalled "cures" and patent fat "reducers" that depress or overtax the heart.

This self-sacrifice of comfort and health to overabundant fat is entirely unnecessary, however, as Mrs. Luella Bigger tells us there is a home recipe that is far superior in every way to anything money will buy for reducing superfluous flesh. It is said this simple mixture will take the fat off of man or woman at the rate of at least a couple of pounds a week without even causing wrinkles. Moreover, it does not disturb the stomach, but is a good thing for the system, clearing away pimples, and, best of all, it does not interfere with the diet. You can use it and at the same time eat whatever you like. This recipe is as follows: ½ ounce Marmola; ½ ounce Fluid Extract Cascara Aromatic and 3½ ounces of Peppermint Water. Get these ingredients at any drug store, mix them together at home and take one teaspoonful after each meal and at bedtime.

Mrs. Bigger, as is well known, is a famous beauty expert, and whatever she recommends is sure to be found eminently satisfactory.

Simple Remedy
For Warts

Description of Webster's New Illustrated Dictionary

With the New U. S. Census

This most convenient and latest of all Dictionaries is based on N Webster's Dictionary, revised and brought up to date by the most recent American and English authorities, designed to meet every demand of a modern and reliable Dictionary.

It includes all words in the English language that do not properly belong to a Dictionary of Technical Terms. In fact, its recent publication and careful revision enable it to define and treat a large number of words of recent coinage that cannot be found in any other Dictionary, no matter how cumbersome and pretentious.

Surprising results are obtained in looking up the spelling, pronunciation and definition of a host of words which have been incorporated into our language only yesterday, as it were. Take, for instance: Aero, Aeroplanist, Aviation, Aviator, Biplane, etc., introduced as a result of recent aeronautical activity—also such new words as: Brainstorm, Billiken, Cordite, Denatured, Dunnite, Joy Ride, etc.—also Okapi, an animal allied to the Giraffe, and brought into prominence through ex-President Roosevelt's explorations in Africa—also Hookworm, Lettergram, Nickelodeon, Stovaine, Hangar, Equilibrator, etc.

KING JOHN CONSIDINE.

BIG MAN MAKES A BIG CIRCUIT CLIMB TO FAME.

Something About the Man and Method Which Has Made the Sullivan-Considine Vaudeville the Huge and Significent Thing that It Is Today.

BY JULIAN JOHNSON.

The 3000-mile sprawl of the Sullivan-Considine circuit, embodied in the comfortable person of one man, has been running about Los Angeles during the past week.

I refer to John Considine, who IS the Sullivan-Considine circuit.

That notable politician and man-about earth, Mr. Sullivan, whose name adorns the front of this national business, knows very little about the livest end, the western end, of the huge popular-price game.

Mr. Sullivan has been and is the New York "front" of the institution. He is its figure-head, its polished nameplate, its front-gate ornament. An eminent success at various other lines of business and personal endeavor, he would doubtless cut a decided swath in the vaudeville game should he decide to study and practice it—as, we shall say, politics have been practiced and made a success by him.

It is Mr. Considine, however, who has the entire burden of the circuit on his shoulders, and it is Mr. Considine who has built and made it what it is.

Mojonier, Photo.

John Considine,

The king of popular-priced vaudeville, who has been spending the week in Los Angeles.

Where there are none, everybody believes the thing visionary and impractical; when some one man, or some group of men, has actually established the affair, and has made it pay—everyone longs to duplicate the feat, but alas!—there is no more room for duplication.

John Considine, physically, is immensely powerful. White-haired, he is hardly approaching middle age, and his skin has that weathered-pink freshness and clarity which we are accustomed to see only as the tint of men trained down to the very minute of condition.

Considine's vaudeville circuit grew out of rough music-hall beginnings in the pioneer Northwest—which doesn't mean so very long ago.

The Middle West was pioneered in Lincoln's boyhood, and the pioneers of the Central and Southwest are now snow-locked—if indeed they are alive. But in the Northwest — well, Bryan was running nicely when they first began to make that wonderful country modern.

Considine's music halls became notable because they were a little better than music halls. There were music halls—and Considine's places. A big man, a man of the outdoors, a man who had done big things, he was not content to do anything that was sordid, or ordinary, or cheap except in price.

Considine began his career as an amusement purveyor by providing rough, healthy, matter-of-fact entertainment for men on the firing line of the world's work.

Down in 'Frisco they were getting the papered cutlets and dainty dessert frills of the drama; up in the Northwest, John Considine, blunt and smiling, but not plain, was its pork and beans.

I don't know of any man in America who has kept closer to that mythical personification shoutingly referred to by the Socialist orator as "the common people."

For that matter, we are all common. We like elemental things.

John Considine knows what his circuit is doing all the time, and, though in one Chris Brown, his dapper booking agent, here a short time ago, he has a man exactly after his own heart, he never trusts anybody's judgment but his own, and his finger is always on the public pulse, and his eye on his own stage.

The sketches on Considine's circuit tell simple love stories, or simple stories of parental affection or childish trust.

I have heard humor on the Empress stage that had an element of primitive coarseness about it, but I never heard an insidious double-entendre, or a story in which loose morality was promoted under the guise of "freedom," or "soul development." Which is more than I can say of some entertainments here to which the booking fee has been $2.

Many of his dancing acts have been absolute novelties, and some of them are of extraordinary cleverness and grace.

Some of the best musical turns I have heard in vaudeville have been planted on the Empress stage.

In other words, Considine's big, powerful hand is not only stretched across America in a firm grasp, but is clutching talent from Europe, from Nippon — from every quarter of the globe that's civilized, and from some that are not civilized.

Personally, Considine's hobbies are dogs and horses.

He has flocks, bevies, congresses of both.

He will attend the Southern California field trials during the coming week.

His first care, on entering Southern California—invariably—is to visit his horses, which are wintering near Santa Ana.

Where's the new Sullivan-Considine theater?

Don't crowd or cause a stampede! That's coming, but King John absolutely refuses to make any more promises until there is definite action.

He is spending more and more time in Los Angeles.

His visits used to be for days.

Now they are for weeks.

Presently his visits will become permanent, and the outside trips will take their place as visits.

He will probably be living here in his own home in January, 1913.

ABOUT THE FRENCH OPERA.

Magnificent Organization at the Auditorium Certainly Deserving of General Support.

Commencing this week, the French opera will drop to a dollar scale.

It is radically against the policy of The Times dramatic column to quote prices and invite the reading public to spend its money, but in this instance the end justifies the rather businesslike departure.

These artists, most of whom have appeared with great success at the Grand Opera, the Opera Comique and the Theatre Lyrique, are certainly exceptional. And their patronage so far in Los Angeles has certainly not been exceptional—except in reverse ratio.

Many things may account for this. A surfeit of opera; a dull moment in theatricals; the inclination of people to patronize lighter forms of amusement; and last, but by no means least, the great number of theaters here.

To be sure, the management of the company has been characterized by many well-meaning blunders, but blunders nevertheless. And then there came the unlucky day in which seven principals fell ill at once, and the whole schedule of works had to be changed.

The dramatic critic of The Times has painfully embroiled himself with Conductor Bardou by suggesting that Conductor Bardou is not as much at home in Italian opera as he is in French—a fact which seems apparent to us, whether Conductor Bardou thinks so or not.

But—

And notwithstanding all these things—

The matter remains a vital issue, and one upon which it is highly important that the public do a little thinking, at once.

Conductor Bardou is really fine in French works, and has achieved a career of great eminence.

The company contains an extraordinary number of fine singers.

Affre, for instance, is a tenor whose name is known around the worl. He receives nearly $1000 for each performance, and as a dramatic tenor, probably no greater Frenchman has ever visited this country.

Nor does America often hear such a golden-voiced baritone as Mascal, such a fine artist as Espa-Carrie, such an intelligent actor-singer as M. Pasqual-Wronski, such an intensely human dramatic soprano as Mme. Vallemont, such a great bass voice as that of M. Coiglio, such superb artistry as Demangane's, and such a loveable little operatic personality as tiny Fregoleska.

And besides these, there are nearly a score of other principals.

In the name of that which is artistic, and worthy, and uplifting, the French opera at the Auditorium should be patronized, and well patronized, during the rest of its engagement.

I do not believe in dragging a man to a show because it will "elevate" him—elevations usually depress—but music-lovers should lend their support to such an enterprise as this because it is not only educational and meritorious, but because it is also tremendously entertaining.

There are things about this company which we don't like, to be sure, but will the little flaw spoil the whole glass? No.

In New York City two years ago I had bitter thoughts of Los Angeles as I watched hundreds upon hundreds of people actually fighting for opportunities to spend $10, $15 and even $25 per seat for Metropolitan opera whose casts on most occasions contained singers far inferior to those whom M. Grazi is frantically endeavoring to sell to the local public at a fee so ridiculous that it is almost unbelievable.

"Madame Butterfly," in repetition, will open the ball tomorrow night, and, to make up for the loss of Tuesday night, there will be a special matinee performance Tuesday.

At this writing the routine of operas is not definitely decided upon, but comment will be made as soon as possible.

MASON OPERAHOUSE.

The Mason Operahouse will be dark for two weeks, but following in, immediately, will come an unbroken line of shows extending well into next summer. In two weeks "Madame Sherry" will return to this theater, to be followed by George Cohan's big comedy success of last year, "Get-Rich-Quick Wallingford."

Courage.

She has no need of sword or spear,
  She shelters in no guarded place,
She watches danger drawing near,
  And fronts it with a smiling face.

Not hers the dull, unseeing eye,
  Blind fury, and the lust of blood,
Across her soul no tempests fly,
  No passions surge, in angry flood.

But clear as that great dome above
  Which frames the sun and hides the star,
And quiet as the words of love
  The motions of her spirit are.

And ever following in her train
  Come two glad figures fair as she,
One with his foot on vanquished pain,
  And one the foe of tyranny.

MANTELL IN REPERTORY.

SHAKESPEAREAN OFFERINGS AT HAMBURGER THEATER.

Otherwise, the Town Has Not a New Thing to Offer in the Drama, as Three Bills "Go Over," the Mason Is Dark, and Musical Farce Reigns at the Lyceum—Variety.

There will be a feast of Shakespeare at the Majestic Theater during the week beginning tomorrow night, when Robert B. Mantell, by many considered to be the best living exponent of the "Bard of Avon," and his company make their reappearance in Los Angeles after an absence of two years.

Mr. Mantell is to appear in a round of seven plays during the eight performances, "Julius Caesar" alone being repeated. As to the plays, Mantell's "Hamlet," "Richelieu," and "Shylock," in the "Merchant of Venice," three of his best known impersonations, are favorites here. In "As You Like It," he is the heroic Orlando, and in "King Lear" he plays the title role.

The most elaborate production in the Mantell gallery is "Julius Caesar," in which the star plays Brutus, the great conspirator who encompasses Caesar's death.

The star's support of forty-two actors is reinforced by one hundred men and women supernumeraries, and the scenery, costumes, properties, lighting effects and general accessories are all new and on a most lavish order. Mr. Mantell will appear in "Louis XI" for the first time in more than a year, and the leading female rôle will be taken by Miss Genevieve Hamper, who will make her first appearance in it here.

Miss Keith Wakeman, a former resident of Oakland and an actress of international reputation, as she has appeared for a number of years in England, is Mr. Mantell's leading lady. Some of the other members are Fritz Lieber, Guy Lindsley, Casson Ferguson, Lowson Butt, George Lear, George Gould, Howard Bartz, Harry Keefer, M. R. Sayre, Arthur Brown, Harry Kern, Agnes Elliott Scott, Genevieve Hamper, Bessie Lenore, and Genevieve Reynolds.

The plays will be given in this order: Monday and Saturday nights, "Julius Caesar;" Tuesday, "Hamlet;" Wednesday matinee, "As You Like It;" Wednesday night, "Richelieu;" Thursday, "Louis XI;" Friday, "King Lear;" Saturday matinee, "Merchant of Venice."

Lyceum.

Beginning with a matinee today at the Lyceum Theater a play and star new to the Pacific Coast will be seen. The star in the person of George Sidney and the play "Busy Izzy."

George Sidney is an exponent of Hebrew comedy and one who does not caricature in any way. Sidney has been a star in the East for ten years and prior to that time was associated with Ward & Vokes.

Sidney's present vehicle "Busy Izzy" is a rollicking musical satire on the same lines as all the former Sidney shows, with distinct novelty as the reigning feature. The cast embraces some pleasing comedians, and a large proportion of the half hundred in the organization are vivacious dancing and singing girls.

The dances all go with a vim and dash, costumes are changed every minute, jokes fly fast and furious and the entire production is a kaleidoscopic mass of color and music, sparkling with nonsense.

Many big musical numbers and catchy songs are introduced by different members of the company, and Mr. Sidney has several new parodies he will sing. The cast engaged to aid Mr. Sidney is headed by Carrie Webber and the following well-known artists: Dick Hume, Nick Basil, Frank Gibbons, Walter Webber, John Magee, Jessie Gillette, and Evelyn Knowles.

To follow—"Mutt and Jeff."

Orpheum.

The annual visit to the Orpheum of its own road show is announced for the coming week, beginning with the matinee Monday, January 22. This annual tour of a picked aggregation of stars, under the direction of Martin Beck himself, always signifies the high-water mark of attendance, popularity and excellence at the local Orpheum, and this season the show to be presented, possibly more than ever hitherto, deserves the very unusual position it occupies.

For, of the three leading attractions listed, each one is at the very top notch in its class, while the other eight are quite as representative in their own fields.

The joint headliners of the road show are the original eight London Palace Girls and Mlle. Simone de Beryl of Paris. The Palace Girls are the principals in the very large ballet corps of the Palace Music Hall, London, now an Orpheum house. In costuming they also excel, as no expense has been spared to equip them to the queen's taste, and are a revelation in concerted dancing.

Mlle. de Beryl hails from Paris, where she is the reigning French beauty of the ateliers. She gives posings in tableaux, rivaling in beauty and artistic worth the world's greatest paintings. Elaborate accessories set off her own beauty and the result is an artistic triumph. The play to be offered is a Joseph Hart production of a new kind, "Honor Among Thieves." It is not a moralizing affair, by any means, but a laugh provoker of undoubted merit. A fine company presents it.

Keller Mack and Frank Orth, each formerly of another team, have combined their song-writing talents and will be the musical purveyors. Seymour Felix and Amelia Caire, youthful prodigies, will bring the joy of the happy days of early life into the blase routine, and give songs, imitations—in which they are strong—and dances. Charles F. Semon, who came down one week ahead because of the going of Ada Reeve, will remain and complete the six road-show acts proper. Rice, Sully and Scott, and Puck and Lewis will also stay, making the usual eight acts purveyed here.

Belasco.

"Alias Jimmy Valentine," Paul Armstrong's striking dramatization of O. Henry's short story masterpiece, "A Retrieved Reformation," has scored such an unqualified success at the Belasco Theater, where it has attracted capacity audiences throughout the past week, and the demand for seats to see this remarkable play continues to be of such unusual proportions that it will be given for a second big week, commencing Monday night.

On his first appearance with the Belasco company, William Gibson, the new leading man, firmly entrenched himself in the hearts of local theatergoers with his great performance of the reformed expert safecracker, Jimmy Valentine, while Thomas MacLarnie shared almost equal honors with Mr. Gibson by his smooth, clever performance of the detective, Doyle. Gibson's success in the role of Jimmy Valentine, following so closely the appearance here of H. B. Warner, is all the more remarkable.

Other distinct hits were scored by John Burton, Robert Ober, Bessie Barriscale and Howard Hickman.

The production in fact is a distinct achievement for the Belasco company and there is no doubt but what the second week of "Alias Jimmy Valentine" will prove even more popular than the first ten performances.

Following "Alias Jimmy Valentine," the Belasco organization will offer for the first time in this city, Joseph Medill Patterson's great newspaper play, "The Fourth Estate."

Burbank.

With a wonderful record of capacity audiences for two entire weeks and still no indication of any decrease in the demand for seats, "Way Down East," in which the Burbank Stock Company have scored such a pronounced success, will be continued for the third week.

In no presentation that has occupied the Burbank stage in many months have so many members of this organization scored an individual hit.

The Burbank company now has in preparation the production of David Belasco and H. C. de Mille's great drama, "The Wife," which is scheduled to follow "Way Down East," and in which the new Burbank ingenue, Miss Katherine Derby, will make her first appearance.

So great has been the demand for seats for the performance of "The Campus" during the past week that the management of the Grand Opera-house has decided to continue it for one more week. The theatrical world has never ceased talking about the sixteen weeks' run of "The Campus" last season.

Walter DeLeon and Miss "Muggins" Davies are once more in the cast. They assumed the roles which they created last season, at the performance Wednesday night. The delay in their arrival in Los Angeles was occasioned by the terrific storms in the Middle West. They will be seen from now on as Bobby Short, the college yell leader, and Nellie Perkins.

"The Campus" owes its success to its inherent worth. It is clean, wholesome and clever, full of action, with a decided plot and garnished with lilting melodies and clever dance specialties.

Ferris Hartman is playing Bismarck; Robert Leonard, Fat; Oliver Le Noir, Scot McClure; Miss Josie Hart, the college widow; Miss Myrtle Dingwall, Kate Selden, and Joseph Fogarty, college president. The chorus has been augmented and new scenery and costumes have been provided, so that "The Campus" is today bigger, brighter and better than it ever was before.

Pantages.

The Dellemead Troupe and the Georgia Campers are rivals for the honor of heading the Pantages list of attractions for the coming week.

The Georgia Campers form the largest organization of colored entertainers in vaudeville. They number ten beaux and belles, and when one contemplates the amount of fun dispensed by the average team of colored entertainers it is not difficult to figure the immense possibilities of a quintette of such teams in simultaneous action. Every member of the troupe is singer, dancer and comedian, with the inherent and almost instinctive faculty of their race as entertainers.

The Dellemeads are a bevy of shapely young women who reproduce in life the best efforts in marble of the masters of the chisel, both ancient and modern. To these reproductions they add many original conceptions that for artistic quality have been adjudged favorably in comparison with the best modern sculpture. The poses are displayed on a revolving pedestal, an arrangement that produces many beautiful effects of light and shade as the groups slowly revolve before the audience.

George Hillman, known in vaudeville as "the German Chauffeur," has a witty monologue largely devoted to national politics and politicians. Will F. Herbert and the Langweed sisters are a trio of decided popularity. Herbert is known as one of the cleverest of stage dancers, and the sisters have ability and attractiveness to spare. They sing, dance and cleverly burlesque a noted scene from one of the most successful dramas of the day.

Mlle. Viola Gaiarmo, known in the circus world as "Queen of the Flying Ladder," who is little more than a girl, is one of the noted beauties of the Sells-Floto organization. She will add many features to her regular circus routine, which are possible on the stage, but cannot be attempted under canvas. The Pantagescope and the Pantages orchestra will contribute worth-while features to the programme.

Empress.

The all new Sullivan and Considine bill opening at the Empress Theater with the usual matinee Monday will comprise an array of splendid vaudeville features, many which are doubtless known by reputation to local vaudeville lovers.

The first feature of the new bill will be found in Anna Buckley's Canine Wonders. These dogs show a high degree of intelligence and wonderful training and without any apparent direction, there being no one on the stage to guide them through

Mascal, Tarny and Gustin,

Three principals of the French Opera, at the Auditorium, whose work has been of first-class order in every performance in which they have been engaged. Mascal, indeed, possesses one of the most beautiful baritone voices ever heard in Los Angeles. He is here shown as Herod, in Massenet's "Herodiade." The photographs were taken for The Times by Mojonier.

DE PACHMANN THIS WEEK.

GREAT CHOPIN INTERPRETER AT AUDITORIUM.

As a Virtuoso He Stands Among the Greatest and as an Eccentric He Is Unexcelled—Programme Which He Will Present Here Has Fine Variety.

BY JULIAN JOHNSON.

Vladimir De Pachmann, certainly the most eccentric virtuoso in the world, and one of the greatest, will play at the Auditorium, Tuesday evening next.

His appearance necessitates the laying off of the French opera for that single evening.

De Pachmann is now 64 years old; he is independently wealthy—very wealthy, in fact, for, by investment, earnings and an inheritance recently received, he is worth a quarter of a million dollars; he is tired of travel, and in human probability, this will be his last American tournee.

His success on this trip has been very great. His piano playing has been hailed as possessing all the strength and grace of youth, and the ardor of youth, and its brilliance.

As a Chopin player I have never heard De Pachmann's equal, though in a single concert Lhevinne, in an entire Chopin programme, certainly scaled the outer battlement of greatness.

As a freak, I have never seen De Pachmann's superior, either. At Simpson Auditorium, I remember, an intently-listening lady in the front row pleased him immensely, and suddenly ceasing the nocturne through which he was strolling divinely, he turned around on his piano stool, and began the most amiable conversation imaginable. The great embarrassment of the unfortunate woman and the mirth of the audience may be imagined.

De Pachmann is a great technician, a humanitarian of the piano, and he can play other works than those of Chopin. His programme follows:

Sonata No. 9, A Major (Mozart;) Tema con variazioni, Menuetto, Alla Turca. Second: Ende von Lied; Op. 12, No. 8, F Major (Schumann;) Spinning Song, Op. 67, No. 4 (Mendelssohn; Menuet, Op. 17, G Major (Moszowski;) Rondo brillante, Op. 62, E Flat (Weber-Henselt.) Third: Nocturne Op. 27, No. 2, D Flat Major; Prelude Op. 27, No. 16, B Flat Minor; Impromptu, Op. 36, F Sharp Major; Etude Op. 10, No. 3, E Major; Mazurka Op. 67, No. 4, A Minor; Mazurka Op. 56, No. 2, C Major; Valse Brilliante Op. 34, A Flat (Chopin.)

Local Girl at Hub.

Miss Estelle Rubin of Los Angeles, who is studying in the New England Conservatory of Music, Boston, was prominent on the programme of a concert by advanced students of the conservatory, given on Wednesday, January 10. Miss Rubin was greeted with enthusiasm by the regular attendants at these popular concerts, and her rendering of Franz' "Maedchen mit dem Rothen Muedchen" and Schubert's "Ungeduld" was received with appreciation and applause.

Oskar Seiling.

Herr Oskar Seiling will be heard in recital on February 17 at the Friday Morning Club. He will play practically the same programme that Kubelik presented at the Auditorium, and—strange to say—Mr. Seiling's concert was postponed because it came in exact juxtaposition with the [illegible] affair. He will be assisted by [illegible] Woodmansee, pianist.

Vladimir De Pachmann,

A veteran pianist who, at sixty-four, is still one of the greatest pianistic interpreters in the world. He will play at the Auditorium Tuesday night.

Miss Jude in Recital.

Miss Frances Jude, violin [illegible] from London, will be heard in an introductory recital at Gamut Club Auditorium next Thursday evening, January 25. She was a pupil of the late Wilhelmj and also of [illegible] merman of Amsterdam. She is a prime favorite in the musical [illegible] of London, and is constantly in demand during "the season" for [illegible] musicales and drawing-room [illegible]

In the recital in this city she will have the assistance of Gertrude Ross, who will preside at the piano. The complete programme is given below: Sonata in C Minor, violin and piano [illegible] (Edward Grieg.) Allegro molto ed appassionato, Allegretto espressivo alla Romanza, Allegro animato; [illegible] "Ave Maria" (Schubert-Wilhelmj) "Moto Perpetuo" (F. Ries) [illegible] (Martini-Kreisler,) [illegible] Concerto E Major, Allegro [illegible] passionato, [illegible] (Mendelssohn;) [illegible] Scarda" (Hubay.)

Sibley G. Pease, organist of [illegible] M. E. Church, will give [illegible] Burlington [illegible] ular fortnightly recital [illegible] at 7:20, preceding the regular [illegible] ice. He will play "Prologue" [illegible] "Suite for Organ" (Reger;) [illegible] set." Op. 69 (Lemare,) and "Canzone Amorosa," Op. 25, No. 1 (Nevin.) The other numbers for the evening are "Traumerei" (Schumann,) and "March Pontificale" (de la Tombelle.)

At the morning service will be played "Notturno" from "Midsummer Night's Dream" (Mendelssohn,) "Ave Maria" (Schubert,) and "Prelude in D" (Archer.)

Miss Gladys Arend,

THE marriage yesterday afternoon in All Saints Church by the Sea, a picturesque little Episcopal edifice fashionable Montecito, of Miss Ka- Skiles Moulton and Henry Van Dyke of this city, one of the most brilliant events of the winter. The was well filled with guests the elite of larger Cali- cities and of Minneapolis, the of the bride.

The ceremony was performed by W. W. Moore, rector of the at 4:30 p.m. The church was decorated with lilies and white flowers with a generous of greenery, the color scheme white and green. The decora- made a wonderful setting.

Thirty minutes before the arrival of the bride and groom, Prof. Lewis rendered an impressive mu- programme on the sweet-toned organ, consisting of six selec- and as the bridal couple started the rose-strewn aisles started played the Lohengrin bridal

The bride was charming and beau- in a gown of embossed white vel- with a gorgeous lace veil. She also adorned with a magnificent array which her friends say were given to her by her grand-

The bride leaned on the arm of distinguished father who gave her at the altar. The impressive ring was used. The bride was also by Mrs. E. H. Moul- Jr., formerly of Minneapolis, but of Los Angeles. Dr. Edward Van of San Francisco, a brother of groom, was the best man while personal friends of the groom San Francisco and Los Angeles ushers.

the ceremony the bridal marched from the church to strains of Mendelssohn's beauti- wedding march and entering a were whilked away to the residence which had been decorated for the reception from 5 o'clock until 6:30 o'clock. The home was beautiful with myriads of flowers and other decorations in the great reception hall and artistically arranged within the huge sun parlor.

The reception was followed by a sumptuous wedding supper and a short time later the bride and groom departed on a train for a honeymoon of several weeks. They will not leave California, but would not divulge their itinerary. At the end of the tour they will return to Los Angeles where they will live at Hotel Darby.

Mr. and Mrs. Moulton, father and mother of the bride, also will pass the remainder of the winter at the Darby.

The bride is the beautiful and accomplished daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Moulton, of Minneapolis, Mr. Moulton being president of the Tri-State Telephone Company and said to be a multi-millionaire. He has vast personal interests in Minneapolis and is a director in many banks and other financial institutions.

Mrs. Van Dyke was a social favorite in her home city and since the announcement of her wedding day has been the recipient of innumerable beautiful and costly gifts from her Minneapolis friends as well as a large circle of friends in California whom she met during several winters she spent here. Her particular accomplishment is in art, having an enviable reputation as a portrait painter. She attended art schools in Paris, Rome and New York and became unusually proficient. She has, for the pleasure of it, painted many portraits of her friends.

Mr. Van Dyke is a prominent young lawyer practicing in this city. He is a son of the late Judge Walter Van Dyke of San Francisco who died in Oakland in 1905 while a member of the Supreme Court of California. During his life in this State Judge Van Dyke was a leader in political and legal circles and one of the most prominent men of the San Francisco bar.

The wedding was the culmination of a meeting at a social function given several years ago in Los Angeles. The bride and groom both admitting that it was a case of love at first sight.

When the date of the wedding was set, the Moultons, having spent many recent winters in California, decided it would be much pleasanter to have the ceremony performed in the sunny Southland than in the cold of their native State and a month ago went to Montecito and rented one of the handsomest residences for the winter.

The home is known as Montecito Park No. 3 being nestled among giant gnarled oaks and the beautiful flowers for which California is famous, a range of the Santa Ynez mountains being in the background and the placid Pacific Ocean immediately in the fore.

Brilliant Plans.

A brilliant military wedding is being planned by Miss Grace Mellus, who will be married the evening of February 7 at St. John's Church, to Lieutenant-Commander Samuel Brown Thomas. Miss Katherine Mellus will attend her sister as maid of honor and the two matrons will be Mrs. E. A. McCarthy and Mrs. Walter Miller Clark. The Misses Anne Patton, Katherine Banning and Olive Waring have been asked to serve as maids. The best man and ushers will be out-of-town friends of Lieutenant-Commander Thomas.

Between now and the nuptials Miss Mellus will be busy keeping engagements as her many friends are anxious to honor her.

Mrs. Leo Chandler has decided to give a luncheon for her on January 30 and Mrs. John P. Jones of Miramar, Santa Monica, will give a tea February 1, and the same day Mrs. Schuyler Cole of Colegrove will compliment the handsome young woman. A theater party and supper will have for its hostess that evening Mrs. Alesandro Bodrero, and February 2 Mrs. Hancock Banning will give a luncheon which will be followed by a tea given by Mrs. Joe Banning the next afternoon. February 3 Miss Anne Patton will be hostess at a dinner, and a breakfast the next day at the Country Club will be presided over by Mrs. W. S. Hook, Jr. Mrs. E. Avery McCarthy will give a tea at the Country Club that afternoon and on February 5 Mrs. Walter Miller Clark has planned a dinner at the California Club.

Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Gouber of Cincinnati are making the Alexandria their home during the winter months. Mrs. Gouber is a social favorite of the Ohio city.

Clemans-Maurer Wedding.

A surprise to many of their friends will be the marriage of Miss Garnette Ruth Clemans and Albert G. Maurer. The wedding took place last Tuesday at high noon and only the immediate relatives knew the secret of the young people.

Miss Clemans is the only daughter of Mrs. Emma J. Clemans of this city. She is a beautiful brunette and has a host of friends in this city and San Francisco.

The wedding took place at the home of the groom's sister, Mrs. C. H. Scott, of Pasadena. The couple stood under a canopy of green finished in white tulle. Rev. C. H. Scott, brother-in-law of the groom, officiated. After the ceremony dinner was served in the dining-room, which was beautifully ornamented for the occasion in pink and white. Cecile Bruner roses and lilies of the valley made a pretty centerpiece for the table. Place cards of the same dainty floral combination marked the plates.

Miss Clemans wore a suit of dark blue cloth with waist of dark blue chiffon over hand-embroidered marquisette, trimmed in baby Irish. She carried a bouquet of Cecile Bruner roses and lilies of the valley.

The young people are visiting the northern cities at present and will be at home after February 1 at No. 711 Westlake avenue. Mr. Maurer is a teller in the National Bank of California.

Whist Club.

Mrs. I. Lavine of Spence street entertained members of the Amity Whist Club. Luncheon was served and later cards were enjoyed. Tables were arranged for Mrs. G. W. Bailey, Mrs. G. W. Secola, Mrs. Clarence O. Edwards, Mrs. Glen Covington, Mrs. J. Fablin, Mrs. Louis Culver, and Mrs. Rodney Santee. Prizes fell to Mrs. R. L. Santee and Mrs. Covington. The next meeting will be held at the residence of Mrs. Santee on West Twenty-first street.

Informal Reception.

The bungalow home of Mrs. Maude L. Lake on South Rita street, Huntington Park, was the scene of a pleasant reception given as a courtesy to Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Hooper, who were recently married. Poinsettias were used to brighten the home, together with carnations and lilies. Pretty boxes containing wedding cake marked places at the collation served following dancing. Los Angeles guests present included Mrs. Lucian Rose, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. J. Rose, Mrs. Scott, Miss Emma Lenkfeld, Miss Constance Hood, Miss Charlotte McReynolds, Miss Nelle Hawes, Clyde Cate, Mrs. Alfred Cate, Glenn Broome and W. Erkens.

Mrs. Cole Hostess.

At the residence of Mrs. W. H. Cole, No. 1109 Magnolia avenue, Wednesday afternoon, a pleasant song recital was given by Miss Butler. An afternoon with early Italian and French composers was enjoyed.

Miss Dick Hostess.

Miss Jane Dick of No. 1207 West Forty-first street entertained with an afternoon party recently complimentary to Miss Grace Todd of Glendale, announcement of whose engagement to Jesse Holman was made at that time. The hostess was assisted by her sister and daughter, Mrs. W. T. Dick and Miss Lillian Dick.

Miss Baker to Leave.

Miss Lois Baker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Milo M. Baker of Westlake avenue, who has been enjoying the Christmas vacations, returned to her studies at Stanford, last week

Interesting House Guest.

Mrs. Barr Home.

Mrs. Wesley M. Barr of No. 5356 Abbott place who, with her little daughter, has been spending the holidays in Galesburg, Pa., has returned to her home in Highland Park.

Roberts-Allen Wedding.

Miss Barbara Allen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Randolph Allen, was married Monday evening at 6 o'clock to Harry Allen Roberts, at Christ's Episcopal Church, Rev. Baker P. Lee performing the ceremony. Allen Crary represented Mr. Roberts as his best man. The bride had no attendant and was given away by her father. The bride, who is a beautiful girl, was married in her traveling gown, a violet tailor-made suit with hat and gloves to match. She attended school at Smith College in the East, and is a graduate of Marlborough in this city. She was formerly from Aurora, having lived in this city about two years, and has recently returned from a trip abroad. After the ceremony the wedding party had dinner at the Alexandria. A great mound of American Beauty roses graced the center of the table, and corsage bouquets of the same flowers were used as favors. The young couple left on the Lark for San Francisco, Portland, Seattle, Chicago and New York City, and after April 1 will be at home to their friends at the Chicago Beach Hotel.

San Diego Gossip.

Perhaps the most brilliant social function scheduled for the winter season was the fancy dress ball given at the U. S. Grant Hotel, Friday evening, by the Benedicts, an organization of young married men of social and club life. It was the most exclusive society event of the season, 300 invitations being issued. Many San Diego society women imported costumes especially for this occasion. Besides dancing in the main ball room of the hotel, numerous small supper parties were provided for in the reception and extra dining-rooms adjoining the ball room.

The patronesses included: Mrs. Frank P. Allen, Mrs. Griffing Bancroft, Mrs. F. J. Belcher, Mrs. Rex B. Clark, Mrs. Warren Crouse, Mrs. Wilmot Griffis, Mrs. George Frost, Mrs. E. C. Hickman, Mrs. Jerauld Ingle, Mrs. Clifford Payson, Mrs. H. H. Jones, Mrs. L. C. Masten, Mrs. Homer Oatman, Mrs. Joseph Sefton, Jr., Mrs. Claus Spreckels, Mrs. H. W. Sumption,

Remarkable Sale of Dress Goods and Silks

SILK VALUES $1.00 to $1.50 at 65c
1500 Yards

WOOLENS $1.25 to $3.00 at 95c
2600 Yards

Tomorrow we start the biggest, the most sensational sale of Dress Materials we have ever announced. Not only the most interesting in point of style, variety and assortments, but bigger in values offered—in savings to be effected. We are reducing our stocks to prepare for Spring lines. Prices have been cut without thought of profit or even cost. Of course you will be on hand to share in this economy event.

The Woolens at 95c yd.

2600 yards of high-class woolen goods, nearly 200 pieces, ranging from five to fifteen yards each, being broken lines of the season's best woolens for suits, dresses, coats and waists. Every class from the thin, sheer embroidered voiles to the heavy mannish suitings. Plaids, checks, stripes and an endless collection of novelty mixtures. About every wanted color and color combination you can think of. In the lot are a few pieces of $1.50 goods and fewer still at $1.25. The great majority were originally priced $2.00 and up, with many actual $3.00 values. Widths from 44 to 54 inches. Choice of the entire lot Monday, 95c yd.

Fancy Silks 65c yd.

1500 yards of fancy taffetas, messalines and other fashion-favored weaves in styles and color schemes expressly adapted to street or afternoon gowns, waists, petticoats, tailored suits and every other purpose for which fancy silks may be used. These are not remnants, remember, simply broken lines. In the lot are more $1.25 values than anything else, with some $1.00 and some $1.50 goods. Choice 65c yd. But we warn you to come early to get best picking.

You May Have a Better Figure Than Your Corset Brings Out

Thousands of women have made that discovery since they adopted the Modart. It's the one corset that brings out every improvable feature of the figure. Improved Principle of Front Lacing is the secret.

MODART CORSETS
"THE IMPROVED FRONT LACED"

Your figure has individuality; so should your corset. One fitting of the Modart will demonstrate to you just how perfectly it adapts itself to the graceful lines of nature.

Drop in tomorrow and see the new models for 1912. No obligations to buy. —Third Floor—

First Display of Spring Millinery

Forerunners of the coming Millinery styles are now making their appearance, and they are interesting, to say the least.

Tailored effects, Straws and Flower trimmed creations that breathe the air of Springtime—of Easter. Shapes for the conservative dresser or the extremist. And prices are so modest that the most economical may wear a Blackstone model. —Second Floor—

All Dresses and Wraps 1-2 to 1-4 Off

This week it will be possible to secure the most exclusive creations in street and evening dresses and wraps at a bona fide saving of from 25 to 50 per cent. SOCIETY.

San Francisco. Covers were laid for eight.

Mrs. S. Markham Hamilton of Palmetto drive entertained a few friends informally at luncheon Thursday, at her new home.

Mrs. J. H. Henry of West California street gave a small bridge luncheon Thursday in honor of Mrs. Laura K. Thomas of Los Angeles.

Mrs. Frank Ogilvy Wood and Miss Ransome of North Grand avenue each entertained with two tables of bridge at the Valley Hunt Club Monday, at the regular weekly afternoon at home day, and there were seven other tables of bridge and five hundred arranged. Mrs. Joseph B. Durand presided over the tea cups, and, there being more than fifty present, tea was served in the dining-room.

Mrs. C. A. Dietrich of Harkness avenue announces the engagement of her daughter, Elizabeth Dietrich, and Dr. Harry Wilbert de Ponth of Paterson, N. J., the wedding to occur next autumn.

Mr. and Mrs. Lon F. Chapin, formerly of West California street, but now living at Rialto, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Alice May Chapin, and Clarence Sherman Fry of Riverside.

Mrs. D. W. Perry, formerly Miss Maud Mates, was the recipient Monday of a shower of useful articles arranged by Mrs. Wesley Boyd, at her home, on North Catalina avenue. There were forty guests present, each bringing some article for kitchen or household use, and refreshments were served after the fun of opening the parcels.

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Mahan of South Marengo avenue announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Margaret Mahan, and Phillip Senour of Oakland avenue. Mrs. Mahan and daughter, whose home is in Chicago, spend their winters here, and after the marriage, the date for which is not yet set, the young couple will reside here.

Mrs. George Arthur Vedder, who has recently returned from her wedding trip to Honolulu, and is at her home on Palmetto drive, will have the first and second Fridays in February as her formal at home days.

Monday evening Mrs. A. E. McCord of South Lake avenue entertained with a dinner party where covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Kelley of New York, Mrs. George A. Jones of Pittsburgh, Mr. and Mrs. William Grassie of Pasadena and Miss McCready.

Miss Arena Beal of Parke street arranged a pleasant surprise Monday evening celebrating her twenty-second anniversary of the marriage of her parents. Those present at the party planned were Mr. and Mrs. Kinsly, Mr. and Mrs. Talbot, Mr. and Mrs. Cunningham, Mr. and Mrs. Bowers, Mr. and Mrs Chapman, Mr. and Mrs. Creller, Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Nay, Mr. and Mrs. D. W. March and Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Donoyer.

The date for the annual Charity Ball has been set for Thursday evening, February 15, and will be held as usual at Hotel Maryland. Mrs. H. Page Warden is chairman of the Committee of Arrangements.

Mrs. Charles H. Ward of South Marengo avenue entertained a number of friends who form the Pittsburgh Club Wednesday afternoon with five hundred. The prizes were won by Mmes. F. B. Cole and H. J. Batchelder. Others present were Mmes. J. S. Nichols, Herman Reamer, Antoinette Skelton, F. C. Coombs, H. G. McCracken, E. R. Miller, George Collis, William Wicker, Paul Roth, G. H. Forester, O. L. Blachley, Misses Hawker, Behmler, Norton, Evans, Kitty McCracken and Miller.

Miss Esther Nichols entertained Friday evening at her home on North Los Robles avenue with an informal dance given in honor of her house guests, Miss Clara Norton of Chicago and Misses Lydia and Minnie Preusser of Waterbury, Ct. There were forty present.

Rev. and Mrs. George M. Morrison entertained at their home on North Raymond avenue Wednesday with a dinner complimentary to Miss Hortense E. Lawrence of Montreal, Canada. Covers were laid also for Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Lawrence, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Lawrence and A. J. Messenger, who is soon to wed the guest of honor.

Annandale Country Club was the scene last evening of a large dinner dance and among those who entertained friends at dinner were Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Goodyear, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Coulston, Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Charles N. Post, J. C. Brainerd, Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Murray, Thomas Norton, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Lindman, Mrs. Gertrude Carrier, Mrs. Mayndard Force Thayer, Frank M. Baker and many others.

W. P. Phillips and J. B. Lewis, Cambridge University men, gave a bachelor tea at their bungalow on Maylin street Sunday afternoon, which was enjoyed by Mr. and Mrs. Ernest H. May, Crawford May, Mrs. Andrew Jamieson, Miss Margaret Jamieson, Mrs. B. M. Wotkyns, Judge and Mrs. Spikes, Misses Martin, Ross, Struve, Greenelee and Cheney, Dr. J. M. Radebaugh, Huntington Barker, J. H. Stevens and several others.

Miss Marjorie Bolt, whose engagement was recently announced, will be the guest of honor at several small functions next week, the largest being a bridge party given by Mrs Benjamin O. Williams of West California street, Thursday afternoon.

Miss Elizabeth Stehman, eldest daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Henry B. Stehman, who has been in the East for many months, arrived home Tuesday, accompanied by her uncle, John Miller of Redding, who is visiting at the Stehman home on South Grand avenue.

TO fulfill a judgment brought against Mr. and Mrs. John D. Reavis by the members of the Fun Club at their last meeting, when they were tried for being absent, and found guilty, and ordered to entertain the club within thirty days, they gave a "Home Builders" party Friday evening, at their home, No. 1102 Fair Oaks avenue. The affair was "apropos," as their home is being remodelled. Invitations written on builders paper and enclosed in a paper sack, requested the gentlemen to come in overalls with nails in their pockets and a hammer, with a red bandana around their necks, their wives to have on gingham dresses, white aprons, a sunbonnet on their heads, with a clean three-pound lard pail in their hand, for which they were given a check, as they entered. Later when they redeemed their pail, they found it filled with a workman's luncheon, for two, with coffee served in tin cups. The floors were covered with sawdust, and buck saws placed around. Contests were planned in which all present drove nails, sawed lumber and drew designs for a home, for which prizes were awarded. Signs on the wall: "No Smoking," "No Expectorating," "Workmen's Lunch Room, Coffee 5 Cents," "No One Allowed in Here" etc. Members present were Mr. and Mrs. William Axtman, Mr. and Mrs. George Adams, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Whitmore, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Marsh, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Newerf, Mr. and Mrs. A. Newerf, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Huntington, Mr. and Mrs. George Bush, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gortner and Dr. and Mrs. L. O. Wilcoxin. The evening's entertainment concluded with a Virginia Reel, with an old Down South plantation negro playing on the violin.

Mrs. E. L. B. Godfrey and Mrs. Marcus Godfrey have issued invitations for a reception to be given Tuesday afternoon, January 30, from 2 until 5, at No. 1139 Mound avenue.

Complimentary to their brother and sister, Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Beardslee of Chicago, who are their house guests for the winter, Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Blatner, entertained with a five hundred party last evening at their home, No. 817 Brent avenue. The perfume of violets filled the rooms where the card tables were arranged and the elaborate refreshments served, as these flowers, combined with asparagus, fern, were used in a most artistic decoration. Those invited to meet the honored guests were Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Dalton, Mrs. L. Kall, Dr. A. Skinner, Dr. L. Moore of Chicago, Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Grant, Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Ritchie, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Collins, Mr. and Mrs. William Bradshaw, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Brasier, Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Bryant, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel McDonald, Mrs. Clara McDonald, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Ward, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Tower, Miss Greer and Miss Lillian Grant of this city; Mr. and Mrs. Allen Grant, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. Burt Beverly, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Monroe of Los Angeles, and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Munger, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Waterman, Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Harland and Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Hill, of Pasadena.

Mrs. P. Holmes Updike and little daughter, No. 1941 Huntington drive, have returned from a two months' eastern trip, accompanied by her husband's father and sister, who will be their guests for the winter. For the present they are domiciled at the Hotel Virginia, Long Beach.

Mrs. O. B. Manchester, the president, and Mrs. John Doyle, the past president of the P.E.O., entertained Friday evening at the home of the former, No. 2003 Milan avenue, complimentary to the B.I.L.'s, their husbands. A huge bowl of narcissus and ferns graced the center of the dining-room table, and the artistic decoration in the living room carried out the same color scheme of yellow and white, while in the den dainty pink roses were utilized. The gentlemen when initiated into the B.I.L.'s acquitted themselves to the satisfaction of the ladies, and were presented at the close of the ceremony an engraved leather badge especially prepared for the occasion. These were to be worn to distinguish them as a reception committee for the charity ball that the chapter is planning to give the evening of February 13. After the elaborate refreshments were served, they all gathered around the piano, Miss Kohl as accompanist, and sang old-fashioned songs. John Stick, an attorney, rendered himself famous in the annals of the B.I.L. history by repeating the following classic:

"Mary had a little lamb,
It sat upon a shelf,
And every time it wagged its tail,
It spanked its little self."

Those invited were the P.E.O. and their husbands, Mr. and Mrs. George Adams, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Bradshaw, Miss Evans and Miss Frances Evans, Mr. and Mrs. George Fleer, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Palmer of Gardena, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Stephens, Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Tallerday, Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Woodruff, Mr. and Mrs. P. Holmes Updike, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Levitt, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Carver, Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Bishop, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Bingham, Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Ritchie, Mr. and Mrs. John Stick, Dr. and Mrs. William Bebb, Miss Ethel Stong, Miss Viola Kohl, John W. Doyle, Otis Byers Manchester and Mr. and Mrs. Sexton of Alhambra.

Mrs. Walter Raymond has issued invitations for an "at home" to be given Wednesday afternoon, January 24, at the Raymond Hotel, between the hours of 3 and 6.

Dr. and Mrs. E. B. Godfrey of Mound avenue, charmingly entertained with a dinner of ten covers at their home last Sunday. Included were Dr. and Mrs. W. W. Beckett of Los Angeles, Dr. F. C. Mattison and Miss Mattison of Pasadena, Dr. and Mrs. C. W. Pierce of Glendale, and Dr. and Mrs. Charles Lewis Allen of this city.

Mrs. John Chilcote entertained the members of the Knockers' Club, at her home on Fremont avenue, Wednesday afternoon with a thimble party. A profusion of marguerites arranged in baskets and vases adorned the large living and dining-rooms. The afternoon was spent with dainty fancy work, and at the close of same, refreshments were served. Members present were Mrs. Roy Stephens, Mrs. George Binder, Mrs. Alice Keith, and Miss Lelia Hart.

Mrs. Charles Rhone of Monterey street entertained informally Thursday evening with a bridge party. Included were Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Gifford, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Balfour, Mr. and Mrs. Preston Plumb, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Levitt, and Mr. and Mrs. John Cave.

Mrs. W. R. Albre, who has been the guest of Mrs. A. T. Gilbert, No. 411 El Centro street, has returned to her home in Redondo.

The first meeting since November of the Tuesday Afternoon Thimble Club occurred at the home of Mrs. T. I. Gifford, No. 1119 Fair Oaks avenue. Dainty pink rose buds were used to enliven the artistic living-room, and a large Japanese basket filled with marguerites, ornamented the center of the table in the dining-room. Miss Florence Gifford assisted her mother. Present were Mrs. Rebecca Cairns, Mrs. Henry A. Perkins, Mrs. A. Hoffman, Mrs. Noble Harter, Mrs. E. N. Grant, Mrs. Samuel Custer, Mrs. John Moore, Mrs. L. Parmelee, Mrs. S. Fernandez, and Mrs. E. L. B. Godfrey.

Mrs. John Moore, who has been the house guest of her son and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Moore in El Centro since December, has returned to her home, No. 1704 Ramona avenue.

Mrs. Fletcher V. Taylor, No. 2043 Milan avenue had as luncheon guests Tuesday, Mr. and Mrs. John R. Cook and daughter, Miss Ella Cook, of Columbus, O., who are spending the winter with their son, John S. Cook of Los Angeles.

THE palatial home of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver H. Hicks on The Heights was on Wednesday afternoon the scene of a very handsomely appointed auction bridge party given by Mrs. Hicks in compliment to Miss Marian Clark of New York, who is spending the season with Mrs. A. Hornby. Following the bridge, for which several handsome prizes were awarded, the ladies pivoting, a number of others came in for tea and a social half hour. The rooms were handsomely decorated in roses, violets and hyacinths.

Miss Margaret Nordhoff entertained with a luncheon on Wednesday afternoon in compliment to Miss

Women's Shoes and Oxfords---A Big Clean-up of Lines That Were $3.50, $4.00 and $5.00---Now $1.50

True that on some of them we've put $2.45 and $1.95 prices before — but even these were considered exceptional for the values are far beyond. Now for a big day at $1.50!

Because the many lots have dwindled down to a few sizes or kinds of one model. These we have grouped in one big lot—making perhaps 1500 pairs all told. It will be the bargain event of the day for shoes.

To those wearing small sizes and narrow widths we call particular attention to the fact that they can secure many notable makes in high-grade shoes, pumps and Oxfords—but almost every size is to be found in the lot.

It certainly is a time to lay in a supply of Summer footwear—it will mean the reduction of your shoe bill later. But the styles are good for now, as well as for later in the season. Be among the first here Monday.

Burbank.

OF ESPECIAL interest during the past week was the literary and musical entertainment given by the members of the Chamber of Commerce to their many invited friends Tuesday evening, in the I.O.F. Hall.

Miss Elsie Ludlow was at home Saturday afternoon to the girls of the Fleur de Lis Club, at her home, on Providence avenue. Needlework passed away the early part of the afternoon, after which dainty refreshments were served by the hostess.

Mrs. Lottie Burlingame of San Luis Rey, who has been visiting friends for the past week, returned to her home Thursday..

Mr. and Mrs. Downing of Portland visited the first of the week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Groshong of Angeline street.

Anaheim.

ONE of the biggest masquerade balls ever held in this city is being planned to be given January 25, by the Concordia Singing Society of Anaheim. Four prizes are to be given to those representing the characters best that they chose. Everyone must mask, as no one will be admitted to the ballroom that is not masked. From the present outlook it will be one of the largest-attended affairs that has been given in Anaheim. The funds realized will go to help build the Concordia Clubhouse on South Los Angeles street.

The contest which has been running by members of the local Ebell Club closed this week and the losing side will give a 1 o'clock luncheon to the winning side and to all new members secured during the membership contest, February 3, in the I.O.O.F. Hall.

The local Odd Fellows will install the newly-elected officers Tuesday evening and the occasion will also mark the fortieth anniversary of the organization of this lodge in this city. The few remaining charter members will be present and an old-fashioned jollification will be a special feature during the evening's programme, and a banquet will close the festivities.

The G.R.C. class of the Presbyterian Sunday-school held an interesting meeting in the Sunday-school rooms Friday afternoon. The class consists of twelve girls from the ages of 13 to 15, their teacher being Mrs. Herbert Johnston. They are sewing calico squares together in which a quilt will be formed and the quilt will be given to an orphans' home next Christmas. After an hour's pleasant sewing dainty refreshments were served.

Ontario.

THE MASONIC TEMPLE was the scene of a delightful party Thursday evening when the Fortnightly Club entertained at dancing. Coming as a complete surprise was the announcement of the club's president, Clarence E. Christensen, that this being the first club party of 1912, it had been decided to make it a Leap Year dance. The women were thus given the opportunity to fill the programmes and look up their partners, the change proving to be a delightful innovation. Punch was served off the ballroom throughout the evening and music was furnished by the Venetian Troubadours of Los Angeles. Those present included Mr. and Mrs. Robert Henderson McMann, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Lester Ray Kennedy, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Henderson Ripple, Mr. and Mrs. Harry N. Petch, Mr. and Mrs. Jay Holbrook, Mr. and Mrs. George Gaylord Watson, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hamer Dilworth, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Holmes Richardson, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Hugo Mertz, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence E. Miss Jessie Chaffin and Albert Chaffin entertained a number of their friends Thursday evening at their home on West Fifth street. The evening was spent at guessing games, Ernest Hanson and Frank Allen capturing the prizes. The guests included Miss Myrtle McNay, Miss Laura Mayhew, Miss Marie Rowe, Miss Alice Spies, Miss Mildred Clapp, Miss Whitney, Miss Louise Smith, Miss Helen Stella Purdy, Miss Cora Briggs, Miss Ada Hanson, Eugene Mayhew, Arthur Squires, Curtis Clausen, Roy Clausen, Fred Siemon, Fritz Loba, William Mack, Ernest Hanson, Richard Manley, Gordon Whyte, Frank Allen and Maurice Clapp.

A pleasant surprise was planned and successfully carried out Thursday evening on L. G. Wilson by his wife. The evening was spent at old-fashioned square dancing and towards its close a collation was served. The guests included Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Blazer, Mr. and Mrs. R. Van Buren, Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Moran, Mr. and Mrs. H. Sadler, Mrs. A. D. Mitchell, Miss Jennie Davidson, Miss Maude Greenhalgh, Ray Turnbaugh, Virgil Buchanan, Clarence Sadler, A. Armstrong and D. Davidson.

Mrs. George Gaylord Watson charmingly entertained at bridge Tuesday afternoon. Potted ferns and blossoms added to the attractiveness of the house. Three tables were used in the play. The prizes were captured by Miss Ala Ballou and Mrs. Ralph Earl Lester Ray Kennedy, Mrs. Lewis Hugo Mertz, Mrs. Paul Wright Nichols, Mrs. Byron P. Glenn, Mrs. Earl B. Williams, Mrs. Frank T. DeArman, Mrs. Charles Pierce Fuller, Mrs. Albert Jay Hall, Mrs. Edwin Cramer, Mrs. Ralph Earl Ashley. The guests included Mrs. Ashley, Mrs. Peter Thatcher, Jr., and Miss Ala Ballou.

Miss Mary Goss entertained at bridge Wednesday afternoon. Fragrant blossoms adorned the house and a tempting luncheon was served. Those present included Miss Frieda Graettinger, Miss Winifred Smith, Miss Torrey Pike, Miss Maude Gerry, Miss Dean Parke, Miss Minnie Hubbell and Mrs. Lester Ray Kennedy.

The Camaraderie Club at its annual meeting in its new quarters in the Ontario National Bank building Wednesday night chose the following officers for the coming year: President, Clarence E. Christensen; vice-president, Lester R. Kennedy; secretary, J. Stewart Ingalls; directors, William W. Hodgkins, Wells T. Ross; Membership Committee, Morris M. Taylor, Lenard J. Frankish and Robert H. McMann, Jr. Finance Committee, G. Gaylord Watson, Otto S. Roen, W. Frank Blaikie. H. E. Pheysey was appointed house entertainment and the Entertainment Commitee for the coming month includes Harold H. Taylor, Darwin G. Graettinger and W. Starbuck Fenton. Three new members were taken in, Herbert I. Ross, Roy L. Henry and C. Crombie Allen.

Colton.

COLTON CHAPTER No. 211, Order Eastern Star entertained the Worthy Grand Matron, Mrs. Lena W. Stannard of Los Angeles Thursday evening, at a meeting of the Star in Masonic Hall. Following the work, which included initiation, Mrs. Stannard was guest of honor at a splendid banquet served in the banquet hall, which was beautifully decorated for the occasion with violets and smilax. Mrs. Stannard was presented with a hand-painted china plate. The evening was concluded with dancing.

Mrs. E. A. Pettijohn entertained with a 6 o'clock dinner, Wednesday evening, in honor of her guests, Mrs. M. Sloane and daughter, Miss Edith Sloane of Los Angeles. The guests included old friends, Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Spring, Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Van Luven and son, Donald, Mrs. Sloane, Miss Sloane and Mrs. Pettijohn and children.

The Entre Nous Club enjoyed the second dance of the season, Saturday evening, in Masonic Hall.

Mrs. T. S. Hampton was tendered a dinner Friday, at her home on Hermosa Terrace, in celebration of her seventy-fourth birthday anniversary. The guests included Mrs. Hampton, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Hargrove of Orange, Misses Fanny, Emma and Rowena Hampton.

Tropico.

THE social event of the past week was the joint installation of officers-elect of N. P. Banks Post and the auxiliary, N. P. Banks Woman's Relief Corps, at G.A.R. Hall. Preceding the installation ceremonies a dinner was served at the noon hour, when 150 veterans, members of the corps and friends from Los Angeles, San Pedro and Santa Monica enjoyed the hospitality of the ladies

Magnificent Showing of SUITS, DRESSES
and MILLINERY
the City's Most Authoritative Exhibit of
SPRING STLYES

The NEW YORK STORE'S First Spring Showing is by all means the most brilliant assemblage of women's apparel ever displayed in Los Angeles—expressing to the very highest degree the NEW YORK STORE'S splendid reputation for master workmanship and correct style.

The SUITS are chiefly remarkable for their wonderful variety, newer beauty in line and undreamed-of richness in colorings and fabrics. The predominating colors are grays, tans and blues in their varying shades. Special prominence is given the new Bengaline silks, which are shown in a wide assortment of colors and models.

One of the strongest notes of the Spring fashions is the unusual display of LINGERIE DRESSES shown at the NEW YORK STORE. These garments attain a grace and distinction of line that will mark them popular favorites the season through.

The MILLINERY salon exhibits models that were picked and chosen by a connoisseur from the jealously guarded creations that are available only to the chosen few. Prominent in this display is a wide line of Gage and Burgesser strictly tailored hats, in the new styles, made up in a wealth of new designs. Then there is an interesting exhibit of flexible auto hats, which will create a real sensation, and a very beautiful line of flower-trimmed effects, which is fairly dazzling in its brilliancy.

The NEW YORK STORE'S first Spring display again demonstrates our undisputed leadership in the Los Angeles fashion world—a display of vital interest and new evidence of the authority of the NEW YORK STORE in matters of dresses. You are invited to view this exhibit tomorrow.

Mill Remnant Sale

132,733 Yards Mill Remnants Joined With Factory Ends, Samples and Surplus Lots-- Beginning Monday Until Balance of Month

—Twice a year we hold these Mill Remnant Sales, and twice a year we search the markets of the country to secure the most desirable lots of loom ends, mill remnants, factory surplus and sample lots to combine in this great sale event. We want you to read the headline in which we give you the yardage of the Mill Remnants alone. There is a tremendous amount of merchandise involved, and yet the prices are so advantageous that thousands of Los Angeles women will lay in their supply for months to come. One Feature alone includes

95,961 Yds. Wash Goods and Domestics

—A Mill Remnant, while too short for regular selling in the mill, may in many cases be just the length you need.
—Nothing that we might say regarding this event could influence you more than the merchandise itself, and filled, as this great announcement is, with enticing values, it really cannot do justice to the event.
—Not all the good things will be featured the first day. New lots will be coming forward as the sale advances. This sale is to cover nine days of merchandising—beginning on the 22d and ending the last of the month. Read every item carefully. Perhaps some of the best items may be in the smallest print.

Yes, They're Here, the Very First Masterpieces of Fashion
The Most Bewitching Styles that Ever a Spring Has Seen

—The Buds are swelling
—Soon the first pink of the blossoms will come peeping through;—and the hills will be soft-carpeted with velvet mats of tender green; and—

—In the Springtime there is much to be done
—The enthusiasm of Southern California is in the air—an inspiration.
It is to be a year of accomplishment—of opportunities grasped—of services improved—of growth and development for Bullock's that mean a better store for you—
—And the plans—(?)
—But of them more anon.

New Jewelry LaVallieres 50c

—Dainty La Vallieres, with sparkling silver pendants and settings that flash back the radiance of the sun like diamonds, or rival the beauty, the purity of pearls—

—Fine linked chains—

—And La Vallieres are to be thought much of by Fashion this spring. That's one reason why interest will be great in these new creations at 50c.

Referring to Bullock's—

From Facts, Features Fancies.—Times, 1-17-12.

[illegible] From Paris.

[illegible] as I paid a visit to one of the most interesting counters in one of the Broadway stores—that counter where they have for sale those pretty [illegible] flower novelties for neck and [illegible]—my eyes were fairly dazzled by the array of new articles from Paris. The Juliette head dresses, especially, are the handsomest I have seen. One which the fair-haired girl at the counter donned, just to show how it went, was so charming on her pretty head that I wished myself an artist that I might put the picture upon canvas. The head dress was of white baroque pearls and some giant pearls of the same [illegible] set in a novel fashion. It is [illegible] to describe such things—but take a look at them when you pass that way. Another similar head dress was of baroques in antique or tarnished gilt. There is something adorable about baroques—the indentation always seems to me as though a baby's tooth had passed there."

—The New Novelties in Jewelry are extremely beautiful—and individual—and to be seen only at Bullock's.

Serge—the Great New Suiting in Silk 75c yd.

—It's a surprise—a big surprise. Last Spring gave us an inkling, but we have never had such practical beauty in silks for street wear as these new 1912 serges are showing. Mannish as can be—Diagonal twill effects with white and black stripes—some very tiny, some larger——And to think that the man sold it to us so we can sell it in turn to you at 75c yd. He didn't know the victory he had won in his creation. He does know now, and his looms are working overtime to fill the demand at a higher price—Buy silk serge Monday at Bullock's, 75c yard.

The Display of Silk, Monday will be Fairly Dazzling in its Brilliancy

26-inch Silk Serges at $1.00—In Brown (light and dark); Navy, Alice, Copenhagen and nearly every shade of the rainbow. Then there are stripes in ever so many combinations.

Foulards in a wonderful variety at 85c, $1.00 and $1.25 yd. Cheney Bros.' famous silks.

Yard Wide Black Messaline $1.00—A startling value—a black silk of weight and character unequaled at $1.00 yard.

"Worthmore" Taffeta $1.00 yd.—It's yard wide—and can be found at Bullock's.

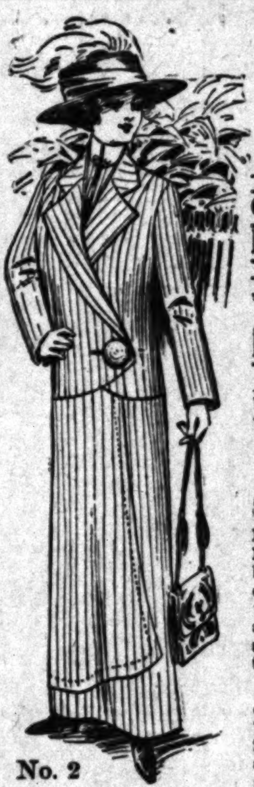
No. 1



No. 2

—Some of them in a window today.

—But the great number of them still remain comfortably on the 2nd floor—planning and preparing their reception to women Monday.

—Oh! how they do like Southern California after the Icicles of the East——And how Southern California Women will like them—Suits and Dresses.

And Coats—Not like any that have been shown before—nor like any that will be seen elsewhere now—

—Individual, Becoming, Rich in Springtime Beauty—
—Weaves of Linen and Repp and Wool—
—Modes almost in Advance of the Hour.

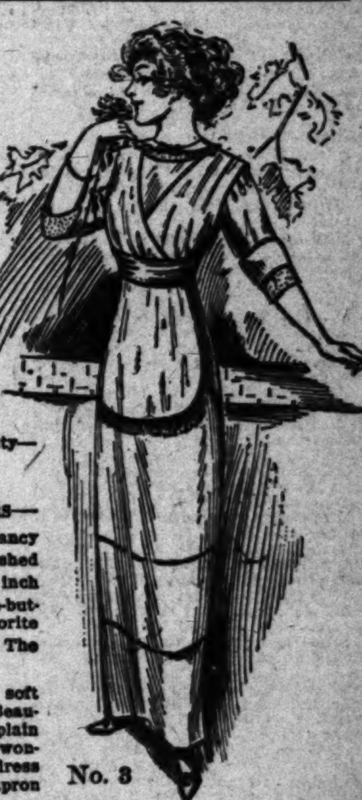
The pictures show three of the Fashions—

No. 1—A suit of Austrian Linen in white — with black satin collar and cuffs embroidered in white. A 5-button cutaway style — with cutaway skirt — approaching the ultra.

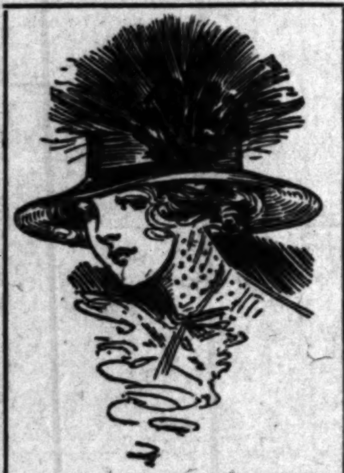
—A coat of gray braided cheviot has the new "caught-up" front, a daring innovation. The collar and cuffs of white French serge — The buttons of white. New! New! New!

No. 2—A suit of fancy serge, with distinguished "woven-in lines"—one inch apart. Note the one-button fastening—a favorite of 1912's Springtime. The new gray tan.

No. 3—A dress of soft taffeta in American Beauty shade — almost plain lines—except for the wonderful slip over the dress blouse—of net with apron panel. Very new.



No. 3



One of the new Bullock Hats—Exact Drawing.

The New Hats Are Irresistible

—The very first styles of spring-time are pretty as can be—different—winning. Every one with some point of individuality that makes it charming.

—Visit the 2nd floor salons Monday. See how wonderfully deft fingers have taken straws, and braids, and light, airy trimmings and "with a touch here, another there, and then just a wave of the hand" —changed them into beautiful Hats.

—It's to be Bullock's for Millinery again this Spring.

—See the window today.

—Women are coming to Bullock's for the new silks because they have learned to look to Bullock's for the New Silks First and they have confidence that the silks that are here are right—

Skinner's Satin at $1.00 Yard

—Skinner's Satin—yard wide—perfect in every respect and in full bolts. Name on selvage, of course. None to dealers. You understand why we say "none to dealers and a limit of 6 yards to a customer at $1.00 yard."

Four Pieces of Cream Serge to Fly Away at 75c

—It's a great big value, because of little Bits of Imperfections in the weave—46-inch Cream Serge—that sells for—well, what would you expect to pay for a 46-inch Cream Serge? And 4 pieces will not be enough for those who will want to share it—75c yd.

Hundreds of Yards New Cream Goods A Great Cream Season Dawning

—Few stores have specialized so resultfully —few stores were fortunate enough to foresee condition until looms were working overtime and crowded for months in advance. It's hard to get cream goods now—it's easy to buy them at Bullock's.

—Whipcords, 42-inch, $1.25; 43-inch, $1.50; 54-inch, $2.00, $2.25 and $2.50 yard.

Navy Blue

—the royal shade in Dress Goods is here in exceptional variety now.

An 85c Serge

—is extremely uncommon. Another at $1.00—and 54-inch serge at $1.25 are equally attractive.

—quality is the feature we emphasize in Dress Goods.

New Gray Suitings will go forward Monday, $1.35 and $1.50 yard.

—Then there are Suits of Pure Linen Corded Crash—and Whip Cord—the Queen of Woolens for Spring. A weave notable for holding its shape—represented in tan and brown and sandstone gray; and other Woolens. See them on the 2nd floor, Monday.

Miss Sylvia Sloan was hostess on Wednesday evening in honor of Miss Lenore Younger of Portland, Or., who is a guest of Miss Mayme Seely of Highland.

Monrovia.

A NOTABLE social event was the luncheon party given Thursday by Mrs. J. O. Roe at her beautiful foothill home on East Banana avenue. Mrs. Roe was assisted by her mother, Mrs. Margaret Hamilton, and her sister, Miss Hamilton. The list of guests included a number of Eastern friends who are passing the winter season in California. Long stemmed California violets and pink rosebuds formed the decorations, which were of unusual beauty. Covers were laid for thirty-two at small tables and attached to each place card was a bouquet of the buds and blossoms. Following the luncheon bridge was played. The list of guests included Mrs. Bradford J. Arthur, Mrs. E. E. Rivers, Mrs. Hugh S. Haven, Mrs. Charles H. Reed, Sr., Mrs. Charles H. Reed, Jr., Mrs. H. Kirschner, Mrs. Horace J. Evans, Mrs. George Otto Monroe, Mrs. John H. Bartle, Mrs. A. B. Downs, Mrs. J. Walsh, Mrs. Emily Seymour and Mrs. Gosser and Miss Gosser of Ellenton, Pa.; Mrs. J. N. Ward, Los Angeles; Mrs. N. M. Gwinn of Boise, Ida., and Miss Strong, Miss Pendleton and Miss Bess Bailey.

Mrs. Charles E. Slosson was the hostess of a smart luncheon given Tuesday at her home on West Lime avenue. Covers were laid for twelve at a handsomely appointed table illuminated with scarlet candles in crystal holders. In the place cards and decorations of the room the touch of scarlet also appeared. Following the luncheon, tables were placed for whist in the living-room. Guests included Mmes. Hugh S. Haven, George Otto Monroe, W. A. Chess, Charles H. Reed, Sr., Bradford J. Arthur, Scott Lee Boyd, Charles E. Winslow, Charles J. Dixon, Frank Neal Robinson, Alfred Otteway, and Daisey Degelman and Miss Boyd.

The ladies of the congregation of the First Methodist Church were handsomely entertained Thursday afternoon by Mrs. Alfred Merritt, assisted by Mrs. William F. Marshall, Mrs. William P. Davis, and Mrs. Dr. Warden. Mrs. Merritt's home on East

Tuberculosis Wins Every Three Minutes

The National Child Labor Commission issues statistics to show that 160,000 deaths occur each year from tuberculosis. The California State Board of Health shows 395, or nearly 15½ per cent of all deaths in California, in one month, to be from tuberculosis. This tends to show that climate is of no avail, yet science teaches that Consumption IS CURABLE. Results obtained by hundreds using the Lloyd treatment strengthen this claim. Read what it did for this patient:

"Before commencing your treatment I was fighting between life and death. My weight dropped from 135, which was my normal weight, to 102 pounds. I was coughing day and night and spitting all the time. I lost my appetite altogether. I was so bad that I gave up all hope for recovery. I spent money on doctors, but all of no use. I was given up to die and was down to a skeleton. At last I went to a hospital. Having been there for a few days and getting from bad to worse, my father took me home. I was home about a day or two when I luckily happened to run across an advertisement of the Lloyd treatment. I wrote for a month's treatment. I began to use it at once. In a few days I could notice myself improving. My night sweats were ceasing, my temperature dropping, my cough decreasing and I began to gain weight. My appetite was excellent. About two more weeks afterward I was a new boy, and to-day I am strong and healthy, weighing 142 pounds. I think the Lloyd treatment is a God-sent remedy and I cannot say too much about it. It saved my life and I advise all people suffering with this dreadful disease to try it.
JOSEPH OTTLEWSKI,
1009 W. 47th Pl.,

Hundreds of lung sufferers are sending in just such reports after using the scientific Lloyd treatment, which is not a patent medicine and NOT SOLD in drug stores. If you are sick, want to learn what it is, what it is doing for lung diseases and what it may do for YOU, write me to-day before it is too late.

Last Sunday morning Mrs. William Cross tearfully handed over the office of superintendent of the Methodist Sunday school to J. W. Crouch, a prominent church worker. Mrs. Cross five years ago organized a small class in her home; later when the number was too large she had to secure the Fraternal Brotherhood Hall on Sunday mornings. Later the schoolhouse was used, when the fund grew so rapidly that they purchased a lot and had the old schoolhouse moved on it and the services were enjoyed here regularly. Mrs. Cross has held a big place in her heart for the Sunday-school work and through her hard work and persistency has brought many entertainments and socials for the young folks. It was only because she needed a rest that she resigned her duties and she spoke with trembling lips when she congratulated her successor, Mr. Crouch.

Saturday evening Mrs. W. E. Hart entertained with a housewarming at their fine new residence. Over fifty guests were present to enjoy the many games that were played durir the evening. Miss Jennie Wadsworth rendered both vocal and instrumental music, which was much enjoyed by all. Supper was served, after which dancing was enjoyed until the wee hours.

Hollywood.

MRS. CARRIE JACOBS-BOND gave two delightful recitals in Hollywood last week. Friday afternoon she appeared before a large and enthusiastic audience in the High School auditorium and Sunday evening she gave a farewell concert at Hotel Hollywood to her many friends and admirers. An informal reception was held at which Mrs. Bond bade good-by to the guests. She leaves early in February for her old home in Chicago and will be greatly missed by the musical and social circles of Hollywood.

Mrs. Frank Yale of Joplin, Mo., is the guest of her daughter, Mrs. C. M. S. Martz of East Hollywood boulevard and will remain in Hollywood two months.

Miss Helen Sutton of Detroit is the house guest of Miss Elizabeth Wilton Young of 1105 Forest avenue.

Mrs. Calvin Smith of 4513 Kingsley drive was the hostess at a delightful luncheon and bridge whist party last Friday afternoon in honor of her sister, Miss Katherine Spencer of Ithaca, N. Y., and Mrs. Sendavo of Chicago, who is the sister of Mrs. R. B. Williamson.

Japanese decorations were used in the dining-room, while poinsettias were attractively grouped about the living-room. Dainty hand-painted cards marked the places for eighteen guests. Mrs. Sendavo received the guests' prize and Mrs. R. B. Williamson, Mrs. Merrick of Los Angeles and Mrs. E. E. McKeever were awarded prizes for the afternoon.

The Neighborhood Sewing Club enjoyed a delightful afternoon at the home of Mrs. C. M. S. Martz of 1420 East Hollywod boulevard. About twenty-one members and guests were present. At 4:30 a delicious light luncheon was served.

Miss Ruth Horn of 224 North Magnolia avenue was pleasantly surprised on her seventeenth birthday, last Friday evening, by about forty-five members of the Bethany Class, who came in a body and took possession of the home and made merry with games and songs for two hours.

New guests at Hotel Hollywood: Mrs. L. L. Greaves and two daughters, Miss Dorothy and Miss Marjorie, of Redwood, Cal. They will be joined later by Mr. Greaves, who is a widely-known manufacturer of furniture of Grand Rapids, Mich. Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Long of Minneapolis are sojourning at the hotel for a couple of weeks. Mr. and Mrs. A. V. Stewart of Boston have located here for the season. C. A. Harper, a prominent lumber man of San Francisco; George W. Williams and Mr. and Mrs. Pape of Cleveland, O.; Mr. and Mrs. Sebenius of Duluth, Minn., Mr. and Mrs. Domhoff and daughter of Cincinnati, J. H. Hirsh and daughter of Glencoe, Ill., Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Thorpe of Buffalo, N. Y., and Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Fields of Des Moines, Iowa.

The Study Club of Los Angeles gave a charming luncheon at Hotel Hollywood last Wednesday afternoon. Violets and fern made beautiful table decorations. After luncheon a social hour of the club was held.

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Wattles have returned to their beautiful winter residence. They have as their guests Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Reed and daughters, Miss Anna and Miss Elizabeth.

The Women's Press Club was entertained most pleasantly on Saturday, last, by Miss Hogan and Miss Dietrichson at the Hollywood School for Girls. A delightful musical programme was given by Miss Dietrichson, vocalist; Miss Bachus, pianist, and Miss Fagge, violinist. The entire programme was rendered in an artistic and brilliant manner, each participant was greeted with great enthusiasm and pleasure. A number of distinguished guests were present, one of whom was Mme. von Finklestein-Mountford, who is making her tour of celebrated lectures in California. Later an elaborate collation was served in the spacious dining-room.

Under the direction of Mrs. R. M. Pogson, chairman of the Art Committee of the Woman's Club, Miss Annie Gilbert gave a lecture on "Florence and Her Art Treasures," with stereopticon views. Miss Gilbert is a pleasant speaker, a devotee of art, and most familiar with her subject, hav-

THE Egan School of Music and Drama

ACCOMPLISHMENT! Not fatuous promise or bombastic theory, is the sign-manual of Success.

These wonderfully clever children are not graduates of the Egan School; they are merely two of the school's large number of energetic young pupils. Their naturalness and genuine childish simplicity, unspoiled by the customary precocious methods, won every heart in the big and fashionable first-night audience at "Alias Jimmy Valentine" last Monday evening.

The EGAN SCHOOL does not, primarily, train children for the professional stage. It develops the childish mind and body, and promotes grace of mentality and physique. In this particular instance, however, the parents of both children intend that their offspring shall follow a professional career.

RIENA GRAF,
Appearing at the Belasco as Doris Hetherington.

"The play must have two children to make it worth while. These children must be clever. They must be first-class comedians, and such are hard to find. To my mind the selections of children who could play these roles was the most difficult part of the work of production by Stage Manager Neill. He picked two who made the roles assigned them shine like star-roles before they had gotten through with them. Pablo Ferrando appeared as Bobby Lane, and Doris Hetherington as Kitty. Upon their small shoulders hung the success or failure of the big third act of the play last night, and it was a big success."—THE EXAMINER, January 16.

"An exceptionally clever performance was given by Pablo Ferrando and Doris Hetherington, as the two children. Young Ferrando, in his boyish naturalness, would appear to be our long-sought 'boy actor' for just such parts."—THE TIMES, January 16.

CHARLES PURCELL.

Charles Purcell was the instantaneous hit of the big "Chocolate Soldier" production at the Hamburger Majestic during the past week.

THE TIMES said: "The honors of the Strauss operetta rest principally with Conductor DeNovellis and Charles Purcell, who sings Bumerli. Purcell gave a performance which for genuine boyishness, beautiful quality of voice and a certain inherent manliness over all, was simply captivating."

THE EXAMINER said: "Charles Purcell is the Lieut. Bumerli of this production. Last year we had John Phillips in the role. Purcell sings in better voice than Phillips."

PABLO FERRANDO.

The Original Instructor of Purcell Was Thomas Taylor Drill, Dean of the Vocal Department of the Egan School.

In a note to Mr. Drill, written last Wednesday, Mr. Purcell says:—
"I have been having the best of success this year, using my voice every day, and putting it to severe but successful test. My notices have been especially commendatory of my voice production, and I feel that I owe my method entirely to you. Your Friend and Pupil, (Signed) CHARLES PURCELL."

Whittier.

THE wedding of Miss Florence E. Maple and Walter L. Thornburg, two of the most prominent young people in local society, took place Thursday evening at 8 o'clock, at the home of the bride's brother, A. C. Maple of North Painter avenue. The beautiful home was transformed into a bower of pink and white blossoms and greenery. Baskets of pink and white sweet peas tied with tulle were suspended from the ceiling, and bracket lights. A lattice work of smilax studded with pink sweet peas formed the background, near where the couple stood. Two large baskets filled with the dainty blossoms and potted ferns were used on either side, and the mantle was a solid bank of smilax. Pink roses in tall crystal vases, added to the beauty of these decorations. Preceding the ceremony, Querdon Whitaker sang "I Give My Heart," and Prof. Fred Ellis gave "Beloved It Is Morn." The bride on the arm of her father, John D. Maple of Knightstown, Ind., then descended the stairway to the strains of Lohengrins's Wedding March played by the groom's sister, Miss Edna Thornburg. Little Marguerite Maple acted as ring bearer, and Misses Katherine and Josephine Maple, daintily dressed in white, with pink sashes, scattered rose petals in the bride's path. The bride wore an exquisite gown of white crepe meteor, over satin en train. Her veil was fastened with lilies of the valley and she carried a shower bouquet of the same blossoms, and maiden hair ferns. President Thomas Newlin of the college, performed the impressive ring ceremony. The bride's table was beautiful. On a mirror in the center was a gilded basket of lilies of the valley and maiden hair ferns. From here pink satin streamers were laid to each place, the place cards being hand-painted with lilies of the valley. Green-shaded candelabra were also effectively used. After the reception, during which Miss Leona Mannon gave some beautiful piano selections, a dainty collation was served. Mr. and Mrs. Thornburg will leave for a ten days' wedding trip to be at home to their friends after February 15, at No. 431 North Washington avenue.

Mrs. Jacob Bickel and Mrs. M. B. Hutchinson of East Whittier were hostesses at a delightful afternoon luncheon Wednesday at the home of the former.

The hours from 2 to 5 o'clock were spent in games and music. A drawing contest was an amusing feature. There were about twenty guests.

Mrs. E. H. Atwell of McCampbell Station gave a prettily appointed luncheon Wednesday to a number of her friends. The rooms were attractive in cut flowers and greenery. Music and cards were enjoyed during the afternoon.

Mrs. E. Y. Partridge of No. 610 South Greenleaf avenue, was hostess to a number of friends Tuesday, entertaining with one of the series of merry-go-round luncheons, arranged by the ladies of the Congregational Church.

C. C. Lamers, who has been spending several months in this city as the house guest of his sisters, Mrs. Al Stevens and Mrs. John Stevens, left the first of the week for his home in Tennessee.

The regular meeting of the Woman's Club was held Wednesday at the clubhouse and proved one of the most enjoyable affairs of the club year. C. Percival Garratt, one of the most talented musicians on the Coast, gave parts from Puccini's famous opera, "The Girl of the Golden West." A social time was afterwards spent, and refreshments served.

Alhambra.

THE Leap Year season was opened at the Alhambra skating rink on South Wilson avenue last Friday evening, under the most auspicious circumstances. A large number of the prominent young ladies of Alhambra escorted their partners to the rink and, according to the stories of the young men, the "girls proved themselves to be most excellent entertainers." Early in the evening skating was enjoyed. Prof. Van Zant demonstrated his ability as a fancy skater, to the delight of the young people. Later in the evening dancing was enjoyed, music being furnished by Misses Sikes and Bohlken and

To Develop the Bust

"It is folly," says Emily DeMar, in answering her correspondents on beauty hints in Beauty Culture, "for anyone to try and enlarge the bust by simply exercising and massaging. The starved and shrunken undeveloped tissues must be built up from the inside; when this is done then the hollows round out and the figure assumes that beautiful contour nature intended. The world-famous Vaucaire treatment is the only known method that will do this. To be sure and get the full benefit of the wonderful treatment, make it up yourself; make a pint of syrup, using a cup-and-a-half of sugar to enough water to make a pint, then add one ounce of true galliol, which you can get at any drug store. Take a tablespoonful before meals. This will make enough for a month's treatment. Be sure you get the true galliol. It is a little expensive, but the cheap imitations will not do the work."

The Doctor's Answers on Health and Beauty Questions

By DR. LEWIS BAKER.

The questions answered below are general in character; the symptoms or diseases are given and the answers will apply to any case of similar nature.

Those wishing further advice, free, may address Dr. Lewis Baker, College Building, College-Elwood Sts., Dayton, Ohio, enclosing self-addressed, stamped envelope for reply. Full name and address must be given, but only initials or fictitious name will be used in my answers. The prescriptions can be filled at any well-stocked drug store. Any druggist can order of wholesaler.

Elizabeth says: "I am troubled with a constant headache which also affects my eyes. My breath is awful, as I have a severe case of catarrh of the head and throat."

Answer: I receive daily hundreds of letters from people who have suffered as you do and who have been cured with the following prescription: Make a wash by mixing one-half teaspoonful of Vilane powder, which you can purchase from any druggist in 2 oz. packages, and add to this one pint of warm water, use this in the nostrils daily to thoroughly cleanse them. A catarrh balm should be used with this. This is made by mixing one teaspoonful of Vilane powder with one ounce of lard or vaseline and apply well up into the nostrils twice a day. If this is used daily your catarrh will soon vanish. It should, however, be used occasionally to prevent a return of the disease.

"C. G." writes. "If you know of anything that will cure dandruff, itching scalp and premature baldness, please let me know what it is."

Answer: For several years I have prescribed plain yellow minyol as superior to anything known for the treatment of diseased scalp. Get it in four-ounce jars with full directions. It quickly overcomes all diseases of hair and scalp and gives new vigor and intense natural color to the hair. Try it fairly and you will advocate its use for your friends.

• • •

"Mildred" writes: "I am constantly embarrassed because of the fact of my extreme thinness. I have absolutely no color in my face or lips and I am dull and lifeless most of the time. Please advise me what to do."

Answer: If you are so thin and pale and your lips and cheeks colorless it is because your blood is deficient in red corpuscles. This can be easily overcome by the use of three-grain hypo-nuclane tablets, which can be had from any druggist in sealed cartons with full directions for taking. When the blood is enriched by the use of these tablets your weight will increase, the color will come back into your face and lips, and it will improve your general system so that you will become strong and healthy.

"Edna" writes: "I suffer with rheumatism all the time and I shall be very glad if you can tell me something to relieve me."

Answer: I can give you a prescription which will not only relieve, but will cure your rheumatism. This is my favorite remedy and from the number of letters received from people who have used it proves its value in curing rheumatism. The following is made by mixing well, taking a teaspoonful at meal times and again before retiring: Comp. essence cardiol, 1 oz.; comp. fluid balmwort, 1 oz.; syrup sarsaparilla comp., 5 ozs.; iodide of potassium, 2 drams; wine of colchicum, one-half ounce; sodium salicylate, 4 drams.

MRS. J. M. SPENCE entertained the Gate City Embroidery Club, of which she is a member, at a most delightful dinner and all-day party Saturday last, at her home on Center street. Needlework, games and music caused the afternoon to pass all too quickly for the out-of-town guests, who were Mmes. James Russell, J. B. Beale, J. H. Forbes, P. A. Ambuehl, Guy Tullis of San Bernardino.

At an afternoon party, charmingly replete in all of its dainty appointments, given at her home on Third street Thursday, Mrs. Lon F. Chapin announced the betrothal of her daughter, Miss Alice May Chapin, and Clarence Sherman Fry, a prominent architect of Riverside. The news was told through the medium of a poem written and read by Mrs. G. F. Wishard of Highland. The nuptials will be solemnized in April. The home was beautiful with fragrant blossoms, floor vases of bride roses and pink carnations were used. After the hours spent over needlework and delightful music, delicious refreshments were served. Mmes. H. W. Brimmer and C. W. Longmire poured and assisted the hostess in entertaining. Fifty guests were present. The charming bride-elect will be the honoree at a number of pleasant prenuptial affairs. The first will be a shower Thursday afternoon next, Mrs. C. W. Longmire entertaining at her pretty bungalow home on Riverside avenue.

The social event of the past week among the young people was the "hard times" party Tuesday evening at the ranch house on Willow avenue formerly owned by Mr. Cox. Lanterns artistically arranged illuminated the rooms. Several mandolin musicians furnished the music for dancing. After the grand march the guests were seated upon the floor, while in a novel way each was chosen to do a particular stunt. Refreshments of frankfurters and marshmallows were roasted and toasted at a huge grate fire. At the close of the jolly evening a flashlight was taken by Ben Buxton. The guests were Messrs. and Mmes. Lanbender, Fred Pierce, Ben Buxton and Miss Helen Porter, San Bernardino; Misses Kathleen Ross, Los Angeles; Myrtle Brunner, Long Beach; Ina Hacker, Mary McHugh, Messrs. D. Robinson, Boise, Idaho; Rae Leekley, Clarence Lanbender, Charles Twohey.

Mrs. J. F. Burdick was hostess to the Ladies' Aid Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church Thursday afternoon at her home on San Bernardino avenue. The regular business meeting was held and plans for the social and entertainment to be given Washington's Birthday were discussed.

The Sir Knights and Ladies of the Maccabees held a joint installation of officers at the Crowder Hall Tuesday evening. Supper was served in the banquet room, after the business session.

THE J. & M. SHOE

A World Tragedy.

PASSING OF AN EMPIRE NEARLY 5000 YEARS OLD.

Flashes of the History of the Inscrutable Old Flowery Kingdom and of the Great Manchu Dynasty Which Has Just Made Its Tragic Exit from the Stage of Nations.

BY CHARLES ALMA BYERS.

ALTHOUGH an event that has long been radiating its forecasted shadows, more or less readable to students of Chinese affairs, the change in China's government now taking place can probably be no better described than by the word "wonderful." And, incidentally, a few "spotlight" glimpses into Chinese history should be at this time particularly interesting—especially since it is history that has ever been to the layman a sort of mystic maze.

For something like 4800 years China has been an empire. No other nation has ever maintained the same form of government, of any kind, for anything like such a period of time. We of today are, therefore, witnessing the passing of the oldest government in the world's history. Although possibly not actually her first, Fu-hi, according to Chinese historians, was China's first Emperor. He is supposed to have lived from 2852 to 2738, B. C., and under his reign began the Sanhuang dynasty, popularly called that of "The Three Emperors," which, according to rather uncertain history, extended over the period of from 2852 to 2205, B. C. To him is credited, probably more to Chinese mythology than in actual fact, the establishment of social life as it is recognized today. Before then, people are supposed to have lived, this legendary history tells us, like animals, and "children knew only their mothers and not their fathers." Fu-hi was therefore the first historical reformer.

From this bit of history, one gets at least some conception of how old China really is, and, therefore, of what the transpiring change in her form of government means in the way of severing old ties. To the ancients China was known as Seres, and to the medievals as Cathay, but it has never heretofore been anything but an empire.

The Manchus, of whom we hear so much today in relation to the Chinese situation, first entered conspicuously into China's history in about 1616, A. D., and twenty-eight years later, in 1644, they came into absolute governing power. From Fu-hi's time to 1644, 4496 years, about thirteen different historical dynasties ruled in China proper. Although rebellions and threatened invasions followed one another in rather rapid succession, and occasionally resulted in pieces being chipped off from the empire's domain, only to be regained after a comparatively short period of separate government, China was ruled during nearly all these years by the Chinese themselves. It was from 1279 to 1368, during the Yuen dynasty, that the only real exception occurred. The Mongols, or Eastern Tartars, had previously been invited by the Chinese to assist them in one of their wars, and after its termination Kubial Khan, a Mongol, became the empire's ruler. With the Ming dynasty, which followed the Yuen, the Chinese again came into full governing power, however, although not for long, for the Ming dynasty was also the last of real Chinese rule in the empire. The Manchus now came into control, and their hold upon the reins of government has continued unbroken from that time until the present, a period of about 268 years.

During the Ming dynasty rebellion broke out, and Wu San-Kwei, a general who had been sent against the Manchus in the North to repulse a threatened invasion, was recalled to quell this internal trouble. Peking subsequently fell into rebel hands, and in a feeling of desperation Wu San-Kwei concluded a peace treaty with his old enemy, the Manchus, and invited them to assist in dispossessing the rebels. With this outside assistance the rebellion was shortly quelled, but in the meantime the Chinese Emperor, Tsung-Cheng, the last of the Ming dynasty, had committed suicide. There being no proper heirs to the throne, the Manchus, seeing an opportunity to secure control of the very government that, they believed, had only a short time before been mistreating them, immediately proceeded to take possession. With but comparatively little warlike opposition, the ninth son of Tien-wing was proclaimed Emperor of China under the title of Shun-Chi, and Ta-Tsing, meaning "Great Pure," was adopted as the name of the dynasty.

The Manchus have furnished the most intellectual succession of Emperors that has ever ruled continuously over Chinese affairs. This, to the American's way of thinking, however, may not mean a great deal. At first the rulers of this new regime were decidedly well-disposed towards the cosmopolitan foreigners with whom they were brought into contact at Peking, and their dispossessed Chinese subjects themselves for a while had but little cause for complaint. There has always been a feeling, however, on the part of the real Chinamen, which is but natural, that the Manchus were usurpers, and this feeling, abetted by the gradual absorption of western ideas, by the traveling and more enlightened Chinese, as well as a gradually growing tendency on the part of the Manchus to abuse their power, has slowly led up to the present crisis.

The Manchus, the ruling race in China since 1644, are of not definite known origin. By some authorities they are classed among the Ural-Altaic tribes, and by others they are called Eastern Tartars, or Tung-Tats. The Tartars of today, however, are of true Mongol descent. Manchu is the name adopted in the thirteenth century by one of a number of tribes which led a nomadic existence in what is now Manchuria, and were known collectively in the eleventh century as Nuchics. It was not until during the sixteenth century that they became generally known as Manchus, when they obtained absolute possession of the Manchurian country of today. By that time they showed a considerable mixture of Chinese and Korean blood, but they still retained their ancient Ural-Altaic language and separate nationality. The Kin dynasty, which gained a foothold in about 1160 and ruled over Northern China until about 1232, is supposed to have been of Manchu invaders.

The Manchus are more robust than the Chinese of Central and Southern China, but resemble very closely those of the northern section, except that they have horizontal-set eyes. They do not equal in business ability the Chinese, but are naturally of a more dominating character. They are courteuos to strangers, their families are large, and their women have never followed the Chinese custom of binding feet. The "pig-tail" and shaved head, however, is of Manchu introduction, and was made common in China as a symbol of Manchu, or Tartar, sovereignty.

The announcement that the new regime in China will change the Chinese New Year in commemoration of the day on which the empire became a republic to correspond with that of Christianized countries brings to mind a number of peculiarities to us in the old calendar of the passing empire. Heretofore the Chinese New Year was movable, very similar to our Easter, it falling on the first new moon after the sun enters Aquarius, which always comes between January 21 and February 19. The Chinese calendar is of very ancient origin, and from the time of Emperor Yao, who, according to Chinese annals, ascended the throne about 2317 B. C., the Chinese year has consisted of 365¼ days. The Chinese have no Sundays or weekly day of rest, except those who have been Christianized, but have many festivals, the most important of which are New Year's Day, the Festival of the First Full Moon, the Feast of Lanterns, and the Festival of the Dragon Boat. Before New Year's every good Chinaman is supposed to pay his debts and purchase new clothes.

What may seem not exactly justice in the Manchus' rule of China is found in the population statistics of the empire. In 1906, according to the Chinese Imperial Customs reports, China proper had a population of 407,253,000 of which only about 4,000,000, it is estimated, are Manchus.

It is impossible to accept any statistics on the population of China as perfectly accurate, because of the way the census is taken. The method of enumeration is to count the households, and from this compile approximate estimates. These returns are published from time to time in the Peking Gazette, as they are received from the different provincial authorities.

In 1851 the population was stated to be 432,000,000, and in 1906, for the entire empire, it was 438,214,000. In regard to the population of 1906, however, the authorities do not agree, but it it quite safe to place it roughly at 400,000,000.

In 1908, again quoting the Imperial Customs authorities, the number of foreigners resident in China, of course not considering the Manchus as such, was 69,852, as follows: Japanese, 44,143; Russians, 9520; British, 9043; Germans, 3637; Americans, 3545; Portugese, 3353; French, 2029; Italians, 554, and Belgians, 282.

The Chinese are naturally a colonizing race, and the population of China is predominately rural. The province of Shan-tung, the most densely populated, is said to have a population of 680 per square mile. In nearly every part of the world one finds Chinese, and there were settlements on the coast of Africa before the tenth century. It was estimated that in 1908 9,000,000 Chinese were resident beyond the empire's confines.

It is history that in nearly every time of internal trouble China has suffered from invaders. Invariably later, however, the territory she lost at such times was regained, and again became a part of the empire. What will be the outcome in the present trouble in that respect is difficult to foresee at this time, but it is to be hoped that history will repeat itself. The Chinese can work out their own governmental problems, if left alone, better than can any other race of people for them, and with the return of the intellectual Chinese who have been sent to outside colleges and schools to be educated a slow but certain change in the status of the Chinese mind toward modernity is gradually reaching materialization.

OVER THE SEA.

Admiral Buckman Pasha, an American, has gained possession of three important oil centers of European and Asiatic Turkey, and will undertake the development of the petroleum resources of Turkey. With the exception of the great oil fields of Mesopotamia, which are at present in litigation in the Turkish courts, he holds the development of Ottoman petroleum in his hands.

The Duchess of Aosta, a foremost member of Italy's royalty, is a nurse on the Red Cross hospital ship Menfi, which is used to convey wounded soldiers from Tripoli to Italy. That her identity might not be discovered she assumed the name of Signora Aosta. She is a nurse of ability, and is beloved by the soldiers.

Canon James Denton Thompson, whose appointment as Bishop of Sodor and Man has just been approved by King George, is an author of considerable prominence, as well as an interesting minister. He was born in 1856, and since 1905 has been rector of Birmingham. One of his best-known books is "Church and the People." He is fond of outdoor life and plays a good game of golf.

John Douglas Southerland, Duke of Argyll, who has written an opera which will be produced this spring, is the former Governor-General of Canada. He held that high office from 1878 until 1883. The Duke is the author of a number of works, probably his best known being "Life and Times of Queen Victoria." Since 1892 he has been Governor and constable of Windsor Castle. He married Princess Louise, sister of King Edward VII.

The new President of Switzerland has had a pretty thorough training for the place. He is M. Forrer, a Federal councillor, and he has served in every department of the Swiss government except the treasury, and for the last five years he has been at the head of the postal and railway departments. President Forrer, who headed the little republic once before, in 1906, is a native of Zurich and a lawyer by profession. At the age of 66 he has had thirty years of public life.

Miss Mona Wilson, the only woman on the insurance commission for England, whose members were recently named by Lloyd George, is the daughter of Canon Wilson, formerly archdeacon of Manchester.

WIFE OF KAISER'S SON HAS FAT PURS

Princess Eitel-Friedrich,
Richest of the Kaiser's daughters-in-law and wife of his favorite son.

BERLIN, Dec. 30.—Since the late indiscretions of the Crown Prince, the Kaiser has lost no opportunity of drawing attention to the model conduct of his favorite son, Prince Eitel-Fritz, whose wife is the best looking and richest of William's daughters-in-law. Prince Eitel-Fritz is the fat boy of the German royal family and as a child was the best looking and the idol of the German people. Since he grew up, however, he has lost his looks, being now rather short, enormously stout and of rather insignificant features.

Princess Eitel-Fritz was the Duchess Sophie Charlotte of Oldenburg, and is four years older than her husband. She is the daughter of the Grand Duke of Oldenburg by his first wife, from whom she inherited her fat purse. She first met her husband at the wedding of his brother, the Crown Prince. They saw each other frequently in the summer that followed and were married shortly after.

This is not supposed to have been the Princess's first excursion into the realms of love. When scarcely out of the "flapper" class she fell in love with her father's adjutant, a handsome and dashing young soldier. But the romance was short and sweet, for when it was discovered the officer was ordered to America "for his health." However, the Duchess didn't take it very seriously to heart, for not long after, the young man's "health" being entirely recovered, he returned to Germany and he and the Duchess and her family have been quite good friends ever since.

Tact, that highly useful lnbrication for life's wheels, is an absolute nec sity for royal folk, and if they have it naturally they have to begin cultivate it early in life. Fortunat Princess Eitel-Fritz possesses quality, and found its exercise great service to her husband and h self when they were on their tour the Holy Land last year. They w being entertained in Jerusalem day by a brilliant gathering, rep senting every race and religion in P estine and lemonade and cigare were handed round. Princess Ei Fritz took a cigarette and lighted Of course the fact of a woman sm ing did not astonish her Moham dan hosts, but that a western Ch tian woman should have adopted of their customs surprised and lighted them, and helped to prod a good feeling among the pe among whom they traveled.

The Princess is not fond of ordin social amusements, so one does not her about nearly as much as Crown Princess. She likes cou life and spends some part of ev day "potte ing" about her garden, specting her favorite flowers, and tu ing up weeds with a spud. She several tastes in common with her august parents-in-law, which s to endear her to them. Like Kaiser, she is exceedingly fond of sic, being, in fact, a good musician self. Like the Kaiserin, she takes keenest interest in all hospital w and hardly ever fails to visit s charitable institution every day. yet, Prince and Princess Eitel-F have no children, which is a caus great regret to them, the Prin particularly being fond of children a great favorite with her nephews

EDUCATORS, AUTHORS.

Miss Caroline Hazard, Wellesley's former president, has established herself permanently at Peacedale, R. I., where she has built a house on land which has been in her family for 213 years.

W. J. Locke, author of "The Glory of Clementina," is an officer and a member of several architectural, and a member of the Institute of American Architects. His first published novel, "At the Gate of Samaria," dates back to 1895. "The Beloved Vagabond," perhaps his best known work to date, was published in 1906.

Frederick P. Keppel, dean of the School of Arts of Columbia University, it became known, has received the decoration of the Legion of Honor from the republic of France.

MRS. HARVEY WILEY.

BY MARGARET B. DOWNINK.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13.—Mrs. Harvey Washington Wiley would be an interesting woman, if only because she bears a name familiar, for twenty-five years past, through the efforts of a great an dconscientious scientist to obtain honest food and medicine for the American people. Such a fearless and relentless battle for the cause of right is not to be found recorded in American political history as that which Dr. Wiley has waged for more than twenty years. His wife of little more than a year has long been known to Dr. Wiley's friends, and it was an open secret that nearly twelve years ago the little blind god aimed a sure, swift dart, though the romance reached a culminating point on February 27, 1911. Mrs. Wiley as Miss Anna Kelton, knew Dr. Wiley first in her college days at Columbia, now George Washington University, in this city. She learned to know him better when he showed a reverent sympathy for the suffrage cause of which she is an earnest promoter. Her library and literary work then threw them much together, and about the time of Dr. Wiley's marriage, it was whispered that for more than twelve years the celebrated scientist had carried in his watch a small picture of Miss Kelton cut from a group taken at a college outing.

Mrs. Harvey W. Wiley.

Mrs. Wiley's personality shows many attractive sides. Indeed, she would be a representative woman on her own account, were not her fame overshadowed by that of her husband.

"I am quite willing to permit the public to know me as Dr. Wiley's wife," she said, "though I have some individual opinions and a few fads and fancies of my own. Still my interest has been almost absorbed by the vital questions with which my husband's name is associated. I led a very busy life before my marriage and belonged to some organizations which have a useful mission. Recently I have become the president of the Consumers' League of Washington, and I am deeply concerned in its success. This league hopes to promote a community of interests between producers and consumers here and all over the country, and to secure a fair living wage for those who work for a living. We hope by urging the question temperately and diligently to secure the enactment and enforcement of laws which will improve the condition of labor especially of those under which women and children work. We hope to extend the influence of this league so that the label will bring instant support in any community, that is, we have a Consumers' League label, and placed on goods it will publish to the world that the firm using it is just and humane to its employees, is conscientious in its dealing with the public, is worthy of patronage from every standpoint. In this way, we force the exclusion of men who wring work from the helpless under unsanitary and unhealthy conditions, who profit by the dreaded sweating process and by other diabolical schemes against the poor and needy. The league is only in its infancy, but we hope when its object becomes better known to enroll all citizens, men and women who have sense of responsibility towards their fellow-men. We have many details yet to work out, and we are diligently pondering the subject of how to secure the co-operation of the clubs organized for civic or social betterment.

"The cause of suffrage for women is one which I consider fundamental and remedial, and one in which I have been engrossed since I left off short frocks. I know all the old arguments about the true sphere of woman being at home, attending to the wants of husband and children. But a woman need not neglect one of those obligations to feel a desire to uproot certain evils and make conditions about her better. I agree with all critics that nothing is greater or more useful than to be a good mother, but one would think, to hear the solemn orators, that children remained in swaddling clothes all their natural lives. Now children have a way of growing up and being able to attend to their own ways and if properly trained to help to lighten the burden of their mother. What are women to do who have no children or whose children have spread their wings and flown to another nest? Are they to sit with their empty hands folded or perhaps find a brief occupation in the home or the home kitchen. It is the broad, intellectual American woman who has looked about and has seen so many things waiting for her to accomplish that will work radical changes, not only in her own land but in alien climes.

"I am often asked what we hope to accomplish by getting suffrage for women here and wherever a constituted government is established by a civilized nation. It is a large question, and to give all my reasons for working for suffrage would require much time and space, but I will give my principal reasons. I believe it is every adult human being's duty to think about and take an interest in the great problems of the day, and to try and think straight about them. I consider the ballot nothing more than the concrete expression of a thought. To think straight one can't stay shut up within the four walls of his own home or office or working place and think nothing beyond his own work, his personal relationships and his amusements, but one must go out during his leisure time, and work with other people along practical and helpful lines, join organizations banded together to discuss and beter conditions, and while helping to ameliorate our present day evils, seek to find the reason for their existence and a way to prevent their continuance. And this last brings us right to the ballot, through organized effort, but at what unnecessary cost and loss of time. Why has it taken years and years of effort to secure that obvious justice of equal pay for equal work for the teachers of New York city, while Utah and Wyoming, States where women have the suffrage, have had laws to that effect for a long time? Why was the Florida Federation of Women's Clubs defeated three times in trying to secure the passage of a compulsory education bill, while compulsory education laws have existed for years in the four Sttates having had woman suffrage the longest? One might go on indefinitely asking and answering these questions."

"But what women will acomplish with the ballot is not nearly so important as the benefit they will derive from having to think straight and honestly and act likewise. Life is very short, and nearly all of it for women is spent in frivolity or in promoting insincere things. Insincerity permeates every woman's life at least in part, but then men cannot be said to be entirely free from this phase also. For the great bedrock of the American institution, the constitution, voices an untruth when it says, 'We people of the United States,' when it really takes in only half of the people, that's the masculine part. Then our sacred marriage ceremony makes the husband say, 'With all my worldly wealth I thee endow,' whereas the wife cannot compel anything beyond the merest maintenance during his life, and only a third of his property after death.

"Should I try to work a reform it would be towards establishing all present day conditions on the firm basis of truth. I should not subscribe to our smug complaisance in calling ourselves a civilized nation so long as more than 16,000 children from six to sixteen, work for twelve hours a day under inhuman conditions in mills and manufactories of all sorts, while we know that many women deprived of a worthy method of earning their bread seek an unworthy one. I believe that the crying need of our age is to possess a spirit of truth, of finding and maintaining the strict standard of truth in our home life, in the churches and more of all in the political and economic life. We can obtain this only by the sincere effort of men and women working together, facing the problems bravely and working with the single purpose of carrying out their solution. As long as the majority of women are content to assume no responsibility outside their own homes or to be absorbed in their own bread winning or amusements, we shall have a one-sided nation, a one-sided standard of morality and a half-developed humanity.

"Of course, I know I should be a fine homekeeper," said Mrs. Wiley, "and I fear many will be shocked when they learn that Doctor Wiley does not maintain a home though, of course, we look forward to having one some of these days. Perhaps when I get more accustomed to the many duties which have fallen to my lot, I shall find time to attend to them all and look after a home also. But just now it seems the more useful work to devote myself to is the questions which I have discussed. I think that to keep a home the way it should be kept is the highest mission for a woman, and worthy of the noblest and most intellectual effort. But it should not be all. To work for one's own home does not mean that I should be indifferent to what goes on in other homes, and if I knew how to manage a home properly, all the more is it my sacred obligation to aid those who do not possess the knowledge."

Mrs. Wiley is a native of California, but she has passed the greater part of her life in Washington. Her father, a gallant soldier of the regular army, after serving on the plains and on the frontier, was sent as commandant of the Soldiers' Home near the capital city, and it was in this delightful environment that the wife of the pure food apostle reached womanhood. The death of her father, when she was still a school girl added to the fact that he left a young family scantily provided for, led Mrs. Wiley, then Anna Kelton, and the oldest of the family, to prepare herself for a business career. She graduated with distinction from a Washington High School, and won the scholarship given to the best scholar of the class to the Columbian College, now George Washington University, of this city. She took the degree of A. B. in 1897, and then entered the scientific school to pursue a library course. After finishing this course, she obtained a position in the Department of Agriculture and where the casual acquaintance she had with Doctor Wiley as a lecturer at Columbia, ripened into a lasting friendship. From the Agricultural Department she went to the Congressional Library, where she held a highly responsible post when she married in February of last year.

NOTEWORTHY EVENTS.

Benjamin J. Carr, a private in the Fifteenth United States Infantry, was married to Miss Laura Lund at Ogden last Tuesday while the train on which Carr was a passenger was changing engines. Carr is on his way to join his regiment in the Philippines, where he expects to be stationed for two years. He telegraphed ahead to his fiancee to meet him with a minister at the station in Ogden when the train passed through.

Edward Goodrich walked into the marriage license office at St. Louis, Saturday night, with his bride-to-be, and asked the clerk if he would accept small change in payment for a license. The clerk replied in the affirmative and Goodrich handed him 185 1-cent pieces, a nickel and a dime.

When Policeman Michael Casey tried to round up a goat in Riverview Park in Pittsburgh, the animal charged him and Casey was obliged to seek refuge in a near-by tree. The goat spent an hour butting the tree in an effort to dislodge him. When Casey failed to report on time the reserves were sent out and rescued him.

The title of champion rattlesnake killer of Umatilla county, Oregon, undoubtedly goes to James Fix, a Coombs Canyon rancher, who killed 275 of the reptiles one day last week. The skins were brought to town today and sold. Fix also obtained twenty pounds of oil, which has a market value of $9.50 per pound.

Rev. Mary L. Hadley has accepted the call to the pastorate of the Universalist and Congregational churches at Lempster, N. H. Though the two churches are distinct in organization, they work together as one. For several years Mrs. Hadley has been pastor in charge of the Methodist Union Mission at Gardner.

The Silver is of First Importance

Hospitality always finds its truest expression around the Festive board--with its spotless linen, its gleaming silver and the rising aroma of good things.

And is there anything the guests admire more—or the housewife takes more pride in than the family silver?

Surely intelligent discrimination should be exercised in its selection for one may be choosing for succeeding generations.

Feagans & Company offer unusual selection in Sterling silver in single pieces, short sets and English bridal outfits—in designs and qualities worthy to be handed down as family heirlooms. Your inspection is most cordially solicited.

Cawston
Ostrich Feathers

Every visitor to Southern California should take a Cawston Ostrich Feather home with them

—A "Cawston" Feather is the most typical of Southern California souvenirs.

—If it is a "Cawston" Ostrich Feather, women the world over know it is from sunny Southern California where—at the "Cawston" Ostrich Feather Farm—the ostriches are scientifically grown and perfected to produce the most magnificent feathers, where the feathers are dyed and dried in the sunshine, which gives them a perfection of color, a luster and gloss only seen in a "Cawston."

—The beauty and perfection of the "Cawston" has become so famous the world over that the name "Cawston" on a feather denotes the same superiority as does the word "Sterling" on silver.

—Every "Cawston" Feather is guaranteed—and sold at producers' prices.

WOMEN'S WORK, WOMEN'S CLUBS

BY SYDNEY FORD.

APPARENTLY every woman's club is going to observe the Dickens centenary with some sort of function. The Highland Park Ebell is preparing for an evening reception at which practically all the celebrated characters of the great English novelist will appear. This affair is scheduled for February 10.

The Friday Morning Club will give a similar celebration on February 7, of which the luncheon will be a distinctive feature, with its roast goose and gravy, and the entire menu, in fact, served on strictly Dickens lines.

The Dickens Club at Inglewood, which has long been looking forward to the anniversary of its patron author, has not yet announced the exact nature of its observance of the day.

California Woman Wins.

Mrs. Charles G. Norris, a San Francisco writer, author of that tender sketch of realism, "Mother," which appeared first as a short story and since in book form, is the subject of a sketch in the current Woman's Home Companion.

As Kathleen Thompson, one of six children of a prominent banker and old Californian, she grew to womanhood in San Francisco. When she was 17, her parents died after financial reverses, and Miss Kathleen, doing her utmost to keep the youngest two members of the family at school, found work first as a bookkeeper, then as a librarian, then as a newspaper writer. In 1909 she married Charles G. Norris, brother of the brilliant young novelist, the late Frank Norris, and now makes her home in New York where her husband holds an editorial position. Since the publication of her charming story, "Alanna," in the Atlantic Monthly in September, 1910, her short stories have been appearing in leading magazines and her first book, "Mother," is one of the past year's real successes.

She's a Money Raiser.

Miss Cora Tatham, who is expected to arrive here some time next month to engineer the campaign for raising funds for the Y.W.C.A. is engaged just now in a similar work in New York, it is said, where funds are needed to carry on the work of the association of which she has assumed temporary leadership. The date of opening the campaign here is not yet, therefore, definitely decided upon.

Golden Chance for Housewives.

These are the days when the thrifty woman is abroad in the land, picking up bargains in household linens, bedding, rugs and all the appliances of domestic machinery. Not mere dimes, but big, round dollars, may be saved by the careful housewife who looks well to the ways of her household.

"I never get my very best winter hat till after the holidays," observed a clever shopper. "See the one I have on? A regular $15 hat—and I paid just $2 for it yesterday."

The same rule applies to sheets as well as sweaters, to carpets and curtains as well as costumes and coats, to dishes as well as dresses. The spring house-cleaning of the merchants is the golden opportunity of the housewife.

Back to the Land.

The agricultural department of our State University at Berkeley shows a marked increase in the number of students, we are told, many of whom are women.

"This is the direct result of the 'back-to-the-farm' movement," the head of that department, Prof. E. J. Wickson, is reported as saying. "Many women who find it difficult to earn a livelihood hope to find better opportunities in agriculture."

Apropos of which there is, in a recent issue of the Outlook, an interesting account written by a woman—Mary Rankin Cranston—who had been a New York librarian for six years when the country-life microbe gained access to her brain, entered in, and took possession. Success had come to her in her library work, but the exacting obligations that made her a Jenny-on-the-spot from 9 to 5 left her a lump of flesh and bones from 5 to 9. Nerves that were beginning to jangle out of tune sounded a warning note for the future and therefore the country-life microbe found her an easy mark. The result was that she took the $600 she had saved and started out to find a farm in New Jersey.

The story of how she secured fourteen acres of good land, with a tiny, furnished house and barn, some fruit trees, etc., for $1075; of the consequent mortgage which she assumed and slaved on at the library till she could, and of her eventual triumph in independence, to say nothing of health, happiness and diversion, make interesting reading.

Here in California opportunities for women offer many more inducements to women than back in Jersey, on account of the mild climate and profitable fruit-growing possibilities.

Keeping a Straight Face.

Of all the absurd methods of warding off the approach of age, the women of London have capped the climax by establishing a cult which forbids laughter on the grounds that laughter lines and wrinkles the face.

"You must," according to a correspondent of the New York Times, who describes this strange recipe for preserving one's youthful looks, "choose between looks and laughter; the two cannot go together."

Some eighty women in London have banded themselves with this set of expressionless human idiots who refuse to wrinkle their faces by so much as a smile. They are all, more or less, [illegible] old—woman's dangerous age—and it is their sincere belief that by refraining from laughing they are retaining their loks.

The high priestess of the cult is quoted as saying that she hasn't laughed for two years, and that she avoids all manual work and [illegible]. At an afternoon tea where the cultists held forth recently, she suddenly stopped pouring tea and waited for a man servant to do it for her.

"A woman can keep ten years off her face by avoiding doing things like this," she explained.

All this is in direct contradiction to the theory of the actresses whose personal appearance is their capital in stock. Look at the divine Sarah, for instance, or consider the late Mme. Modjeska, whose youthful face and figure belied her years by a score or more. The theory of these professional women is that the necessary rapid change of expression of the face required by their work makes the facial features so flexible that it tends to youthfulness of appearance.

Lighten up your faces with a smile once in a while, ladies, and forget the passing years—and other people will.

Why is it that the so-called—and much-abused—"character dolls" are so popular nowadays, and that the expressionless bisque beauties of other days are laid on the shelf? It is because these attractive and adorable dolls look like real, live children instead of automatons. Are we to have a race of expressionless women—with nothing in their faces—not even a date?

Glendale Club Civics.

The Glendale Club will meet Tuesday afternon at the Country Clubhouse. The programme is under the direction of the Civics Committee, composed of Dr. Jessie A. Russell, Mmes. R. L. Hinckley, J. W. Usilton, M. D. Chemberlin and N. E. Evans. The speaker will be Charles Farwell Edson, who will address the club on "The City Beautiful." Mrs. Mattison Jones and Miss Mary Mee will be heard in piano and vocal solos.

Dr. Hugh K. Walker Speaks.

Dr. Hugh K. Walker addressed the Rosecrans Club at its meeting last week at the Echo Park Clubhouse, giving a most entertaining talk on European cities, with which he is familiar by reason of repeated visits—Rome and Paris and London and Edinburgh. He dealth with the poetic and prosaic side of these characteristic European capitals in delightful fashion.

Dr. Walker will be missed, not only in church circles, when he takes his departure from Los Angeles early next month for Atlanta, but in social and literary life as well. He has been a frequent and always warmly welcomed speaker before various clubs and organizations who will miss his genial presence and interesting addresses.

Ramblers Present Programme.

The Rambler Section of the Highland Park Ebell will present the programme for the club this week, taking for the topic, "California Landmarks," to be presented by Miss Anna L. Dempsey, grand trustee of the Native Daughters of the Golden West.

"Doing" Europe at Small Cost.

Miss Lila Van Kirk, an artist of New York, will tell Friday Morning Club women this week how to get a glimpse of Europe on $500. Next week Miss Van Kirk will give an illustrated travelogue before the Ebell Club, presenting "A Walk Through the Streets of Florence."

Miss Van Kirk is spending the winter in Southern California.

Home Economics Popular.

So popular has the home economics course become at the University of Wisconsin that ground has been broken for a new $115,000 building to house this department. Young women by the hundred are taking up this very practical preparation for life, thereby demonstrating the eternal feminine and destroying the absurd theory that a higher education unfits women for home duties.

Club Members Lunch.

Mrs. W. S. Bullis, president of the Ruskin Art Club, has introduced a very pleasant social feature in the way of a monthly luncheon which immediately follows the regular meeting in the dining-room of the Woman's Clubhouse, which adjoins the very cosy headquarters where the club meets from week to week.

The January luncheon occurs at the next meeting on Wednesday and the after-luncheon speaker will be Mrs. H. W. R. Strong who, with her daughters, has recently returned from an extended trip abroad. Preceding the luncheon the regular programme will be carried out under the direction of Misses Belle Smith and Lucy Marks. The topic is "The Early Dutch School of Painting."

Last week Mrs. N. P. Conrey and Miss Cordelia Kirkland were in charge of the line of study. Mrs. E. S. Hodgin spoke of the school of Middelburg; Mrs. W. S. Urion reviewed the lives of Cats and Spinoza; Miss Wadleigh discussed the School of Amsterdam, and Miss Emery that of the Gallican dramatists.

An Art Programme.

Under the direction of Mrs. W. H. Housh, an art programme will be presented next Tuesday before the Woman's Press Club, to which all artists are especially invited. Mrs. Mary H. Gridley will discuss "Art as a Creative Force;" James E. McBurney will consider the poetry of art, illustrating his talk with beautiful paintings, and Mrs. Julia Bracken Wendt will give a demonstration in clay modeling, a color scheme effect will be arranged by Raymond C. Gould and a group of beautiful objects illustrating fine craftsmanship will be placed by Mrs. Elizabeth E. Burton.

Children of the D. A. R.

All young people who are eligible to membership in the Society of the Children of the American Revolution are invited to meet at the home of Mrs. W. W. Stilson, State regent of the D.A.R., at 1048 Kensington road, next Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

The founder and honorary president of the D.A.R., Mrs. Daniel Lothrop of Boston, will address the meeting. She is very anxious to perfect an organization of a branch society here. Mrs. Lothrop is well known and loved by the children for her Little Pepper series of books and other charming juvenile works.

Shakespeare's Ghosts Will Walk.

The Shakespeare section of the Wednesday Morning Club, under the direction of Mrs. H. E. Brett, will enjoy a musical programme of unusual excellence arranged by Mrs. McMullen at their next session. Shakespeare's ghosts, as appearing in Hamlet and his other plays, will be a topic of discussion at the morning meeting, the musicale coming off in the afternoon.

Will Sing for Itself.

The Washington-street Parent-Teachers' Association has planned an entertainment for next Friday evening to be given at the school for the benefit of a Victor victrola fund. The programme will be given by the Sierra Male Quartette—Messrs. E. C. Boynton, A. A. Macurda, F. C. MacPherson and E. J. Ruenitz, assisted by records of the victrola in charge of H. H. Fish.

Cosmos Club Programmes.

The music section of the Cosmos Club met at the home of Mrs. J. B. Cook last week when the lectures on Tannhauser by Dr. Bruce Gordon Kingsley were completed. "Parsifal" will be the next Wagner opera under consideration. Mrs. Lou V. Chapin will speak on current events before the club next Wednesday and the following week the Wallis Dramatic School will present a play. A reception will follow, to which guests will be admitted without cards.

THE DRAMA.

their performance, they offer an act running fully twenty minutes called "A Day In Dogville" which, throughout, is highly entertaining and many times extremely amusing. This offer should prove an extremely attractive feature for the little folks.

Another exceptionally fine feature of the new bill will be Harry Thomson, one of the brilliant monologists in "His Honor The Mayor."

Mr Thomson has a method that is clearly his own and it is safe to say that he will furnish fifteen minutes of continuous laughter with his wit and perfect characterization.

A rare exhibition of bird intelligence will be shown in Mme. Bartholdi's cockatoos. This act is staged with a wealth of color, and the plumage of the many tropical species of birds as well as the cockatoos, makes a very brilliant scene.

Guy Rawson and Frances Claire should prove one of the distinct hits of the new bill in their novel song sketch "Yesterdays" in which they won such a distinct success at the Empress two seasons ago, while Newell and Niblo will furnish the musical portion of the bill in a series of instrumental selections.

Belle Dixon, a fascinating young singing comedienne will add much fun to the new bill with her new song hits, while the new comedy motion pictures furnish many hearty laughs. The new bill is diversified and gives every indication of being well up to the high Sullivan and Considine standard.

Adolphus.

Public demand has a whole lot to do with the success or failure of a show and this is further emphasized by the fact that the Adolphus Theater has played to packed houses all last week. The demand for a holdover of the "Texas Tommy" dancing contest in which eight people are competing has been so great and forceful that it was deemed best to accede.

Hence Messrs. Goldsmith's and Frease's champion dancers will stay another week at the Adolphus. The large silver loving cup offered by the Adolphus Theater will not be held up for the following week, but another cup will be offered to the winner of the week's contest. Three performances a day and packed houses at each performance testify to the class of the "Texas Tommy" dancing contest and the other stellar numbers on the bill.

The only change this week will be in the vaudeville and the farce comedy. In the vaudeville bill, Tony Regini will probably hold first honors. Regini is a singing and talking comedian, besides being an excellent instrumentalist. He is a expert on the mandolin, banjo and guitar.

Nichols and Sherwood will present "Trimming a Rube," a brilliant little comedy with laughs and screams throughout. Lloyd and Taylor are two high class singers and conversationalists. This is an act which combines all the high grade qualities of the best singing acts and besides including some original patter.

The Adolphus Comedy Stock Company will present "A Family Stew," another of Dick Cummings's laugh producers. He will be supported in the cast by Katherine Merley, Stella Adams, Maxie Mitchell, James Dillon, Jap Bentfrow and Otto Peck. J. D. Bryson and his high class orchestra will furnish the music while the Adolphuscope will uphold its end of the week's bill.

Kinemacolor.

Kinemacolor films for the coming week, which go on view at the Kinemacolor Theater tomorrow, ought to be especially interesting to all who love travel, for their principal scenes are taken from tours made by special Kinemacolor artists to the Orient and Europe.

Shown in full color are views of the Pyramids and of Memphis, with the surrounding Egyptian country, an especially colorful region, which with this process is shown in exquisite tint.

A tour is also taken through the picturesque regions of Devonshire, Eng., showing the pastoral life on the great estates of the Earl of Devon, one of the most famous of the English country parts. Ventnor, North Wales, with its rugged scenery and odd peoples, is also included in a special tour, all being shown in full natural color. An odd film is "The Chef's Preparation," showing the master of the cuisine at work, how he makes his wonderful dishes, etc. There will be the usual drama, and also one or two noncolor films.

The Whistling School.

Blanchard Hall was converted last Tuesday evening into a tangled wildwood and the hour was as dawn. The unique occasion was the bird recital given by the California School of Artistic Whistling, of which Miss Agnes Woodward is president. Her personal work is that of teaching bird imitations. Assisting her is a staff of five music teachers. A graduating class of twenty-one apt pupils participated in the concert Tuesday night and every woodland note, from the call of the bob white to the song of the nightingale, and from the warble of the chimney swallows to the lark's melody in the clouds found its echo there.

LUNA PARK.

Lovers of operatic music today will find a rare treat at Luna Park where Albert Keesing, the famous tenor, is to make his initial appearance on the Pacific Coast. Selections from "Rigoletto" and "Martha" will be rendered with accompaniments by Prof. Gregory's band of soloists.

Keesing, a young and handsome German, was until recently one of the principal tenors of the Chicago Grand Opera Company. He is a graduate of the famous La Scala di Milan.

Another feature among the numerous free attractions will be the introduction of three enormous pumas from the park's own zoo as full-fledged professional performers, by Capt. Ricardo, who will have them put through sensational paces in a specially prepared steel arena, by a pretty girl of unusual daring.

In the regular vaudeville announced for the Casino, where everything is likewise free, there will appear Diavolo, the fire king, in a thrilling act; Thompson and Desmond Sisters, a company of comedians, singers and dancers, and Edwards, the equilibrist.

There will also be dancing in the huge pavilion, skating in the open-air roller rink, free rides for the children on the flying wheel at the Social Whirl and upon the funny burros, and in full swing will be found "Nemo's Trip to Slumberland" over Thompson's scenic railroad; Davis's carousal, Dante's Inferno, Joyland, Ye Olde Jail, the circular swing, miniature railroad and all other attractions. The augmented zoo will be fed at 4 o'clock.

"THE GAMLBERS" COMING.

For an engagement of eight nights and the usual matinees, starting Sunday evening, January 28, the Majestic Theater comes forward with one of the most important of its bookings for the entire season, the attraction being Charles Klein's latest successful play of American life, "The Gamblers," which enjoyed a run of over 200 performances in New York City.

As was the case when he wrote "The Third Degree" and "The Lion and the Mouse," Mr. Klein has again taken as the basis of his plot certain interesting phases of contemporaneous events with which every reader of a newspaper is familiar. The gamblers in the play are a band of over-ambitious financial speculators, who, in a battle for dollars with a rival clique, over-certify loans in their banks and are entrapped by the Federal authorities, who determine to send them to jail as an object lesson against wildcat speculation.

In this extremity, young Wilbur Emerson, leader of the money-mad group, determines to recover certain incriminating evidence against himself and associates by entering, as a burglar at midnight, the house of James Darwin, the attorney engaged to conduct the prosecution for the authorities.

Emerson is detected in his attempted burglary by Mrs. Darwin, whom, it so happens, he had once unsuccessfully wooed, and while they are arguing, Darwin, bitterly hating Emerson and suspicious of his own wife, returns unexpectedly to confront and accuse the pair. From this point Mr. Klein advances his play to a powerful but logical denouement.

Paul Everton is the featured member of the cast, appearing as Wilbur Emerson, while the role of the unhappy Mrs. Darwin will introduce to local playgoers a beautiful young emotional actress in the person of Gertrude Dallas. Frank Losee personates Darwin, and the balance of the cast is entirely competent.

The Makeup of Yiddish.

[American Israelite:] "Yiddish," properly speaking, is not a language. It is a mixture of poor German, worse Hebrew and in Russia has some Russian words added. It has, however, a considerable literature, including a large number of newspapers and other periodicals, and is used colloquially by Russian, Polish and Hungarian Jews. In the United States it is spoken by more or less recent immigrants only, their children absolutely refusing to use it, and their attempts to make them do so is the chief cause of the disagreement between them which the parents so bitterly complain of.

THE HELPING HAND.

So shines a good deed in a naughty world."

The aid extended to the poor people of Chicago by Hull House will hereafter be largely augmented by the gift of Mrs. Joseph T. Bowen, in memory of her husband, of a seventy-five acre tract of land adjoining the north city limits of Waukegan, which she purchased for $29,000. The land is to be used as a summer camp for the younger boys and girls who are sent every summer to the country for a vacation by Hull House. The tract will be known as the J. T. Bowen Memorial Country Club.

The older boys and girls from Hull House have been sent every summer to a camp at Muskegon, Mich., the land for which has been given by that city, but the younger children were divided into groups and sent to different camps.

"Hull House is deeply grateful for Mrs. Bowen's splendid gift," said Miss Jane Addams. "We cannot tell just yet how many children we shall be able to care for this summer. There is a small building already on the land and we shall probably rent another building near by to be used as a kitchen and dining-room. From time to time we shall erect cottages, and until this is done tents will be used. There will be no large buildings built on the place as we deem it better and more congenial for the younger children to live in cottages."

Mrs. Bowen did not take title to the land at all, having it pass directly from the owners to Hull House. She has also endowed Hull House with a fund sufficient to organize the camp and help maintain the work permanently.

The boys of the navy surprised John D. Rockefeller, Mrs. Russel Sage and Miss Helen Gould with Christmas presents in appreciation of the help they had given to the Young Men's Christian Association in the navy.

A committee of four bluejackets from ships which make their home port Norfolk, Va., came to New York with a handsome table cover which the sailors themselves had embroidered, working out the various naval emblems with great skill, and presented it to Mr. Rockefeller while he was dining with his family at his town house on Christmas Day. The retired oil magnate told the boys he was made very happy with the remembrance.

The boys in turn told him how much the Naval Y.M.C.A. at Norfolk, for which Mr. Rockefeller had furnished the funds, was appreciated. The committee was made up of R. Winger of the New Hampshire, A. J. Collins of the Louisiana, R. J. Miller of the South Carolina and John Edmier of the Vermont.

Two other sailors, M. Herwig and A. Adamson of the battleship Delaware, made presents of a fine French clock to Miss Gould and two dozen American beauty roses to Mrs. Sage in behalf of the naval Y.M.C.A. of Brooklyn, the establishment and extension of which was made possible by their gifts. Herwig and Adamson reported that both Mrs. Sage and Miss Gould were much pleased.

The presence of mind and heroism of Mounted Policeman White of Philadelphia undoubtedly saved two young boys from being killed by a trolley car. White was sitting on his horse on the Market-street bridge when he saw Stanley Kaskinsky, aged 9, and another boy jump from the back of a wagon and dart before a rapidly approaching car.

Shouting a warning, White leaped from his horse and dived into the way of the car. One boy he grasped and threw aside. Stanley, however, was struck and rolled beneath the fender. The policeman reached under the fender, grasped the boy and supported him and guided his body to keep it from the wheels. The car slid over the rails for thirty feet before it could be stopped.

The child was little hurt, but was badly frightened and was sent home. During the excitement the lad who was thrown from the track disappeared. His name is unknown to the police.

Louis Brown, a motherless boy of 6 years, lost his life in a New York fire because he stayed by the side of his 4-year-old sister, Helen, and shielded her from the smoke and flames.

A fireman, searching through the burning building, found the two children unconscious, clasped in each other's arms beneath a bed.

The boy had wrapped his jacket about the little girl's head to protect her. She had tucked her head down on his breast and locked her arms about his waist.

Mr. Bean on Christmas week finished distributing $200,000 among old-time creditors in payment of debts contracted twenty years ago and long since outlawed.

Twenty years ago Mr. Bean was in the milling business at Fairbault, Minn. Business reverses came and left him with debts amounting to $200,000. He at once set out to regain his fortune, re-entering the milling business. He prospered and last month was able to pay off all he owed.

"This was the merriest Christmas of my life," said Mr. Bean.

Although the late Bishop Mackay-Smith of Philadelphia left no will, it has just been learned that he provided for certain gifts to charity and to individuals through his wife, and since his death she has been faithfully carrying out his desires. His gifts to charity were $5000 to the Episcopal City Mission; $2000 to the Children's Hospital and $5000 to the new Episcopal Cathedral in Washington.

John Arbuckle, the New York philanthropist, proposes to erect a home for cripples who by a little aid can become self-supporting. At the home various inventions will enable cripples who can use their hands and arms to do as well as men and women who have the use of all their members. In the summer time they can plow and harrow, drive mowing machines and hayrakes, and cultivate corn and potatoes and all kinds of vegetables. In the winter time they will be employed in large workshops, so that the year round they will not only be self-supporting, but can have a bank account. Mr. Arbuckle expects them to earn from $8 to $10 a week. The women will pay $3 weekly board and the men studies at one of the big conservatories, and Frank Wiggins could make excellent use of it in some of his "boost" literature. The letter was written in the middle of the recent cold snap, and reads as follows:

MATTERS MUSICAL.

"Well, you know I came here to 'finish,' and certainly my finish is in sight. Absolutely, I am not able to do a single thing, and have gone backward, if anything, since I left Los Angeles and the dear old academy. You can no more study music here in the Arctic regions of Chicago, than you could climb the Matterhorn in an automobile.

"There is just one thing people think of here in the winter time, and that is how long winter is going to last. There are only two periods of the entire year, so the other students who are so unfortunate as to have to live in this awful city tell me, that you can study at all—spring and fall. In the summer it's too hot, and in the winter it's too cold. And even in my apartment, where the sizzling steam radiator keeps the temperature fairly comfortable if you keep away from the frost-glazed windows, I can't really settle down to practice because that horrible fear keeps coming over me unconsciously as I realize that sooner or later I must go out into the indescribable cold.

"And when I think of you all down there at Tenth and Hill, playing and singing with the windows wide open, I fling the music into a corner, hurl myself on a couch and have a good, old fashioned cry. I'm through with it, and am writing home by this mail that I want to come back and do my finishing where I started, at the academy, with the palm trees rustling outside, and my blood really circulating, instead of just sort of hanging around in my veins.

"There are just as good teachers in Los Angeles as there are here, and a whole lot less weather. So you may expect me back in the sunshine soon, if the trains ever get running again, and just tell Mr. Von Stein about it so he will keep a place on his list for me."

Creatore for Land Show.

The land show in March promises two big musical attractions in Creatore and his band, and the popular mixed chorus of 300 voices that is being organized under the direction of Thomas Taylor Drill.

The singers who were first on the roll—Misses Marion Jacobs, Rena MacDonald and Mae S. Enderly—were ready even before the initial meeting, when the enrollment was to begin.

Mr. Drill is splendidly equipped for the task and although he is a comparative newcomer among the loyal residents of Los Angeles, his reputation for success in opera and oratorio in Chicago is such that there is no doubt of competence and great energy in the conductorship.

He was director of the Musurgia and the Irish choral societies in the Windy City, which won great popular success, and on several public occasions he did himself honor with his great aggregations of voices. On many occasions the Theodore Thomas orchestra played under Mr. Drill's direction. As a boy he was a solo soprano in old Trinity, New York, and has a splendid voice.

EGAN SCHOOL SUCCESSES.

Clever Young Players Winning Out All the Way From New York to the Pacific Coast.

Young people from the Egan school have been having conspicuous success during the past few months on the professional stage.

The most recent and conspicuous triumph is that scored by young Pablo Ferrando and Riena Graf—who has been playing under the stage name, "Doris Hetherington"—at the Belasco, in the current production of "Alias Jimmy Valentine." These children play the two little Lanes, and every critic in town gave them the most cordial notices; two of them declared that they were better than the children in H. B. Warner's original company; and one said unequivocally, that they were responsible for the success of the show.

Mrs. Sarah Collins, whose clever work in the Irish plays, produced a month or two ago, at the Egan Theater, was extensively noted, will depart today, filling an important role with the "Checkers" company, which played a week ago at the Lyceum, and which has been filling Southern California dates. Mrs. Collins also received warm commendation for the character portrayals she vouchsafed in Harry Corson Clarke's recent revival of "His Absent Boy."

Ruth Gartland, one of the most noted little players that the Egan school ever turned out, will return to her home town in about three weeks, when Mrs. Leslie Carter's company comes to play at the Hamburger Majestic Theater. Miss Gartland is the second woman in Mrs. Carter's company, and is an especial protege of John Cort.

During the past few months she has had some very interesting experiences, and joined Mrs. Carter's company in Chicago. Had she not accepted this engagement, she would in all probability, have been James K. Hackett's leading woman in his production of "The Grain of Dust."

William Lorenz, another clever young Egan player, who left here not many months ago to win his spurs with Frederick Warde, is firmly emplanted in the biggest show in New York City—the great production of "Kismet," the oriental play by Edward Knoblauch, in which Otis Skinner is the leading man.

Lucretia Del Valle, a very pretty Los Angeles girl of historic family and most decided natural talent, has been exceptionally fortunte during the past week in being chosen as leading womman for a new company in Rex Beach's "The Barrier," to play important time under prominent management.

Gladys Byers, still another pretty girl, who is proud to claim Los Angeles as the only home she has ever known, has gone from the Egan school to New York City, and is today to be found in the cast of the "Bird of Paradise," the Morosco presentation of Tully's play in the Maxine Elliott Theater.

Theora Carter, a bright and ambitious young student, is now firmly emplanted in a leading role of "In Old Kentucky," and next season is to have a leading part in a new play.

Florence Wadsworth is making good in a principal role in "The Alaskan." She is also an Egan pupil.

THE UNCHLOROFORMED.

"Uncle" William Redmond of Oakhurst, N. J., who danced a jig at the age of 100 and walked the Brooklyn bridge, has just celebrated his 103rd birthday. He has lost his voice during the last year and can speak only in a whisper. He used tobacco for seventy years and then gave it up.

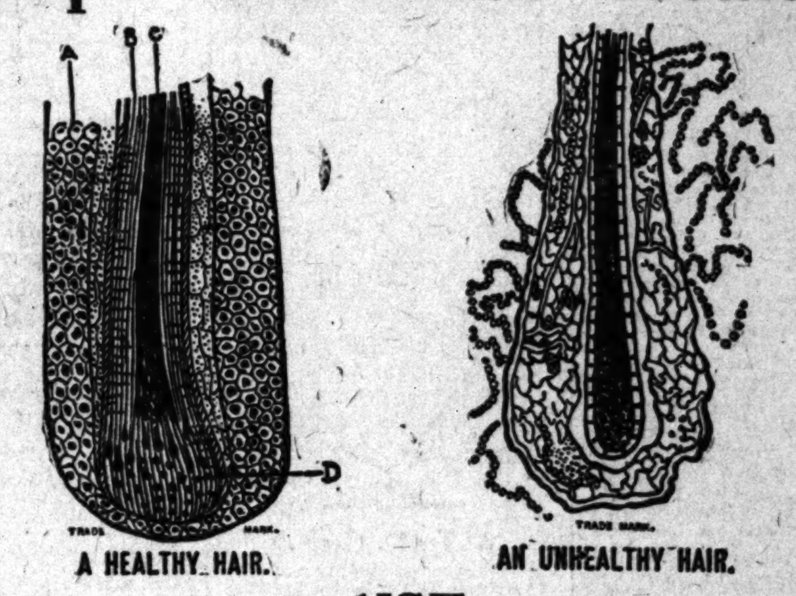
Pablo Moreno, reputed to be 127 years old, is dead in Navajoa, Mex. He had smoked cigarettes for 115 years, and always lived on coarse foods, never had seen a railroad train or a motor car.

Amasa Phillips, of Weston, Or., 80 years old, is driving a horse, just one-half his age, and both appear to be good for several years yet to work.

The town of Berlin, Pa., honored the 100th birthday of Levi Shoemaker by closing stors and schools and giving a luncheon to its oldest inhabitant. There was a special service in the Reformed Church. Judge W. H. Rüppel, of Somerset county, and other prominent persons deliverd speeches on the wonderful career of Mr. Shoemaker, who glories in the fact that he has lived his whole life in Berlin.

At the home of his grandson's wife, at West Liberal, Mo., "Uncle" Henry Dorman has celebrated his 113th birthday. He was born in New York, January 10, 1799. He married in 1823. When he was sixty-four years old he enlisted and served until the end of the Civil War. Congress has granted him an increase of pension because of his advanced age.

Keep Your Hair Healthy



TRADE MARK.
TRADE MARK.

A HEALTHY HAIR. AN UNHEALTHY HAIR.

USE

Newbro's Herpicide

If your hair lacks luster, is dry, brittle and uneven it is unhealthy. One of these hair bulbs magnified several thousand times under a powerful microscope has the appearance shown here by the right-hand picture. Such hair is far from pretty. Hair sickness is usually due to dandruff. The germ that causes this common but annoying trouble burrows down into the follicle or hair bulb. As the microbe develops, it sets up an inflammation that ultimately destroys the adhesion at the papilla and the starved hair finally slips out.

Sick or unhealthy hair makes the regular and intelligent application of NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE imperative. This preparation has long been known as the Original Dandruff Germ Destroyer and Hair-Saver. Besides being a delightful and efficient hair-dressing, HERPICIDE possesses an exquisite odor which appeals to all, it contains no grease and does not stain or dye. When beginning the use of this great scalp prophylactic the most agreeable effect perhaps is the almost immediate cessation of itching.

Send for Trial Bottle and Booklet

One application of this remarkable and well-known toilet requisite is usually sufficient to convince the most skeptical of its great merits. A trial size bottle, together with a booklet telling all about the hair, will be sent to any address upon receipt of Ten Cents in postage or silver.

OLD-TIME REMEDY DARKENS HAIR
GIVES COLOR TO FADED, GRAY HAIR

From time immemorial, sage and sulphur have been used for the hair and scalp. Almost everyone knows of the value of such a combination for darkening the hair, for curing dandruff and falling hair, and for making the hair grow.

In olden times the only way to get a hair tonic of this sort was to brew it in the home fireplace, a method which was troublesome and not always satisfactory.

Nowadays, almost every up-to-date druggist can supply his patrons with a ready-to-use product, skillfully compounded in perfectly equipped laboratories. The Wyeth Chemical Company of New York put up an ideal remedy of this sort, called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy, and authorize druggists to sell it under guarantee that the money will be refunded if it fails to do exactly as represented.

If you have dandruff, or if your hair is turning gray or coming out, don't delay, but get a bottle of this remedy today, and see what a few days' treatment will do for you.

This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle, and is recommended and sold by all druggists.

IN THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

San Pedro High School.

The girls who are preparing for the [illegible] festival with Miss Whitehead are very enthusiastic over the cantata "King Rene's Daughter," which will be their offering.

Miss Rutledge of the English department will take her junior class, now studying Shakespeare, to see Robert Mantell January 27.

Work will be started this week on the two new buildings to be added to the High School. These structures are to house the manual training and [illegible] departments, and the domestic science work. A modern model kitchen and dining-room will be special features.

The Greek history class conducts its work under the title of an organization known as the Council of Hellas, which gives ample opportunity to learn Parliamentary law in the open [illegible], debates, resolutions and [illegible]. The officers are chosen from the class and serve one month. Punishment for failure of work in the [illegible] consists, according to the constitution, in "ostracism."

The Elks of San Pedro gave a ball in their beautiful new home last Friday evening for the benefit of the baseball boys. The boys had a delightful time, of course, within those hospitable walls.

A new literary society was formed last week, after an excellent program before the student body, arranged by Roland Haskell. There were musical numbers, a reading by [illegible] Smith, an excellent plea for debating work by Vol Lucas, talks by Roland Haskell, Mr. Kienholz and Miss Kienholz. The officers of the new organization are Roland Haskell, president; Carl Aspe, vice-president, and Laura Gomer, secretary.

Mr. Kienholz of the biology department, who has had much experience in agricultural schools, has just perfected a new process in the preserving of fruits and vegetables for exhibition purposes. Mr. Kienholz has been working for many months on the process, and now has it completely and successfully worked out, so that specimens which he has had in preservation for some months look as if just gathered.

Los Angeles High.

The formal celebration in honor of the opening of the new cafeteria occurred Wednesday forenoon in the assembly hall. The school had as its guests President Guinn of the Board of Education, and Col. Steadman, H. [illegible] Frank, Mrs. Craig and Mr. Bean, members of the board. After selections by the Boys' Glee Club, the combined Boys' and Girls' Glee clubs, and [illegible] the orchestra, the whole assembly joined in singing for the first time the new school anthem written by [illegible] MacFadyan of the graduating class. With the completion of [illegible], full of history, wit and enjoyment, from Mr. Guinn, Mr. Frank and Col. Steadman, and the promise of an address to the girls from Mrs. [illegible], the guests adjourned to the cafeteria as a sort of verification of Mr. Frank's toast:

"Hail, Hail! to L. A. High,
We came to see and eat your pie."

The party at luncheon was joined by Mr. W. H. Housh, Superintendent [illegible] and Mr. McGonigle.

The zoological museum of the High School has been presented with a beautifully mounted white swan of the western wild variety. The museum is making a notable collection of [illegible] birds. This latest gift came from [illegible] Fish, a member of the football [illegible]

As now planned the commencement week programme will be as follows: Monday, January 29, Star and Crescent; Senior B day, with the presentation of Star and Crescent pins to the graduating class, and the offering of a farce by the Senior B's. Wednesday, January 31, Senior A class day, 1 p.m. and 8:15 p.m. in the assembly hall. Thursday, February 1, commencement at Temple Auditorium [illegible] p.m., with an address by Superintendent Francis.

In a departure from former custom the speech of presentation of the Star and Crescent pins will be made by one of the alumni rather than by the president of the Senior B's. This address will be somewhat in the nature of a welcome to the graduating class into the great body of the alumni. The address will be made by [illegible] Booth, a prominent graduate of the school.

The Philocosmian, the lower section of the literary society, held its last meeting of the term Friday and presented the following programme: "The Boys of 1776," a patriotic play of the Revolution; cast of characters: [illegible] Sterling, Bogie Born; Rachel [illegible], Marjorie Lyon; Ruth Sterling, Juanita Bowen; Ephriam Sterling, Roy Coleman; Prudence Granger, Constance Hodgson; Elmer Granger, Russell Brougher; Uriel Bosworth, Robert Howard; Blucher, Edward Russ; Burke, William Mathews; [illegible], Allen Sabin; Pretzel, [illegible] Castello.

A committee from the Parent Teacher Association of Pomona visited the cafeteria Thursday. They [illegible] representatives of Pomona to inspect the cafeteria and prepare a report for their Board of Education. They were accompanied by Mrs. An[illegible], State financial secretary of the Parent-Teacher Association, and Mrs. Trowbridge of Los Angeles. After inspecting the new building and sitting down to a fine hot lunch they declared themselves as being heartily in favor of school cafeterias.

Manual Arts High School.

While the boys are busy with the [illegible], the girls are also busy with their outdoor games. The doubles in tennis are well under way, [illegible] Hays and Arista Pouts leading. Carrying out the aim of the [illegible] physical training, Mrs. [illegible] B. Morgan, a variety of sports [illegible] offered. By the presentation of a number of different sports suitable for girls, it is hoped some of them will develop into a hobby for [illegible] after school days. With [illegible] in view, the activities of the girls [illegible] in full swing. The fencing class [illegible] every week and has an enthusiastic following. Not content with [illegible] after school, the noon hour is [illegible] used for lively stunts. A [illegible] exhibition will be given in the [illegible]

A hockey team is being formed for [illegible] the school periods. Membership will be restricted to two dozen, [illegible] these must be physically fitted for the strenuous game. The sport [illegible] very popular in the old country and [illegible] is the great winter game. [illegible] club for girls is being [illegible] for exercise after school hours. [illegible] will be Mrs. Morgan [illegible] Gephart. A new track is [illegible] on the campus to take the [illegible] of the old one that has been [illegible] by the encroachment of the new building. It [illegible] five laps to the mile.

Manual Arts High School made the [illegible] sale of the anti-tuberculosis [illegible] of any school in this city. The [illegible] to $109.35.

[illegible] are being made for [illegible] of officers of the student [illegible] in favor of friends [illegible] at the assembly. [illegible] will take place next week. [illegible] purpose of giving the boys [illegible] in the forming of [illegible] there will be a course of lectures given under the leadership of the Young Men's Christian Association.

It goes without saying that history classes in Manual Arts High School are progressing, otherwise they would not be keeping pace with history itself, as it is the aim of the department that they shall do. B9 students who have passed by successive incarnations through the ancient civilizations of Memphis, Babylon, Nineveh and Persepolis, to the Golden Age of Athens, lingering there to its decay, are about to leave behind them "The Glory That Was Greece," and take up life anew in "The Grandeur That Was Rome," while those who have been experiencing the rise and decline of the world's greatest empire will adopt the life of the monk or knight, and with mind or sword attempt to pierce the darkness of early medievalism. Others, who through gray dawn found the light of the Renaissance, and pursued it through the dash of religions will soon, by the brightness of clear day, be able to more distinctly view the wreckage behind and look forward to the future. Modern classes have been steadily more up to date studying the present governments of European countries, and keeping up with events of international interest, such as the revolution in China, the settlement of Moroccan difficulties, the elections in the Reichstag, etc. The B11 English history class, which Miss Grant thinks the most modern and progressive one in Manual Arts, in the way of independent ideas, has been examining the recent English crisis, the position of the House of Lords, the Lloyd George budget, and subsequent legislation. They have also been entering into the spirit of England through the best fiction of the periods, and preparing to take up the more exhaustively industrial development and the colonial policies.

Hollywood High School.

Hollywood High School was exceedingly fortunate in being able to hear Prof. Paul Pierson of Swathmore College in two of his delightful lecture readings. Wednesday morning the subject was "Kipling," and Prof. Pierson read several of his poems in a particularly appreciative manner. Friday the subject was "Poe," and others. Both lectures were well attended by the students and very highly appreciated.

Last Friday Mrs. Carrie Jacobs Bond gave to the students of Hollywood High a recital of songs and readings of her own compositions. Mrs. Bond spends part of each winter at Hotel Hollywood, and to show her interest in the school, appeared before them in this way. She is a woman of charming personality and so takes her audience into her sympathy that they are at once with her, whether she portrays pathos or humor.

Friday evening the annual oratorical contest was held at Hollywood High School, the names of the winners, a boy and a girl, to be engraved on a silver cup given to the school by the Board of Trade.

The following programme was rendered: Orchestra, "The Hot Axle," Marion Smith; "The Boy Orator of Zepata City," Leonard White; "The New South," John Lawton; Mandolin Club, "Jean Valjean and the Bishop," Geneva Ryerson; "The Lie," Marion Underwood; "The Last Word," Stella Messenger; orchestra. The judges were Mr. Winterer, Dr. E. P. Ryland, Mrs. Jones, all of Hollywood.

Italian Course in Evening High.

The Evening High School will offer a course in elementary Italian next term. In order to insure the organization of this class, persons who desire the work should enroll during the first week in February. The course will be essentially the same as Italian I of the universities, and will be given by Mr. Ewington of the Los Angeles High. Attention is again called to the fact that no tuition is charged to teachers for any of the Evening High School work.

Polytechnic High.

At an Aud call Tuesday, Capt. Prescott addressed the students on the Spanish-American War, and gave his views concerning it.

Miss King spoke at an Aud call Thursday on her work as secretary of the George Junior Republic.

Dr. Pearson of Pennsylvania gave a lecture on James Whitcomb Riley on Friday.

The electrical entertainment given by Prof. H. LaV. Twining of the faculty, last Friday evening, was repeated Monday morning.

The Playgoers' Society, which is now a part of the Social Center, presented Percy McKay's "Mater" Friday evening in the auditorium.

The French Club held its meeting Thursday. The programme was in celebration of the birthday of Jeanne D'Arc, and the numbers were as follows: Song, "Jeanne D'Arc," chorus; poem, "Death of Jeanne D'Arc," Jessie Jones; violin solo, Walter Potter; play, "Proces de Jeanne D'Arc."

The German Club held a meeting Friday. No programme was given, the time being passed in games.

Manual Training Department.

The sixth annual kite tournament will be held April 20 at Exposition Park. If the heavens are darkened during the spring vacation, with new and queer species of flying machines, why just put it down to youthful genius, for that is the time when the product of youthful genius will be tried out. At Exposition Park they will have plenty of room for exhibition.

Seal-Day Money.

Two thousand and forty-nine dollars was the goodly amount collected at Christmas time for the sale of Christmas seals in the public schools. This money goes to the Southern California Society for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis for the aid of indigent consumptives.

Carrie Jacobs-Bond Entertainment.

Carrie Jacobs-Bond, well-known composer, musician and reader, will give an entertainment for the Garner-street School Parent-Teacher Association at Hollywood High School auditorium, on Friday evening, January 26. Mrs. Jacobs-Bond will render a number of her songs and piano composition and give a reading of original poems.

Mrs. Bond leaves for Chicago shortly, where she will give a series of entertainments.

Choral Section to Meet.

The choral section of the Los Angeles City Teachers' Club will hold its meetings hereafter at room No. 303, Polytechnic High School, at 4 o'clock on Thursdays. The work of the club is accredited in the superintendent's office, and probably later will be accredited at the university.

Grant-School P.T.A. Holds Meeting.

On Friday, January 12, the Grant-school Parent-Teachers' Association held its regular monthly meeting, this time called "Reciprocity Day." The presidents and officers of the neighboring schools met and discussed subjects and experiences helpful to all engaged in furthering this work. The following programme was given: Selection, school orchestra; whistling solo, Andrea S. Barnes; song, "Mattinati," Mrs. George Williams; "For All Eternity," Miss Clark. Short addresses were given by Mrs. Hinkle, Mrs. Huff, Mrs. Brada, Miss Rathburn, Mr. Schlegel and Mrs. Briggs. Mrs. Jud Harper, president of the Gardner-street association, gave an account of the work done there, showing their methods to be both original and progressive. Mrs. Cornelius Cole, president of the Colegrove association, also made a short address, and Mrs. Lord expressed in a fitting manner the thanks of the Utah-street association for the donations to the Utah-street Maternity Cottage.

Sixty-second-street School.

Under the direction of Miss Elizabeth McCarthy, 250 individual gardens have been prepared by the pupils for the planting of early vegetables.

The boys have been making bookcases and reading tables for the several rooms and a music cabinet for the school orchestra, in the manual training classes.

ART AND ARTISTS.

BY ANTONY ANDERSON.

By Moonlight.

Is this the world I knew? Beneath the day
It glowed with golden heat, with vivid hues—
Mountains and sky that merged in melting blues
And hazy air that shimmered far away.

This world is white beneath a silver sky—
White with pale brightness, luminously chill.
The moon reigns queen, but faintly shining still
The dim stars glimmer on the hilltops high.

Here, where long grasses touch across the stream
That threads with babbling laugh its narrow way,
My face turned upward to pale gleams that stray
Through whispering willow boughs—
I dream and dream.

Miss Gearhart's Water Colors.

An interesting exhibition of no less than seventy-two water color landscapes from the brush of Francis Hammel Gearhart opened in the Kanst gallery, No. 642 South Spring street, on the 15th of this month, to continue till the 27th.

Miss Gearhart is a woman of great talent and her artistic development has been rather unusual. A sister to two of the instructors in art in Los Angeles schools, she herself is and has been a teacher of history in the High School. All at once, and without premonitory signals, she took up a color box and some brushes and began to paint—and paint well. This was only a year or two ago. Her advance has been rapid and she bids fair to develop into one of the strongest of California's landscape painters.

I say this advisedly, for I realize that at present her work has some conspicuous faults. The greatest of these is lack of color harmony. Her observation is keen and vivid—too vivid, indeed, for she seizes upon a spot of color and puts it down without carefully regarding its relation to other spots of color. The result is apt to be a picture composed of many "purple patches," each patch attractive in itself, but confusing when seen with all the others. She is analytical, but not synthetic, in handling color. Strange to say, her sense for composition in lines and masses is admirable. These she balances with unerring fineness. I have come to the conclusion that she is enamored of color—that she loses her head, so to speak, under the impact of its many beauties—and that she is really a colorist who has not yet found herself. My diagnosis may be wrong, but somehow I don't think it is.

Miss Gearhart has just had a vacation of a year from her duties as teacher of history, and that year she has given to painting. How devotedly she has yielded her time and abilities to art the present exhibition of seventy-two pictures proves. Many of the landscapes are exceedingly good, not one is uninteresting. In some of them she has found tone—notably in the series of small sketches in which she has used opaque color, "Lights," "At Dusk," "First Quarter," etc. "Last Glow," with its greenish sky, is especially good, and "San Gabriel Meadow," in a color scheme of purples, is also very attractive. All are painted with much feeling.

I could wish that Miss Gearhart would use opaque color oftener, or else take up oils. Too, I think she would get away from a certain tile-like luster if she would use rougher paper. I notice that her paper has a very fine grain, conducive to over-smoothness of technique.

The artist paints good skies, her clouds are full of movement and the winds blow. The hurrying galleons of the upper blue always attract her, and they play an important part in her schemes of composition. Her trees, too, are well modeled, alive. In fact, she is an excellent draughtswoman, seldom slipping down on form. When she realizes color fully and at all times, she will become a painter to be reckoned with.

Many pictures in the present exhibition, indeed, are as good in their entirety as they are in their parts. In these Miss Gearhart has synthesized her visualizations and given us perfect harmony. For instance, nothing could be more satisfactory, more beautiful, than "Road to Capistrano," with its slim eucalyptus trees throwing long purple shadows over the road; with its charming suggestion of light and atmosphere; with its sea lying like a blue-green sickle in the distance, while the dun harvest of summer makes the foreground.

In "Afternoon," another delightful picture, we see a group of eucalyptus that appear to be out on a gay promenade over sunny fields. The sky, of a pale and tender blue, is full of billowing white clouds. Weeds of an agreeable reddish brown lie flat over the foreground. "A Weed Patch" has the same reddish browns, glowing like wine among the greens; here and there are blossoms delicately picked out and elaborated.

"At Laguna Beach" shows us well-modeled embankments and a sea with a fine play of blues and greens. "A Weed-Grown Way" has the winey reds that Miss Gearhart loves so well. The sky is a delicate yellowish gray, the trees are cold and bluish. "Foothill Path" gives us the round knobs of hills above the touches of blue and lavender among the reds and greens of wayside weeds. The trees are well modeled. "In the Country" is characterized by a bold and free handling, and is particularly rich in color. A good color scheme is also found in "Moonrise," whose only jarring note is the moon itself, which is painty.

There is a fine foreground in "The Harvest Moon," massive, russet colored and painted with genuine feeling. "Trail to Glen Alpine" is vivid and well drawn, perhaps a trifle overneat and precise. "A Laguna Eucalyptus" is very simple and happy in composition—though, to be sure, there are two eucalypts. The color is good, the feeling true. Rich greens, yellows and reds are found in "By Lamanda Park," whose sky is filled with clouds in motion.

No one interested in the progress of art in Los Angeles should miss this exhibition. It is more than worth while. Remember, it closes on the 27th.

Colored Copley Prints.

The Copley prints which Mrs. Irving Way has been exhibiting at the Woman's Club House will remain on view for another week. They are to be seen every day, mornings and afternoons.

These prints have been tinted by Mrs. Way according to her own ideas of color harmonies, and without regard to the color schemes of the originals. The result, in almost every case, is something unique and exquisite, a decoration of great beauty and harmony.

Besides the Copley prints there are also a few old English prints. Among these, "The Road Through the Woods," from Hobbema, is especially rich and attractive. Though the artist has used only transparent color, there are both depth and quality, with scarcely a hint of the black print beneath. This is true of every one of the prints she has tinted.

There are a few of Corot's most delightful idyls in landscape, "Scene by Brook," "Edge of Pasture," and, unusually lovely and full of light, "Ville d' Auray." A landscape by George Inness, "Edge of the Woods," has also been very successfully done, and nothing could be more truthful and effective than Fritz Thaulow's "Mill Stream," with the cold banks of snow on the left.

Burne-Jones's "Hope" has been very beautifuly transcribed by Mrs. Way in a simple color scheme of blue, red and green. Indeed, the artist seldom uses more than three colors in any of her renderings, but attains with these absolute harmony. Especially charming is "Song of Ages" by Ethel Wright, a group of five lovely young girls against a background of white lilies. They are singing, and one holds a scroll of music. Mrs. Way suggests that the true title of the picture should be "The Magnificat."

"Flavia," by Cox, is a beautiful woman shown in her boudoir. We see her in profile. Her gown, perfectly colored, is pale blue with pink roses. Stillman's "Love's Message" and "The Enchanted Garden" are also shown, "The Council Chamber," by Burne-Jones, and an effective drawing of "Cordelia" by Abbey, in which the color scheme is entirely Mrs. Way's invention, as the drawing appeared originally in black and white; it is beautiful and effective, the long red scarf which Cordelia wears being a fine and vivid touch.

Don't forget that the exhibition remains open all this week.

Decorations by McBurney.

James E. McBurney, whose studio is in the Walker Theater building, is executing an important commission that will occupy him for several years. This is a series of eight decorative panels to be placed in the music-room of the artistic Glenwood Mission Inn, Riverside.

A number of artists have already contributed to the interior attractiveness of the mission inn, with the result that it is one of the most artistic hotels in America. All the decorations are Californian in subject, and most of them treat of events in the life of the early padres. McBurney's panels will follow the general scheme.

Four of McBurney's pictures will be ecclesiastical in subject. These will be five feet by five feet and six inches in dimensions. The panels to be placed above them will be what may be termed "secular" in idea—the mission fathers shown in their work of instructing the Indians in herding, farming, building, and weaving and sewing. The weavers and the sewers will be separated and placed in narrow panels at either side of the door.

The ecclesiastical subjects are: "Erection of Cross at Monterey in 1769;" "Father Serra Journeying From Mission to Mission;" "Father Serra in Contemplation on Rubidoux," while the fourth and last subject has not yet been quite decided on by McBurney.

"Erection of Cross at Monterey" is already finished, and will be sent to Riverside in a few weeks. McBurney has attempted to make a decoration that combines the ideas of Abbey and Chavannes. He has painted a picture that is full and rich in color, with figures that are well rounded and modeled, and that yet is so low in tone that it lends itself admirably to the scheme of the room, which it is intended to decorate. It seems to me that he has succeeded admirably in this difficult task, and that the work on this panel is the best he has yet done in painting.

There are many figures. In the center of the canvas appears Father Junipero Serra, erecting the cross made from a newly cut pine. Soldiers in picturesque cloaks are ranged on the right, some distance back. In the foreground to the left, are semi-naked Indians in picturesque and attentive attitudes. In the center is shown a live oak, beneath whose branches is an altar with crucifix and candles. The sea beyond is of a greenish blue color. The color scheme is admirable.

The second panel has just been laid in. Father Serra is shown encountering an Indian, who stands astonished and suspicious. In the distance loom the massive purple mountains. This panel promises to be as interesting as the first.

ART NOTES.

An interesting feature of last night's monthly meeting of the California Art Club was an exhibition of "Manbertypes," an artistic invention of one of the members of the club. Another was the artistic decorations along the stairs leading to the room of the Sketch Club, at No. 109 Temple Block.

Joseph Greenbaum, who has been absent from Los Angeles for some months, has just returned. He held a successful exhibition in San Francisco and painted a number of portraits there. He will hold an exhibition of his late pictures in the Blanchard gallery very soon.

A week from tomorrow J. Bond Francisco will open an exhibition of about a dozen of his pictures at the Daniell gallery.

William Wendt, who has been sketching in Cahuenga Pass, returned to Los Angeles a few days ago.

C. A. Fries, who has been visiting Los Angeles and the northern towns, returned to San Diego last week.

Ernest Browning Smith, who is a musician as well as a landscape painter, has been one of the orchestra at the French opera for the past two weeks.

Jean Mannheim is working on some portraits.

Granville Redmond is located permanently in Menlo Park.

M. Braun is holding an exhibition at his studio in the Isis building, San Diego. Some of Braun's landscapes were exhibited at the Daniell gallery recently.

Two new landscapes by Detlef Sammann will be added to the collection now showed at the Daniell gallery. All the pictures will leave this gallery soon, to be exhibited permanently at the California Furniture Company.

C. F. Bundy of Richmond, Ind., will arrive in Los Angeles in a day or two to pass the winter and spring in California. Bundy considers this an ideal sketching ground.

Kanst will soon have two galleries, each 20x24 feet in dimensions, and both well lighted. In February an exhibition of the recent works of John M. Gamble will be held there.

The Toledo Museum of Art was formally opened on Wednesday. On Thursday memorial exercises in honor of the late Josef Israels were held.

A few interesting impressionistic landscapes by H. G. Thompson will be shown at the Kanst gallery in the near future.

FAT VANISHES
ONE POUND A DAY
BY NEW DRUGLESS METHOD.
TRUE SUCCESS AT LAST
DOUBLE CHIN GOES QUICK.
Two Hundred Thousand Women Made Happy With This New Knowledge Through a Copy of This Remarkable Book, "WEIGHT REDUCTION WITHOUT DRUGS." Isn't This Convincing Evidence As to Its Value?

SEE ME HERE!
I LOOKED AS FAT AS AN OX BEFORE I REDUCED MY FAT.

HERE I AM AFTER REDUCING 37 LBS. IN FIVE WEEKS, WITH MY HARMLESS HOME TREATMENT

The Joy of Living Is the Heritage of the Lean, I Was Stout—and I Know

My friends were charitable, and they called it obesity; others referred to me as being STOUT, but I know, it was just plain bulky weight. I was miserable—you, too, are equally miserable if you are too stout.

To reduce your weight you must find the cause, you must get at the very reason.

I Found the Cause—The Rest Was Easy.

Before I succeeded, I tried everything within reason and some things beyond reason.

It was maddening,—disgusting.

All I had to do was to remove the cause, and I swear under oath, that by my simple method, without drugs, medicine, harmful exercises, or starvation diet, I reduced my weight 37 pounds in five weeks, and guarantee that I can do the same for you. I do not use medicine of any kind or worthless stuff to rub on the body, but a simple home treatment; even a child can use it without harm. Through this marvelous combination home treatment I succeeded because I had found the right way. I can now climb to the summit of Pike's Peak with ease. I could not do that until I had taken off 37 pounds of my ponderous weight.

If you are interested in your own happiness and health and figure, you will permit me to tell you how to reduce your weight "Nature's Way."

It is astonishing the thousands of grateful letters I am receiving. J. E. Boiselle, Box 423, Great Bend, Kansas, writes that he lost fifty pounds with my harmless treatment. W. L. Schmits, Montevideo, Minnesota, lost thirty pounds in thirty days. Mamie McNeily, Desloge, Missouri, writes that she lost sixty-five pounds with this new method, and I can send you thousands of names of satisfied customers who have given me permission to use their names. I never publish any name without written permission.

I have printed a book for you entitled, "Weight Reduction Without Drugs," which I am giving away without charge, prepaid to you, so that you may know of my successful method and be able to permanently reduce your weight any amount up to seventy pounds, without harmful exercises or starvation diet, drugs or medicine.

I WILL SEND THIS BOOK TO YOU AT MY EXPENSE

Send for my book, "Weight Reduction Without Drugs." It is yours for the asking, and I will be glad to send it to you, postage prepaid.

I have found that the best way to know happiness is to give it.

Sincerely your friend,
MARJORIE HAMILTON,
Suite 5071, Central Bank Bldg.,

PERSONAL—

PROF. C. IRVIN ALTHOUSE,

NOTED ASTROLOGER AND PALMIST OF NATIONAL FAME AND REPUTATION.

305½ S. SPRING, NEAR THIRD ST.

A RESIDENT OF LOS ANGELES 23 YEARS.

PROF. ALTHOUSE is an experienced practitioner in the science of modern ASTROLOGY, by which he has made many REMARKABLE PREDICTIONS. The horoscope shows the powerful influence of the planets in all affairs of life. It shows diseases, deaths, love and marriage, financial affairs, talents, environments, about children, relatives, when and where to travel, what to seek or to avoid, when in danger of losses, troubles, etc., etc.; also your good periods coming—giving dates of these events for the future.

PROF. ALTHOUSE read E. H. Sothern, Nat Goodwin, Mary Mannering, Gadski, Admiral Schley, David Starr Jordan, ex-Gov. Pardee, ex-Senator Clark, Gen. Chaffee, Edison, Sousa, Modjeska, Julia Marlowe, Anna Held, Jefferson, Capt. Hobson, Lillian Russell, Calve, Admiral Evans, H. E. Huntington, De Wolf Hopper, Maxine Elliott, Ethel Barrymore, etc.

PROF. ALTHOUSE'S SKILLED WORK, with his trained judgment, must in no wise be classed with that of other readers. Therefore, do not waste your money on the idiotic advice and warning of HUMBUG astrologers, palmists, psychics—those doing dishonest work.

PROF. ALTHOUSE is an expert PALMIST, and WITH EACH PALM READING gives also an ASTROLOGICAL READING.

DR. J. A. LARSEN writes: "I want to say that your reading was the most satisfactory thing I have ever had in my life; I know a great deal about these sciences, and I consider your work as the most THOROUGH and reliable of any reader in the United States."

PROF. ALTHOUSE'S wonderful proficiency in the casting of HOROSCOPES and hand reading has brought him a LARGE AND SUCCESSFUL PRACTICE. The most private confidences are reposed in him, and his advice is sought in the most difficult and critical circumstances. Personal attention. Strict privacy. HIGHEST GRADE OF WORK that skill and many years of experience can produce; therefore HIGH-CLASS PATRONAGE SOLICITED.

Daily and evenings; Sunday, 10 to 2.

50c. 50c. One Week Only. 50c. 50c.

Don't delay. Consult him at once. His predictions are always true, as thousands of people will testify.

Your past, your present life and your entire future can be told by consulting Prof. Luzon, the world-eminent psychic.

Your greatest wish can be realized; you would not desire a thing if you were not capable of attaining it.

His wonderful work is not intended to satisfy idle curiosity, but to give those who seek the truth a permanent benefit. People are skeptical because they do not know. It is a study worthy the attention of an elevated and inquiring mind.

WHAT WILL BE THY FATE?

Consult Luzon; do not hesitate or wait. Call today. It may be too late tomorrow, and it may be the beginning of a new life for you with greater success and more happiness than you have experienced in the past. I see all, I tell all, good or bad, and never ask a solitary question. If you are going to see a reader, why not see the best?

PERSONAL—
MRS. MASSON,
the noted palmist of London, Eng., may be consulted at 322 S. SPRING ST. (over Owl Drug Store) by those desiring CAREFUL, CONSCIENTIOUS AND SCIENTIFIC HAND READINGS FROM ONE OF THE FOREMOST PALMISTS OF THE DAY.

The earnest student and thinker will soon learn in his investigation along psychological lines that that which pertains to occult phenomena proper can readily be distinguished from crude and oft-exposed SLEIGHT-OF-HAND TRICKS, the most common of which is the telling of the subject's name, age., etc., AFTER HE HIMSELF HAS WRITTEN THAT information.

PALMISTRY, HONESTLY PRACTICED, WILL NOT tell you your name, but it WILL give you information of considerably greater value in every-day life.

Your vocation, your present line of work, matters of health and domestic life, financial conditions, and ways and means of climbing out of a rut of ill luck into wide paths of success and prosperity can all be told you through scientific palmistry WITHOUT A SINGLE QUESTION, WRITTEN OR VERBAL.

MRS. MASSON DOES NOT APPEAL TO IGNORANT SUPERSTITION, BUT TO THE FINEST INTELLIGENCE.

HIGH-CLASS PATRONAGE SOLICITED.
(Daily and evenings; Sundays, 2 to 5.)

TO LET OR LEASE— Stores, Offices, Business Sites.

TO LET—LEASE—

MAIN STREET.

Good location near the corner of Fifth and Main—immediate possession. Also other locations on Main street, not generally known to be on the market. Splendid theater site, (60-ft. front,) can be leased for 25 years.

SPRING STREET.

We can locate you on this busy street in most any location desired. Let us know your requirements. We wish to make special mention of a storeroom at Sixth and Spring streets that can be leased on very favorable terms.

BROADWAY.

Storeroom close to Fourth and Broadway. Just the right place for Ladies' Specialty business, exclusive glove house, or similar lines. This is your opportunity to locate on Broadway. Other Broadway leases can be secured by consulting our Leasing Department.

HILL STREET.

Don't overlook the fact that business conditions have increased two-fold within the past six months on this thoroughfare. We have one or two locations suitable for good mercantile business, also a few properties where the owner will erect a building to suit your special wants. We have a ground lease near Seventh and Hill that might interest you. Other desirable locations on the principal business streets.

We devote our time principally to inside business property, and are thoroughly conversant with rental values and locations adapted to certain lines of business. We offer you our services and knowledge.

30 CARS AT LOWEST PRICES—

We are now ready to sell a number of cars, more or less damaged by fire, including some of the best known standard makes.

Most of these cars can be rebuilt at a reasonable figure and to make room for the workmen to reconstruct our new building WE WILL NOT REFUSE ANY REASONABLE OFFER.

Besides those slightly damaged, we have several others of which a number of parts are still in good condition and if you are mechanical or in the business you may be able to use them. NO REASONABLE OFFERS REFUSED.

See us at once. The entire lot must be sold this week.

Dear Sir: On account of the heavy increase in my auction business I have decided to retire from the stable business and in the future devote my entire time to the auction and commission business. I have therefore sold my lease and will sell the entire equipment of the Fashion Stables, 219 E. First st., at public auction on Tuesday, January 30, at 10 o'clock.
The stock consists in part as follows:
70 head of high class, city broke, sound young horses and mares, suitable for all purposes, which I consider the best lot of city broke delivery and livery horses ever offered at public auction in Los Angeles.
4 good heavy draft teams, well mated.
1 very fast pacer, 4 years old, gentle, city broke.
1 good saddle pony.
1 good gentle pony and jump seat pony rig.
15 A No. 1 Babcock buggies.
10 good business buggies.
15 delivery wagons.
100 sets of single and double harness.
All the tools, office furniture, desks, safes, etc.
This is an opportunity seldom offered, to buy this class of stock at your own price, as under ordinary circumstances they could not be bought at any price. This lot of horses will been their work up to the night of January 29. Intending purchasers can come and look them over on any Sunday before the sale and find them to be as represented. They will be sold under our iron-clad guarantee to be as represented in every particular or money refunded.
S. WATKINS,
Owner and Auctioneer.
N. B.—Take Notice: On account of the amount of stock which we have of our own, we will not be able to handle any outside stock at this sale.
Sale rain or shine—all under cover.

LIVE STOCK FOR SALE—
Poultry, Birds, Dogs, Cats, Etc.

FOR SALE—IF YOU BOUGHT AN INCUBATOR which would you rather do? Buy from a concern that acts as agents and makes 25 to 35 per cent on you, or buy from us. We sell direct to you from our factory. If we sold Incubators through agents and allowed them a high discount, wouldn't we have to raise our prices when we only charge you $10 for the 60-egg with brooder, $14 for the 130-egg, $25 for the 300, and $40 for the 612-egg sizes, and besides we pay the freight. If we sold through agents and shipped the incubators everywhere we would have to add many dollars to the list price.

We prefer to sell to you DIRECT. I can sell three times as many Incubators at a low price as I can at high prices, and you get the benefit.

The 1912 model Success has a regulator that controls HEAT, MOISTURE, and VENTILATION AUTOMATICALLY. Better investigate these incubators before you buy any other, but be sure to see all of the others first and then see the vast difference between them, and also see if you can imagine why they ask $5 to $20 more than we do for first-class, hot-water incubators. FREE 48-page catalogue will be ready soon; send your name and I will send you one. We have a few 1911 models at big reductions in price, also some bargains in 2nd-hand Incubators. Remember I have no agents nor branches in this city, and that I have been here over six years. 1912 style regulator attachments supplied FREE to customers with older Success Incubators. Be sure to send for the book. E. E. M'CLANAHAN, 112 East 8th. M5651. F1635.

LETS-EM-OUT.

The 20th Century Wonder of the Poultry World. A preparation which is applied to the egg before setting or placing in incubator. ONE APPLICATION IS SUFFICIENT. When chicks are due to hatch, the shell will drop apart without any undue exertion of the chick, producing a much stronger and more vigorous chick and giving them the proper start. LETS-EM-OUT is sold by all reliable poultry supply houses at One Dollar per bottle or sent prepaid to any point in the United States on receipt of price. The contents of one bottle sufficient for the release of FIVE HUNDRED CHICKS. Simple directions for its use, together with our special edition of "Poultry Secrets" accompany each bottle. Prepared $255 BUYS A BRAND NEW $400 PIANO.

THE REASON WHY.

About two years ago the Vice-president and head of the manufacturing end of one of Boston's best factories severed their connection with it. They went to New York City, equipped one of the finest factories, made the finest pianos and player pianos they knew how. They put their own name on them. It was the same as the Boston house used. The Boston house went to court, the Court issued a permanent injunction, preventing this firm from selling them under that name. They went into bankruptcy. We purchased these pianos from the receiver, who bought the entire contents of this factory. We paid less than the cost of labor and material. This is why you can buy these $400 pianos for $255. We guarantee every statement made above to be an absolute fact. Come to our store on Monday morning and we will show you these instruments. Easy terms.

HOUSES AND LOTS—BARGAINS.

XXXIst YEAR. SUNDAY MORNING, JANUARY 21, 1912. PRICE: { Per Month, Per Copy, Delivered, 1½ Cents. Single Copies, on Streets and Trains, 5 Cents.

Home-like Dwelling of English Type for Five-Acre Site in Ridgewood Park.

FACT AND COMMENT.

A great deal has been said in these columns by way of glorification of the spirit in which Los Angeles has set about it to prepare for the realization of her great destiny. The foresight that urged the construction of the aqueduct and the aggressiveness evidenced in the plan to create a mighty deep-sea harbor and world port out of the former shallow inlets at San Pedro and Wilmington have been triumphantly heralded over and over again in these comments as projects epical in conception and epochal in their historical significance.

The county good roads enterprise, standing alone, is staggering in its proportions. The municipal railway plan and the scheme for the conservation and distribution of the power generated by the fall of the Owens River water in its course to the city must be placed in the category of the biggest and boldest of purely public projects in the history of American municipalities. Only Los Angeles could conceive such stupendous undertakings, and only Los Angeles could carry them out to glorious fulfillment. In their accomplishment is glory enough for any city.

If the writer, therefore, undertakes to suggest that the city must eventually go still further and do still more if it would adequately and intelligently prepare for the future, it hardly need be explained that the comments of this trend are made without any intention of faultfinding. In suggesting that this city is confronted with pressing problems which have not yet been tackled and which must be taken account of at once, the Fact and Comment man feels that he is paying a fine compliment to the spirit of get-up-and-hustle in this city. It must not be said that Los Angeles will ever be content to rest on her laurels until every problem vital to the future progress of the city has been met and solved.

Must Be Cautious.

The foregoing comment is made with due appreciation of the fact that Los Angeles is facing financial perplexities that are both real and insistent and that the aqueduct and harbor must first and last have the prior consideration. The writer is not bent upon urging the city to take up new burdens too heavy to swing.

The city should at once determine, however, whether it can consistently go ahead with the new City Hall on the Temple Block site.

In the opinion of some business men it would be the part of economy if the city were to check its enormous outflow rent roll by struggling to build a municipal building in the immediate future. Others say not. This is a matter for skilled financiers to decide.

But however it is decided two facts in the situation are strikingly evident: that the City Hall has been placed in the right place for a civic center, and that the need for a new City Hall is pressing.

The present municipal building on Broadway is a rookery. It is not only shabby and antique, but it is inadequate in size.

The city treasury fairly squirms at the sight of its numerous landlords. The city is finding the role of a tenant more onerous every year.

It was a wise Council which realized the situation and took a definite step toward acquiring the old Temple Block as a site for a future municipal building.

—o—

The Water Building.

It is not the intention here to discuss the merits of the Water Building. If, however, the city does decide to house its Water Department in a separate structure rather than under the roof of the City Hall, it is the opinion of the Fact and Comment man that such a separate building should be located in the Civic Center. Why one public building should be isolated from the rest is hardly plain.

Although not disposed to go into the question of the financial engineering of the proposed City Hall, the writer cannot agree with those who hold that it would be absolute "folly" to retrace the steps taken by the Water Department. Practically considered, no harm has been done. The site at Fifth and Olive could undoubtedly be sold today at a profit over its cost price.

If the city does decide to go ahead with the new City Hall, no tears need be shed either over the sale of the old building on Broadway, which cost Los Angeles only a fraction of its present asking price. If it be maintained that the building itself is being practically given away with the site, it is enough to know that the city has already had its money's worth out of this ancient structure. The real question of the day is whether the city can longer afford not to build the new municipal building which it has promised itself.

Some Important Projects.

Although the city is in a way pledged to carry out the civic center ideas suggested by Charles Mulford Robinson in so far as those may be practicable and feasible, there are a number of other projects indirectly connected with this great plan which are almost vital to its successful consummation. The Fact and Comment man has more than once insisted that everything possible must be done to build up and sustain the entire district in which the civic center is situated. It will not do to have the important public buildings of the future standing in an area of cheap business houses and in a section that is deteriorating.

The topography of the district north of First street and west of Hill above Fifth street has conspired against the north end of the business section. A simple and effective remedy has all along been at the disposal of the city, but this has somehow been neglected. Give the great expanding regions of the north, northeast and northwest portions of Los Angeles and the growing and sightly section lying to the west of Bunker Hill anything like the proper access to the north commercial district and the problem will be solved for all time. The development that has followed the opening of the Third street tunnel suggests the practicability of such tunnel communication beyond any question of dispute.

The Fact and Comment man has long urged the advisability of constructing a First street tunnel on grade level and of thereby establishing the proper east and west communication between the great region east of the river and the whole of the west end district. A year ago when progressive and energetic citizens combined to boost for a Second street tunnel The Times, although never abandoning its belief that the First street tunnel was the one most needed, earnestly plugged for the former project.

The writer believes that both of these projects should be revived and carried through to fulfillment when finances permit. By the creation of proper assessment districts, a plan eagerly invited by the property owners who would be immediately benefited, the burden to the city can be made comparatively light. The tunnel advocates say all they want is the city's assent.

The Broadway Tunnel.

Another project of inestimable importance that is now being pushed by public-spirited citizens is that of widening the present Broadway tunnel and of reducing its grade to the end of making it of real service to the city. This improvement would practically give Los Angeles a new and much-needed thoroughfare between the business section and the great surburban districts in the north end of the city. It would relieve the congestion of North Main street, which is practically the only serviceable artery of travel north and south.

If the tunnel now being considered by the Board of Public Works should be made what it ought to be, it ought to serve in itself to largely transform the character of the development of the vicinity of North Broadway as far as the city limits. When it is considered, too, that the north end of the city boasts somesomething like one hundred thousand population is must be recognized that the relief sought is not for the benefit of a few. The tunnel ought to be made big enough to handle adequately not only wagon and auto traffic but one or more electric car lines as well. This improvement cannot be tackled too soon for the best interests of the city.

Of great importance, too, is the plan to parallel the railway tunnel on Hill street with a tunnel for ordinary vehicles and pedestrians. This project would share with the Broadway tunnel in relieving a great deal of the congestion of North Main street, communicating as it would with Sunset boulevard and offering an outlet for Hill to the great hill section of the northwest as far as Hollywood.

Simultaneously with the construction of the two north and south tunnels, the city should bend every effort toward the completion of Sunset boulevard to the Plaza. This latter undertaking is so simple and so comparatively small that it is shameful to put it off any longer.

—o—

Owners Only Waiting.

The owners of property in the business section north of Second street are only waiting for such necessary improvements as those that have been mentioned to set about it to substantially improve a great portion of the older part of the commercial district with modern and imposing buildings.

The saving of the north end, in fact, the making of the north end is too easy and too simple a proposition to be longer neglected.

All the talk about a never ending southward advance is preposterous. Already the business section is reaching out to the west on both Sixth and Seventh streets. On Fifth there is a corresponding movement eastward. Who can say what would happen if the proper communciation could be given between the entire district north of Fifth street and the vast region to the west and north of Bunker Hill?

The eventual construction of a tunnel on Fourth street is not the least of the city's obligations to the people. And the sooner Fifth street can be made to wind around the base of Normal Hill, too, the better it will be for the whole of the business district north of Sixth street. Los Angeles is revealing a lack of foresight by not recognizing these facts. If something isn't done the term "north end" may eventually apply to everything north of Fifth street.

There is still another project before the people which should not be set aside if it can be handled, and that is the creation of the proposed Silver Lake Parkway out of the ugly slough which extends from Silver Lake past Bimini Baths and almost to Wilshire boulevard. This project means everything to the western residential district and its consummation would result in the building up of a vast area whose development is today seriously hampered.

The values that would be created as a result of this improvement would pay for the parkway many times over in two or three years. The project is almost ridiculuously simple, involving only the draining of the slough in certain places and the construction of a boulevard at its bottom, together with the planting of trees and shrubs and the laying out of walks. As it is, the slough is worth practically nothing. The expenditure of a very little money would make it a real asset to the city.

TO LARGER QUARTERS.

The W. Ross Campbell Company moved its offices on Friday from the Central building to the Realty Board building, where the firm will occupy the entire third floor. W. Ross Campbell entered the real estate business in this city with one assistant three years ago. In the new offices the company's office force will number over twenty people.

The Westward Trend.

FINE HOME TO CROWN KNOLL.

RIDGEWOOD PARK HOUSE HAS FIVE-ACRE SITE.

Dwelling of Leading Realty Man Will Combine Charm of Architecture and Setting—To Occupy Central Position in Splendid New West End Subdivision.

Set on the crest of a knoll, five acres in extent and almost in the center of the new Ridgewood Park, tract, the home, now under construction for Gilbert S. Wright, president of the Wright and Callender Company, will be, when completed, one of the most attractive and homelike places in the fashionable West End. It is the homelike atmosphere that has been sought after both in the designing of the house and in the laying out of the grounds, says the architects, John C. Austin and W C. Pennel.

The house will follow the early English types and will be of semi-fireproof construction. The first story will be of blue brick and the second of plaster over brick. The roof is to be of green slate.

The first floor will contain a living-room, library, dining-room, breakfast room, reception hall, kitchen and two servants' rooms with bath. The porches will be large and wide and there will be open paved terraces both at the front and back. The porte cochere will be at the south end of the house. The second floor will contain six bedroom, three baths, a large sun room, a sewing-room and a sleeping-porch. There will be recreation and billiard rooms in the attic, both rooms opening onto recessed balconies commanding wide sweep of mountains and valleys to the north and west.

The living-room, dining-room, reception hall and library will be finished in solid Honduras mahogany. Each of these rooms will have a handsome fireplace and a mantel with Faience facing. The upper rooms will be in white enamel, the doors being mahogany in solid slabs. The upper hall will also be in the same wood. The floors throughout the house will be of hardwood. The baths are to have tile floors and walls, with solid porcelain tubs and basins. Every modern appointment and convenience will be represented in the dwelling.

BEAUTIFUL SETTING.

A great deal of the charm of the place will lie in its unusually beautiful setting. The site is nearly five acres in extent and practically frostless, making it possible to carry out a most elaborate landscaping scheme. Louis F. Horner, who has laid out many of the famous places of Santa Barbara and Pasadena, has been engaged to lay out the grounds.

The main body of the grounds will be informally treated and planted to shrubs and trees, forming a park effect. A considerable portion also will be devoted to rare plants and flowers of tropical varieties, with ample space being allowed for fruits and gardens. Mr. Wright will develop his own water for irrigation. From every part of the place there will be obtainable a magnificent view of the mountains, the sea and the city, a comprehensive panorama probably unsurpassed in this section.

The five acres Mr. Wright has retained for his home occupy a central position in the thirty-acre tract known as Ridgewood Park, which he owns, having acquired the holding six years ago when it was used for farming purposes only and was fully two miles from a car line. During the period in question the district has been annexed by Los Angeles and the territory known as the Wilshire district has been substantially and solidly built up between Vermont avenue, formerly the western city limits, and the Ridgewood Park property. Several car lines now penetrate the region, two of these being but a three minutes' walk from the Wright place.

The tract occupies a high, accessible position between Temple and First streets, adjoining Windsor Square, with Van Ness, Ridgewood and Norton avenues, all private drives, running north and south through the property. All the streets have wide parkways and are being illuminated with artistic electroliers. The property is supplied with gas, electricity and city water and within a few months a sewer district will probably be formed to connect with the Hollywood outfall sewer now being built.

The subdivision represents one of the most important of all the recent developments of the west and northwest portions of the city and is believed to be the forerunner of a great reach of improvements of the highest class extending to the limits of Hollywood itself and making that suburb in reality an integral part of the city.

The Ridgewood Park tract is to be handled by the Wright and Callender Company's house and lot department, under the management of Giles and Kells.

SELL HIGH-CLASS HOMES.

House and Lot Men Report Extensive Business in West End Residences and Sites.

OUR idea of a home is one both PRACTICAL and ARTISTIC. By careful thought, we manage to instill certain INDIVIDUALITY in each home.

It quite frequently happens that the PROSPECTIVE BUILDER'S IDEAS and PURSE do not correspond. In such cases our PRACTICAL knowledge comes to the rescue, and often where others have hopelessly FAILED, WE SUCCEED.

We build homes from the modest five-room cottage, at $900, to the most elaborate dwelling. It rests with the INDIVIDUAL, entirely, what his home will cost. By concentrating our PURCHASING POWER, combined with our PRACTICAL knowledge, and being in a position to DISCOUNT our BILLS, we can, for a given quality of work, discount our competitors' prices.

We build either by contract or on a fixed fee of 10 per cent. of estimated cost of work, or on our own lots in Los Angeles, Redondo and San Pedro, on easy terms.

We make no additional charges for our Architectural services, if we build, or if we fail to satisfy you both as to price and design.

Our REFERENCES are PEOPLE for whom we HAVE BUILT, who FREELY indorse us.

We make liberal building loans.

IN BEAUTIFUL COUNTRY CLUB PARK.
SEVEN-ROOM BUNGALOW.
PRICE $5250.

Owners called East and will sacrifice their beautiful new home below cost to duplicate. Very attractive exterior, planned by prominent bungalow architect, who makes this line a study. His results are the best you would want. Every one different in appearance and arrangement. The house consists of living-room, den, dining-room, breakfast-room, kitchen, two bedrooms and bath, cement cellar and furnace piped to every room. Hardwood floors, hand-made electric lighting fixtures; we were selling agents for the lots in the Country Club Park, and since then have been reselling houses and lots; in this way we naturally know values in this tract. When we say this is a specially good buy, I twill pay you to see this at once.

Over 250 sales in 20 days.

GRAND NINE-ROOM RESIDENCE.
HIGH GROUND.
$8500.

Located in a choice section of the Wilshire district, surrounded by high-class restricted property. Fine large home, just completed; owner has occupied but a short time, and is now forced to sell because of business changes; large, cheerful living-room, extends across front of house; splendid finish on all woodwork; special lighting fixtures, hardwood floors, good hardware, in fact, it is built of material and quality you would want in your own home; four airy bedrooms, bath and sleeping porch on second floor, furnace, Ruud heater, new lawn front and rear; garage. To help show the value of this property, $4000 was borrowed for three years at 7 per cent. Most loans are made on a 40 or 50 per cent. valuation. We have a big snap to show you.

Terms, $10 down and $10 mo. Make $50 to $100 quick.

NEAR WESTERN AND SIXTH.
NINE-ROOM RESIDENCE.
$9000.

Beautiful modern home of 9 large and perfectly arranged rooms, the location is choice, being surrounded by some of the finest homes in the city; grand and imposing exterior, beautifully improved 60-foot lot, on the lower floor are the following rooms: Spacious living-room, with cheerful open fireplace, adjoining music-room or library, beautifully lighted and decorated dining-room, dainty breakfast-room, large hall, butler's pantry and very complete cabinet kitchen. On the second floor are four light airy bedrooms, screen sleeping-porch and bath; all clothes closets are large and well lighted, hardwood floors in every room; cement cellar with good furnace and hot water heater; garage; we absolutely know there is not its equal in the district for less than $11,000. Let us show you a remarkably good buy. It will not last long.

TWELVE-ROOM RESIDENCE.
60-FOOT CORNER.
$14,500.

Fine large 2-story residence, located on prominent corner, near Wilshire blvd. Mahogany and tile entrance, reception hall, living-room and library in mahogany, dining-room in solid oak, breakfast-room, glass sun parlor and cabinet kitchen. Upstairs are four beautiful bedrooms, with two connecting tile baths, and shower, also sewing room and inclosed sleeping porch; large maid's room, and bath on first floor; this is one of the show places of the district. The price is right; equal to a twenty-thousand dollar home. This house is extra well built, and is finished in the finest shape. It was built for a home.

About 60 resales at profit of $50 to $250 on $10 investment.

ON FINEST SITE IN WILSHIRE DISTRICT.
VERY PICTURESQUE HOME.
¾ ACRE GROUND.
$30,000.

Located on high ground, near Windsor Square, on a site where the view of the entire city and valley may never be shut off; great expense and exceptionally good taste has made this one of the show places of the city. The house, which contains about eight rooms, was built for the owner and every convenience has been carefully planned for. Finely finished and decorated throughout; if you appreciate a very artistic home, and one different from others, this will certainly be worth seeing Monday. We have never seen its equal in a new and strictly high-class district. The ground alone will be worth $30,000 inside of a year.

See Glen Airy tract today. Only a few choice lots remaining.

PROMINENT WILSHIRE CORNER.
HIGHEST GROUND IN THE DISTRICT.
2 STORY, 14 ROOMS.
LOOK, $22,500. LOOK.

Grand large mansion on one of the most beautiful and sightly Wilshire corners. We have estimated the total cost of house and lot to be $25,000. A builder would ask a profit of at least $5000 as the superintending of building such a fine home is well worth such a small profit. This makes the property at least $7500 under value. Main rooms on first floor finished in selected hardwood, such as mahogany, oak, curly birch, etc. The finish throughout is the finest. Decorations by one of the best decorating concerns in the city, imported papers, silk tapestries, hand decorated walls, in oil paintings, etc. Fine, beautifully decorated bedrooms; two tile baths, maid's room and bath, also servants' rooms in garage; yards highly improved by well-known landscape gardener. We have a beautiful property that absolutely must be sold. The price we are authorized to quote is far below its present value. It is well worth your immediate investigation.

BRYAN & BRADFORD,
HOUSE AND LOT DEPARTMENT.
EXCLUSIVE WESTMORELAND PLACE LOT.
125x200.
—$40,000—

Here is one of the most imposing and best located homes in the city of Los Angeles, in beautiful Westmoreland Place, commanding a vista of handsome thoroughfare in two directions, with a superb view of the mountains and foothills.

The architecture is of the Spanish renaissance type, the exterior being of cement plaster, with the porches roofed in red Spanish tile.

The lot is 125x200 feet, and the building covers a ground measurement of 84 feet frontage by 66 feet in depth.

The entrance is through a tile covered porch to a reception hall, 14x20, divided from the living-room by cased columns; the living-room is 20x29, and when used en suite with the reception hall allows of a room 43x20 feet.

Leading from the reception hall is an imposing stairway, from a landing off which is the den and music-room, which in turn lead to the covered fernery.

The living-room has a beautiful tiled mantel, and is richly paneled in Juana Costa mahogany. A cozy inglenook with built-in bookcases joins the living-room.

The dining-room, 16x24, has a circular bay window, and is finished in fumed oak. This bay is roofed with red Spanish tile.

An outdoor breakfast porch and a circular breakfast-room, both so arranged as to receive a maximum of morning sun, lead from the kitchen through pass pantries. The kitchen is 14x24, with light on two sides.

A special feature is a landing from the upper stairway, which faces a circular bay leading to the sleeping porch.

There are five large bedrooms, two large dressing-rooms, and numerous closets, four tiled floors and wainscot bathrooms complete the upstairs arrangement; two of the bedrooms contain mantels.

The woodwork of the second floor is finished in white enamel, and the walls are decorated with high-class paper. In addition to the hardwood paneling, the walls of the first floor rooms have been decorated in an elaborate manner.

Beautiful lighting fixtures have been used. The floors throughout the house are seven-eighths hardwood. The house is piped for vacuum cleaning; large cement basement contains furnace and hot water heater.

The surrounding grounds have been laid out in a manner to properly set off this beautiful residence.

BONA FIDE SACRIFICE.
—$11,000—

It is very seldom that you can get a Wilshire home that is actually a sacrifice, but here is one, and it must be sold at once. Only a few steps from the boulevard on a high lot.

It is finished in hardwoods and was built by one of the best builders in the city. It has every modern improvement that can be incorporated in a modern home.

The house has eleven large, light rooms with three baths in tile. Attic, gas furnace and automatic water heater. The decorations are hand work. No wall paper being used throughout the house. The electric fixtures are the best. It has a fine lawn, flowers, garage for two machines. The lot is 50x150 and at the price we have made this is the best buy in this district.

FOR SALE— Houses.

FOR SALE — FURNISHED BUNGALOW, situated about five hundred yards west of Third and Western avenues, in the Wilshire district, on high ground. Lot fifty by one hundred twenty-five feet, facing east.

It has a small sunroom, breakfast room, living room, dining room, kitchen and bathroom, with the usual built-in features. Also THREE FINE BEDCHAMBERS and maid's room. Large front porch, screened pergola and back porch glassed in.

The furnishings are of good quality, tastily selected, and the bungalow was carefully planned and built for comfortable living and convenience in doing the work. It is equipped with a Ruud heater and gas furnace. A large garage with cement floor on the back of the lot.

THERE ARE SOME PEOPLE WHO WOULD LIKE TO STEP INTO A HOME THATS SUITS THEM WITHOUT THE ANNOYANCE, TROUBLE AND WAIT NECESSARY TO BUILD AND EQUIP ONE—to such parties this proposition would appeal.

We have added a reasonable profit to the actual building and furnishing cost. We are in a position to equip a home at the lowest possible price, so our selling price is very little more than you could duplicate this house for.

The price is seven thousand three hundred and fifty dollars for the bungalow, fifteen hundred cash and the balance payable at fifty dollars a month, including interest, taxes and insurance. Seven per cent. interest on deferred payments. The furniture is sixteen hundred dollars, one thousand cash, and six hundred payable in one and two years at seven per cent.

IF THE PRICE AND TERMS ARE AGREEABLE TO YOU, we will be pleased to make an appointment to show the home, but do not come unless you are willing to pay the price stated, provided the place suits you. The price does not include any commission. Address D, box 329, TIMES OFFICE.

FOR SALE—AN ARTISTIC HOME IN beautiful Hollywood. This home designed by an artist by himself for himself, is on the market at an attractive price. The very most has been made of trained skill by an architect, and every detail with regard to a beautiful setting has been given the most careful attention. Possibly $2000 worth of the architect's and landscaper's art is thrown gratis into this bargain. Possibly no home in California, for art and beauty, is attracting so much attention. Photographs on display at our office. We will take you out to see it.

CONTRACTORS AND BUILDERS—
HERE ARE YOUR QUICK PROFITS.
BUILD ON COLLEGE TRACT LOTS
WHERE THERE IS READY SALE FOR BUNGALOWS.

A good location is the chief factor in selling bungalows quickly. The neighbors' houses help sell yours.

You can make big money buying and building on College Tract lots. Bungalow homes in this highly improved subdivision sell on sight. College Tract is the cheapest high class building property in Los Angeles, in the center of great southwest activity.

COLLEGE TRACT LOTS.

Every lot improved with lawn and fences. Curbing and cement walks in and paid for. Oil paved streets and wide parkings. No unsightly lots in the tract.

Sewers, water, gas, electricity, telephones, postoffice, churches, assembly hall, model stores and a three-minute car service make College Tract the most desirable moderate priced locality in Los Angeles. Every lot surrounded by high class bungalows.

Gramercy Place lots, $950 to $1300. Monthly payments if desired.

TALKS WITH THE OLD MAN.

(Printed every now and then by E. & W. Co.)

The young man entered hastily, suit case in hand. "Well, good-by, old man, its me for the frigid East, but for the last time."

"Coming back for good next year, eh?" replied the old man.

"You bet—for good, and not next year, but this year. I'm going now to close up my affairs, and shall be back in two months to settle down on those two lots of mine."

"What lots?" queried the old man, with a suspicious twinkle in his eye.

"Those lots in 'the close-in foothills,'" laughed the young fellow; "I took your advice and looked up the people you recommended. I got my two lots in Glendale, close by a great Live Oak—got them cheaper than you led me to expect—10 per cent. discount for cash—and Edwards & Wildey Company are going to build our house while we are away."

"Risky business," warned the old man, "letting people build a house for you when you're not here to watch it."

"Yes, I know," said the young man, "but I looked them up pretty thoroughly, and every person they've ever built for gave them the highest possible send off. We shall send our furniture straight out to the new home from Boston."

"Put on an extra sleeping porch for me," said the old man, "in that Glendale climate you don't need any windows to keep out the fog."

Fifty-foot lots in Glendale (in the choicest part, too) $450—$20 down, $10 a month—NO INTEREST NO TAXES.

Fifty-foot lots in Eagle Rock (near the new Occidental College) $400 up, same terms.

MR. INVESTOR OR SUBDIVIDER,

WE HAVE 70 ACRES

20 Minutes From the Center of City.
Positively the most attractive, best located and cheapest piece of desirable acreage you have ever been offered.
A CINCH INVESTMENT.
Plats roughly into 337 lots of 50 ft. front and over at an average price of $415 per lot; fronts on good roads boulevards; best of P. E. car service; advantages of climate, soil, water, electricity, gas, drainage, elevation and view. A look at this property will convince the most conservative of its money making value. See us at once.

Also, can offer a choice 50-acre tract close in on the West Side. This is one of the few really high grade subdivision offerings on the market. Priced extremely low. A quick money maker. I want to show you this.
In the southwest we have four tracts of exceptional value. These are in the center of building and subdivision activity. If you are in the market for close in acreage, for investment or subdivision, it will pay you to look over our list. We have something exclusive that for quick action in money making is an eye opener. Call on

FOR SALE—ARE YOU LOOKING FOR AN investment with an income? We are offering the very best vacant business corner in Pomona, 120x118, for $35,000. A company or an individual with $100,000 to invest in this property, putting up a two or three-story, modern business block, could find ready tenants at remunerative rents. There are some local investors ready to take from half to three-quarters interest in such a proposition, the upper story of a three-story building has been spoken for, besides, the lower story is wanted by one of the leading business firms in town. If you want to get in on this, address LOWELL M. JONES, 155 South Garey ave., Pomona.

"REALTY" CLARK says:—

There are more Clarks in Los Angeles than one can shake a stick at—mostly good business men at that!

The man to consult in your buying, selling and developing real estate, is "Realty" Clark.

"Realty" Clark's business is to know real estate; he lives by it, breathes it, eats it—more or less.

Ask "Realty" Clark for snaps in all sorts of residence and business property. He will give you the bottom facts and prices.

Here is one (plenty of others):—
INCOME PROPERTY—Value $15,000—Busy Vermont Avenue corner, brick block, three stores with large corrugated iron warehouse in rear. All rented for three years at annually increasing rental. Will exchange for apartment site close-in.

AN ACRE, WITH WATER.
EASY TERMS.
EVERY ACRE COVERED WITH FRUIT TREES. GET A LITTLE LAND OF YOUR OWN.
1, 2, 3, 4 and 5-Acre Tracts.

The time will surely come, and not far distant, when these acres will be anxiously sought at values so far beyond those quoted now that present prices will seem a joke.

Usually you are offered acreage upon which you can make a profit by selling and parting with your home place, but we are offering you acres improved with fruit trees from which you can make a profit of $300 per acre each year and still retain your home, besides there is still plenty of room between the trees to plant potatoes or onions, which pay $300 per acre.

Consider all that nature has done for these acres, furnishing good sandy loam soil and water; then add the improvements, paved roads, street car lines and water piped under pressure.

Think of having all this and owning a few acres almost in the city, near to everything really worth while.

Investigate these acres before you think of putting a dollar in acreage property anywhere else.

Here is an excellent class of property at about half the price you thought you would have to pay.

WE are enthusiastic. So will you be when you see this property.

Come to our office and go out and see these acres at our expense.

FOR SALE—

VERDUGO

I want you to be one of a thousand families to join in the purchase and development of a pretty little valley—25 minutes from Fourth and Broadway.

This protected foothill valley contains 1500 acres, and is 1000 to 1100 feet above sea level, and only ten miles from the heart of Broadway—a veritable paradise excelling Pasadena or Hollywood. It is the last of the big estates in the foothills, with balmy, mellow evening climate, and will be taken over and made into residence places for the members of this public syndicate of homebuyers, under the direction of the Glendale local trolley system and the publishers of California's oldest rural home magazine.

This is our TENTH project in California, all of which have earned, from 100 to 2000 per cent. to members within a few years.

Each member of this Verdugo project will first receive a full sized building lot, or small acreage, at wholesale price or one-third of what it would cost in any other way, and in addition holds joint ownership in 1000 acres of adjoining land and other assets of the project. You could not go to the owners of this big ranch and buy a lot or small acreage at any price. If it were handled in the usual way you'd pay three times as much. Upon this plan you secure your lot or small acreage and get your profits from adjoining land and value of which you help to create by joining this organized movement.

The tenth edition of "Western Empire's Land Building and Home Securities Plan" is ready. Call or write for it. It will tell you of our nine previous great works, and financial details of this opportunity.

ACREAGE

at a sacrifice.

Such an opportunity is offered now in a tract of twenty-two acres, on Colorado street, just east of Lamanda Park.

The land is beautifully situated, just north of the Pacific Electric Monrovia line and Huntington Drive, within a short distance of Foothill boulevard, and having a magnificent view of the mountains.

Having a frontage on three other streets besides Colorado, this tract could be easily subdivided and sold in smaller pieces.

All adjoining acreage is held at from $1250 to $1500 per acre, and is restricted to agriculture and horticulture.

Nowhere in that section is to be found a more beautiful and in every way desirable location for a suburban home.

FOR SALE—

CITRUS LAND.

If you are in the market for orange or lemon land, we have something to offer that will appeal to the most skeptical.

The land that we have to offer you is immediately south of the bearing groves in the famous Covina district, which is the third largest orange producing center in this State. If you want to know about the climate, go out with us and examine the young groves that have been planted in this tract and have gone through the late freeze. The soil is pronounced by experts to be equal to the best and superior to the most. Water stock can be purchased at $75 per share, one share to each acre, or water can be developed on the land at moderate cost. 10-acre lots. Price $300 per acre, terms one-third cash, balance 3 years at 7 per cent. Clear title.

BUILDERS!!!
CLOSING OUT SACRIFICE.

Twenty minutes from the center of the city on Glendale line, we have a tract that we must sell out at once to close up an estate. We have sold half of it and built and sold 15 houses ranging from $1500 to $4500 in cost. First class street work, has water and electricity all in. Schools, stores and churches within easy walking distance. Car line passes the tract. Wonderful mountain scenery. Houses sell themselves as over three hundred people an hour pass the tract all day long. Thirty acres adjoining just sold for $2000 per acre to a large building company. We will sell you three or more of these lots with all improvement for $450 each, which is equivalent to price paid for adjoining raw land.

Bear this fact in mind. You can buy these lots with all improvements, in an established tract where houses costing as high as $4500 have been built and sold, where the tone is high enough to get a fine class of buyers, at just about what you would have to pay for acreage.

We will deliver a deed to builders for $350, and take second trust deed for balance, allowing you to make a 50 per cent building loan.

Restrictions run from $1500 to $2500.

If you pay all cash, we will allow you a further discount of 5 per cent. See R. C. LEWIS, with

LANKERSHIM
$15,000.

15 acres right on the new Van Nuys car line, 100 feet from the good roads boulevard. Set solid to the choicest of table peaches, apricots, plums, berries and grapes. Absolutely no irrigation for the soil is of the very richest and deepest, improved with 5-room house, barn, tank, windmill. Only 2 blocks from bank, stores and postoffice. Right in town, a $10,000 residence going up next door. The cream of Lankershim. Just over the pass from Hollywood. Now to the point, this place as an ideal suburban home has a definite income of over $2500 a year. And, as a residence subdivision it is ready now. One street through the center and it's done. Some people are going 6 and 7 miles further out and paying big prices for country homes on bare land. Who are the people making the big money? Answer, the subdivider. Here is your opportunity now. A present home and assured income. A definite quick profit when you want to let go. When you buy get something you can sell. I want to talk to the man who has foresight enough to buy right. $5000 cash will handle this. Call on.

5 ACRES AND INDEPENDENCE.
VERY EASY TERMS.

The best $3500 investment to be had southwest of the city, but just outside the city limits, on high ground, between Vermont and Western ave. It's most sure to double at least in next few years. It's an elegant building site. Artesian water available. Street cars close by. This would cut up nicely into 30 lots a little later. What was a cow pasture four years ago is now built up solid with homes a few miles closer to the city. We'd be afraid we'd guess far short of the future for the next five years, for they'll be "hummers." If you've got a few hundred or thousand dollars you should get busy, for all values are advancing and you'd better share in the great growth of the city for the ensuing years. KENILWORTH.

KENILWORTH.

KENILWORTH.

Big 50-foot lots, right in the heart of Glendale's greatest growth, $450 each, $20 cash, $10 monthly. NO INTEREST OR TAXES FOR TWO YEARS.

There can be no argument about the startling value of this property—its location, splendid improvements and extraordinarily low prices have created a condition in Glendale which practically prevents the successful sale of other subdivisions until KENILWORTH is sold out. Do not put off viewing this property—it costs you nothing but an hour's time for the round trip, and the ride is through the prettiest part of Los Angeles. Remember, 90 per cent. of the people seeing Kenilworth have bought lots here. There's a reason, of course. TODAY is yours—we pay the fare.

"It Pays To See Us."

FOR SALE— Beach Property.

FOR SALE—
GET WISE BEFORE THE RISE.

Beach property near San Diego harbor will be very valuable as there are only 2000 50-foot lots within one-fourth mile of a sandy beach between La Jolla and Mexico. About one-half of these are not for sale at any price. We cannot make any more beach lots, but inland lots can be had anywhere.
We own 300 lots at La Jolla Strand, all less than 1000 feet of a sandy beach, fine view, level, streets graded, sidewalked, sewers, city water, gas and electricity. 28 minutes by gasoline motor to the center of San Diego. Interurban electric cars will soon run right through the property, reducing the running time materially. Price $300 to $750 each. Will negotiate entire property. Will exchange.

240 acres, level and productive. No waste land. Especially adapted to alfalfa, potatoes, general farming and fruit, fenced and cross-fenced. Abundant water right. Only two miles from station and 7 miles from Bishop. Can deliver for $35 per acre, and make terms of 1-2 cash.

1200 acres, level as a floor, very productive virgin soil. Only eight miles from Bishop and two miles from station. Abundance of water. Soil is adapted to alfalfa, potatoes, cereals and fruits. This would make a splendid stock or general farm, or an attractive proposition to subdivide and resell in parcels. It will double your money any way you handle it. Can deliver for $25 per acre, and make terms of ⅓ cash.

1300 acres. This is one of the best ranches in the State. Soil is the best, adapted to alfalfa, fruit and general farming. Property is in a high state of cultivation. Abundant water right. Improvements are strictly modern affording an ideal gentleman's home. The improvements alone could not be duplicated for less than $30,000. Orchards adjoining this farm can't be bought for $1000 per acre. Can deliver this property with a large complement of stock and tools, for $150,000.

This valley with its fertile soil, abundance of pure mountain water and ideal climatic conditions, offers the most attractive field for land investment tributary to Los Angeles. Booklet and complete information at our office.

RANCHO LA PUENTE.
The Rancho La Puente, in the heart of the great San Gabriel Valley, consisting of thousands of acres of the most fertile soil in Southern California, will be offered for sale and will be sold in tracts of ten acres up. Only 14 miles northeast of the city, between El Monte and Covina, by the S. P. R. R., Pacific Electric and Salt Lake Railroads.

Perhaps you are curious to know what this land is adapted to. Well, it cannot be beaten for growing ALFALFA, WALNUTS, FRUITS and VEGETABLES.

THE WATER QUESTION.

That is already demonstrated.

There is water under this land.

One plant in operation pumps 700 miner's inches of water. There are numerous small plants, none of which pump less than 150 miner's inches of water.

There is not another tract of land in Los Angeles county, or at least that is as close to the city of Los Angeles, that can be bought at so reasonable a figure. We are simply besieged with buyers. Don't wait until it's too late. Now is the time to buy. If you are looking for a location for a home or for an investment, here is your opportunity.

There is a good home market for all produce; especially for alfalfa.

Go out and see for yourself; that is all we ask. You will be convinced.

Prices, $300 per acre; one-third cash, balance three years, interest 7 per cent. net. Unlimited certificate of title, by Title Guarantee and Trust Co.

FOR SALE—
RICHGROVE
EARLY ORANGE LANDS.
$100 PER ACRE.
Richgrove is beautifully located on S. P. R.R. in the early orange belt of Tulare county and along the foothills of the high Sierras. If you want first-class ORANGE and OLIVE land at "FIRST COST" see Richgrove before buying. The man who buys at Richgrove gets just as good orange land as there is in the State at prices which are insignificant when compared to those prevailing in Southern California. We have every essential to make orange growing an attractive and profitable occupation. The orange growers of this belt commenced shipping oranges October 15, about two months ahead of Southern California, and had their fruit in the eastern markets for the holiday trade, bringing highest prices. Richgrove was not in the least damaged by frost during the recent cold spell. Orange and lemon trees, as well as the stock in the nursery were not injured. The price of these lands will be advanced to $125 an acre within the next 30 days. THERE IS NO LAND LIKE THIS AT ANY PRICE.

GOVERNMENT LANDS—

GOVERNMENT LAND—
After you have investigated all other government propositions, let me tell you about the Carey Act Lands in Utah. This land has been reclaimed by the State. Water is now ready for delivery. Title to both land and water comes from the State. The tract contains 40,000 acres of level land. Adjoining land paid this year from $75 to $125 per acre in alfalfa seed. To get 80 acres of this land is like finding $8000, for it is worth that today. In three years it will be worth $200 per acre. It will pay for itself. It costs you only $[illegible] per acre, with TWELVE YEARS to pay out in.—You can take from 40 to 160 acres. First payment is $3.25 per acre. Open evenings by appointment. L. L. GOODPASTURE, 513 Bryson Bldg., Second and Spring streets.

FOR SALE—NEW FURNITURE OF 4 & 5-room house, all or in part. Call Sunday, 122 W. 28TH PLACE.

STATE LAND OVERLOOKED. LATELY SEARCHED OUT. MANY VALUABLE PIECES IN AND NEAR SAN FRANCISCO, LOS ANGELES and SAN DIEGO, and all other cities. One man sold at once at $[illegible] profit on investment of less than $[illegible], while others wish to keep. Fine for ALFALFA, FRUIT, HOMES and INVESTMENTS. Buy now to sell later at DOUBLE the present price. Bright future—fair, canal and BUYERS coming steadily. Many believe that there are no special bargains. This is a cause of their remaining unsold. Have sold many. Send ten-dollar check or money order and I will register to you a list of [illegible] pieces and information how to see, select and buy some of these pieces. You to promise to pay me $[illegible] more for each piece, as soon as you get deed for same. The advance $10 helps to pay advertising, which tells you about these bargains. CIRCULAR FREE. JOSEPH CLARK, Public Searcher of Records, [illegible] st., Sacramento, Cal.

GOVERNMENT FARM LANDS.
I have the opportunity of a lifetime for three people who have not used their right to locate government land to go with me on Tuesday of next week and buy three relinquishments of 320 acres each at $7.50 per acre in the best valley of the southwest and under the best proposed irrigation system. This land will be cheap at $100 per acre in two years' time. The first three that apply and are acceptable to me will make a small fortune. FROSTLESS GROVES.

15 ACRES,
PRICE $28,000.00.
CROP WORTH $7000.00.

All in navels, 9 years old, located in the famous Charter Oak District, sometimes known as the "Banana Belt," on account of its being frostless. The soil is as fine as can be found anywhere. Trees are all even in size and heavily loaded with fruit of fine quality. Good water right. I have personally examined this grove and can conscientiously state that it is the best buy for the money in Southern California. Owner is a non-resident and is willing to sell on a reasonable payment down, balance to suit at 7 per cent. After the initial payment is made, the grove will pay for itself in two years. Buy this elegant property before the crop comes off. Samples of the fruit can be seen at our office.

5 ACRES,
PRICE $6500.00.

½ lemons, ½ Valencias. Good crop on trees. Fine soil and water right, located in the famous Whittier-La Habra section and absolutely frostless. This grove will be worth $2000 per acre in one year.

20 ACRES,
PRICE $23,000.00.

All in Valencias, and as fine as anything in the country, located in an absolutely frostless belt. 50 shares of water, more than is necessary. Small house, fine large barn. Photographs at our office will show you the wonderful growth of these trees. This property will increase in value $5000 per year. Adjoining 20 acres yielded $13,000 last season.

FOR SALE—

FROSTLESS CITRUS LAND.

CLOSE TO THE CITY, $350.

Land that has not been injured by the recent frost is very scarce, and consequently very valuable; I have 5 acres of such land, near the foothills, with railroad station close by; it is north of Burbank, which is reached by electric line; the land is level and supplied with abundance of water for irrigation and domestic use, in large steel mains, under pressure. Five shares of water stock go with the land; it is well suited for lemons, oranges, other fruits and vegetables, and is only 40 minutes from downtown; the San Fernando blvd. passes close by; the adjacent orchards do not show any frost damage; I can sell the land this week for $350, which is about one-half its value. I think it will advance to $1000 an acre in a short time. Terms $25 cash and $25 monthly.

FOR SALE—
ORANGE OR LEMON GROVES.

We planted some very fine groves about a year ago and these groves are now for sale at $450 an acre. You do not have to draw upon your imagination as you can inspect every tree. The surrounding bearing groves which are selling for $2000 to $3000 per acre will show you what is being done in this district.

We also plant groves to order, planting any variety of citrus trees and install the most modern irrigating system. Groves just planted in this way are $400 an acre. With every acre of land sold we give a share of water in one of the best water systems of California.

We will also contract to care for grove for purchaser if desired.

Terms extending up to seven years.

To see the groves will convince you of the advantages over other districts.

BUSINESS INVESTMENTS—

SAFE AND SANE INVESTMENT.
A common sense view proves conclusively that California is the center of the world's fruit market. The opening of the Panama Canal; also the awakening of China and Japan furnish a tremendous outlet for California products. The whole world is demanding a fruit diet. It means unimagined millions in profits to land holders and producers in California.

You may not be prepared to personally engage in the fruit business, but you may with safety invest your funds by joining forces with a conservative corporation conducting the business in a large and profitable way.

The International Land Company owns 5520 acres of the best citrus and deciduous fruit land in the San Joaquin Valley. Situate in a great basin of alluvial soil, rich as the famed "Valley of the Nile." Thirteen miles from Fresno. The company has ample water in wells, running streams and owns riparian rights. It has an honest directorate and the best practical and expert horticultural management. 730 acres already planted to grapes and figs.

To complete the project quickly and successfully the company offers to investors, large or small, a limited issue of six per cent. ten-year gold bonds, convertible if desired, after five years into common stock or orchard land. A conservative investment backed by best orchard land security. IWth it the bond purchaser gets free a 75 per cent. common stock bonus, fully paid and non-assessable. This feature gives the investor a profit sharing interest in the future business of the company after the bonds are redeemed. This is the best chance offered to investors in a decade, and we can prove it.

Bonds are the coupon form, dated August 1st, 1911, and bear interest semi-annually, August and February. Sold in denominations of $50 to $1000. Price and descriptive circular on request.

GET AN INTEREST TOMORROW IN THE AERO ICELESS REFRIGERATOR COMPANY. No more ice bills.
Demonstrated day and night at 126 South Broadway, Chamber of Commerce Building. Ground Floor. Bring this ad with you for interview.

$500 BONUS IN STOCK THAT SHOULD go to par within a year, given with every $500 bond, secured by first-class real estate. An opportunity to participate in the profits of a very beautiful subdivision. Well-known, experienced and successful men are interested and in charge. Previous undertakings by the same management have been most successful. Reference to satisfied clients or to any bank. Bond buyers can secure lots at wholesale prices if desired.
HERBERT BURDETT,
419 Consolidated Realty Bldg.
(8 years secretary L. A. Realty Board.)

ONLY A LIMITED AMOUNT OF THAT common stock remains which we are parceling out in lots of 1000 to 5000 shares to each individual purchaser and which, for a very limited time only can be secured at par. Enlargement of our two already thriving dividend-paying plants is our purpose. If we were not out-growing our present quarters, and the field for larger opportunities was less promising, we would not need your money, nor would we leave open this opportunity for you to join us. The most thorough investigation is invited. PHONE A4247.

25 YEARS' CLOSE, INTIMATE TOUCH with the commercial life of Los Angeles, together with the large number of manufacturing, wholesale and jobbing interests, which we are assisting in developing, places us in a position to know the best investments to be had. If you want to get into something really good, it will pay you to see us. We do not handle small "business chances." Highest bank references given and required. CURTIS-NEWHALL COMPANY, established 1895, Advertising and Business Counselors, 514 Central Bldg. Tel. Main 5177 and F1456.

OPPORTUNITY KNOCKS BUT SELDOM.
Here is an opportunity to invest in 10 per cent. preference stock carrying 25 per cent. bonus on first 20,000 shares subscribed in solid manufacturing company of 30 years standing, with unlimited demand for goods. Patriotic Californians, see what you can do with this and help establish a factory that will become one of America's principal industries. Address C, box 72, TIMES OFFICE.

INVESTORS ATTENTION!
A rare opportunity is offered investors to participate in one of the most successful and staple concerns on the Coast. Investor must be accustomed to big things and willing to investigate fully; $5000 is required, which will be fully protected and produces at least $15,000 per annum. For interview address O, box 282, TIMES BRANCH OFFICE.

BUSINESS INVESTMENTS—

IF YOU HAVE BEEN LOOKING FOR something where you could invest a few hundred dollars and where your services will bring you a nice income and where you can watch your money grow, and where you can be one of the company, read the rest of this AD.

We will have our plant complete by January 30, 1912, and on that date our stock advances from $5 per share to $5.50 per share.

There is absolutely no promotion stock in this company.

There are no Dead Ones in the company.

There is no better field for our product in the world than right here in Los Angeles, where we have our plant, offices, etc.

We want to grow with Los Angeles, and as long as Los Angeles continues to grow we will grow and make money, and while we make money so will those who get in with us now.

We want some good men who are willing to invest a few hundred dollars in this company, and who want positions as salesmen, foremen, laborers, etc., at a fair salary, and who will work for our interests as well as their own.

If you are that kind of a man, do not fail to come in and see us, and let us explain our proposition to you; it will cost you nothing, and we want you to see our product and our plant.

Talk with men who have invested in this company, and see if you can buy their stock at 10 per cent. increase on what they paid for it. Try that. But if you want a good position, a good investment, and have any ambition, see us before the list is full.

A LOS ANGELES OPPORTUNITY.

Right at the gates of Los Angeles is a business opening requiring only the preparation for use at comparatively slight expense, a natural product, matchless in quality and limitless in quantity.

This product is in immediate and constant demand by the city, the county and hordes of corporations, and individuals; thus the expense of marketing is practically eliminated, while an imminent shortage of supply from other sources will always insure satisfactory profits.

It is possible for the right party to secure control by an investment of about $25,000 but a much smaller or larger sum can be invested to equal advantage.

If you are prepared to invest in an indispensable enterprise promising better than 50 per cent. profit, do not fail to see me promptly. Government reports in my possession.
I. M. HOLLINGSWORTH,
1105 Story Bldg.

FOR SALE—OR EXCHANGE FOR REAL ESTATE.
After long successful business career in Los Angeles am going to retire for rest and change, and will sell the stock and fixtures, all complete, of my wholesale and retail tea, coffee and general imported and staple grocery lines; we are equipped to do any amount of trade; my physicians won't allow me, on account of nervous breakdown. The stock and fixtures amount to $7000 net, which includes valuable tea stock of $3000 (which today cannot be duplicated;) we will take from the stock if necessary, and invoice the balance; no bonus asked; the location is ideal for wholesaling, or with fresh meats and fruits a large retail trade can be done; the rent is low, store is 120 deep on prominent pressed brick; corner; responsible parties only. See owner, 748 SAN PEDRO, and 815 Agatha sts.

CENTRALLY LOCATED—
Apartment house containing 60 rooms with private baths. Mostly 2-room suites. The best location in the city for all the year round patronage. Rent $4.50 a room and $3000 will handle it. Balance easy terms.
FASHIONABLE DISTRICT
DIRECT FROM OWNER.
This is one of the neatest apartment-houses in the city and is beautifully furnished. Owner is willing to give new lease to responsible party at low rental. $2000 will handle it.

ONLY TEN DAYS REMAIN IN WHICH TO purchase the cumulative participating preferred stock of Shell Petroleum Company at 22½ cents per share and receive 100 per cent. common stock bonus. At this price the preferred stock draws 12 per cent. from July 1, 1911, and participates with the common stock in surplus earnings. On February 1 will take possession of 132 acres, with three producing wells and one drilling. Light oil district. Oil sold and regular deliveries being made. Every dollar invested before February 1 should be worth at least $2 in less than a year. Shall be glad to tell you why and show you the property. For full particulars, call or address SHELL PETROLEUM COMPANY, 725 Title Insurance Bldg. (Fifth and Spring sts.) Los Angeles.

"HOME BUILDERS" GUARANTY SHARES have many privileges which distinguish them from the shares sold without the guaranty. They are convertible into cash under the written terms of the Guaranty and are assured an earning of at least 8 per cent. per annum. They may also be used in the purchase of property or other securities held by the Company and have a standing loan value of 50 per cent. of the current selling price. This Guaranty is given only to original purchasers by "HOME BUILDERS GENERAL AGENCY," who issue it. Assets amounting to over $150,000 are held to assure the fulfillment of this Guaranty.

"HOME BUILDERS" stock, whether Guaranty shares or not, is the best investment in the local market today. If you can buy "HOME BUILDERS" shares without the Guaranty for less than the price of Guaranty shares it is a fortunate purchase, and will yield you a good dividend, but when you buy Guaranty shares you have an added protection and will participate in the profits of the GENERAL AGENCY which the other shareholders do not possess. Guaranty shares are sold only by "HOME BUILDERS GENERAL AGENCY," 129 South Broadway. Correspondence and inquiry solicited. Phones: Home 10962, Main 496.

ANNOUNCEMENT—

CONSOLIDATED REALTY COMPANY Treasury Shares are sold only through the headquarters office, on the ground floor Consolidated Realty Bldg., corner Hill and Sixth st., and agents authorized in writing, to whom WAGE EARNERS, INVESTORS and SPECULATORS who wish to assure themselves as to regularity of certificates should apply.

The office price of CONSOLIDATED treasury shares is $140. February 1, $145. March 1, $150, and soon to $160; as against over $200 intrinsic value, based on steadily growing values. This handsome saving is worth while, the investment being an absolutely safe one. The terms of $5 a share monthly and only 10 per cent. down are very easy, $5 a share being allowed for cash in full. Stock certificates for treasury shares will be promptly issued from headquarters only in the name of and direct to the buyer in payment therefor.

CONSOLIDATED SECURITIES—
Shares in this company are starting at $1 each. Like Consolidated Realty Company and other similar safe and prosperous companies in which we are interested, after paying liberal dividends to stockholders the price will be steadily advanced as surplus earnings accrue. Securities Company, without speculation or debt, has over $300,000 of highly profitable business in hand and more equally profitable coming in.
CONSOLIDATED REALTY
treasury shares, sold only through headquarters office, ground floor Consolidated Realty Building, 402 West 6th st., are $140 each and will steadily advance during this year because of the large surplus. This company is founded on SAFE income producing inside business properties and has a large surplus.

FOR SALE—
COLGAN-HENDERSON FURNITURE CO.,
L. A. GREATEST BARGAIN FURNITURE STORE,
734 S. MAIN ST.

A good gas range with oven, delivered and connected only	$10.00.
A good large size coal range,	$11.00.
A good coal heater, cast iron,	$4.50.
A good roll top desk for	$17.50.

Others up to $85.

The best gas heater made (Stewart,) $6.50.

We guarantee this heater to give more heat than any gas heater made.

This is a strong assertion, but we can prove it.

We have one in use at our store and you will say that you never saw a heater that gave as much heat.

It is this year's model (patented.)

It costs only 1¼c an hour to run it, full blast or less when you have it turned down.

Come in and let us show you this wonderful heater.

You will have nothing else when you see this.

We carry one of the largest stocks of iron and brass beds in this city at the lowest prices.

Also full stocks of springs and mattresses.

Let us show you our line of metal springs. Almost as cheap as the old fashioned wooden framed springs and much better, (more sanitary and last longer.)

We sell a great many mattresses because we handle the better grade and sell them as cheap as some stores do the inferior grade.

Our special leader is our Royal Felt mattress, 35 lbs., with the best grade of art ticking, (choice of colors) has a very heavy roll edge, and is one of the best wearing and most comfortable mattresses made. Guaranteed to never sag or spread. One price only $4.50.

Some stores get as high as $9.50 for this mattress (under another name.)

Big stock of chairs and rockers.

Lowest prices in Los Angeles.

Be sure and see our large stock of dining tables, over 75 different patterns on our floors. Ranging in price from $8.00 to $45.00, fully 25 per cent. less than Broadway prices.

All kinds of window shades made to order.

Lace curtains by the pair or yard.

Couch covers and portieres very reasonable.

Circassian walnut bedroom furniture, very fine grade.

Also high grade mahogany, lowest price in Los Angeles.

One of the best assortments of rugs in the city, from the cheapest to the best, all regular sizes from 6x9 up to 12x15. We guarantee our prices to be lower than any new furniture store in Los Angeles.

We sell for cash or on time.

Come in and open up an account with us this week. Make a payment down and a little every week or month as you wish.

No trouble to show goods whether you want one article or wish to furnish a whole house.

20 Minutes Out, on the Glendale Car Line

—Just Ten Little Round Dollars

Put down now and ten more of them put down every month until you've totaled $425, will make you the possessor of about as pretty and well-situated and accessible and desirable and profitable a piece of property as a moderate amount of money ever bought in the world. Real estate in the Glendale district is not a gamble. Past performances show pretty plainly what has been done and it takes mightly little foresight to see what's coming there.

A Lot in Park Avenue Tract

Glendale's Next-Door Neighbor

Will not only give every advantage that a man could ask for if he wants to live on his property, but it will also give you a piece of ground in the line of greatest realty growth. Mind you, when you live here, you're within 20 minutes of the center of Los Angeles, you're close to every advantage that Glendale can boast and they are many, and you own property on which every conceivable improvement is not only projected, but is actually installed.

Park Ave. Tract, right now, is the one best bet in the Glendale Valley. And a whole lot of people are so sure that it is the one best buy in Los Angeles county that they're taking up property there pretty rapidly.

A Bungalow All Built for $50

A first payment of $50 and subsequent payments of $20 a month will buy as cosy and comfortable a little home as you could imagine. The Park Ave. Tract's bungalows have earned a reputation—EARNED it, remember—for offering more good sound building values than anything else on the market today. They're priced at $1975.

CARPENTER ON PORTO RICO.

How the United States Has Revolutionized the Island—Smallpox Wiped Out and Hundreds of Thousands of Natives Cured of the Hookworm. The Fight Against Tuberculosis—Automobile Roads All Over the Island—Telegraphs Run by the Government—Reforming the Courts. A Spanish Country Without Graft.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON (D. C.) Uncle Sam's greatest victory in Porto Rico has to do with a worm. I have written how he has raised the island from beggary to prosperity and how his foreign trade has been multiplied 400 per cent. How the wealth of the people has risen from almost nothing to $1000 per family, and how they are now growing rich off of coffee, tobacco and sugar. Further on in this letter I will tell how mountain trails have been changed to stone roads, and how justice and good government have taken the place of disorder and graft.

Uncle Sam's fight with the worm has been bigger than any of these. And yet the worm is so small that you could lay it on the little fingernail of your baby and it would just reach beyond the edge where the nail is joined to the flesh. Nevertheless at the time we took hold of the island it was sucking the life and strength out of 90 per cent of the people. Almost every one had it. We did not know what was the matter. We thought the Porto Ricans were a degenerate nation and that their pasty pale skins, flabby muscles and lackadaisical ways were hereditary and could not be changed. It was some time before we discovered that they are naturally as strong as we are and that their weakness existed because they were sick. It all came from this little worm which was gnawing their vitals.

THE HOOKWORM DISCOVERED.

The presence of the parasite was discovered in 1900 by Maj. Bailey K. Ashford, a United States army surgeon, and since then a great fight has gone on against it, resulting in the cure of hundreds of thousands and in checking its ravages to the poorest classes of laborers who are far off in the mountains.

The discovery of this worm in Porto Rico led to our knowledge of it in the southern States and to the great hookworm experiments which have been made under the Rockefeller fund to control it.

The first active hookworm campaign, however, was undertaken by Dr. Ashford in Porto Rico, and today there are forty-five dispensaries scattered over the island to which the patients come to be treated. During the past year 49,000 men, women and children have been doctored at these dispensaries, and of them 18,000 have been completely cured and 7000 more are still improving under treatment. In all the island more than 300,000 have been treated, and the hookworm has been practically wiped out of the towns and villages.

THE DEADLY HOOKWORM.

It is due to the work in Porto Rico that we now know all about the hookworm and how to control it. It is believed to have been brought here from Africa at the time the first slaves were imported. It is known to have existed among the African pygmies, and it is thought to have come to Porto Rico in 1530, with the founding of the first three sugar plantations. The worm began to work in the lowlands and gradually made its way through the island. It is now strongest in the mountains, and it is found almost everywhere on the coffee estates.

The hookworm comes from an egg which hatches out in the earth twenty-four hours after it is laid. It is said to never hatch anywhere else than in the earth, and it is the worm itself that crawls into the body of the man. It often gets in through the feet. The most of the Porto Rican laborers go barefooted, and during the rainy season, when the ground is wet and damp, a scratch or sore on the skin enables the parasite to crawl in. A poor state of health makes its ravages easy. There was a great increase of the disease after the hurricane of 1899, at which time thousands were practically starving and the diet of the people was low.

The entrance of the worm through the skin has been prevented by persuading the people to wear shoes and to look out for their feet during wet weather. In many of the rural districts the sanitary conditions are still bad and parts of the country are infested with the worms and their eggs.

One can easily tell the men, women and children who are being eaten up by these parasites. They look sallow, pale, dull and flabby, and it is almost impossible for them to do more than half work. Most of them are afflicted with nausea, vomiting, headaches and palpitation of the heart, and with some these symptoms continue for years, while others gradually fade away and die.

FEED ON RED BLOOD.

But let me tell you how the worm works. The doctors say it feeds on the red corpuscles of the blood. This is the life-giving fluid, and a good healthy man ought to have five or six millions of them in every cubic millimeter of all the blood that flows through his veins. Not long ago, imagining as I was far under par, I had my own blood examined. A doctor jabbed a pin into my ear and took out a drop of my blood and tested it. He found that there were over five million red corpuscles per cube, and even this number made him shake his head and look serious. Now the Porto Rican with the hookworm has only one and one-half million of these red corpuscles, so you can see where he stands. Another part of my test was as to the hemoglobin, which also relates to the quality of this blood. If the test rises to 100 per cent., it is excellent. My test showed 65, and now after treatment it has risen to 85. The average Porto Rican with the worm has only 40 per cent. of that found in him, and nevertheless upon such a physical condition he has had to labor from daylight to dark on the sugar estates and in the coffee plantations. He has been a sick man all the time, but he has had to work. The curing of hundreds of thousands of such people is a part of what Uncle Sam has done in Porto Rico.

A SANITARY ISLAND.

Indeed, the present plans of the government are such that the island is to be about as sanitary as any part of Latin America. At the time we took hold the death rate was about forty per thousand. It is now only twenty-two per thousand, and this compares favorably with any other thickly populated country.

We have practically wiped out the smallpox. When I visited the island fifteen years ago, it was raging, and one of the first things our government undertook was the greatest vaccination job of history. It had the army start to vaccinate the whole people. There were at least 900,000 sore arms on the island during my stay, and the people were so disabled in places that the work practically stopped. Among the places I visited was a vaccine farm, where the army surgeons had 2000 cattle, ranging from eight months to a year old. They used these to get vaccine matter, taking as many as 2000 points from a single beast. Since then the vaccination has kept up from time to time. Twenty-six thousand persons were vaccinated last year, and the doctors keep their eyes on the children. As a result there is no smallpox in Porto Rico, and very few cases of varioloid.

THE WATER SUPPLY.

At the time we took charge the water supply was bad almost everywhere. The streams were used as public sewers, and the people took their drinking water from them. In all the cities I found wells not far from the cesspools; and the doctors estimated that 50,000 houses had cisterns whose water was polluted in that way. The custom of burying the dead was another source of disease. The cemeteries were crowded, and great piles of skulls and other human bones were found in some of them. Uncle Sam has caused new cemeteries to be opened; and he has established in remote districts many new ones, where free burial is given to the poor.

Porto Rico has now its own health department, with an advisory board, consisting of a health supervisor, a physician, a druggist, a lawyer and a civil engineer. A great deal is being done to wipe out tuberculosis, and the general condition of the people is 100 per cent. better than it has been before.

BUILDING GOOD ROADS.

Next to the hookworm, one of the biggest things Uncle Sam has done in Porto Rico has been in the good roads movement. He has started the work, and the people have furnished the money to do the business.

There is no part of the United States which has such a road development as has had Porto Rico since we took hold. At that time the island had 170 miles of good highways. These were built by the Spaniards and mainly for military purposes. They consisted of one long road across the mountains from the Caribbean Sea to the Atlantic and some branch roads running here and there. These military roads were as good as any driveways in the United States. They were as smooth as the floor, without pebbles or ruts, and they wound their way in easy slopes over the mountains. In some places they hung to the sides of the hills and in others they made innumerable horseshoe curves so that you could see the road above and below you. I went over that road in 1899 and I was told it had cost about $25,000 a mile.

Today you will find roads like that connecting the chief parts of Porto Rico, and you can go in an automobile all over the island. The roads have cost only $10,000 a mile and they are now spending about $300 per mile per annum to keep them in order. The aggregate length of the macadam roads is such that if they were placed end to end they would reach from New York almost to Chicago, and that would be a better automobile road than if it were composed of strips from the best roads of New England.

In addition to this wagon roads have been made in the mountains connecting with these automobile highways, and new trails have been cut so that transportation is everywhere possible.

A great deal of the business of the country is now done by automobiles. There are more than 400 in use and more are added every day. There were something like a hundred new ones last year. There are regular lines of freight and passenger motor cars between the chief cities, and regular automobile busses run over the military road from San Juan to Ponce. As it is now, one can leave San Juan after breakfast in the morning and be at Ponce, on the southern side of the island, for lunch. It used to hustle one to get there in two days.

THE NEW STEAM ROADS.

When I was in Porto Rico, at the close of the war, there was only one steam railway. This was made up of short strips running from San Juan around to Ponce, with numerous breaks. It was part of a system that had been planned to belt the island, but only bits of which had been built.

Since we have taken hold this road has been improved and extended. The breaks have been filled, and the steam cars now run clear along the northern and western ends of the island from San Juan to Ponce, and from there to the port of Guayama. This completes four-fifths of the circuit of the island, and, in addition, there are many short line railroads which supply the sugar plantations. A very little more track would give roads through all the coast lands of Porto Rico.

In 1898 the car service was miserable. The passenger coaches were little better than our box freight cars and it was a rare occasion when the dinky engine did not break down. Today there are good American locomotives and comfortable passenger cars.

STEAMSHIPS TO PORTO RICO.

Since the United States took hold of Porto Rico the steamship lines connecting with it have steadily improved. New ones have been added, and the island has now steamers for all parts of the world. The wharfs of San Juan and Ponce are crowded with American goods. There are now twelve different lines which call at Porto Rico. The chief ones going to the United States are the New York and Porto Rico Steamship Line. The latter has three steamers which ply regularly between New York and San Juan on their way to Venezuela, and the New York and Porto Rico Line has a weekly service, its boats leaving New York every Saturday and reaching Porto Rico Wednesday. The fare is $40 or $50. The Spanish Trans-Atlantic Company plies between Spain and Santo Domingo, calling at San Juan, and a French line goes from France to Haiti, calling at the same port. The Hamburg-American Line has boats to Porto Rico, and there are Italian and Cuban boats as well. One can go to Porto Rico from the United States two or three times every week.

POSTS AND TELEGRAPHS.

The telegraphic and postal service of the island, which was very poor ten years ago, is now as good as that of any part of our country. The United States government manages the post offices, and the telegraph system is under the government of Porto Rico, being directed by its department of the interior. There are thirty-seven telegraph stations, covering all the larger places, and these are connected by telephones with all the smaller towns. Messages are sent by telegraph and transmitted from the stations by telephone. The telephones are owned by private parties. The island has also a good cable service, connecting it with all parts of the world, and it has wireless telegraph stations maintained by the United States Navy. It has also street railways run by electricity, and San Juan and other towns are lighted by the power project of the Comerio dam.

PORTO RICO PAYS ITS OWN BILLS

When a British colony pays its own bills it is considered a success. That is what Porto Rico does now. The total cost of the government and all the expenses of the island come out of the Porto Rican treasury, which is filled by Porto Rican taxes. The United States has no expense whatsoever, except the keeping of a regiment of troops, consisting altogether of five or six hundred, the privates of whom are Porto Ricans. The officers only are Americans.

The governing is done by the natives, with the exception of the Governor-General and a limited number of officials appointed by the President. There is a Legislature consisting of two houses, one of which, known as the Executive Council, is appointed by the President, and the other, the House of Delegates, is elected by the people. There are eleven members in the Executive Council and thirty-five in the House of Delegates, and they make all the laws for the island. The thirty-five members are elected every two years from seven electoral districts. Each of the districts have five delegates.

Both of these houses are now in session, the Assembly having convened the second Monday in January. It will sit sixty days. The Executive Council remains in session throughout the year, for it is necessary that it confirm the appointments made by the Governor in order that they be valid according to law.

JUSTICE IN PORTO RICO.

In the days of the Spaniards justice in Porto Rico was a matter of bargain and sale. The man who had the most money got the decision of the courts in his favor, and even today the judges are still offered bribes. I heard of a case in which a woman the other day called upon the Attorney-General and asked him just how much money it would take to get her son out of prison. She said she had been saving for the past five years, or ever since he had committed manslaughter, and that she thought she had now enough to buy him out. It was hard for the Attorney-General to make her see that money could not compensate for crime.

Today the judicial system of Porto Rico is much like that of the United States. There are fifty-eight justices of the peace, but they cannot fine a man more than $15 or imprison him for more than thirty days. Their jurisdiction is limited to violations of municipal ordinances and petty crimes. They are much like our police judges. There are also municipal courts where suits are tried in which the rental does not exceed $1000. The officers of these are elected by popular vote, and each for a term of four years. Above these are the district courts, the prosecuting attorneys of which are appointed by the Governor, and, higher still, the Supreme Court, composed of five judges appointed by the President. This court sits at San Juan, and it possesses general appellate jurisdiction over the island.

A COUNTRY WITHOUT GRAFT.

One of the most remarkable things in Porto Rico has been the elimination of graft. Under the former government everything was bribery and corruption. Nothing could be done without greasing the itching palms of the officials, and this was so even to the recording of deeds and and all transfers of property. Everything was taxed, even to the smallest bit of furniture of a banana-roofed shack. The poor had no rights that the rich were bound to respect, and it cost money to get a hearing in the courts.

At the time we took hold there were 2000 prisoners in the jails awaiting trials, and many of them did not know the charges upon which they had been arrested. One man had been kept in prison for five months for stealing an empty bag, and another a year for stealing a chicken. A third prisoner, charged with stealing a hog, had been kept in jail a year awaiting his trial. The courts of Porto Rico then cost $160,000 a year in salaries alone, and every official had a large allowance for writing materials.

Today all the accounts of the island pass through the hands of auditors selected by our Treasury Department, and every cent must be satisfactorily accounted for. This is so of all branches of the government, and it is impossible for any of the public money to be spent otherwise than as laid down by the law.

BIG GAIN REPORTED.

A general idea of the prosperity that prevailed through the past year in Los Angeles, and especially in home building circles, is given by a report from the Los Angeles Investment Company, that its sales for the last twelve months in houses and lots sold on the easy-payment plan, increased 47 and a fraction per cent. over the same business in the year 1910. "One noticeable feature of the big increase in our business is that the summer months showed the greater gains," declared W. D. Deeble, secretary of the company. "To us this is indicative of the fact that full realization has come that Los Angeles is never more ideal than it is in summer—the very time that the outsider might think that we are sweltering in semi-tropical heat."

GREAT VALLEY ACTIVITY.

Sales of Van Nuys-Lankershim acreage and of lands at North Lankershim, an adjacent tract in the same part of the San Fernando Valley, are reported by the Janss Investment Company, for the week, as follows: In Van Nuys-Lankershim lands: W. Schmidtz, $5518.75; J. L. Fulkerson, $2250; W. C. Hall, $2250; E. V. Haver, $2375; M. Boyer, $562; William H. Bahn, $1125; V. Ray, $562; Ross E. Whitley, $20,060; J. P. Nauens, $2375; J. L. Stevenson, $1875; D. T. Love, $2250; George E. Weir, $1125; Fannie Moorhouse, $1125; Anna T. Jeffries, $2250; Ralph E. Miller, $4500; Charles Shaw, $1125; Clara Bartel, $835, and Helen Kreichbaum, $2250.

LEASE NEW HOTEL.

The Birnbaum Investment Company has leased a sixty-room hotel on East Fifth street between Crocker and Towne for B. Rosin and L. Guggenheim to Gustave Cline for a term of ten years. The building will be a four-story white glazed brick front structure and strictly modern. It will be finished in April. Borgmeyer is the designer.

YOUNG BOYS AND OLD AMBITIOUS.

FOUR HUNDRED GROWN-UPS IN NIGHT SCHOOL CLASSES.

Nearly Thousand Pupils from Fifteen to Fifty-five Years of Age Are Striving by Electric Light to Improve Themselves at the Polytechnic School.

Any man or woman seeking inspiration is respectfully referred by Supt. Francis of the city schools to the Polytechnic Evening High School.

Any evening when the stars and the tungsten lights are twinkling one may find boys, old and young, by the hundreds, studying in the recitation rooms and work rooms at the Washington street Temple of Learning.

Francis says that whenever he feels dispirited or blue he goes to the Evening School. And comes away feeling better.

There are nearly 1000 boys enrolled in the evening classes. Boys ranging in age from 15 to 55 years. Practically every pupil is a wage earner and has already been toiling all day before taking up his text book.

It isn't compulsory. Not for a sixtieth part of a minute. Every student in the night school has passed the age when the law says he must attend school. It is a matter of choice. Ergo, there is no shooting of spit-balls and killing of time in the recitation rooms.

Robert A. Thompson, a vice-principal of the Polytechnic High School, has immediate supervision of the night school. W. A. Dunn, is principal of both the day and night schools. The corps of teachers is made up of the best in their respective lines in the city. Many are engaged in similar work during the day, while others carry into their night teaching experiences gained in the business world.

The new term will open Monday, February 5. Indications are for the largest enrollment in the school's history. There are accommodations for 2000.

Among the night pupils are many teachers, who take this opportunity to perfect themselves in favorite studies and expend their mental horizons.

The school is equipped with a good library, in charge of a trained librarian. It is open evenings and is a popular rendezvous of the night students.

Of the evening pupils enrolled during the present school year, more than 400 are over 21 years of age and are paying a nominal tuition.

The school is endeavoring to teach this truth to its pupils: That boys will do well to educate themselves into their work instead of trying to educate themselves out of it. The polytechnic Evening High School attempts to make of the office boy a stenographer; of the carpenter a contractor; of the machine laborer a machinist; of the cash girl a milliner or dressmaker. It is taken for granted that every pupil is endeavoring to work out his own salvation, and the school is doing its utmost to help in the attainment of this end.

DESIGN MANY BUILDINGS.

The Caruthers Building Company reports contracts for new buildings as follows: Five-room bungalow for Mary E. McKinney, No. 1041 Dewey avenue, costing $1600; skating rink at Luna Park, $500; two-story store and flat building, corner Thirty-fifth and Normandie streets, $4000; two five-room bungalows for H. Stricklin, No. 3558 Normandie avenue, $3200; story and a half house, for C. M. Cornwall, No. 446 Caroll avenue, $2500; five-room bungalow on Liberty street, for Peter Nadal, $1000; seven-room residence and garage for Mrs. R. H. Baker, on Wilton place, costing $3760. The same company is preparing plans for a two-story residence for Dr. Frank P. Young to cost $4000; for a two-story store and flat building for S. Waktor to be erected in Boyle Heights, to cost $4500, and will erect in the next month for itself a two-story frame building on Inez and Chicago streets, to cost about $5000.

APARTMENTS ARE MODERN.

West Sixth Street Improvement Will Embody Many Up-to-date Features, to Contain Seventy Rooms.

Construction is under way upon an apartment house at No. 1249 West Sixth street, for A. Sieroty, manager of the Eastern Outfitting Company, and W. M. Gottschalk. The building is 50 feet by 132 feet in size and will contain about seventy rooms, subdivided into twelve three-room apartments and fifteen two-room apartments. The front of the structure will be faced with stone and will be of cream and buff colored pressed brick.

On the ground floor there will be a large loungingroom finished in Mexican Juana Costa mahogany, with beamed ceiling and oak floors. The main corridors will be finished in birch. The front vestibule will be wainscoted with Mexican onyx. The building will be equipped in a modern and up-to-date manner. It will cost approximately $50,000. S. Tilden Norton is the architect.

REPORTS EXCHANGES.

George W. Miller, of the realty department of the Stockholders' Building Company, reports the following exchanges: Ten-room house, Sixteenth street and Bonnie Brae, and eight-room house, Twenty-ninth street and Vermont avenue, belonging to Mrs. Wies, for 320 acres of land in Kings county, involving $40,000. Fifteen-acre improved ranch at San Jacinto, belonging to Mr. Lytle, for an apartment house at Ninth street and Grand avenue, belonging to Mr. Frogley, consideration $12,000. Ten-room house in Oneonta Park, and six-room house and four lots in Glendale, owned by Mr. Griswold, for 320 acres of land in Kings county, owned by J. A. Parker, consideration $12,000.

FOR RUTH STREET.

Plans are being drawn by Noonan & Kysor for a three-story brick apartment building that is to be built by Mrs. H. E. Little at No. 523 Ruth street. The structure will contain twenty-five apartments in two-room suites. The front will be faced with presed brick.

CHURCH FOR RIVERBANK.

A church has been organized at Riverbank and a site has been purchased, 100x122 feet on the corner of Third and Athison streets, at a price of $900. A $5000 edifice will be erected, $2000 of which has already been pledged. Of this the Guy M. Rush Company and the Riverbank Land Company will give $500. It is the purpose of the Methodists to rush the work to completion and to start a Sunday-school and services in a room of Mr. Callender's new store until the church has erected a suitable building.

Discouraged

The expression occurs so many times in letters from sick women, "I was completely discouraged." And there is always good reason for the discouragement. Years of pain and suffering. Doctor after doctor tried in vain. Medicines doing no lasting good. It is no wonder that the woman feels discouraged.

Thousands of these weak and sick women have found health and courage regained as the result of the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

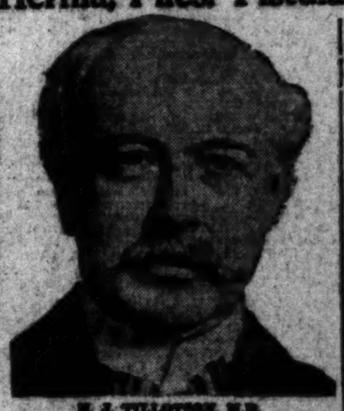
IT MAKES WEAK WOMEN STRONG AND SICK WOMEN WELL.

Refuse substitutes offered by unscrupulous druggists for this reliable remedy.

Sick women are invited to consult by letter, free. All correspondence strictly private and sacredly confidential. Write without fear and without fee to World's Dispensary, R. V. Pierce, M. D., Pres't, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate and invigorate stomach, liver and bowels. Sugar-coated, tiny granules, easy to take as candy.



CURED IN FIVE DAYS
Hernia, Piles, Fistula and Varicose Veins

H. J. TILLOTSON, M.D.
[Established 31 Years. Copyrighted.]

I publish my true photograph, correct name and personally conduct my office. I am the longest established, most successful and reliable, as medical credentials and press records prove. Imitation of my copyrighted announcement is an evidence that I am a bona-fide specialist. I make this statement that you will know you consult a Specialist who sees and treats patients personally. I possess skill and experience acquired in such a way that no other can share. Experience is the safe standard by which judgment may be valued and results obtained.

A thorough investigation should be made by every ailing person as to the specialist he consults. Duty and destiny to self and those who depend upon you demand the best medical attention. I have the ability and can give you this service. I have always charged a very reasonable fee, so that my services may be obtained by any man who sincerely desires to be cured. I make no misleading statements or unbusinesslike propositions; neither do I desire to be particularly independent, and I would like to have you for a patient, if you will come to me on a strictly professional basis, and the inducements that I offer, which are my ability and thirty-one years' successful experience. Time-saving treatment and guarantee of cure of certain diseases.

NO MONEY REQUIRED TO COMMENCE TREATMENT. Many patients have no confidence in their doctor, because he demands pay before a cure has been effected, and there are many who have been misinformed about their condition, or through unsuccessful treatment have become skeptical and think there is no cure for them. I want an opportunity to treat such cases. It makes no difference about the financial part, as I accept pay for my services as benefits are derived, when I am satisfied the patient is reliable. Health is capital at interest. I will prove my ability to cure you before asking pay for my services.

WRITTEN GUARANTEE.

Dr. Tillotson's written guarantee means a cure or no pay for services. I guarantee to cure certain diseases or refund every dollar you have paid me for my services. My services cost you nothing unless I cure your Varicose Veins, Hernia, Piles, Fissures, Fistula or any disease I guarantee to cure. My terms are reasonable and no more than you are willing and able to pay.

READ MY BOOK — It contains information every young man, husband and father should have regarding himself. Book Sent Free to those who, in my opinion, will be benefited by it. Call or write before treating for disease or disorders.

Many Cases Cured Permanently in FIVE DAYS. Most Time-Saving, Most Natural, Most Safe. No Detention from Occupation, Family or Home. A Radical and Permanent Cure. I Will Give $500 to Any Charity as a Guarantee That Every Statement in This Announcement is True.

I cure rapidly, painlessly and at small expense. Cured patients are my testimonials; however, I do not make patients' names merchandise by publishing them. I will give conclusive evidence of my merit, which is obtained and maintained by ability. I invite you to come to my office. I will explain my treatment for Hernia, Piles, Fistula, Varicose Veins, Pelvic, Nervous, Blood, Kidney, Bladder and Rectal Diseases. I will give you free a physical examination; if necessary a microscopical and chemical analysis of secretions to determine existing pathological and bacteriological conditions. Every person should take advantage of this opportunity to learn their true condition. Certainty of cure is what you want.

VARICOSE VEINS.

In the cure of Varicose Veins, and Associate Diseases of the Pelvic Region, I am successful in bringing to bear the curative power of Nature's forces in such a manner as to supplant the old-time, wide-open surgical operation. Once it required several weeks to cure these conditions and the method which some still use is such as to endanger the life of the patient and require a long period of convalescence. Now an absolute cure can be accomplished in a few days and with perfect safety.

TRUSSES SELDOM CURE RUPTURE.

Disregard for existing Hernias has cost many lives. The smallest hernias are the most dangerous to life, because of the increased liability to strangulation. I am aware that a great deal of fraud has been practiced on the public in connection with the alleged cure of rupture, and when I say positively that I cure Rupture, to stay cured, I do not expect any one to accept my statement without investigation of my professional work. My claim to your confidence is based on absolute facts, accomplished results. A personal consultation. I will make a free examination and can explain every detail of your Hernia and demonstrate to you the curative value of the method I have discovered. I invite the careful investigation of any person who sincerely desires to be cured. I cure Rupture, in selected cases with perfect safety, and entail no suffering, and do not detain you from occupation under Written Guarantee. Many cases cured to stay cured by a few treatments.

PILES, FISTULA, RECTAL DISEASES.

These diseases are very common; most frequently found in persons of middle or advanced age; are exceedingly annoying, often very painful, and sometimes very dangerous, and frequently unfit one for pleasure or occupation. My treatment and successes are the result of years of experience; my treatment is kindly applied. I cure Piles without cutting. Some cases are cured by one or more treatments. If I do not cure your Piles, Fistula and other Rectal Diseases, my treatment does not cost you anything. Gentleness in treatment comes from treating many cases, so I guarantee a cure of Piles, Fistula, Fissure, Ulcers and all curable Rectal Diseases.

KIDNEY AND BLADDER DISEASES.

With these diseases you may have more complications than are presented by any other diseased organs. By my searching illumination of the bladder I determine accurately the diseases and by my microscopical examination and urinalysis make sure of the condition of the kidneys, thus laying foundations for scientific treatment.

I OFFER A FREE CONSULTATION AND EXAMINATION.

FINANCIAL NEWS SUMMARY.

[Furnished by Logan & Bryan, Members New York and Boston Stock Exchanges, Bradbury building.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—Week's reported movement of currency indicate banks gain $16,000,000 cash.

City makes final subway proposal to Inter-boro to be submitted to company's directors Monday or Tuesday; hope for agreement.

British cotton strike ends; mills to re-open Monday.

New York Savings Bank Association to have bill introduced at Albany increasing reserve requirements. Would force reduction of many banks' dividends.

Steel tariff bill to be ready for Democratic caucus Monday night; average reduction about 40 per cent.

Twelve industrials advanced .37. Twenty active rails advanced 1.01 per cent.

Coalers were again conspicuous for their marked strength, particularly Reading, which was actively absorbed on the talk of company forming a coal sales company along the same lines as the Lehigh and the Lackawanna. The balance of the list was inclined to respond though not to the same extent, but a noticeable feature was the inclination to produce greater activity in selected issues.

As the week closes, sentiment is rather cheerful, due primarily to the fact that the bulk of securities which were lodged in the Equitable building have been found to be unharmed. Reports to the state of trade in our country, while on the whole cheerful, denote hesitancy in certain quarters, but the feature in iron and steel lines has been the heavier specifications, increased operations at the mines, and furnaces, with new business of fair volume and practically on a par with shipments. Advices in the coalers continued bullish and particularly in Reading. New York Central and New York Tractions have been mentioned as likely to be quite prominent on the advancing side during the coming week. It looks very much as though the subway controversy in New York will be adjusted next week, which it is anticipated will be reflected by great advantages to the Inter-boro Company and the movement in same will bear watching; we are told higher prices being predicted.

LOCAL PRODUCE MARKET.

The week closed quietly on the markets. There was no great amount of trading, and with but one exception, that of eggs, no changes in quotations were made. The market on candled select eggs declined 2 cents and case counts were quoted 1 cent lower. The former sold at 33 cents and the latter moved out at 30 cents per dozen. The only reason assigned for the decline in prices was the material increase in receipts of local fresh eggs. Storage eggs were unchanged at 30 cents per dozen. Pullet eggs were held at 24 cents. Arrivals were 349 cases.

While the butter market showed no change as far as quotations were concerned, there was a strong undercurrent of firmness prevalent during the latter part of the week. This firmness was caused by reports from the East as to the bareness of the market on this commodity. There is a shortage of holdings of storage butter and with little prospect of the opening of the season of heavy production for at least two months, this staple may reach a high figure. Quotations are higher than they were at this date last year. Receipts were 28,036 pounds.

Cheese arrivals were 3124 pounds. No change was noted in this market prevailing quotations were firmly upheld on all varieties. A good movement of Northern fresh stock was reported.

The potato market was firm. The market showed only one change during the past week and that on Salinas and Lompocs. This advance was not of primary importance, as these varieties are comparitively scarce. Receipts are about normal and it is not likely that higher prices will be seen within the coming week, barring any temporary overloading of the market. Receipts were 2549 sacks.

The demand for onions was active. No change in quotations marked the day. There was a fair demand for white wax onions, but they carried a high price—$3.50 a hundredweight. Arrivals were 15 sacks.

Bean receipts were 7 sacks. The market generally was firm. The advance of from 10 to 15 cents by the local jobbers early in the week on pink beans was upheld. At the advance the market was reported firm. Lady Washingtons and small whites were steady to firm and with the crop in rather strong hands an immediate decline would not be unlooked for.

Sweet potatoes were firm to steady. There was little done in this line yesterday. Receipts were 25 sacks.

Both the fruit and vegetable markets showed no material change. Receipts of vegetables were moderate and quoted figures were upheld.

LOS ANGELES EXCHANGE.

Heavy Trading Day Closes the Week With Union Selling at Par. Mexican Petroleum Stronger.

The trading on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange yesterday was heavier than usual on Saturday. Union sold at par, closing at 99.87½, and the closing bid for Mexican Petroleum common was 55.50. While none of this stock changed hands on call, there was considerable buying off board. During the past week the common weakened off a bit, but in the last two days it regained its former strength. The demands from eastern investors are still reaching local brokers for this issue.

California Midway strengthened up quite a little, closing at 13 1-8, and the same was true of Consolidated Midway, which closed at 2 3-8. Ten shares of Traders' Oil sold at 77.50, and twenty-five shares of Union Provident, at 99.50.

In the bank list German American is now bid up to 345, Merchants' National to 800, and First National to 625. For Security Savings the closing bid was 401, and for Southern Trust, 202.

In the mining list Johnnie M. & M. has been the most active stock during the past week, the price ranging slightly above 2 cents a share.

The Columbia Oil Company and the Mascot Oil Company have just paid regular dividends of 1 per cent. each. These dividends are paid monthly. The Olinda Land Company (oil) pays 1-2 per cent. monthly.

SAN FRANCISCO EXCHANGE.

Sudden Rise of Manhattan Stocks Is the Feature of the Trading on Northern Market.

[Special Service to The Times by B. F. Taylor, 118 West Fourth street, Los Angeles.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 20.—The only new feature in the mining market today was Big Four, which closed last night 40 bid, sold up to 50 today, closed 45 bid, up 5. Manhattan Consolidated was up a point. There was no news on the floor from Manhattan to account for the bulge in Big Four. There were no changes in the Goldfield list except Vernal, which closed 15 bid, none offered, and Merger, which was up 1.

In the Comstock list, Mexican was down 5, Union 2½, North Star was up 2, Mizpah Extension 4, Tonopah Extension 5, West End 4. The Tonopahs are all strong.

In the outlying camps, Pittsburgh Silver Peak lost 7½, Nevada Hills 15, Round Mountain was up 2.

FAMINE PRICES FROM RUSSIA.

WHEAT TRADERS SHOW THEMSELVES RESPONSIVE.

Exports from the Dominions of the Czar Are Sure to Run Light Owing to Conditions Prevailing There—The Chicago Market Closes at an Advance of Three-eighths.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Jan. 20.—Wheat traders today showed themselves responsive to confirmed reports of famine prices prevailing throughout large districts in Russia and making virtually sure that exports from Russia will run light for months to come. Accordingly the market closed at advance of 1-4 to 3-8c over last night. Corn finished ½c up; oats 3-8c higher and hog products at a decline of 2½ to 10c. May wheat ranged from 100 to 1.00 3-4, with last sales 1.00 3-4c, a net gain of ½c. May corn fluctuated between 66c and 66 5-8c, closing steady 3-8c net higher at 66½. Cash houses were large buyers in the sample market. No. 2 yellow was quoted. May oats ranged from 49 3-8 to 49½ @ 5-8 with last sales 49 7-8, a gain of 3-8 over last week. In the provision court it began to look as if the friends of the Six and a Half hog had been over-confident, and there were good stocks of unhedged product waiting for a favorable market. Pork closed down 5 to 10 and the rest of the list 2½ @ 5c.

THE COPPER INDUSTRY.

[Special Service to The Times by E. F. Hutton & Co., Members N. Y. Stock Exchange, 118 West Fourth street, Los Angeles.]

The new lode just encountered by the Hancock is correlated as the west branch of the Quincy series and we are reliably informed that it is rich. This is the third lode cut by the Hancock lode No. 4 only a few weeks ago at a depth of 3105 feet contained [illegible] feet of rich copper rock. The shaft is only a few feet in the new or No. 5 lode which was cut at a depth of about 3180 feet. It is figured that the Hancock shaft is only about 200 feet now from the Pewabic lode. In view of recent developments and possibilities in connection with cutting the Pewabic lode Hancock possesses great speculative possibilities.

While some of the large copper producers are still receiving less than 13 cents for copper delivered on account of large sales for future delivery at 12½@12¾ cents, and it may be a month or six weeks yet before they derive the benefits of 14-cent copper, the companies which settle on the basis of "Engineering & Mining Journal" figures received 13½ cents for their December copper.

Our Salt Lake correspondent wires that the Utah Copper Company yesterday placed the seventh section of its Arthur mill in commission.

The International Smelting and Refining Company will begin lead operations about February 15, and it will build a lead refinery in the east.

The Boston News Bureau says:

"Stockholders of United Verde Extension Mining Company are in receipt of a circular from Louis E. Whicher, president, stating that in order to provide funds for resumption of development work, an agreement between United Verde Extension Company and the representative of important mining interests has been arranged as follows:

"1. The sale of 25,000 shares of full paid stock of United Verde Extension Mining Company for $25,000, with the right to the purchaser, upon the credit of the company, to apply additional sums for such development upon being authorized so to do by the directors of the company.

"2. Giving the purchaser the right, within one year, to purchase the mining property of the company, with its plant and equipment, free of encumbrance, in consideration of two-fifths of the total common shares of a new mining corporation; all shares to be full paid, the purchaser to pay into the treasury, of said new company $200,000 and to cause said mining property, plant and equipment to be conveyed to it, free of encumbrance, such purchaser to be the holder of two-fifths of the authorized full paid shares of said company, the remaining shares to be in, or held for the benefit of its treasury, said new company to be free from debt, excepting that its organization expenses shall be paid out of said $200,000, it being further provided that any additional sums over and above the $25,000 above mentioned, which the purchaser may advance to the company for development work, shall be deducted from the $200,000.

"A meeting of United Verde Extension stockholders will be held on January 30 to authorize the transaction. Stockholders of United Verde Extension are informed that some sort of an agreement has been made between the company and the representative of important mining interests. As the name of Phelps, Dodge & Company, has been spoken of as prospective purchasers and operators of the property, it is only fair to state that Phelps, Dodge & Company have no present intention of identifying themselves with the company. Other interests are now said to be prospective buyers.

"There has been no interruption at plants of American Smelting & Refining Company in Mexico and all are running at capacity. Statements of American Smelters for half year ended October 31 and Smelters Securities for six months ended November 30 will compare favorably with last year, when American Smelting & Refining showed 3.11 per cent. on its common, and Securities about 4½ per cent. on the common.

"New York—About 2000 tons of copper ore a month are shipped from Bonanza Mines in Alaska to the smelter of American Smelters Securities at Tacoma. As this ore runs about 63 per cent. copper, the monthly production approximates 3,050,000 pounds. There have been no serious interruptions of operation on Copper River Railroad, and as there are large ore stocks at Kennecott, production will go ahead through the winter."

SUNNYVALE

The Manufacturing Suburb of San Francisco.

The Sunnyvale Land Company is the owner of the unsold portion of the original town of Sunnyvale, which was founded a half dozen years ago by W. E. Crossman. Six years ago this town was a wheat field. Today it is a thriving manufacturing town with a population of 2000 destined to go to 5000 before the end of this year. It is only an hour's ride from San Francisco on the direct line of the Southern Pacific and already numbers among its enterprises several old, substantial manufacturing industries, four churches, a large public school, a prosperous bank, two newspapers and many other lines of business are already represented.

The new factories that have always expressed their intention of moving to Sunnyvale this year will more than double the present population and consequently double the value of the thousands of parcels of real estate owned by the Sunnyvale Land Company. The present holdings were bought at wholesale prices and are being sold at retail prices. The profits are enormous. Write today for detailed information.

Price of Stock $1.00 Per Share.

The Directors have decided to offer a small block of stock of the Sunnyvale Land Company, at par, $1.00 per share. If you have any money that is earning you 3½ per cent. in the Bank, this is your opportunity to purchase as much Sunnyvale Land Company stock at the present low price of $1.00 per share. This is the bottom price at which this stock was subscribed for, by the President, Mr. W. E. Crossman, who is the founder of Sunnyvale.

Dividends.

The first quarterly dividend for 1912 will be declared March 31st, payable to all stockholders of record. If you wish to participate in this first opportunity ever offered the public to subscribe for Sunnyvale Land Company stock at the original ground floor price of $1.00 per share, your order must be received before January 31st, as the price will advance on that date. Special notice is hereby given that even though the Directors do not decide to increase the dividend rate for 1912, the stock will steadily advance in price.

Advance in Price.

Will take place January 31st, 1912. Mail your check for what stock you wish to purchase, or wire your order at our expense, and we will reserve the stock providing your check is dated the same day as your wire, which must be on or before January 31st.

Notice! No Agents!

Stock can be purchased for cash or on the ten payment plan, payable in ten equal installments. Delay in forwarding your order means that you must pay the advanced price of stock, which will take place January 31st. Financial statements and references furnished on application. Call at our offices today. We have no agents.

Shares and Money.

BRIEF SESSION, BUT A HUMMER.

MARKET SHOWS SOME REAL ACTIVITY.

[illegible] Movement that Began Friday in the Hill Issues Spreads to [illegible] More Active Shares and General Advances Are Noted the Very [illegible] Hour.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—For a half [illegible] and taking the recent dullness [illegible] account today's brief session [illegible] rather note-worthy for its [illegible] and strength. The buying [illegible] which began yesterday in [illegible] issues spread to the more [illegible] stocks, and was resumed in [illegible] degree, general advances [illegible] the operations of the first [illegible]. Certain features of the session [illegible] of a manipulative [illegible], particularly the movement [illegible] coal issues. Reading was the leader today, resuming its [illegible] of the previous day and selling [illegible] to 159. Buying of that stock [illegible] to a group of operators [illegible] in former movements. To this was added buying, which [illegible] to the out-of-town account. The list as a whole held strong [illegible] advances in certain specialties [illegible] more obscure issues. St. [illegible] was steady, although Wall [illegible] is now of the opinion that the [illegible] will be cut to 5 per cent. [illegible] coming week. There was some [illegible] in Denver and Rio Grande [illegible] arising from the current [illegible] connecting the Western Pacific with the Hill lines. All the more [illegible] and active issues moved sympathetically. Best prices of the day [illegible] in the last hour, but [illegible] for profits then ensued and [illegible] were quite general. The [illegible] at the close, however, was active and strong. The bank statement furnished something of a surprise in that actual loans expanded [illegible] $28,000,000. The actual gain [illegible] was almost $17,000,000, [illegible] increase in reserves of over [illegible]. Actual excess cash reserves now are over $42,000,000. The [illegible] market was active with further [illegible] improvement. Total sales [illegible] $3,500,000. Panama 3s [illegible] 1-4 per cent. on call during the week.

New York Curb Stocks.

[Special Service to The Times by E. F. Hutton & Co., Members N. Y. Stock Exchange, 118 West Fourth street, Los Angeles.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—There was no feature to today's curb market, prices of the copper stocks were practically unchanged from last night's close. Giroux, Greene Cananea and Inspiration were all in fair demand. The market closed steady.

The Boston coppers were generally strong. Trading was not attended with any great activity, but the undertone is strong and prices advanced easily whenever any demand appears. East Butte sold up to 14 on unusual activity. Butte Coalition advanced to 22½. Calumet and Hecla was 5 points higher. Osceola declined 2 to 108.

Boston Copper Market.

[Furnished by Logan & Bryan, Members New York and Boston Stock Exchanges, Bradbury Building, Los Angeles.]

BOSTON (Mass.) Jan. 20.—The local market showed absorption tendency again today. East Butte, Butte Coalition, Giroux and Greene were all very active, East Butte showing the greatest strength. Hancock rallied easily to 35½. Copper Range, Lake and North Butte were stronger. We look for more speculation and continued higher prices next week.

New York Cotton Market.

[Special Service to The Times by E. F. Hutton & Co., Members N. Y. Stock Exchange, 118 West Fourth street, Los Angeles.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—On account of unexpected weakness in Liverpool this morning this market opened ten points lower and later sold off about five points more in urgent liquidation and selling by uptown speculators and some selling by spot interests and the South. Memphis is supposed to have sold out a large line of long cotton and it was rumored that scales also was selling. Many local traders feel that the course of the market now depends on the South and are predicting that if there is any sign of spot weakness on Monday the market will work much lower. On the other hand there has probably been considerable short selling today encouraged by the less favorable spot advices in Liverpool and next week may see considerable covering.

Logan & Bryan's letter says: "The lower Liverpool market when the trade was expecting something better from that side on the strike settlement, caused more or less liquidation of cotton bought yesterday when the strike news came out and prices slumped twelve to fifteen points with a slight rally before the close on a little covering. The movement of the crop and the attitude of spinners will be watched closely for the next few weeks as factors determining the course of the market. After that will be the question of land preparation and acreage."

SANTA MONICA.

SANTA MONICA, Jan. 20.—A. Busier was robbed of $100 this afternoon by a nimble-fingered stranger who made a small purchase, paying with a bill of such large denomination that the safe had to be opened. After closing this deal a woman entered the store for a purchase that took Busier to the rear of the store. He was in such haste that he neglected to lock the safe, and while he was busy with the woman shopper the man opened the safe door and disappeared with the coin sack. He has not been seen since.

A plumber from Los Angeles, Hague by name, who was employed by C. M. Stimson, disappeared at midnight from his temporary seaside quarters, and has not since been seen. Hague lives on Pico street, and his mind has been failing recently, so he was brought to the beach thinking that the rest would be good for him. His friends fear he has made good his promise to commit suicide by leaping into the sea.

DOHENY STARTS FOR EUROPE.

Three Tank Steamers Being Built on Clyde.

Will Be Nucleus of Mexican Petroleum's Fleet.

Many Rumors Regarding the Rapid Rise of Stock.

Edward L. Doheny, president of the Mexican Petroleum Company and other big oil and gas concerns in this State and Mexico, left for an extended European trip yesterday afternoon. He was accompanied by Mrs. Doheny, and traveled in his private car. He will reach New York by way of El Paso and New Orleans, and speed is not an object.

While the Dohenys expect to get much pleasure out of their travels, Mr. Doheny will combine business with pleasure. At the present time there are being built on the River Clyde in England three tank steamers for the Mexican Petroleum Company at an aggregate cost of a little less than $1,000,000. The tankage capacity of the vessels will be respectively 60,000 barrels, 50,000 barrels and 35,000 barrels. The cost of the largest ship will be $340,000.

Already the Mexican Petroleum Company has under lease for the Gulf and Atlantic trade one tanker, and when the three vessels now under construction are added to the company's ocean-going equipment, it will have the nucleus of a formidable tank fleet. While abroad Doheny will visit the works of the foreign shipbuilding company with which, it is claimed, he was able to make better terms than he could in this country.

REASON FOR A FLEET.

The recent closing of a contract with the North German Lloyd Steamship Company by the Mexican Petroleum Company, for the delivery of oil in great quantity for the trans-Atlantic and Mediterranean service, is the reason for the accumulation of a tank fleet by the Doheny-Canfield syndicate. The Mexican Petroleum Company, through its subsidiary, the Huasteco Petroleum Company, has an enormous daily production of oil in the Tampico district, in addition to over 7,000,000 barrels that is being carried in storage. The company now furnishes about 10,000 barrels of oil daily to the Mexican National Railway; delivers large quantities of oil to the Waters-Pierce Oil Company (Standard) for its Mexican refinery requirements, and also does business with the Standard direct in the southern republic.

One of the wells of the Huasteco Petroleum Company has been flowing under control approximately 25,000 barrels daily for more than a year, and it is claimed by the company that it can bring in other big producers at any time the oil is needed to fill contracts. The Mexican Petroleum and its subsidiaries are physically well equipped in the matter of storage, pipe-line facilities, and other accessories of the oil business. The company has expended to date from $7,500,000 to $10,000,000 in improving its properties, and in addition to its oil subsidiaries owns asphalt manufactories and the Mexican National Gas Company in the City of Mexico. Its property is valued at $20,000,000.

There is no doubt that the Mexican Petroleum Company now occupies an enviable position in the oil-producing world, but there are rumors that in reaching the pinnacle of commercial supremacy in its line it had to make compromises with the powerful financial interests that revolve like satellites around the Standard Oil Company. For instance, before securing one of its biggest contracts for the delivery of oil it had to make peace with the agents of the big company.

Anent this condition, there are still other rumors in regard to the recent aerial twisters of the common stock of the Mexican Petroleum Company. This stock is now selling at practically $20 a share higher than it did six weeks ago. In other words, it is commanding around $56 a share on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange, whereas six weeks ago it could have been bought for $35. Most of the orders for the stock since it went above $40 a share have come from the East, and hundreds of thousands of dollars have been invested in it.

STOCK RUMORS.

In some quarters it is rumored that the price of the common stock will go to $100 a share before it backslides, while some well-informed brokers look for it to stop around $75. It is known that men close to the management of the company have bought the stock as high as $55 a share, and one rumor has it that eastern bankers closely identified with the Standard Oil crowd made an offer of $100 a share for enough stock to control. This rumor comes from New York. It is said that present control lies with E. L. Doheny and C. A. Canfield who are credited with owning about 52 per cent. of the common stock.

It is further said that much to their surprise, Doheny and Canfield, when they went East to raise money for improving the property of the Mexican Petroleum Company, bumped up against the ramifications of the Standard in a way that was not very pleasing to their sense of the fitness of things. It is believed that the eastern men who have been loading up on the common lately expect to take down a good profit on their speculation. It is also pointed out that if they should begin their unloading process when the stock reaches $75 or thereabout, and the local market should not be able to absorb all the offerings, a break in price could be prevented by using the $300,000 surplus for dividend purposes. The dividend of $1 a share on the common was suspended many months ago. In fact, only one such dividend was paid. Lately there have been many rumors regarding a resumption of the dividend payment.

At any rate, to the untutored in the ways of this branch of finance, the recent performances of the stock of the Mexican Petroleum Company has been more or less of an enigma, and even the wise ones have been turkey-trotting on high-priced eggs.

VIEWPOINT AND VALUES.

The prevailing influx of people into California is not entirely a matter of sunshine and blue sky, blossoms and beauty. To be sure, esthetic considerations abound, but sordid and solid commercial aspects obtrude themselves with compelling insistency and force. One such influence, subtle but strong, may have been overlooked, or at least not voiced, in the abundance of more obvious reasons. It is the fact that California real estate men have not become addicted to the "bargain habit." They rely upon intrinsic worth to move property rather than upon cut prices. In this respect, local conditions form a strong contrast to those prevailing in certain communities in a sister State which is making an active and unremitting campaign for the same class of tourist travel and permanent settlers as seek California throughout the year. This particular community has contributed many residents to Los Angeles and nearby towns, and at least a partial explanation of this fact is found in the different attitudes of the real estate men in the two places.

In our sister city inland, the firms handling real estate have become so committed to the bargain idea that the logical and normal appreciation of values is either impossible or so slow as to be discouraging to active men of business and to investors. A concrete case in point will serve to make clear the effect which the "bargain habit" has upon the real estate market. A person owned a choice piece of residence property which he had spent some years and considerable money in improving. When it became necessary for him to sell, he sought one of the long-established and responsible realty men and gave him actual cost price of the place, for quick sale, and making no claim for natural and normal appreciation under extensive improvement. He was promptly assured that there was no use attempting to sell except at "bargain" figures; that it was useless to think of getting more than one-half the actual cost; and was deluged with citations of homes in all parts of the city which could be had at even less than one-half their cost a year to three years before. Nothing could have been more discouraging than the picture painted by this dealer; and when the owner declined to cheapen this property to the extent demanded, the dealer declined to further interest himself in disposing of it. Going to another prominent firm a similar experience was encountered; the only difference being that the latter finally secured an offer of something less than one-half actual net cost of the place.

In contrast to this attitude, it may be cited that the same owner happened to have property in Los Angeles, and coming here to market same he frankly stated its cost to him. Whereupon the dealers, several different ones, placed a sale figure upon his property well in advance of its cost two years before, assuring him that he was entitled to the benefit of the normal appreciation of values since he acquired the place. Moreover, sale was soon effected upon that basis. The incident made a lasting impression upon him, and upon several of his friends who chanced to be watching it with interest; and it need hardly be pointed out that the argument is all in favor of the California attitude.

If a community is growing, thriving and prospering, there is a natural, normal and legitimate appreciation in land values therein; and a seller is entitled to the benefit of such appreciation. The reverse inference is therefore, warrantable, that if estate values are less than one-half actual cost, showing a depreciation of more than 50 per cent. in four years on unimproved or improved property, the community is not growing and prospering. Regardless of what the fact may be in any specific community, it is a fair statement that a community which relies upon half-cost bargains to move its property rather than upon intrinsic worth, is waving the red flag of danger to prospective investors, and is sowing the seeds of discontent among its own citizens who are property owners. Persons who own property in such a place will get rid of it, and go elsewhere, if in business life; and persons with money to invest are not likely to be attracted to a community whose real estate dealers, from the least of them even unto the greatest, are continually demanding "bargains" irrespective of values, and who thereby proclaim that the man who buys real estate there must expect to take a considerable loss on his investment when he wishes to sell.

The discriminating buyer shuns a "bargain" town. He knows that the elation of getting a "snap" for his money, that is proclaimed as such, is an empty and fleeting advantage—for when he turns seller he discovers what it means to own property in a "bargain" town. Begin talking California in almost any large community east of the range, and there will arise the familiar strain to the effect that values are "inflated" here, that our realty men are in league to "sustain prices," that our Chambers of Commerce are particeps criminis, and that there is bound to be a "tumble." That is the plaint that has been heard all the time Los Angeles was climbing from 175,000 to 350,000, and doubtless the same sounds will continue while it is going, as at present, from 350,000 to 1,000,000, and thereafter. But the fact remains that no human agencies or "combinations" are concerned in directly inflating or sustaining values here; sound common sense being all that is necessary to discern the inevitable appreciation of values due to progress, which is a dependable and constant factor.

The real estate man who, with an eye on a commission, preaches bargains to the buyer, and cut prices to the seller, is proclaiming a dangerous doctrine of land degeneracy. On the other hand, he who recognizes and points out a reasonable appreciation and a legitimate unearned increment, is sounding a clear and truthful note of encouragement to both residents and incoming investors, and at the same time is placing the seal of an indisputable prosperity upon his city.

Californians, native and adopted, believe in California, and with good reason, it must be conceded; and one of the very potent reasons that California has made good is that her people have recognized and proclaimed fearlessly and properly, the legitimate doctrine of honest profits for honest investment.

CLAREMONT NOTES.

CLAREMONT, Jan. 20.—The Rembrandt Club received Thursday afternoon in honor of the Shakespeare Club of Pomona. Mrs. Philips, president of the Shakespeare Club; Mrs. Renwick, president of the Rembrandt Club; Mrs. Jenkins, head of the art department, and Mrs. Martin Abernethy received the guests. Mrs. James A. Blaisdell, assisted by Mrs. W. N. Beach and a number of young ladies, served tea. The programme was on St. Francis of Assisi. Miss Ela Sugg gave a talk on the life of Giotto and was followed by Dr. P. E. Spalding who gave a history of St. Francis and many of the legends connected with pitcures which were on exhibition. The art students also had an exhibition of interesting book plates.

While hunting near Brown's Flats this week, George Pillsbury shot an American eagle. The bird, which is a magnificent specimen and has a spread of seven feet, is being mounted for the college museum. Pillsbury, who is a senior, was hunting birds for the science department.

The Hath A Way Club held its regular meeting last night. After several reports on current topics had been given, Mrs. George Irving impersonated and gave the life story of a Chinese woman.

Pomona College is to have a marine laboratory at Laguna Beach next summer. The Laguna Cliffs Company has donated a lot on the ocean front and given $1000 toward a building. Other Laguna Beach interests have pledged $3000. The building will be a small frame structure with a number of aquaria connected directly with the ocean. Nine hundred dollars was also pledged for the publication of the results of last summer's research work done by Pomona students at Laguna.

NOTICE.

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 15, 1912.

To the Stockholders the Consolidated Midway Oil Company.

You are hereby notified that your Board of Directors by authority given them at the last Annual Meeting of this Company held in Phoenix, Arizona, December 11th, 1911, (at which meeting there was represented in person or by proxy more than two-thirds of the outstanding stock of this corporation), has sold, assigned and transferred all of the business, franchises, rights, assets and property as a whole, of The Consolidated Midway Oil Company, to the National Pacific Oil Company, a corporation organized and existing under the laws of the State of California, in consideration of the transfer to The Consolidated Midway Oil Company, of 3,439,425 shares of the capital stock of said National Pacific Oil Company whose capital stock is three million, five hundred thousand (3,500,000) shares of the par value of one dollar ($1.00) each.

You are therefore further notified to present the stock of The Consolidated Midway Oil Company, now owned by you, whether the same is written in your name or not, at the office of this company, No. 612 Wright & Callender Building, Fourth and Hill streets, Los Angeles, Cal., and receive therefor, the same number of shares of stock in the National Pacific Oil Company, for which transfer there will be no charge or expense to the shareholders.

It is important that you have your stock transferred at the earliest date, as all the business formerly represented by the stock you now own in The Consolidated Midway Oil Company, will hereafter be conducted under the name of the National Pacific Oil Company.

Practically a new Board of Directors will serve the new company, which Board will be composed of men of the highest integrity and standing in the community and state.

Stockholders living out of the city, or those who prefer to mail their stock for transfer, are advised to do so by registered mail, to insure safety; after the same shall have been transferred, it will be returned to its owner in the same manner. We particularly request that you write your name and address plainly, to insure against any possible mistake in writing in your certificates of stock.

By authority of the Board of Directors of THE CONSOLIDATED MIDWAY OIL COMPANY.

By M. J. MONNETTE, President.
Attest: R. J. SHOEMAKER, Secretary.

TWO HUNDRED PERMITS AHEAD.

January Already Far in Lead Over Last Year.

Building Officials Predict New Records.

Leading Construction Projects of the Week.

That the present year is destined to eclipse even 1911 in general building activity is indicated by the great gain of nearly 200 in the number of permits issued to date this month as compared with the corresponding part of January a year ago. Both J. J. Backus, Chief Inspector of Buildings, and his head deputy, Mark C. Cohn, declare that the record surpasses all expectations and that the outlook for a huge annual construction total appears to be unusually good.

From January 1 to January 19, inclusively, 727 permits were issued, these representing a valuation of $1,433,865. The figures for the corresponding period of last year were 531 permits and $1,774,926 valuation. The record number of permits for the whole month of January in the history of the department was 834 for the opening month of 1906. January, 1910, boasted 820 permits for the entire month. With a third of the present month yet to be heard from, it is certain that these records will be completely eclipsed.

That the present month has fallen off in valuation is explained by the fact that the $1,000,000 permit for the Title Insurance Building at Fifth and Spring was issued in January, 1910, whereas only ordinary building activities are represented in the report to date for this year. With something like $225,000 in applications not passed upon, however, it is possible that the January, 1910, record may even yet be passed.

FINE BUILDING BEGUN.

The largest building project announced during the past week was the eight-story fire-proof apartment hotel that is to be constructed by F. O. Engstrom on the north side of Orange street, between Figueroa and Loomis, after plans by Paul C. Pape. The launching of this $250,000 enterprise was reported exclusively in The Times of Friday. The building will be 75 by 198 feet in size and will follow the most metropolitan lines.

Of the other new apartment and flat projects the following took definite shape last week:

The contract for the erection of a three-story brick store and rooming building to be erected by J. R. Jilek at Seventh and Kohler was let to J. F. Atkinson. The building will contain four stores and 57 sleeping rooms.

Train & Williams are making plans for a four-story and basement brick apartment building to be erected on the southwest corner of Ninth and Alvarado streets for P. L. Auten. There will be lobby, billiard room, sun parlor, social rooms, two four-room, thirty-two three-room and thirty-six two-room suites.

E. J. Borgmeyer is preparing plans for a three-story and basement brick apartment building to be erected on the northeast corner of Park Grove avenue and Twenty-first street for E. W. Lowell. There will be sixty rooms in the building, arranged in two and three-room suites.

O. M. Warner is preparing plans for a three-story and basement frame apartment building to be erected on North Hope street near Court street for Ralph Gussy. There will be thirty-six suites of two rooms each.

F. M. Tyler is preparing plans for a four-flat building to be erected at Dorchester and Harvard for M. L. Kelsey. There will be two three-room and two four-room flats.

Garret & Bixby have prepared plans for a two-story frame flat building to be erected at 673 South Bonnie Brae street for Mrs. A. S. Crickmore. There will be four four-room flats in the building.

C. Q. Stanton will erect a three-story and basement frame apartment house on Grand avenue north of First street. It will contain ninety rooms in two and three-room suites. E. O. Hadlock has the contract to erect a three-story apartment house at Temple street and Burlington avenue for Edith A. Schluenburg. It will contain five apartments of four and five rooms each. Plans for both of the two last named projects were drawn by the Architectural Designing Company.

W. J. Saunders is preparing preliminary plans for an eight-story reinforced concrete hotel building to be erected at Second and Clay streets for F. W. Braun.

SCHOOL CONTRACT LET.

The contract for the erection of a two-story brick addition to the Domestic Science Building of the Hollywood Union High School was last week let to W. S. McAbee of Azusa. Norman F. Marsh is the architect.

J. F. Atkinson was the lowest bidder and will be awarded the contract for the erection of a brick manual training school and a brick domestic science building at San Pedro High School in accordance with plans and specifications by C. A. Faithful.

Frank L. Stiff is preparing working plans for a one-story and basement four-room frame school building to be erected at Rose Hill, for the City Board of Education.

Scott Quintin has been instructed by the school trustees of Cucamonga to prepare plans for a two-story reinforced concrete grammar school building. It will contain twelve class rooms and an auditorium seating about 300.

Paul V. Tuttle is completing plans for a one-story and basement brick school building to be erected at San Gabriel. It will contain four class rooms and an auditorium seating 300. The design is Mission.

Jeffrey & Van Trees have been commissioned to prepare plans for a new Y.M.C.A. building at San Bernardino. It will be a three-story brick structure, estimated to cost $60,000.

TO REMODEL BUILDING.

The Bradley-Bradley Construction Company has the contract at about $20,000 for the remodeling of the interior of the four-story brick building on the west side of Broadway between Fourth and Fifth streets, occupied by Meyer Siegel & Co. The work will consist of the removal of a brick fire wall and the substitution therefor of columns and girders, extensive remodeling of the interior arrangement and the construction of a brick addition 50x62 feet in the rear.

A. C. Martin has completed plans for a five-story reinforced concrete warehouse to be erected on San Fernando street, near Alpine street, for the Peck & Hills Furniture Company. The building will extend through to Alameda street, the dimensions being 75x94 feet. The same architect is preparing plans for a one-story brick factory building to be erected on Santee street, between Ninth and Tenth streets, for Mrs. Hammel. It will be used as an addition to the plant of the Cambria Springs Company.

A. B. Benton is completing plans for the clubhouse to be built at the athletic field of the Y.M.C.A. at Euclid Heights. It will be a two-story frame building of the California bungalow type. The building will be about 54x170 feet and will contain a dormitory with about forty-five rooms, a large public assembly hall, lockers and shower and tub baths.

May & Grimwood have the contract for the erection of a one-story brick commercial garage on Pico street, between Main and Hill, for the Leon T. Shettler Company. It will contain two show rooms and a garage.

Jeffery & Van Trees have prepared plans for a rectory for the Normandie Avenue Methodist Episcopal Church, to be erected at Thirty-eighth and Normandie avenue. The chapel will seat 225 people.

S. Tilden Norton is preparing plans for remodeling the building at No. 247 South Broadway formerly occupied by the Whiteley Jewelry Company, for Citrin & Cohn. All the building except a store, 10x50 feet, will be occupied by the Greater New York Feather Company.

Scott Quintin is preparing plans for a two-story brick building to be erected at Humboldt street and Avenue 26 for the Los Angeles Can Company.

NEW RESIDENCES.

The Alta Planing Mill Company has the general contract at $18,700 for the erection of a twelve-room residence on Kingsley drive near Sixth street for S. M. Newmark. Plans are by Hunt & Burns.

Lester S. Moore has prepared plans for a two-story, eight-room frame residence to be built on Van Ness avenue, between Pico and Dorchester streets, for Mrs. Mary Braly Hicks.

T. Beverly Keim, Jr., & Co. are preparing plans for six bungalows to be built in the College tract for Sol Rich. They will contain five or six rooms.

The California Real Estate and Building Company will build ten bungalows on Fifty-sixth street, between Normandie and Denker avenues, for Henry O. Blake. They will contain five rooms each.

C. C. Rittenhouse has completed plans for a six-room bungalow to be erected at No. 1606 West Thirty-sixth street for W. M. McComb.

The Architectural Designing Company has prepared plans for a six-room bungalow to be erected on Del Monte avenue in Hollywood for J. L. Ayres.

F. M. Tyler is preparing plans for a two-story, twelve-room residence to be erected at Fifth and Kingsley drive for G. F. Sloan.

FINE HOME COMPLETED.

Eighth and New Hampshire House Is of Brick Construction—Is Finished in Juana Costa Mahogany.

One of the attractive new homes recently completed in the West End is pictured on this page. The place, which was planned and built by the Southern California Investment Company for Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Blumenthal, occupies a lot 100x150 feet in size, at the northeast corner of Eighth and New Hampshire streets.

The dwelling is of brick construction, the exterior walls being finished with cement plaster. The roof is of red tile. There are seventy feet of porches in all. A large sun room and pergola at the rear are features. The house is finished downstairs in Juana Costa mahogany. The residence is stated to have cost in the neighborhood of $15,000.

Traffic Record.

YEAR'S RECORD IS CONVINCING

Head of Pacific Electric Keeps Things Moving.

Unification and Extensions Are Progressing.

New Road for Orange County to be Built at Once.

Shoup was confronted with a formidable task in unifying and reorganizing the lines of the Pacific Electric, Los Angeles Pacific, and allied lines taken over by the Southern Pacific last winter. That the consolidation and financing of these lines has been accomplished is considered a fine tribute to the energy and ability of Shoup.

Shoup is now engaged in forwarding the policy of the thoroughly reorganized company for the betterment of traffic arrangements in Los Angeles and the entire system, embracing nearly 1000 miles of interurban track. Already this phase of the year's work is well started.

The high-powered, roomy cars of the Los Angeles Pacific division have been placed in operation on the northern division where the traffic is heavy, and where the grades are steep, while the high-speed cars formerly in use in Pasadena, have been placed on the longer lines of the company and in sections where the grades are better able to accommodate this type of car.

It has just been announced that with the granting of a permit for the electrifying of the old Southern Pacific line in Pasadena, the Southern Pacific trains between the Arcade station and Pasadena would be eliminated and would be replaced by cars of the Pacific Electric which will handle the Pasadena traffic of the Southern Pacific from the Arcade station by way of Sixth and Main streets, over the new curve at that point and by way of the Pasadena short line to the Southern Pacific station in Pasadena. This will also take some of the Pasadena cars out of the Pacific Electric station, relieving some of the congestion there.

Better service will be given from the downtown district to the Arcade station through these cars as well as through the operation of the El Molino local cars to the railroad station over the same route.

Shoup has also given some attention to the Main street congestion in connection with the South Pasadena and Annandale service through the connecting of these lines with the Watts local lines. The new line will take the South Pasadena and Annandale cars out of the Pacific Electric station and will eliminate the Watts line overlap on Main street, abolish the turn-back of the Watts cars at Commercial and Los Angeles streets and will give the South Pasadena and Annandale people a five-minute service in place of a ten or fifteen-minute headway.

Over on Hill street the service also is to be improved. The legislation committee of the City Council has approved Shoup's application for a curve at Echo Park avenue and Sunset boulevard. When this curve is put in the Sixteenth street cars will operate straight through on Hill street to the north end of Echo Park avenue. This will give the north end of the city better car service and will also permit of the tearing up of the old tracks on Fourth street between Broadway and Hill streets.

The electrification of the old Santa Monica steam line also will give better service to the south end of the city. Not only will the local cars run through to Palms, connecting with the Venice short line and relieving Sixteenth street, but through beach flyer service will be inaugerated over this line in the coming summer months. These air line cars will not be used in conjunction with Seventh street, but will leave the Pacific Electric four-track system at Ninth street and will reach the Pacific Electric station by way of Ninth and Main streets.

In the development of these changes every section of the city has received some special benefit from the personal recommendations of the Pacific Electric, and according to his own statements still further improvements are forthcoming.

The Main street congestion problem is not yet settled. The City Council has before it an application for a line on San Pedro street which if granted would relieve the congestion of red cars on Main street and permit the Los Angeles Railway Corporation to carry out its plans for the rerouting of all the cars in the congested district under the plans drawn by Assistant General Manager C. A. Henderson and approved by the Board of Public Utilities. Chief Engineer Kuhrts of the latter company already has ordered the special work for the new rerouting schemes and as fast as the special work arrives will put in the new curves.

SANTA ANA TO ORANGE.

INTERURBAN ROAD EXTENDS.

Manager Shoup, of the Pacific Electric, has arranged with a committee of citizens from Orange for the immediate construction of a five-mile extension of the Santa Ana line over private right-of-way to Orange.

In the old days Orange was served with transportation from Santa Ana by a steam dummy. This line was inadequate for the service required and under the present plan this line will be torn up and abandoned.

In place of the old dummy a high speed double track line will be constructed from the end of the Pacific Electric's Santa Ana line northward over private right-of-way to the center of Orange.

The citizens of Orange agree to furnish the right-of-way, and as soon as this is turned over the Pacific Electric agrees to construct the line. After it is in operation the route will be via the Santa Ana line from the Pacific Electric station at Sixth and Main streets and over the new construction as an extension of the present line to Orange.

TO MEXICO CITY.

NEW THROUGH LINE.

A dream of Epes Randolph, now president of the Southern Pacific Railroads of Mexico, is about to be realized. Within a year Los Angeles and Mexico City will have an all rail route by way of Guadalajara, instead of the present route by way of El Paso. Tepic, Mexico, the Southern Pacific's new terminal, 700 miles below the Rio Grande river and due south of this city, may now be reached without change.

The new West Coast line which Randolph has been building for ten years, and which will be completed in 1915, will open an immensely rich territory to trade relations with Los Angeles. Work is being done through the mountainous district between Tepic and Mexico City, which, when completed will make Los Angeles on the through route to Mexico City.

Safety Committee Formed.

Information from President Miller of the Burlington Railroad received here yesterday from his winter home at Redlands announces the organization of a department of safety similar in its general plant to the safety committees formed on the Chicago and Northwestern, St. Louis and San Francisco, and a number of other railroad lines. The department will be in charge of E. M. Switzer, who will have the title of superintendent of safety. The 45,000 employees of the Burlington system are expected to cooperate in the safety campaign.

Eat at Hamburger's.

The Los Angeles Traffic Association has changed its gastronomic center and will have its semi-monthly luncheons in the private dining-room on the fourth floor at Hamburger's, hereafter. At the luncheon Tuesday noon Charles S. Young, former State Geologist of Nevada, will talk of petroleum oil and its properties. There will be a discussion, also, of the forthcoming links under the auspices of the organization.

Rate Fight Scheduled.

The annual "scrap" over railroad rates to the Pacific Coast is scheduled for February 7 in Chicago when the Transcontinental Passenger Association is to meet to discuss homeseeker, colonist, and summer tourist rates. The meeting will be attended by Assistant Passenger Traffic Manager Byrne of the Santa Fe, and General Passenger Agent Peck of the Salt Lake Railroad.

Traffic Officials Coming.

A trio of exceedingly popular traffic officials are due in Los Angeles tomorrow. They are Passenger Traffic Manager C. L. Stone of the Missouri Pacific at St. Louis, and J. N. Githens and General Freight Agents J. N. Githens and K. M. Wharry, the former stationed at St. Louis and the latter at Kansas City.

Rate Hearing Tuesday.

The State Board of Railroad Commissioners will convene in Los Angeles Tuesday for the purpose of hearing further evidence in the case involving freight rates on the Southern Pacific and Salt Lake railroads between Los Angeles and San Pedro.

HELD OVER HIS HEAD.

Second Warrant Is Prepared Should Habeas Corpus Proceedings Be Successful.

Although Charles Dean, the Canadian bank robber suspect, denies his guilt and permitted his attorney to make the announcement for him some days ago that he would not resist extradition because he could prove his innocence, he is now making an effort to regain his liberty. Capt. Flammer, in whose custody Dean was placed after he was arrested, has been served with a writ of habeas corpus made returnable in the criminal department of the Superior Court Monday morning.

Flammer will make no special effort to resist the efforts of Dean's attorney to secure the release of his client. Great Tile and Pottery Plant Soon to Be Added to Harbor Front Industries.

William Wade.

Proposed Factory Group for Wade Art Tile and Pottery Company.

Buildings planned by John C. Austin and W. C. Pennell, associated architects, for English manufacturers, who recently acquired choice industrial site of thirteen acres at Wilmington and who have proclaimed their intention of establishing a large plant for the manufacture of art tiles from Southern California clay. William Wade, the promoter, is the head of one of the largest tile factories in the British Isles.

Taking Hold.

TOOL COMPANY'S PLANS GROWING.

Barrel Factory Newest Industry at Dominguez.

Plant Will Bring Outlay Up to Half-Million.

Land Company to Erect Over a Thousand Houses.

The Union Tool Company has decided to increase the plans already outlined in The Times for a new $400,000 plant at the new townsite at Dominguez, and an additional $100,000 will be expended in the erection of a barrel factory.

Stell has been unloaded at Gardena for the work and wagons are now engaged in placing the structural iron on the grounds selected for the new site.

The contract was let in Chicago for this additional construction as well as for the erection of the main plant and carloads of the steel have been rushed from Chicago for the work.

The barrel factory will be 200x100 feet and will be of solid steel and concrete structure. Work on the buildng of the new plant will begin at once, and the contract calls for the completion of the plant before June 1, of this year.

Under the plans of the company the work on the $400,000 main buildings is to begin February 1, and when the two plants are complete the pay roll at the new town will total more than 800 men for the Union Tool Company alone.

In order to house these men, as well as to care for the 1400 men that will be employed at the new shops of the Pacific Electric at the same point, 1000 model homes will be erected by the Dominguez Land Company within the next fourteen months.

A contract has been entered into by the Pacific Electric for the broad-gauging of the old San Pedro narrow-gauge line from Garedan to San Pedro. This will give the new factories direct connection with the Redondo cut-off of the Pacific Electric as well as with the water front at San Pedro.

In addition to this, Chief Engineer Titcomb of the southern district of the Southern Pacific, has completed the survey for a line from Dominguez Junction on the Southern Pacific main line to the new townsite, where it will connect with the Pacific Electric tracks and to the new shop grounds of 125 acres that the Pacific Electric has purchased.

This line will run south of aviation field and north of Nigger Slough. The construction of this line puts Dominguez directly in a position to take advantage of the terminal rates that the Southern Pacific has granted to the territory lying between Los Angeles and the harbor.

It is not known when this line will be completed, but the fact that the construction of the new town and the building of industries will require the handling of heavy through shipments, makes it imperative that the Southern Pacific make early preparations for the handling of the business.

Officials of the Union Tool Company stated yesterday that the construction of the barrel factory, aside from the main buildings of the company already outlined in The Times, is the first of later improvements which are to be announced as fast as the contracts are signed.

WATER SUPPLY ASSURED.

A new pump house, designed after a country estate type of architecture, is being built at Ramona Acres, and is to be used as the basis of water supply for the new Valley Country Club, the exclusive organization that is building a great clubhouse at Ramona. The water supply was made necessary not only by reason of the building of the club, but to keep pace with the demand of the builders at Ramona Acres, where scores of new homes are under way. Plans for the grounds of the Valley Country Club have been improved and work is being hastened as rapidly as is consistent. The inaugural of the club is to be made historic in point of exclusive sociability.

New Industry.

GREAT ART TILE PLANT PROJECTED AT HARBOR.

British Capital Back of Splendid Manufacturing Enterprise in Wilmington—English Pottery Experts Find Southern California Clay Superior to European Product—Established Foreign Business to Be Moved.

ONE of the most significant developments in connection with the advance of the industrial interests of the harbor district is represented in the plans of the Wade Art Tile and Pottery Company for a great factory fronting on Vermont avenue near the west harbor at Wilmington. The company, as recently reported in The Times, has a fine tract of thirteen acres, all of which is to be eventually utilized. John C. Austin and W. C. Pennell, associated architects, are preparing plans for the various buildings projected.

The buildings will cover a large area, and will be model factory structures. They will be arranged in parallel sections.

The main building will be of masonry construction, and faced artistically with glazed brick, art tile and mosaic panels manufactured by the company. It will be an unusually handsome structure for factory purposes. This building, 60x180 feet in size, will house the office of the company and will contain the showrooms and the coloring and designing rooms of the plant.

The main factory building will be 340x140 feet in size, partly one and partly two stories in height. The paint factory will be housed in a building 100x300 feet in size, three stories high and of reinforced concrete construction. Ten large kilns will be included in the building group.

In point of size, therefore, the factory will be at the start among the largest manufacturing establishments in the vicinity of Los Angeles. The site, which will front for 700 feet on Vermont avenue, will be adequately supplied with switching facilities.

ESTABLISHED INDUSTRY.

The company is an old and established English concern that was founded half a century ago at Burslem, Eng., which is known as the "mother of the Staffordshire pottery towns." Burslem is the birthplace of Josiah Wedgewood, and in the little city's Wedgewood Museum may be found one of the greatest collections of Wedgewood's jasper, basalt and queenswares in the world.

The Wade company operates in England under the name of J. & W. Wade & Co., having two factories, one devoted to the manufacture of specialties and the other to the manufacture of tiles. The firm was founded by John Wade, who subsequently took into partnership his two nephews, William and Albert Wade.

William Wade, senior member of the firm, has been in Los Angeles for several months, the English works being left in the care of his brother. A careful examination and testing of Southern California clays, together with an equally careful study of the local market field, decided Wade upon building a large tile and pottery factory business in Los Angeles. Wilmington was selected as the site because of its excellent shipping facilities.

Mr. Wade explains that the Wilmington factory is not by any means to be called a branch of the English plant, which it will likely eventually surpass in size. The materials to be obtained here, he states, are just what he requires for the best tile and pottery work. Special attention will be paid in the Wilmington factory to the manufacture of art and decorative tile of the kind which has made the Wade products famous in the British Isles. The company hopes to find a good field for all kinds of decorative friezes, and will feature its mural work.

The company will begin operations in Wilmington almost upon the basis of an established plant. Workmen skilled in tile work and trained from boyhood in the English plant will be imported to start things off. No time will be lost in experimenting or instruction. One of the plans is for the establishment of a small technical school, where it will be possible to train pottery workers in the artistic side of the business.

Mr. Wade will have associated with him George W. Poxon, ceramic chemist, who has had a long experience in the English factory. Frank Baddeley, an expert designer and clay modeler, has been engaged for the art pottery department.

MADE TUBE TILES.

Wade's Flaxman tiles of the type that are to be manufactured at Wilmington were the kind specified for the tube, or underground, railways of London, where each station has been tiled after its own distinctive color scheme. Salisbury House, built by Alfred Beit, the South African millionaire and banker, is also finished throughout in the Wade products. The firm's latest big contract was the tiling of a great office building in Manchester, Eng.

In his rooms at the Frontenac apartments, Mr. Wade has on exhibit samples of the work of his English factory. One of the panels consists of an underglaze painting by John Jeffrey, art director of the British factory, and reproducing a design of Edmund Dulac illustrating lines from Omar Khayyam. The piece is valued at $1500. There are also on exhibition tiles, both plain and ornamental, for every conceivable purpose.

Mr. Wade stated yesterday that the Wilmington factory would be turning our ordinary tile within the next three months, and that the plant would shortly thereafter be in full operation. The main factory building will be the first structure to be completed.

LANKERSHIM ACRES.

The Patton & Longley Company reports sales in Lankershim Acres to the following: Sully Russ, one acre, $650; B. Muller, two acres, $1300; Jan Vonk, one acre, $675; L. G. Tyron, one acre, $400; B. F. Hill, two acres, $1300; Allen Beaufait, one acre, $450; Joseph E. Brown, one acre, $575; L. F. McKenzie, two acres, $1150; R. W. Grelle, one acre, $675; M. K. Elber, five acres, $1500; N. F. Michaels, one acre, $400; O. V. Baumer, ten acres, $3000; P. L. Elville, one acre, $500; F. G. Peterson, two acres, $1000, and M. B. Zimmerman, one acre, $675.

BOOSTING RANCH LANDS.

Two-Thousand-Acre Portion of Old Baldwin Holdings Placed on Market in Small Tracts.

Sterling W. Banks this week took active direction of Rancho La Puente, a section of the "Lucky" Baldwin lands in the San Gabriel Valley, and under his direction there has already been put under way a number of new improvement projects. S. P. Rowland is to be a special sales manager of the same 2000-acre tract, associating himself with Mr. Banks. It was Mr. Rowland's grandfather to whom was deeded, together with the Workman interests, a greater part of these valley lands in the days when California was an integral part of Mexico and under the jurisdiction of the early California Governors.

A reservoir of a capacity of 1,000,000 gallons is now under way at Rancho La Puente. This vast tank is situated on the one hill that abutts the land. The pumping plant is already installed and the reservoir will be finished as rapidly as possible. Aside from this, wells may be sunk anywhere for domestic supply. Electricity is no provided and a gas supply will be at hand within a short time. An extension of the Pacific Electric lines will pass in front of this tract.

TO IMITATE JUNGLE.

Army Officer Will Convert Grounds of Brentwood Park Home Into Riot of Tropical Plant Life.

Maj. S. MacAlexander, U.S.A., who was a visitor to Southern California some time ago, has returned from his command at Manila and will devote an extended leave of absence from active duty to the improvement of his properties in Brentwood Park, overlooking Santa Monica Canyon. When he was here on his last visit he not only purchased a $10,000 home at Brentwood but three additional lots, as well. He brings with him a landscape artist who expects to achieve notable scenic effects on the MacAlexander lands, developing an artistic riot of semitropical growth that will keep the army man from being lonesome for the jungles where he has played a large part in subduing certain tribes of head hunters.

Mrs. A. Tootles is the purchaser of a Brentwood Park home for which she has paid $20,000 to the Braly-Janss Investment Company. She has outlined elaborate improvements that not only include sunken gardens but additional rooms to the big house.

Landscapists are at work on the two Campbell house grounds—that of Murdoch Campbell, former building commissioner of Chicago, who expects to return here shortly to live permanently, and of John Albert Campbell, his son.

WINDSOR SQUARE ACTIVITIES.

Ground will be broken the coming week for the first of a number of fine residences that are to adorn Windsor Square, the new residential park that was recently put under way by R. A. Rowan & Company. The first house to be completed will likely be that of Mrs. Jeanette Donovan, a perspective of which appeared in last Sunday's times. Plans are reaching completion for the four handsome homes that are included in the private park of the Janss family, and as soon as the architectural drawings have been finally approved the construction of the building will begin. Dr. Janss, his sons, and H. H. Braly have outlined their landscaping designs and the necessary trees and rare shrubs have been ordered. Windsor Square is now under its final stages of boulevarding, according to Mr. Cimiotti, general sales manager for the Rowan company.

The Crown City.

DRAIN TO TAKE FLOOD WATERS.

Property Owners Grateful for Needed Relief.

Chicago Capitalist Plans to Improve Fine Site.

Permits Near to the Hundred Thousand Mark.

PASADENA, Jan. 20.—With the exception of a few catch-basins that remain to be installed, the Broadway storm drain is now complete to its terminus at the intersection of Walnut street. Property owners and residents in this section of the city will not be bothered this winter by flood waters when it rains.

The new aqueduct will drain Raymond, Fair Oaks, Lincoln, Cypress, Winona, Pasadena and Vernon avenues.

Work is now in progress on the Center-street lateral of the storm drain. This will extend west and take the waters that accumulate below Walnut street. It is to be six blocks in length.

BUILDS HANDSOME RESIDENCE.

A. T. Wells, who came to Pasadena a year ago from Chicago, and who is the owner of a tract of thirteen acres in Altadena that he purchased from Col. G. G. Green, is erecting a handsome eleven-room house on a piece of the property. He and his family will occupy the building. He is also planning other improvements, which, if carried out, will make this section one of the best built up about Pasadena.

Dr. Arthur T. White this week purchased of Miss Martha Caldwell a bungalow at No. 435 Oakland avenue which he will make his home. He expects to move into the building February 1.

N. M. Livingstone, proprietor of the Philadelphia Shoe Store, at No. 4 West Colorado street, is putting in a new front to his store and remodeling the interior. When the alterations are completed the storeroom will have a frontage of sixty feet and a depth of 120 feet.

BUILDING PERMITS.

Building permits issued this year, to date, total $88,480. The total for the month of January last year was $105,000. Of the permits issued this week those for improvements to cost $1000, or more, are:

H. L. Joannes, eight-room, one and one-half story, frame residence and garage, at No. 1036 South Madison avenue, $6000.

O. N. Ensign, two-story, eight-room frame residence and garage, at No. 1000 Oakland avenue, $4500.

Gilbert Ouerfield, one-story, five-room, frame bungalow and garage, at No. 643 North Catalina avenue, $1500.

WOULD "IRRIGATE" WITHOUT WATER

ENGINEER SAYS ELECTRICITY JUST AS GOOD.

Originator of Novel Idea Will Experiment on Three Acres in the San Fernando Valley—Believes Soil Moisture Can Be Conserved by Static Current.

"Irrigating" with electricity, an innovation in agricultural methods in which the United States Department of Agriculture is greatly interested, is to have a thorough test at the Janss Investment Company's model farm at Van Nuys-Lankershim, under direction of Warren J. Ansen, originator of the unique system to do away with water, reservoirs and ditches.

Anson has taken charge of the model farm and is already installing his device for conserving the moisture of the soil with his electrical apparatus. Under his direction tests will be made on three acres, one of which will be dry farmed, a second irrigated and the third cultivated by electricity. The same soils are common to each of the three acres, the same crops will be raised from the same seeds. In addition fruit trees are to be propagated by the new system.

Anson's device consists of a series of six-inch cement tiles placed just below the plowing point, fourteen feet apart, and running from one side of the acre to the other. These tiles have elbows that project some feet above the surface and from these points radiate electric wires much as those of a wireless telegraph pole. The wires run parallel through the cement pipes, equidistant around the inner surface of the cylinder.

Static electricity, or that with which the air is charged is said to furnish the posed to attract the moisture from the posed to attrac the maisture from the air at night, this being condensed down the elbows of the tiling and into the pipes below the surface. The same current is expected then to dispense this moisture through the porous walls of the piping.

The electric current, it is stated by Anson, not only holds this moisture at a reasonable depth, so that it is projected to the roots of growing plants or trees, but it attracts the subsoil moisture toward the surface, giving direct use for what has hitherto been purely waste moisture.

"Regular systems of irrigation with water have caused great waste," declared Anson. "First, there is the cost of the water right, then the most of the water, then the building of ditches (which in itself means a direct loss of so much land,) the cost of time and labor and the constant repairs. Under the ditch system it is the usual case that either too much water is used or not enough.

"By the static system of electricity there is only one cost, that of installation. After that the system takes care of itself and there is positively no need of doing more than the regular amount of surface cultivation to keep the soil loosened and permit the distribution of the moisture drawn from both the air and the subsoil."

OFFICE IS UNIQUE.

The new sales offices of the Planada Development Company at No. 645 South Spring street, are both handsome and unique. The front of the building has been altered to carry out the Spanish-mission style of architecture, which is the dominant architectural note in Planada, the "City Beautiful," of which this company is the founder. The main isle of the new office is designed to represent Broadway in that place. Between pilasters are lunettes depicting the country which surrounds Planada. Down in the center of the isle are exhibitions of fruit produced on land adjacent to the new city and at the rear of the office is a fountain with many colored lights. Back of this on the mezzanine floor are the offices of the president, J. Harvey McCarthy, and of the sales agents, Messrs. Flahive and Woodruff. Yesterday the offices were filled with sightseers who had been invited to the formal opening. A full orchestra played popular selections and great interest was manifested in the progress of the company's new town.

LEASE APARTMENT-HOUSES.

Whilton & Steinke, hotel brokers, report the following leases on apartment-houses: To Mrs. W. J. Whipps of Pasadena, a five-year lease on sixty-room brick apartment-house, now under construction at Windward avenue and Trollyway, Venice, total rental, $25,000. The Venice Building Company is the lessor.

To Mr. and Mrs. T. P. Gillispia, formally of Superior, Wis., lease on premises, at No. 812 West Eleventh street, comprising new apartment-house of forty rooms, for five years, total rental, $15,000. Mrs. Plympia Laberere is the lessor; the house will be opened for business tomorrow.

TO BUILD ON RUTH AVENUE.

East Side Hotel Will Contain Fifty Rooms—Property Leased for Term of Ten Years.

Through the W. H. Taft Company there has just been leased a three-story brick hotel planned by Frederick Noonan and Charles H. Kysor for Mrs. H. E. Little. The structure, which will be erected at No. 523 Ruth avenue, was taken over by the lessee for a term of ten years at a total rental of $30,000.

The building will be started at once. It will have a ground area of 42x104 feet and will contain fifty rooms, with six baths. Each room will contain hot and cold water and steam heat. The front of the hotel will be handsomely finished with glazed pressed brick.

REPORT BUSINESS LEASES.

The following leases are reported by the firm of E. W. Cason & Co., brokers: W. B. Matthews, trunk manufacturers, No. 419 South Spring; John Kettleson, bar and liquors, No 417 South Spring, R. A. Smith, hotel, No. 312 West Seventh street; W. Swetland, confectionery store, No. 705 South Broadway; Coast Cigar Company, No. 310 West Seventh street; John Volpi, Europa cafe, No. 312 West Seventh street; A. L. Daves, retail millinery, No. 707-9 South Broadway; City Dye Works, No. 701 South Broadway; Takahashi Bros. Japanese goods, No. 703 South Broadway; M. Fegelman, tailor, No. 306 West Seventh street; Rosenberg & Calkins, dye works, No. 314 West Seventh street; Charles Horwitz, jewelry, No. 308 West Seventh street; Belle L. Smith, hotel, No. 707½ South Broadway; Mrs. A. H. Petrie, hair goods, No. 713 South Broadway; A. A. Williams & Co., ostrich feathers, No. 711 South Broadway; Carl Perrino, barber shop, No. 410 West Eighth street, and Bullock's, basement, No. 619 South Broadway.

NEW VERMONT SQUARE.

Eight people have added their names to the list of owners in New Vermont Square this week, with the intention of immediately erecting modern residences. The purchasers follow: Reginald Harris, north side of Forty-first street, between St. Andrews place and Gramercy place; Victor E. Pierret, west side of Arlington street, between Santa Barbara and Forty-first drive; Charles E. Leiter, north side of Forty-first street, between Gramercy place and Arlington; James R. McIntyre, corner of Harvard boulevard and Forty-fifth street; Mrs. Malinda C. Howe, north side of Forty-first drive, between Gramercy place and Arlington; Walter G. Engle, West Arlington, between Forty-first drive and Forty-second street; Charles H. Isler, corner Harvard boulevard and Forty-fifth street, and Walter V. Swoverland, south side of Forty-first street between Gramercy place and Arlington.

MEETING RUSH SERVICE.

Recent improvements in the car service on the new yellow Hawthorne line indicate in a most practical manner the astonishing growth of the new southwest section of Los Angeles. When the old Redondo Interurban line was in operation there was a forty-minute service on the Inglewood line and the cars were rarely crowded except during the rush hours. When the Redondo-Inglewood Interurban line was made a city yellow car line, as far as Hawthorne, a thirty-minute service was inaugurated. So great was the travel from the start that the Los Angeles Railway Company put on additional cars, giving a twenty-minute instead of half hourly service—an excellent service considering the newness of the line as a city line and the distance covered. Now even the twenty-minute service has been found insufficient, and during the rush hours additional cars are run as far as Inglewood, giving a ten-minute service between the city and Inglewood. From present indications it is a question of but a short time when a five-minute headway will be necessary.

CHALET SITE IDEAL.

A typical Swiss chalet, clinging atop of the highest point of Echo Park road and commanding from the studio windows a wonderful vista over the San Fernando Valley, has been designed and put under construction for J. Frank Derby, a local artist. The plans were drawn and the building is being done by the Los Angeles Investment Company. The chalet has five rooms, with overhanging roof, and porches that extend half way around the structure. It is on the very side of the hill and is maintained with heavy underpinning. The living-room is more than twenty feet long, the stairs rising from its center. Eight steps lead to the dining-room, and off of this is the studio, with great windows looking out above the valley lands. An ingle nook in the living-room also gives a wide view of the surrounding country.

There is a big cobble-stone chimney and the mantel is of clinker brick and stone, with an ingle nook and leather cushions beside it.

TRACT SUBDIVIDED.

The ten acres of land recently purchased on Western avenue by the Western Building and Investment Company, has been subdivided and improvements are being started in a way that insures rapid development. The property is on the east side of Western avenue between Forty-eighth and Fifty-fourth-street car lines. It is the purpose of the company to immediately improve the tract with the very best street work, gas, sewer, electricity and water mains.

THE M'CARTHY TRACTS.

The McCarthy Company reports sales as follows: Hulda Anderson, lot in the McCarthy Company's Normandie Avenue Square tract, $875; B. P. Eppersen, house and lot at No. 243 West Eighty-fifth place, $2100; Gertrude A. Coffey, lot in the Wilton Heights tract, $1800, and E. W. Carney, lot in the Van Ness Avenue Square tract, $2700.

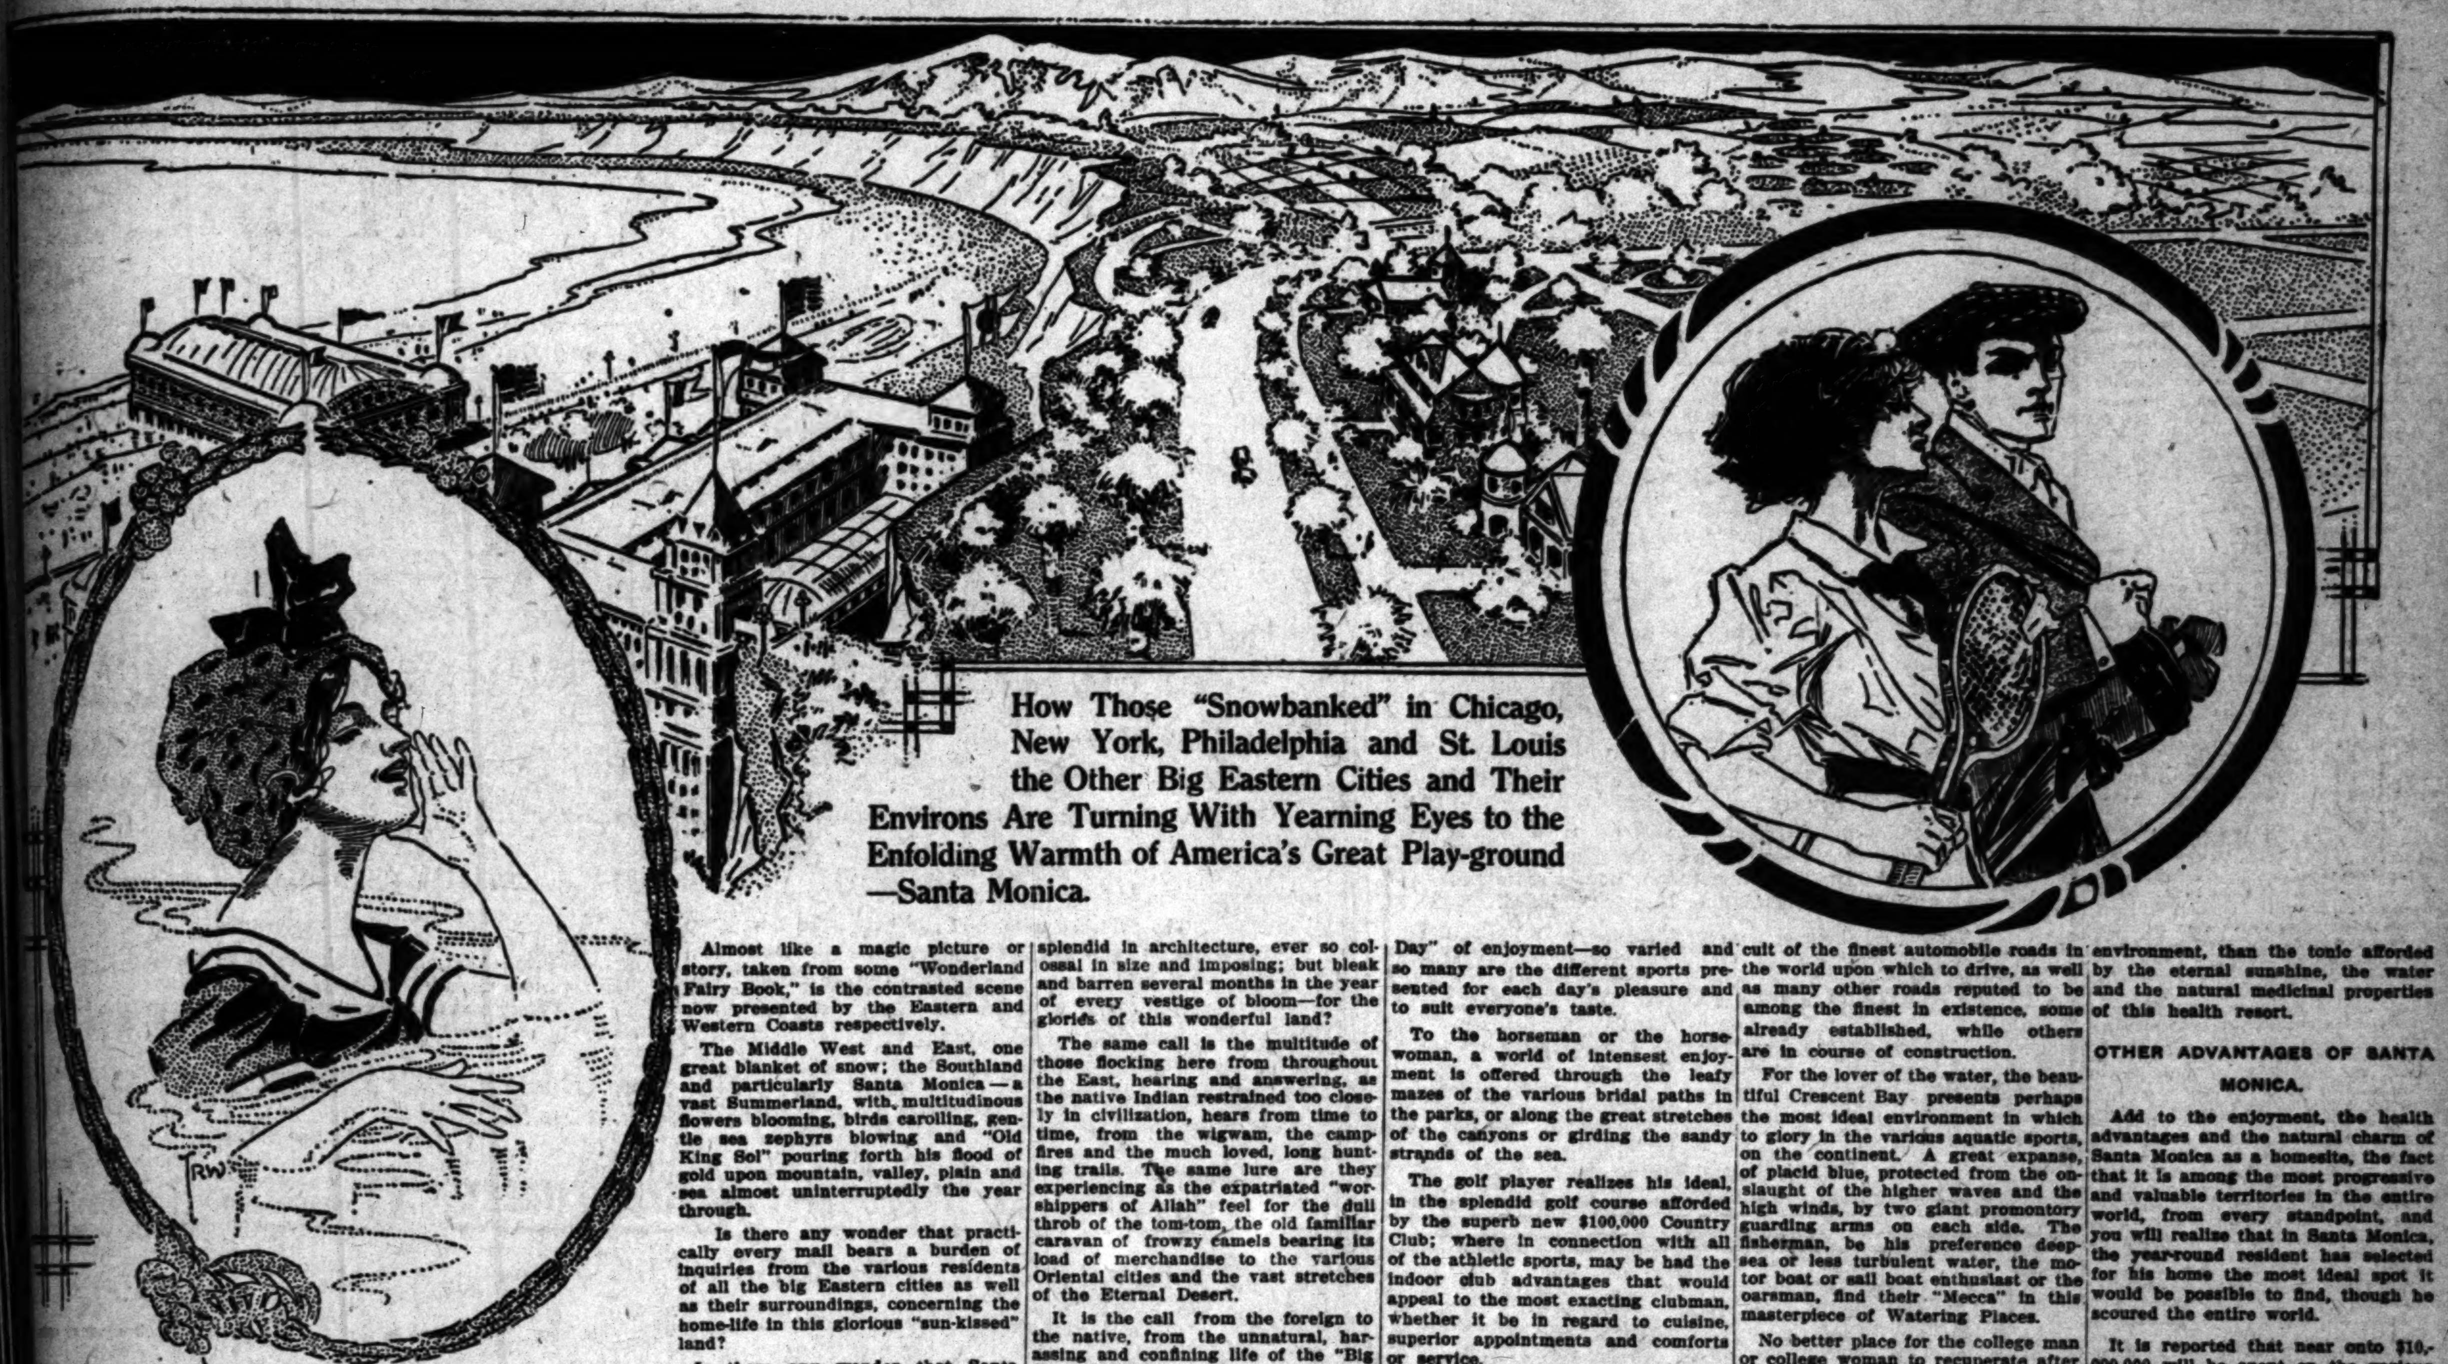
The Southland Lure Attains Its Climax in Santa Monica



How Those "Snowbanked" in Chicago, New York, Philadelphia and St. Louis the Other Big Eastern Cities and Their Environs Are Turning With Yearning Eyes to the Enfolding Warmth of America's Great Play-ground —Santa Monica.

Almost like a magic picture or story, taken from some "Wonderland Fairy Book," is the contrasted scene now presented by the Eastern and Western Coasts respectively.

The Middle West and East, one great blanket of snow; the Southland and particularly Santa Monica—a vast Summerland, with multitudinous flowers blooming, birds carolling, gentle sea zephyrs blowing and "Old King Sol" pouring forth his flood of gold upon mountain, valley, plain and sea almost uninterruptedly the year through.

Is there any wonder that practically every mail bears a burden of inquiries from the various residents of all the big Eastern cities as well as their surroundings, concerning the home-life in this glorious "sun-kissed" land?

Is there any wonder that Santa Monica is becoming the very "pick" of not only the United States' home seekers, but of those throughout the world?

Is there any wonder that every true lover of nature is eager to exchange his Eastern residence, be it ever so splendid in architecture, ever so colossal in size and imposing; but bleak and barren several months in the year of every vestige of bloom—for the glories of this wonderful land?

The same call is the multitude of those flocking here from throughout the East, hearing and answering, as the native Indian restrained too closely in civilization, hears from time to time, from the wigwam, the campfires and the much loved, long hunting trails. The same lure are they experiencing as the expatriated "worshippers of Allah" feel for the dull throb of the tom-tom, the old familiar caravan of frowzy camels bearing its load of merchandise to the various Oriental cities and the vast stretches of the Eternal Desert.

It is the call from the foreign to the native, from the unnatural, harassing and confining life of the "Big Town," to the natural care-free healthful life of the "Great Out-doors."

THE OUT-OF-DOOR LIFE OF SANTA MONICA.

To those living in Santa Monica, life seems but one prolonged "Gala Day" of enjoyment—so varied and so many are the different sports presented for each day's pleasure and to suit everyone's taste.

To the horseman or the horsewoman, a world of intensest enjoyment is offered through the leafy mazes of the various bridal paths in the parks, or along the great stretches of the canyons or girding the sandy strands of the sea.

The golf player realizes his ideal, in the splendid golf course afforded by the superb new $100,000 Country Club; where in connection with all of the athletic sports, may be had the indoor club advantages that would appeal to the most exacting clubman, whether it be in regard to cuisine, superior appointments and comforts or service.

The tennis player has the best possible courts on which to indulge his pleasure to the full in Santa Monica, both in the women's and men's clubs as well as on the almost endless number of private courts.

The motorist has an eight-mile circuit of the finest automobile roads in the world upon which to drive, as well as many other roads reputed to be among the finest in existence, some already established, while others are in course of construction.

For the lover of the water, the beautiful Crescent Bay presents perhaps the most ideal environment in which to glory in the various aquatic sports, on the continent. A great expanse, of placid blue, protected from the onslaught of the higher waves and the high winds, by two giant promontory guarding arms on each side. The fisherman, be his preference deep-sea or less turbulent water, the motor boat or sail boat enthusiast or the oarsman, find their "Mecca" in this masterpiece of Watering Places.

No better place for the college man or college woman to recuperate after a mental strain in their studies, or keeping up a rigorous physical training, than this vast out-of-door gymnasium, Santa Monica. No better place for the business man, the king of high finance, or the literary woman, whose overwrought nerves demand change, and more healthful environment, than the tonic afforded by the eternal sunshine, the water and the natural medicinal properties of this health resort.

OTHER ADVANTAGES OF SANTA MONICA.

Add to the enjoyment, the health advantages and the natural charm of Santa Monica as a homesite, the fact that it is among the most progressive and valuable territories in the entire world, from every standpoint, and you will realize that in Santa Monica, the year-round resident has selected for his home the most ideal spot it would be possible to find, though he scoured the entire world.

It is reported that near onto $10,000,000 will be spent on the various Pleasure Concessions, Subway and Boulevard Improvements, New Subdivision improvements and new Homes, new Hotels, new High School and City and other such improvements in the next twelve months in Santa Monica.

HOW THE OPENING OF PANAMA CANAL WILL AFFECT TRAFFIC.

HE world is round. The biggest steamship companies do business in many countries, and with the opening of the Panama Canal will operate ships all the way around. The interest of all of the railroads west of a line between Chicago and New Orleans is to send all traffic going over seas by way Pacific ports instead of Atlantic ports, wherever possible. So far as they can, all land-and-ocean commerce will be controlled for the Pacific ports, where points of origin or destination lie in that territory between the Mississippi River and the Sierra Nevadas. They get all the revenue; nearer the Pacific Coast local rates govern, hence more than a division of a through rate by way of New York, necessary to make traffic go that way.

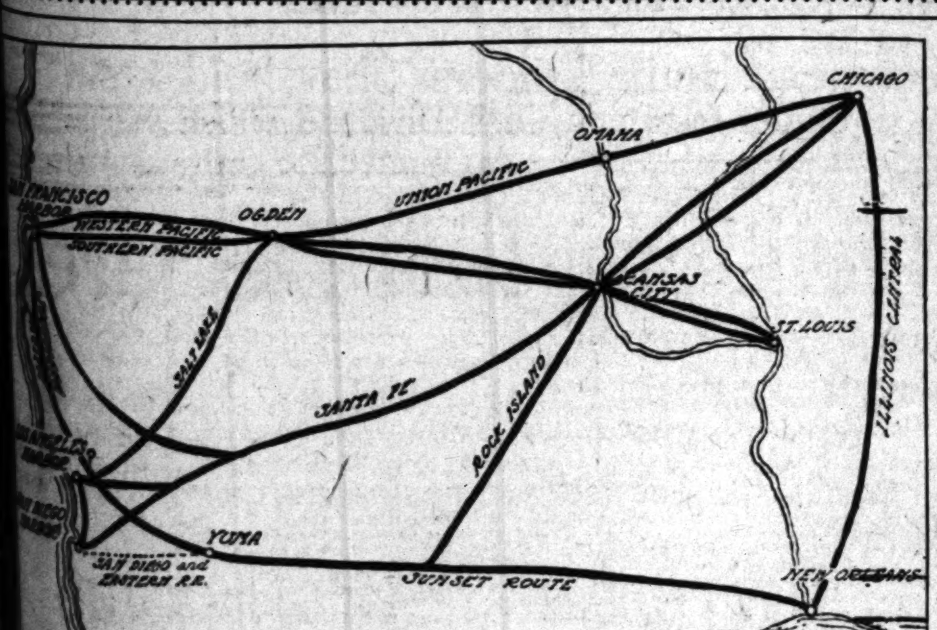
Nobody under present conditions would think of much traffic moving by way of the Pacific ports from Denver, Kansas City or Chicago—save a little traffic for the Orient.

But the Panama Canal will change things. The largest steamship companies will call at Pacific coast ports. They will seek cargoes, inbound and outbound; and passenger traffic.

By way of what ports? The Harriman lines or the Santa Fe can choose among San Francisco, San Diego or Los Angeles. The Harriman lines have also Portland and Seattle. Likewise the steamship companies can choose.

What will happen?

Will our harbor be ready?



READJUSTMENT OF SPECULATION.

BY J. W. WRIGHT.

markets require some ... They have developed hazardous then the public to play. Operators became ... The very terminology constituted a warning.

... to "lambs" and ... festivals ... eventually ... public to a realization of ... the outside traders con- ... "lambs" graciously pro- ... purposes ... "bulls" and "bears" carries a certain sense of uneasiness to the conservative or "timid" investor and also to the speculator who is ready to "take a flier" provided he thinks he has anything like a fair run for his coin. These constitute the backbone of every market.

Professional trading cannot sustain a market. It is merely an emergency measure, so to speak. It will keep the doors open, perhaps, for a while, but it can neither build up nor sustain a market. Neither can "wash" sales be long effective. They make a showing in the reports and on the blackboard, but actual business is the only thing that counts in the long run. It is a mighty cute "wash" that can be hidden from the vigilant and experienced eyes of the brokers; and after the brokers "get wise" the traders, one by one, begin to discern signs and make deductions on their own account—and it isn't long before the unstable character of the apparently heavy trading is a matter of common knowledge.

Moreover, after the conservative investors and the little speculators throughout the country have been called "lambs" for years; after there have been repeated facetious reports of "lambs led to the slaughter," and after the picture has been variously painted of the public tossed by the horns of the "bulls" or squeezed between the arms of the "bears," they may be pardoned if they become a bit restive and begin casting their eyes in some other and more peaceful and safe direction.

But whatever the contributing causes may be, and they are many, the basic cause is found in the fact that the markets, intentionally or otherwise, departed from the fundamental purpose for which they were established, viz.; to provide a mart or common meeting-place where buyers and sellers might effect exchanges upon a reasonable basis and under regulations calculated to protect both parties to the transaction.

So long as straight trading was the vogue, the markets reflected truly the business conditions of the country and really constituted the business pulse of the country. Buyers who wished to invest had a place where they could purchase securities at a price to yield a certain known percentage of interest and which were not subject to wide fluctuations on the merits, hence were stable. Sellers who wished to dispose of their holdings had a place where such sales could be readily and advantageously effected.

Speculative buyers, who wished to purchase with a view to substantial advances on the strength of expected actual intrinsic improvements, could usually find some one entertaining different opinions who would be willing to sell. All this trading was done through brokers, in business for that purpose, who charged a fixed and proper rate of commission for their services.

Thus there was a wholesome atmosphere surrounding the market; conservative investors felt safe; speculators were able to judge somewhat of the chances they were taking. The conservative investor counted upon a continuance of known conditions in the properties themselves; the speculator counted upon expected changes in the conditions of the properties to which he turned his attention. Both looked to the properties themselves for their safety or their profits.

As the country-at-large prospered there were more persons looking for solid investments in stocks and bonds and more persons ready to "take a flyer" in a speculative way. Thus the markets became the business pulse of the country; when that pulse weakened the country became alarmed; when it strengthened the country rejoiced; and coming events could be forecasted with more or less accuracy by the close student of market conditions.

When peculiar conditions manifested themselves, such students knew there was a legitimate and basic cause therefor, and sought it out. Thus the market was serving its purpose. It had a legitimate and needed existence. It prospered. It held its prestige easily. It became a channel for a certain portion of the country's business. It was a valuable institution.

Gradually its aspect changed. Increasing prosperity brought large temptations. Manipulation entered in. The fortunes made by it were used as examples of the market's possibilities and as lures to new business. The effect was cumulative. The greater the manipulation the larger the volume of business; the greater the business the more the manipulation. Then promotion was loosed. Stock-factories prospered throughout the country—all sorts, large and small, industrial, mining, land, everything. Seemingly there was no end to the supply of incoming money and no probability of a cessation of the cupidity of the country.

Trading was transformed from a business into a riot of speculation. Instead of striving to hold it down, the "insiders" generally encouraged it and provided the viands wherewith to feed the apparently insatiable appetites of the investing public. Even staid brokerage houses that had been strict commission houses "caught the fever," and it was not an uncommon thing for brokers to themselves "play the market." The broker cannot successfully attempt to become a speculator. He must be either one or the other. It often becomes necessary for him to influence the trades of his clients, and quite ingenuously he is easily and naturally led to recommend the sale of those things of which he is "short" and the purchase of his "longs." He knows that active buying will usually advance the market and active selling depress it, entirely irrespective of the merits of the case. The more buyers he brings into the market the better his chance on his "longs," and the more sellers he brings into the field, the better his chance on his "shorts." Many brokers never trade on their own account, but confine themselves strictly to commission business, thus leaving their judgment unbiased, at least. Thus the country was plunged into a mad whirl of speculation which was unnatural and unsound. It ended abruptly. The machinery was reversed too suddenly, and the machine was severely injured. That's why 1910 was a bad year and 1911 worse.

The foregoing analysis doesn't look specially attractive or rosy, but it's accurate, so far as it goes. Moreover, analysis is necessary before there can be a return to the normal—a return which must occur and which there is every reason to hope is under way.

The markets are undergoing readjustment, gradually but surely. It is a readjustment of ideas on the part of the professionals and public alike. What time will be required to effect a restoration to the normal cannot be foretold, but such restoration is bound to come, and with it renewed prosperity to all concerned. The first essential is a restored confidence. This will come. It is already returning. Many different influences are contributing to bring this about, and the question of how full confidence shall be restored furnishes a text for discussion by itself.

PLANS OWN HOUSE.

On the east side of Van Ness avenue between Second and Third streets there has just been started an attractive home of the Swiss chalet type planned by Architect A. Burnside Sturges of this city for his own use. The house, which will occupy a sightly lot 60x140 feet in size, will be of heavy timber construction, with shingle and resawn siding. It will have a wide portico in front and a cement terrace on the north side. The sitting-room will be 15x30 feet in size and will have a fine brick fireplace and an ingle-nook.

BEVERLY HILLS SALES.

The Percy H. Clark Company reports the following sales in Beverly Hills: To E. T. Stimson, lot on the corner of Lexington road and Canyon drive, containing about four acres, $13,500. Mr. Stimson buys for a home and will soon start a fine residence.

Maj. Charles S. Farber, U.S.A., lot on the west side of Canyon drive, between Carmelita and Elevado avenues, 90x309 feet, $2500. Maj. Farber will start a fine home early in the spring. W. C. Campbell, lot on the northeast corner of Elevado avenue and Beverly drive, 100x328, $2500. Charles S. Wilson, two lots on the east side of Beverly drive, between Elevado avenue and Park circle, 200x210 feet, $5000.

B. L. Harding, lot on the west side of Laurel way, north of Lexington road, 250x240 feet, $2000. E. A. Campbell, lot on the west side of Crescent drive, between Elevado and Lomitas avenues, 80x250 feet, $1500. B. L. Trout, lot on the east side of Beverly drive, between Elevado and Lomitas avenues, 100x290 feet, $2000. W. W. Webster, two lots on the west side of Rodeo drive, between Lomitas and Elevado avenues, 160x200 feet, $2500.

Annie G. Rowe, lot on the west side of Rodeo drive, between Lomitas and Elevado avenues, 85x200 feet, $1350. Josephine M. Boag, lot on the west side of Crescent drive, between Elevado and Lomitas avenues, 80x250 feet, $1500. Mary E. Hancock, lot on the east side of Beverly drive, between Elevado and Lomitas avenues, 100x246 feet, $2000. Elizabeth Tower, lot on the southwest corner of Elevado and Beverly drive, 100x202 feet, $2500.

FONTANA SALES.

The sales department of the Fontana Development Company reports sales on the Fontana tract during the past week as follows: Ten acres in Washington navels to Arthur G. Teer Burton of London, England, $4500. Ten acres to James F. McArthur for $4500. This tract is planted to five acres Valencias and five acres navels. Ten acres to A. K. Maloy of San Pedro for $4650. This lot will be planted to navels and Valencias in the spring. Mr. Maloy expects to erect a handsome residence on his property. Prof. J. H. Norton, formerly connected with the government experiment station at Riverside, and who has associated himself with the Fontana company, as superintendent of citrus groves, will take charge of the department on February 1. The company is erecting for Prof. Norton a handsome two-story residence on San Bernardino avenue, on the northwest corner of farm lot 525, the east ten acres of which will be used for an experiment station.

The Edwards & Wildey Company report the following sales in the Kenilworth tract, Glendale: To William Levi Baker, lot on Fair Oaks avenue, near Kenilworth, $475; Mayme Dale Baker, lot, $475; Miss Lulu Hambacher, northwest corner Virginia avenue and Fair Oaks, $750; Alphonse F. Schultz, lot on First street, west of Kenilworth, $475; W. F. Allen, lot on Myrtle street, $450; Emma B. Miller, lot on Fair Oaks, near Kenilworth, $475; Robert K. Walsh, lot on First street, near Kenilworth, $475; Gertrude J. Schultz, lot on First street, near Kenilworth, $475; W. P. Epsten, lots on Fair Oaks, near Virginia, $1150; Helen F. FREIGHT BADLY HANDLED IN U. S.

CRANES CANNOT BE USED ON WOODEN WHARVES.

This Will Be an Important Topic Considered at the Coming Congress of Navigation in Philadelphia—A Wealth of Information Significant in View of the Opening of Canal.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 15.—A far-reaching effect upon American methods in the matter of the mechanical equipment of seaports is confidently expected to come from the sessions of the twelfth International Congress of Navigation which is to convene in Philadelphia on May 23, and which will call together the world's greatest experts on this and kindred subjects.

This congress, which is to be held in this country as a result of the invitation extended by the United States government, comes at a time when all American ports are beginning to realize the importance of efficient methods and means for handling water-borne freights.

The tremendous significance of the opening of the Panama Canal with all that it means to the growth of American commerce is being realized in advance by the cities that will participate in the new and greater trade. And each progressive American port is today shaping its course to obtain the largest possible share of that commerce.

Coming at this time the deliberations of the congress will be of unusual value to American commerce. Already the interest is being manifested by requests sent to the association for the proceedings of previous congresses so that commercial authorities may be informed as to the world's best thought on this subject up to the present time. Among those who have written to the association is Hugh Bancroft, chairman of the directors of the port of Boston, which is recognized as one of the most aggressive of the ports of entry along the Atlantic seaboard.

A wealth of information on the subject of the mechanical equipment of ports will come from the sessions to begin May 23. Among those who are to attend the Congress is Herr Bubendey, director of the port of Hamburg, which is probably the best equipped port in the world. The fact that Herr Bubendey is to take part in the deliberations, adds to their importance in the eyes of American commercial authorities.

That the facilities for mechanical handling of freights in the United States and Canada are inferior to those provided in Europe is pointed out by Frank W. Hodgdon, chief engineer of the Massachusetts Harbor and Land Commission, who will be one of those to address the congress. He states that general cargo is handled in and out of steamships principally by the winches and derricks on the steamships, and lowered or raised from the wharves in the same manner. In the case of foreign freight which is to be examined by custom's authorities, the ordinary stevedore's truck is used to transport the goods to storage space or into railroad cars or vehicles.

Cranes, which are so frequently seen in European ports, are not used in America. One reason for this is that the wharves are principally wooden pile structures not adapted to the heavy concentrated loads which would be brought upon them by cranes. The sheds are as a rule comparatively light structures unsuited for the placement of cranes.

Against this out-of-date method, all the more surprising in view of the advance of this country in other directions, there are shown the wonderful strides made in Europe for the rapid and economical handling of ocean freights.

To illustrate, take the methods of loading phosphates in the harbor of Sfax, Tunis, which in a single year exported 935,000 tons of lime phosphates. Electricity is the motive power used in loading. The phosphates are conveyed by bands carried by loose rollers. The transference from one band to another is effected by hoppers. By the means of these bands the phosphate is carried 28 feet above the quay level and delivered into the vessel's hold through a movable spout. The loading capacity of this plant is 750 tons per hour.

A like modern system has been installed in the harbor of Tunis. In one of the plants, traveling cranes with dredging buckets do the work of loading the phosphates upon the moving bands. This is but an illustration of the improved handling methods of Old World ports that will be discussed at the coming congress.

That the vital importance of adequate port facilities is becoming more thoroughly recognized as the time approaches for the opening of the Panama Canal is indicated by this declaration made by Calvin Tomkins, Commissioner of Docks of the port of New York: "With the completion of the Erie and Panama Canals, and the probable termination of the differential, New York will no longer remain simply the great Atlantic portal of North America. It will become the focal trans-shipment point where the commerce of the East and West coasts of North and South America, and of the Orient, meets the west-bound commerce of Europe. It will have attained the same commanding position as the world's port which till recent years distinguished in turn Venice, Amsterdam and London. This impending responsibility should now be met by the prompt adoption of a comprehensive plan and policy of port organization and administration."

It is this appreciation of the far-reaching significance of the problems to be discussed at the congress that will make this, in the eyes of all who have to do with the commerce of the nation, one of the most important gatherings held in America.

SUBDIVIDE HISTORIC ACRES.

A square mile of what is known as the "new" Workman ranch, included in the Van Nuys-Lankershim lands, has just been subdivided by the Janss Investment Company and placed on the market. The property has been surveyed and laid out in five and ten-acre tracts for buyers. Much of historic interest centered around this particular holding and for sentimental reasons it had been kept from the surveyor's rod until the demand for it became imperative. Its partment marks the breaking up of a famous piece of territory, every one of the 640 acres having witnessed some scene of interest in the days of the Spanish padres.

Malthoid Roofing

No Other Roofing Can Approach Its Dependability

The dependability of Malthoid Roofing has been proven by special tests covering a period of many years—right here in Los Angeles, on your very best buildings.

It resists fire—is acid proof—water and weather proof.

Keeps heat in the building in winter. Keeps it out in summer. Malthoid will last as long as the building it covers.

It is inexpensive, easy to lay and your roof troubles are over when Malthoid is laid.

If you doubt, ask General Bradstreet to give you a line on Malthoid Makers — The Paraffine Paint Co. Ask intelligent Builders what roofing covers more Los Angeles Buildings than all other Brands combined.

They'll all shout at once: "Malthoid."

Get the 6% Habit

When you have $100 that you will not need for 90 days invest it in a Gold Note and make it earn 6 per cent—Get the habit of investing your surplus money in a safe 6 per cent security.

Gold Notes

What They Are

Gold Notes are a 6 per cent income producing security. They are issued for $100, $200 and up to $5000. You can make arrangements to purchase a Gold Note on installments of $1 or more.

Use of Money

The money obtained by the issue of Gold Notes is being used to erect a 13-story office and bank building at Eighth and Broadway—our future home. The property is held clear of mortgage or direct lien.

The Backing

The paid-in capital and surplus of the Company is $7,302,042.65. The indebtedness is $70,621.89, and there is outstanding $653,300 in Gold Notes and $95,597.27 in Home Certificates.. So, for every dollar of debt there is nearly $10 in security.

Money Back

You can have your money back for your Gold Note with interest, in full, in 90 days. Or you can leave it at 6 per cent for 5 years, as you wish. Furthermore, no investor has ever failed to have his Gold Note cashed on demand, even when presented before due.

You may become a "Home Builders" Shareholder and participate in the present Quarter's Cash Dividend which will be declared January 31 ——— An immediate cash earning

It is like finding the money—this 3 months' cash dividend for a few days' use of your funds. All you need to do is become a stockholder before January 31, and lay claim to your proportion of the profits which will be distributed in the 16th quarterly cash dividend. You will be entitled to your pro-rata just the same as though you had been a stockholder for the whole quarter, whole year or whole life of the corporation.

For every one dollar "Home Builders" pays its stockholders in cash dividends, it lays away two in the surplus fund. This, you will agree, is a safe way to distribute profits. Like the wise rancher who puts something back into the soil for the crops he takes out, the wise business management conserves, strengthens, builds up. For this reason, "Home Builders" is bound to grow. Its present resources of more than a million is thus a means to a glorious and profitable end.

"Home Builders" is today the most conservatively managed; the most substantially planned, and at the same time generously profitable stock investment of any offered the investor in this great and growing Southwest.

¶ "Home Builders" is different in plan to any of the similar companies doing business in Southern California. It does not speculate in lands, does not invest in unimproved property. All of its building operations are on contract basis. Every home it builds has first been sold, thus it does not have large or small sums tied up in unsold, unproductive investment. Its funds are in deeds, mortgages, contracts, stocks, bonds, etc., all earning interest, building profits, etc. It is creditor on a safe basis where loss is practically out of the question.

¶ "Home Builders" has ten building contracts offered it for every one that it is able to accept. Its square treatment of its clients and the rapid growth of the city assures this condition for years to come. There is no apparent reason why its shares should not continue to advance; its dividends keep on increasing, and its surplus accumulate at even a greater rate than in the past; but, even in the event of hard times, its present surplus of about $400,000 would pay the present dividend for four years without touching the principal. "Home Builders" is planned to last. Invest today, and grow with it.

The Main Reason Why Los Angeles Investment Company Stock Has Become the Standard Investment For the Small Investor

STANDING, AS POSITIVE A GUARANTEE that the small investor cannot lose money, as has ever been devised, is the Guarantee Fund of the Los Angeles Investment Company. It is held and managed by the Globe Savings Bank. To date it has never failed to return on demand, in full, the money of every investor in this Company's stock, who wished it.

$100,000.00

THIS COMPANY'S STOCK has become a standard by which to judge other investments. It has always been convertible into cash at once, as occasion demanded. More than one hundred thousand dollars stands for a continuation of that record and as protection to the purchaser of not more than 500 shares of stock from the Company.

The Nine Heaviest Donors to the $100,000.00 Guarantee Fund

Harry D. Rodgers.

THE GUARANTEE FUND was donated years ago by stockholders of the Los Angeles Investment Company, who had been made wealthy through the purchase of the Company's stock. The original fund was very small and amounted to only a few dollars. It has been increased by voluntary donations and by its earnings until now it has passed the $100,000.00 mark.

The sole object of the Guarantee Fund is to protect from loss those who have purchased from the Los Angeles Investment Company not more than 500 shares of its stock. The Fund continually maintains a bid for the Company's stock. If a stockholder wishes to dispose of his holdings, he goes directly to the Guarantee Fund. To date, it has never failed to buy back all stock offered for sale, irrespective of amount, date, or reason for selling.

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 2, 1912.

This is to certify that this bank holds a fund of over $100,000.00 to be used solely for the protection from loss of those persons who have purchased from the Los Angeles Investment Company not more than five hundred shares of stock.

This fund was donated by the officers and old stockholders of that Company, but its management rests wholly with the officers of this bank.

During the years this bank has managed this fund, it never has failed to pay back in full on demand, all money paid to the Los Angeles Investment Company for stock.

GLOBE SAVINGS BANK,
By. R. H. Morse, Cashier.

BY THE TERMS under which the Guarantee Fund was given to the bank to manage, it must purchase stock from those offering stock for sale, buying always from the smallest stockholders first. In this way the smaller the investment, the more thoroughly it is protected. The Fund is perpetual and cannot be withdrawn.

The Guarantee Fund has weathered every panic. During the panic of 1907, the Fund purchased for cash more than $100,000.00 worth of stock, although it then only amounted to about $10,000. To date it has purchased for cash a total of 282,557 shares for $866,147.25.

The officers of the bank managing the Fund believe that it will always be able to protect from loss those persons purchasing Los Angeles Investment Company stock.

R. W. Snell,

The 64th quarterly cash dividend of more than $185,000.00 will be paid on February 15th, to stockholders who are on the books of this company by Wed. night, Jan. 31st.

The Los Angeles Investment Company has paid its stockholders more in cash dividends than any other similar company in the world, —a total of 627% in sixteen years.

THE NEW FRENCH PREMIER.

[illegible] of a Distinguished Family—Virile and Versatile, He Is Welding the Discordant Elements of France Into a Stable Body.

BY WILLIAM H. KNIGHT.

[illegible] people of France are not inquiring "Who is Raymond Poincare?" Though not quite 52 [illegible] of age, he has for the last two [illegible] been occupying high official [illegible] in the Cabinet and in the [illegible] Assemblies. Of recognized ability as a leader, of wide experience in public affairs, possessing intimate knowledge of the nation's [illegible] men, and exercising a [illegible] personal magnetism over his [illegible], it is confidently expected [illegible] his administration will be a safe [illegible] successful one.

[illegible] new Premier comes of a talented family. His father, Nicolas [illegible] Poincare, was an eminent [illegible] in the Department of [illegible]. His brother, Lucien, has [illegible] a famous physicist, was In[illegible] of Public Instruction in 1902, [illegible] the author of valuable scientific treatises. Another relative, Henri Poincare, is the most eminent mathematician and astronomer [illegible] has produced in the past century.

[illegible] began his public career [illegible] of Public Instruction and [illegible] in 1893. He was Minister [illegible] under Clemenceau in the [illegible] 1894 and 1895 and filled another [illegible] position in 1896. Though [illegible] from the radical Cabinet [illegible] followed, it is said that he exerted great influence in shaping [illegible] of its important measures. For [illegible] he was Vice-President of [illegible] of Deputies, thus gaining [illegible] parliamentary experience [illegible] insight into the personnel of that representative body.

[illegible] which have led up to [illegible] promotion are interesting [illegible] dramatic. His predecessor, M. [illegible] has had a stormy administration. The trouble was precipitated [illegible] the Morocco affair. France has [illegible] a sort of souzerainty over [illegible], but Germany has been [illegible] of her pretensions, and anxious to gain a foothold there of some [illegible] Accordingly, a German warship was dispatched to the port of Agadir. France was ostentatiously apprised of the movement. Through her Foreign Minister, M. de Selves, she entered a formal protest.

The French nation was stirred; so was the German. War was predicted on both sides. And then came an inventory of arms and armaments, and of men and money. Ay, there was the rub—money. The great banks and money-lenders said: "Don't go to war; it is too expensive. Think what an immense capital your two armies would consume in a few weeks. We don't want to dictate to the Kaiser or to the republic, but we dare not loan the funds."

So De Selves and the German minister got together and had a few friendly talks—"pour parlers," they were called—an insignificant tract of French Central Africa was turned over to Germany, and the warship withdrew from Agadir. But the French people were incensed. They called it a secret and humiliating treaty with the money powers, and had it in for Caillaux, the Premier, and De Selves, the Foreign Minister. A hot debate occurred in the Chamber, and De Selves tendered his resignation. The vacant position was offered to several other prominent statesmen, but all peremptorily declined to serve under Caillaux's administration. As he could not form a new Cabinet he was himself compelled to resign.

There was much speculation and anxiety as to who should be his successor, and the vacant Premiership was tentatively offered to one and another of the prominent personages in French public life, but each failed to secure a following, to find acceptable statesmen to fill the Cabinet positions. One declined to accept the foreign office, another refused the marine, an important office as France is making great exertions to strengthen her navy, and still another hesitated to assume the precarious duties of Minister of Finance.

President Fallieres, though undemonstrative, is a man of resource. Among the able men who had filled a variety of positions with credit, was one, forceful and brainy, who had not come in conflict with the recent and active leaders of the republic, yet had displayed forensic skill and shown sterling mettle on more than one momentous occasion. The President instituted a quiet canvass to ascertain whether Raymond Poincare would not be an acceptable compromise under the circumstances, and found a pronounced sentiment in that person's favor.

Poincare had no difficulty in filling his Cabinet. No less than three former Premiers accepted responsible assignments—Aristide Briand for Minister of Justice, Alexander Millerand for Minister of War, and Leon Bourgeoise for Minister of Labor. More surprising still, Theophile Delcasse, the most distinguished of French foreign ministers, took the portfolio of Minister of Marine. The other appointments have been equally felicitous and we may safely predict that the new Cabinet of Poincare will prove a happy and harmonious family —until some new spectre arises to disturb the equanimity of that excitable people.

SCIENTIFIC EXPEDITION.

The Biological Survey of the Canal Zone Will Be Continued by a Second Expedition From Smithsonian.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—It is announced that the Biological Survey of the Panama Canal Zone, begun in December, 1910, and continued through the major part of 1911, is being pushed to completion before the opening of the canal in 1913. The second expedition sails on January 9, to take up the work for another season; the botanist, Prof. Pittier, being the only naturalist who remained in the field since the beginning of the survey. Although much interesting information has been collected, and a great many specimens secured, nothing like a complete report is ready.

The party will include Dr. Seth E. Meek, formerly of the Bureau of Fisheries, but now representing the Field Museum of Natural History; Mr. S. F. Hildebrand, of the Bureau of Fisheries, who will collect fishes, reptiles and amphibians; E. A. Goldman, of the Biological Survey, Department of Agriculture, who will collect birds and mammals; and Prof. Charles D. Marsh, of the Bureau of Plant Industry, Department of Agriculture, who will collect and study the microscopic plant and animal life of the fresh waters of the Zone.

Leaving New York on the steamship Panama, the scientists will proceed to Cristobal, Canal Zone, their headquarters on the Atlantic coast, and there make preparations for a sojourn of four or five months in the field.

As can readily be imagined, the life-areas on the Zone will become confused as soon as the canal is opened and the waters of the Pacific and Atlantic watersheds are intermingled. It is particularly important on that account, that he present geographical distribution of animals and plants be recorded prior to that time, and this is especially true as regards the life of the fresh waters and the sea coasts.

The work of the survey is carried on through the united efforts of the Smithsonian Institution, several of the government departments and the Field Museum of Natural History of Chicago, and the hearty co-operation of the Panama Canal Commission has been an important factor in the success of the undertaking.

As a preliminary of the work already accomplished, the Smithsonian has published four pamphlets. The first two (Nos. 2015 and 2053 of the Smithsonian Misc. Colls.) are by E. W. Nelson of the Biological Survey, and describe a new humming bird, a motmot, and a bird of the genus Pachysylvia. The third, by E. A. Goldman, one of the naturalists of the survey, contains a description of a new kingfisher.

Mr. Maxon, of the division of plants, National Museum, who accompanied Prof. Henry Pittier to the Canal Zone last year, has published a description of a remarkable new fern (Smiths. Misc. Coll. No. 2055.)

After all the new forms of animals and plants have been described it is proposed to publish general accounts of all the various collections and also one or more volumes containing a summary of the whole fauna and flora of the Canal Zone.

TO UNION OIL BLOCK.

The Arch Beach Heights Company will, on February 1, move to rooms 800-801-802 Union Oil building, Seventh and Spring streets, where there will be opened a general real estate office that will transact business under the name of the France Investment Compan—

SCIENCE PROGRESS.

Alienists the world over will watch with deep interest an experiment now being tried by the Danish government in the treatment of its insane along lines laid down by Prof. Kellers, the well-known expert on psychology, and under the direct supervision of Prof. Kellers himself.

At his instance, the government donated the island of Llyoe, which is situated in Limfiorden, and is about 1000 acres in extent, of which about 100 acres are well wooded, the oak tree predominating. This was set aside as a sanatorium.

Prof. Kellers has for some time been a persistent advocate of the out-of-door treatment of lunacy. His chief contention is that the fresh air tones up the nervous system, while the varied natural objects are calculated to arrest the attention of the patients and dissipate the more distressing symptoms of monomania oftimes prevalent. The authorities, however, preferred to effect a compromise, relegating to the new sanatorium many of the criminal lunatics hitherto held in practically solitary durance.

A peculiarity of the system is that under the comprehensive classification adopted by the authorities men of the more degenerate class, both as regards crime and vice, are regarded as mentally unfit and removed to Llyoe for treatment. The method of "cure" of confirmed laziness is somewhat Spartan.

Either the men must settle down to regular habits of work—chiefly of a rural character—or the "rest cure" is pushed home to its logical result—they are forced to lie in bed for a term varying from a day to three or four days. By that time the ennui becomes simply unbearable, and the men are glad to escape from the torture of sheer inactivity.

The more criminal types, especially dangerous lunatics, are segregated to some extent from the mere "ne'er do well," or loafer, element, but equal surveillance is kept on all alike, to see that no one effects his escape from his island prison.

The bacteriologists connected with the Pasteur Institute and germ specialists throughout France have begun a series of careful experiments to test the justice of the claim of Dr. Siegel, the Berlin bacteriologist, who has just startled the scientific world by the announcement that he had succeeded in discovering and isolating the germ of the hoof and mouth disease, one of the most dreaded scourges of cattle.

It had always been the opinion of scientists that the germ of this terrible disease could not be isolated, because it was so small that it passed through every kind of filter. Dr. Siegel has named the bacillus cytorrhytes and is so confident of his discovery that he has staked his reputation as a scientist upon the truth of his statement.

Surgeons who make a specialty of cancerous diseases are interested in the report that was made to John H. McFadden, the millionaire cotton operator of Philadelphia, by the surgeons whom he has engaged to make researches into the causes and cure of cancer. The most interesting feature of the report that is made by Dr. Hugh Campbell Ross and Dr. J. W. Cropper, who are carrying on their researches in London, seems to be that they have arrived at the belief that cancer is merely a factor in the matter of cell reproduction; that it is a phenomenon of living growth rather than pathological matter. They seem to believe that it is the crowding of living cells together without proper elimination of the dead ones in the body that produces the disease. This is an entirely new theory.

In connection with the new discovery of the value of electrifying tobacco in order to insure its flavor and keeping qualities, a most curious experiment has been made by a German chemist. Inquiry showed that the flavor of the tobacco leaf is largely due to the peculiar fungus or "bacterial flora" with which each variety is associated.

But the German chemist has gone a step further. He has taken the peculiar mold of the best Havana tobacco and transferred it to the more coarsely flavored Bavarian tobacco, and it is alleged that good judges could not afterward tell the difference.

Whether the effect is quite so thorough may be doubted, but it is unquestionable that science is making many discoveries of the properties of these mysterious molds. It is now possible to standardize the flavor of cheese and even butter by making pure culture of molds. Experiments are being made with the bloom of the grape, in which largely the flavor resides, and there is no reason why the principle should not be effectively extended to the tobacco leaf.

An improved method of administering ether and chloroform for surgical operations—a method which is said to have reduced death risk of anesthesia to nothing and to have eliminated in 90 per cent. of cases the nausea after operations—is described by Dr. James T. Gwathmey, anesthetist of the Skin and Cancer and St. Bartholomew's hospitals, and Dr. Charles Baskerville, professor of chemistry at the City College of New York. The method has been used in about 6000 cases without a single death being caused by the anesthetic.

"Vapor anesthesia" is what Dr. Gwathmey calls the method. What he does is to force the fumes of ether or chloroform or a mixture of both, through warmed water before letting the patient breathe it. The warmth of the water causes the anesthetic, instead of irritating the mucus lining of the lungs and bronchial tubes by its coldness, to reach them at approximately blood heat. The water itself absorbs the poisonous aldehydes which, with the irritation caused by the chill, has caused the nausea.

The Panama Canal engineers are trying to harness the sun for the job of lamplighter. In the acetylene-burning lighthouses along the banks of the canal will be installed copper cylinders exposed to the sun. When the sun rises in the morning and the rays fall upon these cylinders the latter will expand and close valves that admit the gas to the burners.

As night approaches and the sun's rays diminish in power the cylinders will contract and again turn on the gas, which will be ignited by small pilot jets.

Thus a considerable economy will be realized in the hire of light tenders and in the consumption of gas.

An incombustible cinematograph film, which will lesson the possibility of panics in moving picture theaters, was demonstrated recently before the Berlin Chemical Society, and is now reported to be a complete success.

The invention is greeted with enthusiasm in Berlin, where several panics have occurred at film shows, but passed off without loss of life.

Questioned.

MOTIVES WORTHY, JUDGMENT POOR.

TEXAS GOVERNOR WOULD BUILD ROADS WITH HONOR MEN.

Plan to Put Them on Their Pledges, Take Off Stripes and Let Counties Pay for Work, Part of Money to Be Turned Over to Convict's Families.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

FT. WORTH (Tex.) Jan. 14.—Gov. Colquitt's proposal to send convict workmen into Tarrant and Dallas counties, leaving them absolutely free except in so far as they are bound by their honor, has drawn praise for the Governor's motives and fidelity to campaign pledges, but the plan itself has drawn little praise.

The principal objection to the plan has been based on the claim that the amounts voted by each of the counties to construct adequate and permanent roads should not be allowed to go out of the counties. There appears to be little fear that violence would be done by any of the criminals thus suddenly set free for all practical purposes.

The Governor's plan was advanced in a letter to the county judge of each county, and proposed to pay the convicts in such a way as to aid their families. His letter, in part, follows:

GOVERNOR'S SCHEME.

"I notice from the papers that your county has voted to issue a large amount of bonds for good roads. It is my desire to test the usefulness of State convicts working upon the public roads in the following manner:

"I want to offer to convicts the opportunity to do this work, who will, upon their honor, promise me that they will not attempt to escape and not require the expense of guards to watch over them. They will be allowed to take off their stripes, and to all intents and purposes will be given their freedom, with the exception of requiring them to work as indicated, during the remainder of their sentence. I would want a representative of the State to be with them, whose duty it would be to see that good, wholesome food was supplied to the convicts.

"We can supply you with bridge carpenters, blacksmiths, quarrymen, and in fact a complete road gang. We offer you the services of these men for the cost of their maintenance and 50 cents per day. I would want 25 cents per day of this amount to go to the family of the convict, and 25 cents of it to go into the penitentiary system.

TO CHEAPEN ROAD WORK.

"In this way you can build your roads cheaply and efficiently. For many years there has been an agitation about working convicts on the public roads. I am not in favor of doing so if they have to wear stripes and be under a shotgun.

"I want to try the plan I have outlined to you, and submit it through you to the County Commissioners' Court of your county. If acceptable, details may be arranged between the county and the State authorities later on."

County Judge R. E. Bratton, to whom the letter was sent here, doubted the advisability of accepting, declaring the money should be paid to Tarrant county labor.

Mayor W. D. Davis was inclined to favor the plan, however, asserting that the amount of money taken from the county under the Governor's plan would be a negligible quantity and that if the plan was a success convict labor would be taken from competition with free labor in other more important industries.

The proposition also was opposed by the Ft. Worth newspapers.

ACQUIRES BEARING GROVE.

GROWER PAYS GOOD FIGURE.

Among the more important real estate deals just closed up by Riverside realty dealers are the following:

Martin Lederer has purchased the Martin Kennedy orange grove on Central and Victoria avenue for a consideration of $20,000. There are ten acres in this tract, all in full bearing navels, and there is also a commodious residence on the property. Mr. Lederer is an orange grower of twenty years experience, hence his taking over of this site for a home, with something profitable to employ his time, means much for the appreciation of that section as a producer of fruit. The deal was negotiated by the A. K. Scoles agency.

Mary J. Jacobs, who comes to this city from Monrovia, bought through the Scoles agency the Martin Lederer grove of seven acres situated on Blaine street, in the eastern portion of this city. There is a nine-room dwelling on this grove which is one of the best pieces of residence property in that part of the orange belt. The consideration was not made public.

The S. W. Tate Company reports the consummation of a deal whereby a former Memphis, Tenn., lady, Lizzie A. McDowell, becomes the owner of the handsome new W. T. Thompson bungalow in this city. Mr. Thompson contemplates the erection of a commodious residence on the corner of North street and the new Magnolia avenue extension.

S. D. Purser, a Los Angeles business man, has just closed a contract for sixty-three acres of land in the West Riverside district and expects soon to occupy the property as his future home. This is a beautifully situated and very attractive place, there being forty acres set to oranges and lemons, while the remainder is equally good citrus fruit land and will be improved by the new owner at once. The consideration in this deal, handled through the agency of Joseph S. Wagner of this city, was $60,000, a part of which was paid by Mr. Purser in high-class Los Angeles property.

REPORTS LOT TRANSFERS.

BUYER WILL BUILD HOME.

AZUSA, Jan. 20.—The Case Realty Company reports the sale of a lot for Mrs. Florence M. Phillips of Los Angeles to R. E. Turner for $350; of two lots for Mrs. S. D. Betteroff of Edna, Kan., to Prof. James S. Denton, for $400, and of two lots on Angelina street, between Ninth and Tenth, in the Azusa Heights tract, for L. B. Shook and W. A. Lovelace, for $500. Lovelace will at once erect a $2000 residence.

John M. Van Tassel of Redlands has bought from W. J. Wade a house and lot on San Gabriel avenue, into which he will move his family in a few days. The consideration was $1850.

Where the Minister Was Wrong.

[Newark News:] "The minister prayed at my bedside," said the gentle old lady. "He thanked the Lord for giving me so much patience to bear my afflictions, but I told him I didn't have a spark of patience. What I did have was friends and kindly visitors, and flowers and fruit and tender messages sent in every day to tell me that folks cared about me still. It wasn't my patience that carried me through; it was the goodness of other people."

La Puente Valley Citrus Fruit & Walnut Lands

17 Miles From Los Angeles

The advantages of owning a ranch home within easy reach of a great and growing city must be apparent, even to the casual observer. Quick and cheap transportation, a ready market at good prices for all products, together with the certain and constant increase in values, are a few of the many attractions that La Puente Valley has to offer homeseekers. Colonists, farmers and fruit raisers have paid the highest compliment to this section—they have bought land and built their homes here, where all conditions are favorable for right living.

Oranges and English Walnuts

The land in La Puente Valley is especially adapted for Citrus Fruits and English Walnuts. Some of the finest groves in Southern California are found here. Berries and early vegetables grow to perfection. Hundreds of acres are under cultivation. The soil is a rich loam, exceedingly fertile and easily worked. There is no better land anywhere.

Located in Frostless Belt

Owing to the fact that La Puente Valley is protected by high ranges of foothills, the section is practically frostless. The Citrus Fruit Groves show absolutely no traces of frost damage from the recent cold weather. Even the very young trees were not affected. This fact is worthy of serious consideration by those who are looking for land.

Concerning Our Properties

We own the Kwis Tract, which consists of 200 acres, located at Hudson Station, on the Salt Lake Railroad—17 miles from Los Angeles—3 miles northeast of Whittier, near Puente. This land is being sold in 5 and 10-acre tracts, on easy terms. We also own the Buena Vista Heights Tract, at Puente, consisting of 109 town lots—50x140 feet. In addition to these properties, we are selling agents for Otterbein Acres, located about 3 miles northeast of Puente, near Walnut, on the Salt Lake and Southern Pacific Railroads. Five and ten-acre tracts, on easy time payments. The Baker Home for Retired Ministers is located at Otterbein.

Water is Plentiful

The cost of development and maintenance is exceedingly low—less than half that it is in most sections. A number of systems and individual wells have been developed and are in operation. Water has been developed on the Kwis Tract, and a system is being installed. A system is in operation on Otterbein Acres which supplies close to 150 miners' inches of water.

$275 and Up Per Acre

We are offering good Orange and Walnut Lands in La Puente Valley at $275 and up per acre, on easy time payments. A large acreage is being set to trees. With the present active development of this section, prices are bound to advance. Values are increasing. The time to buy is now. For further particulars, call on or address Mason & Moon Company.

Office Open Sundays

Office open until noon Sundays, and daily from 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Personally conducted parties to La Puente Valley Sundays and Wednesdays—and other days by appointment—leaving the office of Mason & Moon Company at 10 a.m. Pictorial Map of La Puente Valley, just published, FREE at office or by mail.

FREE WORKERS' PAGE—Our Unceasing Fight for Industrial Liberty.

Determined.

STRIKES MUST BE ARBITRATED.

Chicago Employers Declare New Rule to Unions.

Disputes Over Union Jurisdiction Must Cease.

Will Insist that Contracts of Unions Are Fulfilled.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Jan. 20.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Building contractors have decreed that strikes due to jurisdiction disputes between unions must cease in Chicago. The Building Contractors' Association, which embraces practically all the contractors' associations in the city, has decided not to renew agreements with any of the unions unless they provide for the settlement of all disputes by arbitration.

The clause in the constitution of the newly organized Building Contraction Employers' Association, which is intended to guard against sympathetic and jurisdiction strikes, declares:

"All trade agreements entered into between members of associations affiliated with this association, or any employers or organization of employers, must contain provisions that there will be no cessation of work pending the settlement of any question or dispute, and that all questions or disputes affecting either parties to the agreement shall be decided by arbitration."

With a few exceptions all contracts between the building trades unions and contractors expire this spring, and all the unions are asking for wage advances. The more important unions whose agreements expire in March and April are architectural ironworkers, structural ironworkers, sheet metal workers, carpenters, plumbers, gas fitters, lathers, plasterers, stone derrick men, steam fitter helpers and building laborers. The unions are asking an increase of 5 cents an hour on the average. The wages paid a number of the trades now are $5.50 a day, and they want $6 a day. The unions that are now receiving $5 a day or less are aiming at $5.50 a day.

The contractors are not so much opposed to a wage advance as they are to the continual internal fights among the unions, and they mean to insist that contracts shall be lived up to by the unions once they are signed. The first of the agreements expires in March.

GOMPERS MUST GO.

[Editorial.]

GOMPERS must go because in the thirty years of his presidency of the American Federation of Labor that association, controlled by him, has taken over two and a half million dollars of union workers' wages money without giving union labor any real benefit in return, but on the contrary, has brought union labor to a position of humiliation, shame, disgrace and disaster; if not, practically, to utter ruin.

Here is how this vast amount of wasted money has been dragged out of union workers' wages, year after year, every dollar of which should have been retained for the support and comfort of the union workers, their wives, their families, or whoever may be dependent upon them. The figures are quoted from the 1910 official report of the Gompers get-rich-quick mismanaged organization:

Year.	Amount Taken.
1881	$174.00
1882	268.20

1909	237,377.64
1910	193,470.84
Total for 29 years, as per report	$2,248,480.13
1911, estimated, at least	180,000.00
1911, McNamaras murderers' fund (admitted)	194,000.00
Total wages money taken in 30 years	$2,622,480.13

Enough wasted workers' wages money to have paid for 1311 workers' homes at $2000 apiece. Just reflect upon that fearful waste of your wages money, union workers of the country, and of Los Angeles particularly. If not paid out for homes, think of the multitude of necessaries and comforts that vast sum of wasted wages money would have bought for your wives, your children, and yourselves; think of the thousands upon thousands of your boys and girls for whom (and indirectly yourselves) that wasted money would have provided the benefit of college or other higher education; think of the hundreds of thousands of suits and shoes it would have bought for Johnny and Jenny; think of the new frocks it would have bought for your wives and suits for yourselves; think of the doctors' bills it would have paid; think of the monthly installments of principal and interest on your homes it would have covered; think of the summer vacations for your families (if not also for yourselves) it would have made possible; think of the pianos and music lessons for your daughters it would have paid for; think how it would have helped you to pay your life and sick benefit insurance premiums; think of how its use would have enabled your wife always to have the rent money ready for the landlord the very day he called for it; think of the way it would have squared the weekly or monthly bills of the butcher, the baker, the grocer, and the fuel man; think of the interest-bearing savings bank deposits—those "nest eggs" for times of stress and storm—it would have created; think how it would have put it in the power of mother to continually add comforts to the home; think how it would have made it easier for you to send something now and again to the "old folks at home;" think how it would have helped you to do your part, the part you want to do, in the necessary charitable relief of those of your fellows who happen to be in dire need; think how it would have helped you to equip your boys properly for the battle of life; think of all these things and of the many others which occur to you, and make up your minds as decent union labor men, that as Gompers is the man really responsible to you for this frightful waste of the money you worked for and deprived yourself and yours of at his instigation, Gompers must go and go immediately. Vote him out the very first chance you get. Choose only such delegates for the next convention of the federation as you can depend upon to vote him out. In the meantime and until he resigns or is voted out protect yourselves against him and his associates and against further waste of your money—the money you work for—by refusing to pay the per capita tax which you have been paying so regularly to his wasteful, useless and deceptive organization.

From New York to California and from Maine to Florida, Gompers has lost the respect and confidence of decent union labor and of the entire self-respecting American people, and must go.

REPORTS ON WAGES AND CONDITIONS.

Timely Bulletins from All Parts of the World.

Machinists (12-hour day)..10 to 12 cents per hour
Carpenters (10-hour day).......12 cents per hour
Masons ....12 cents per hour
[illegible] laborers (many women)..........40 to 65 cents a day

Compare those wages with what is paid for the same class of work in Los Angeles, as follows:

Machinists (9-hour day)...35 to 40 cents per hour
Carpenters ....$2.50 to $4 per day
Laborers ....$2 per day
Masons ....$3.50 to $4 per day

In Austria women are largely employed by masons and plasterers in the construction of buildings. They mix the mortar, sift the sand and carry mortar and bricks to the masons. Los Angeles would justly rise up in arms if women were employed in building work here or in public manual labor of any kind. Americans would not tolerate, for instance, as in Germany, over three million women, many of them pregnant, working as field animals and at heavy field labor on farms.

Wages in Russia.

[illegible] ......75 cents (and less) to $1.25 a day
[illegible] ....35 to 70 cents a day

Building Wages in Belgium Compared.

	Belgium. Per hour.	Belgium. Per day.	United States. Per hour.	United States. Per day.
[illegible]	$0.08	$0.64	$0.55	$4.40
[illegible]	.07	.56	.42	3.36
[illegible]	.08	.64	.46	3.68
[illegible]	.07	.56	.36	2.88
[illegible]	.07	.56	.35	2.80
[illegible]	.08	.64	.44	3.52
[illegible]	.05	.40	.17	1.36

The latter, in Belgium, barely enough for tobacco money, to say nothing of an occasional drink of beer.

Wages and Living in Alaska.

The 1911 report of the Governor of Alaska gives the following as the rates of wages and cost of living in Alaska:

	Wages. per day.	Living per day.
At Fairbanks:
[illegible]	$10.00	$3.00
[illegible]	8.00	3.00
[illegible]	8.00	3.00
At Cordova:
[illegible]	7.00	1.50
[illegible]	4.00	1.50
[illegible]	3.50	1.50
[illegible]
[illegible]	7.00	1.50
[illegible]	5.00	1.50
[illegible]	3.50	1.50
[illegible]
[illegible]	7.00	1.00
[illegible]	5.00	1.00
[illegible]	3.50	1.00
At Valdez, Skagway and Wrangell:
[illegible]	5.00	1.25
[illegible]	4.00	1.25
[illegible]	4.00	1.25
[illegible]
[illegible]	7.00	1.00
[illegible]	4.00	1.00
[illegible]	3.00	1.00
At Eagle and Forty Mile:
[illegible]	7.50	1.50
[illegible]	8.00	1.50
[illegible]	6.00	1.50
[illegible]
[illegible]	5.00	1.00
[illegible]	4.00	1.00
[illegible]	3.50	1.00
[illegible]
[illegible]	6.00	1.50
[illegible]	3.50	1.50
[illegible]	3.00	1.50

[illegible] rates of living are usually for room (or part of a room) and [illegible], but do not includes anything [illegible]. Clothing, liquors, amusements, [illegible] high, and without "amusements" the life in Alaska is very [illegible].

Railway Wages in England.

[illegible]	Number employed.	Wages, per week.
[illegible]	380,000	$5.84
[illegible]	412,000	5.98
[illegible]	440,000	6.08
[illegible]	449,000	6.14
[illegible]	479,000	6.28
[illegible]	463,000	[illegible]

[illegible] figures reveal a rise in wages [illegible] years of only 42 cents [illegible] with 16,000 less workers in [illegible] than in 1907. Compare that [illegible] with the far more satisfactory railway employment and [illegible] conditions in this country, and [illegible] railway workers of the United States, and of California particularly, what sense is there in your striking for that myth of myths, and totally (to you) unproductive "asset" (when you get it, if you ever get it) called "recognition of the union." That "asset," when obtained, benefits only the walking delegates and strike-agitators, who live, without working, out of the wages you earn by working.

Italian Woolen Wages Compared.

	Italy. Per week.	United States. Per week.
Boss spinners	$7.00	$18.00
Sorters	4.60	12.50
Mule spinners	5.50	9.50
Fullers and pressers	3.50	7.00
Washers or dyers	3.00	7.00
Weavers	3.00	9.00
Garders	2.30	6.00
Gill boxers	2.30	6.00
Comb minders	2.30	6.00
Ring spinners	2.30	6.00

Do we want to let in Italian woolens made on these low wages? No, you say—then vote in November, next, against letting them in. Back up American wages with American votes. If you don't back up your own wages by your own votes there are not enough other votes to back them up for you—you did that successfully. American wage-earning voters in 1896, 1898, 1900, 1902, 1904, 1906 and 1908—do it again in 1912. You failed to do it in 1910, and are suffering therefor by business disturbances caused at Washington. The remedy, however, is yours in November, next, if you choose to apply it.

A Census Example.

Jointly, Alaska, Hawaii and Porto Rico, make the following wages-producing factory showing for 1910:

Number of factories	1,591
Capital invested	$62,479,000
Value of products	95,494,000
Pay roll	10,021,000
Workers	26,486

Socialist Wages-Failure in London.

The Sun, of New York, says: "The failure of the Thames Iron Works, one of the greatest and oldest concerns in the country, is being used as the text for a sermon against socialistic and philanthropic legislation which is meant to benefit the workingmen, but which is really proving disastrous. The result of legislation fixing an eight-hour day in London and enforcing a clause in government contracts ordering the payment of the standard rate of wages fixed by the unions in each locality has been the closing down or migration of all the great engineering works of London."

Paper Mills Wages in Holland.

In the paper mills of Holland boys and girls under 16 years of age are paid 32 cents per day, while other workmen receive 48 cents to $1.20. The working day comprises ten hours. Most of the factories have both night and day forces. There have been no strikes or labor disputes to speak of in the industry.

Sheepherders Wages Compared.

The average wages of sheepherders are:

Country.	Per month.
United States	$58.00
Australia	40.00
Argentina	20.00

The influence, at this time, as to letting in foreign wools free is obvious, as to its effect on American sheepherders wages. Remember that next November.

Brush-Making Wages Compared.

UNITED STATES.

	Per week.
Bristle sorters and washers	$15.00 to $24.00
Paint brush makers	15.00 to 21.00
Handle shapers	12.00 to 18.00
Bristle pickers (females)	4.50 to 8.00
Pan hands (females)	6.00 to 9.00
Shaving brush makers (males)	12.00 to 18.00
Drawing hands (females)	6.00 to 9.00
Finishers (females)	4.50 to 7.00
Beginners (boys and girls)	4.50

GREAT BRITAIN.

	Per week.
Bristle sorters and washers	$8.00 to $9.00
Paint brush makers	12.00 to 15.00
Handle shapers	6.00 to 10.00
Bristle pickers (females)	4.50 to 6.00
Pan hands (males)	8.00 to 9.00
Shaving brush makers (females)	3.00 to 3.50
Drawing hands (females)	up to 3.50
Finishers (females)	2.00 to 2.50
Beginners (boys and girls)	up to .90
In Germany:	Per week.
Average male employee	$6.66
Average female employee	3.22
Skilled males, average	$7.14 to 9.76
Skilled females, average	4.05 to 5.47
Male minors	2.14 to 4.28
Female minors	.95 to 1.67
In Austria:	Per day.
Blind skilled workers	$.60
Seeing skilled workers	1.20

Fifty per cent. of the brush workers are blind.

In Japan:	Per day.
Male brush workers, all departments	.23 to .28
Female, do.	.13 to .18
Children, do.	.08 to .11

Brush workers in Japan work from 7 a.m. to 6 p.m. for, generally, 312 days a year. One large factory works 330 days a year.

Do we want to spoil American wages in brush making by letting in brushes made abroad on the above low-wage scales? No, you say—then vote next November to keep them out.

Women's Wages in England.

The average pay of the five and a half million women workers in England is less than $2 a week, says Mrs. Pankhurst, the English suffragist. Is it any wonder then that the white slave traffic "flourishes" in that country? Body and soul cannot be kept together on $2 a week, hence the hundreds of thousands of women there who have to "walk the street" of the cities, night after night, to get food for their bodies—just bare food, not luxuries—at the expense, first of their souls, and, in but three to five years, of their bodies also. Do we want low wages for women here? No, then vote against them.

Strike Notes.

British shipyard men threaten a general strike, and the employers, a general lockout.

The Welsh coal miners have voted to strike again on March 1. They lost out last year.

The laundry strike in New York City is on in full force—about 25,000 workers are out.

At Dunkirk, N. Y., the places of the striking boilermakers are being rapidly and permanently filled.

A strike of the "extra" stenographers at Washington is holding House committee meetings.

England has 2,340,00 trade-unionists and 8,590,000 non-unionists workers.

BORAH'S PREACHMENT.

That was a thrilling and wholesome preachment of Senator Borah of Idaho before the Young Republican Club, in which he compared the dastardly crime of the McNamaras and "their whining apologies" and the twice-told tale of "selfishness and greed, of extortion and lawlessness' of two great trusts, with their plea of justification "that it was all done in the interest of business growth and industrial progress." From these and other events of the kind the Senator drew the conclusion that "there is no country of first importance where there is so little respect for the law because it is the law, the last expression of the sovereign power, as in this republic." "There is no place," he said, "where life is so insecure against the bomb or the bullet, where criminal laws are so ineffectually enforced, where corruption is so little condemned by public opinion, where defiance of law in the highest walks of business so generally prevails." He declared that it was not the fault of any one class, but "our national sin, pervading all classes and fastening its demoralizing hold upon all our institutions."

Conditions Proven.

RESPONSIBILITY OF UNIONISM.

MEMBERS' OATH DESTROYS LOYALTY TO EVERYTHING ELSE.

Compels the Organization of Employers to Combat the Demands of Their Unionized Workingmen, and Sends Up the Cost of Production by the Increased Wages Required.

[Pacific Coast Mechanic:] It is as impossible for a loyal member of labor unions to be loyal to his church or country as it is for a sworn anarchist to be loyal to the American government. Here is one of the oaths which they take:

"I hereby solemnly and sincerely swear, or affirm, that my fidelity to the union and my duties to the members thereof shall in no sense be interfered with by any obligation that I may now or hereafter owe to any other organization, social, political or religious."

Under this oath it is impossible for a man to be a loyal member of the Roman Catholic Church or any other church.

It is time fr our churches to take a pronounced stand against a movement which threatens to undermine the very foundation and destroy the vitality of the church.—[Seth C. Rees.

[The Square Deal:] At a recent meeting of the Chicago Master House Painters and Decorators, Secretary John M. Stiles said the "necessity for the organization of employers in the painting business has been brought about by an organization of our employees, and had they been as careful to keep to the lines of strict equity, justice and legality as they should have been, that necessity would not exist. They undertake to dictate whom we shall employ and the wages we shall pay; the number of apprentices we are entitled to have, etc.

"Many of the master painters have been ruined financially and driven ou tof business, many killed, many journeymen driven into other vocations. It stands us in hand, as men, to organize to contend against the atrocities and unlawful brigandage of the painters' union; we will be compelled to do one of two things—either overcome this great evil or be driven out of business. It may not come to you yet, but unless you stop its unlawful encroachments, it is only a question of time when you will be exterminated."

[Brooklyn Eagle:] Employers, as employers, have no special interest in the decision of Justice Guy giving judgment against the United Necktie Workers' Union in favor of a former member for the full amount of the wages of which he was deprived by being illegally expelled from the union. But all lovers of fair play are glad that the decision has been rendered; and the finding of the court ought to give the keenest satisfaction to the individual members of labor unions.

The organization in question had an initiation fee of $25. Samuel Sabo was a member in good standing. He had a brother who worked at the same trade in a non-union shop. That shop was unionized and the workers there, by a sort of special dispensation, were taken into the union on one-fifth of the regular initiation fee. Then the union decided that Samuel Sabo ought to pay the balance, $20, of his brother's full initiation fee, just because of the relationship. It fined him $20, and expelled him because he didn't pay. Since August, 1910, Samuel Sabo has been out of work for this reason. The court gives him at once a vindication and a judgment for $564, outside of costs.

[Baltimore American:] "It costs more to put up buildings in New York than in any town in the United States by at least 10 per cent.," said F. B. Etheridge, a prominent Gotham contractor, at the Belvedere. The big wages paid laborers is responsible for the heavy out-pay in Manhattan, for there the mechanics command more pay than anywhere, except in Chicago, and on the Coast.

"Marble work in New York costs about double what it does elsewhere, since it is conducted on the closed shop principle. The unions have complete domination of it, with the result that in marble operations there has been a constant upward tendency in wages, expert marble cutters and engravers getting over $5 per day. The only consolation is that marble is a luxury and not at all essential to a building, occupying about the same relation that silk lining does to a fine suit of clothes. The wearer can get along just as well and find his suit just as satisfactory by using a less expensive lining."

THE OPEN SHOP.

Means Fairness to Both Union and Non Union Employes, Recognizing Their Ability.

[Pacific Coast Mechanic:] At the very start of things Open Shop means a condition of "openness and fairness to all plans and ideas of worth and good repute. Rightly interpreted Open Shop no more shuts out the unions than it shuts out any other organization If it did this in any instance it would at once cease to be "open" and become "closed." Open Shop asks no man's unwillling service. Its platform is "toleration." It insists that the beliefs, ideas and methods of all men be equal before the bar of reason—until by test they are found wanting and hence to be discarded as unworthy or useless. With the unions—the members of the unions or the leaders, "Open Shop" has no quarrel—to any method of force, coercion as being undue influence it is opposed, as being unfair and un-American. It makes no difference by whom such methods may be used. Open Shop gladly recognizes all the good the unions have accomplished in the past—it will welcome all the good the unions have the power and the will to bring about in the future—it believes in unions when they are conducted on broad and right lines. Open Shop firmly believes that when the present day "Closed Shop" unions realize the great truth that only men of free mind can accomplish good results by concerted action, then will they come into a more complete control of their actions as men united for a cause. Then the terms Closed Shop and Open Shop will be dropped as being without meaning since the unions will have become associations of "free" men actuated by a common purpose—filled with a common love for humanity—working toward a goal inviting all men to march with them over a road unhindered and unhampered by petty personal warrings.

Labor's Unrest.

STRIKES AND NEAR-STRIKES FROM ABROAD AND AT HOME

NOT ONLY from many cities in this country, but also from other countries, come reports daily of labor's unrest, acute and threatened.

The 1300 delegates to the twenty-third annual convention of the United Mine Workers of America, now in session at Indianapolis (perhaps always the chief center of labor's unrest, as it was also the headquarters of the dynamite conspiracy,) representing 300,000 organized coal miners in the United States, will formulate demands to be presented to the coal operators, both bituminous and anthracite, for new increased wage contracts to go into effect on April 1, next. Fortunately the organization's president, John P. White, was broad-minded enough to say in his annual address:

"While we will never surrender the right to strike, we should not lose sight of the fact that some of the greatest successes our organization has ever achieved lay in the channels of peace. . . .

"We find in numerous instances grievances of minor importance are the means of causing strikes [He might have added strikes almost always stirred up by non-working but well-paid walking delegates and strike agitators—all barnacles on the back of 90 per cent. share of conservative and decent union labor] which, upon examination of the facts, have little or no merit in them. This is a question that our organization must give its serious attention to."

President White further said: "While not consenting to any reduction from existing wage contracts, we should strive only for such advancements as it is within the range of possibilities to secure."

That eliminates all the impossible demands which labor organizations generally are so untactfully free in making.

This organization has a membership (November 30, 1911) of 256,256, exclusive of exonerations, an increase of 24,684 in the year.

President White further reported coal-mining machinery is fast replacing the skilled miner with the less-experienced laborer. This is an important factor in the situation and should be gravely considered before the men rush into a strike no matter how strongly they may be urged to. Every trade in which machinery is being or can be used in place of human labor, should also weigh that important factor, under similar circumstances.

From New York City persistently come reports showing determination to enforce a general strike of all the men working at the big plants of the Consolidated Gas Company.

Most of New York's streets are lighted by gas and hundreds of thousands of homes and business places are dependent upon the same illuminant and heating and cooking power. A general gas strike in that great city would be of untold hardship to a million or more consumers. This great and really unnecessary strike proposition has the backing of the American Federation of Labor (Gompers and company,) whose entire contribution to "strike benefits" in 1910, out of $360,000 income of wages money, was the comparatively paltry sum of $6484, or less than 2 per cent. of the income handled in that year. What benefit did affiliated union labor get out of the remaining $354,000? Echo answers, "what?"

More than twenty thousand laundry workers are still out on strike in New York City, and the steam laundries are working short shifts of strike-breakers in an effort to get out at least a part of the mountain of soiled linen that is piling up. All efforts to settle the strike have proven futile.

There was much "labor unrest" in Los Angeles prior to and during the recent Socialist rabit-labor-union Mayoralty campaign, but the cyclone at the polls on December 5 created a restful condition which continues.

Has Los Angeles labor taken cognizance of the fact that the late Socialist-laborite candidate, Job Harriman, of the McNamara murderers' well-paid (by labor) defense squad, is doing his best (by speeches) to tie California union labor to his chariot wheels and keep it in a state of costly political unrest?

Will the day ever come when American labor (Californian particularly) will take "rest" from the "unrest" so continually forced upon it by its unscrupulous and self-constituted misleaders?

A great coal strike menaces all England. It was overwhelmingly voted on January 18, and in consequence all business there is further badly depressed. The British Admiralty is alarmed and is reaching out for a year's coal supply for the navy before the strike commences on March 1. The mine owners have tried to effect peace, but without success, and are solid for strenuous and, if necessary, long continued resistance to the strike. They, says D. A. Thomas, M. P., have taken off their coats and will fight to win and will win at all costs as the labor demands are outrageous.

This stubborn determination on the part of the workers to strike is largely a result of the Socialist talk and action of Lloyd George of the British "playing to the gallery" government.

Private advices from England to the writer evidence that unmistakbly. The mine owners are fighting for law and order and the sanctity of contracts and against chaos and anarchy and the red flag—just as the best citizenship, male and female (largely the latter,) fought at the polls (and before) on December 5 last.

A thousand hosiery workers have struck at Leicester, Eng., against the conditions attached to an advance of wages.

At Bradford, Eng., that old myth "recognition of the union" is the cause of two thousand wool combers being on strike, with a lock-out of 12,000 wool workers expected.

The great cotton strike and lock-out of 300,000 workers in the Lancashire, Eng., cotton district is still on, with a loss of five million dollars a week in wages. In addition, the trades unions have paid out over a million dollars for strike relief.

The three weeks stoppage of the mills has cost thirty millions of dollars. Every cent of this vast aggregate of money is a dead loss, and all because four—only four— non-union people were at work there.

The utter folly, absurdity and (really) criminality of it! Two thousand five hundred longshoremen on strike in Boston and three thousand five hundred freight handlers. Striking boilermakers from Schenectady are working as strike-breakers in Boston. There is an anomaly and instance of bad union labor faith for you.

LIVING COST AND LABOR COST.

BOTH HIGHER HERE THAN IN OLD WORLD.

Working People Here Enjoy More Luxuries than Do Any of the Toilers Abroad, and the Extra Consumption of Goods Makes Business and Gives Employment.

[New York Commercial:] The cost of living depends directly and almost wholly on the cost of labor, and this is as true of the living expenses of the laborer as it is of the capitalist. In this country the highest scale of wages and the highest scale of living go hand in hand and both are higher than in any part of the Old World. But as both wages and expenses rise in an industrial community the relative position of the wage-earner who works with his hands improves faster than that of other classes of the community.

In the United States labor enjoys luxuries unknown to the toilers abroad because wages here afford a much larger surplus over and above the cost of absolute necessaries of life than can be found elsewhere. The wives and daughters of our toilers wear silks, and this country consumes nearly half of all the silk produced in the world. The New Jersey silk mills alone consume more raw silk than the whole of France, the supposed leader in the silk trade, and most of this silk is worn by the women of the working class in the country.

This is a healthy condition of affairs that should please everyone engaged in active pursuits. The consumption of goods makes business and gives employment. As long as good wages remain an incentive to greater industry the country will be prosperous, though the higher cost of living bears hard on people with small fixed incomes and on the professional and clerical classes. Anyone who has noted the difference in the style of living of the working classes here and in Europe will testify to the superior advantages enjoyed by labor in the United States not merely in wages and style of living but in social and political ways. There is none of that hopelessness among the poor even on the East Side in this city that is seen in the East End of London.

But with the gain in wages for the masses of the toilers has come in late years an increase in the number of young men and women in that class who do not wish to work industriously, and who sometimes do not work at all. All writers on social subjects and political economy, including even Socialists and anarchists, agree that the idle are a burden on the industrious, and that everyone who does not work robs someone who does. High wages earned by some members of a family enable other members to live in idleness, and the advance in style of living due to good wages is producing a distaste for honest labor on the part of the young, instead of being an incentive to work in order to advance still higher in the true social scale. It seems as if the wage-earning classes are unwilling to help themselves beyond a certain point, and the social problems arising out of this condition are becoming serious. Labor itself does not recognize and honor the dignity of labor.

Labor owes something to a community in which it enjoys such advantages. It owes to this country industry, sobriety and respect for the law. General industry should be fostered, and even forced on all. When part of those who should work are idle the consumption of goods is lessened and the burdens of those who toil increase in proportion to the number of idle that are fed and clothed either in the family circle or, in some way or other, by the community at large. The command to earn thy bread by the sweat of thy brow cannot be disregarded.

With the decrease in consumption due to idleness comes a lessened demand for labor and a lower standard of living all around, the full effect of which is felt by the best class of skilled workers, for it is the product of their toil that first loses its market. Sooner or later labor will liquidate itself until the point is reached where the idle must go to work or starve. General industry is the only thing that can save it. There never will be over-production in the true sense of the term, but there may be under-consumption. We now have too many "beachcombers" in the ranks.

Labor unions are doing their utmost to foster idleness by discouraging or preventing the young from entering the skilled trades. They are digging a pit into which they will fall in the end. Labor is most prosperous where it produces the most. All the wealth in the world consists of two elements, what is taken out of the ground and the labor that is put on it in fitting it for use. At least 85 per cent. of this true wealth consists of labor thus applied. Possessed of this true wealth, labor consumes more and the standard of living rises in proportion to the industry of the people in a sort of endless chain. The cost of living rises because all consume more and enjoy more, but labor constantly takes a greater and greater share of the total wealth of the community as expenses increase. Labor is never helped by the idleness of others or by the destruction of property.

HOPELESS CASE.

The Federation of Railway Employees still maintains the strike order against the Harriman system in the face of conditions that have long since been favorable to the company, and still continue to be so, in the operation of its road. What the officers and leaders of the strikers expect to gain by prolonging a struggle that has only caused hardship and suffering to the men, who follow their dictum, is hard to see.

NORTH LANKERSHIM ACRES

A Deed For 5 Acres

Opens the Way to Independence

Here is the last opportunity to buy good land, "close in" to the fast-growing city of Los Angeles at these low prices and on our easy terms. Only a short distance from new electric car line and magnificent $500,000 boulevard.

The soil is a deep, sandy loam, and water is free until January 1st, 1913.

On adjoining lands fortunes are made growing deciduous fruits, vegetables and walnuts. You can do the same, here at North Lankershim Acres.

CUBA, THE LAND OF UNREST.

WHERE A THOUSAND MILLION DOLLARS YANKEE MONEY IS TIED UP—A CONSIDERATION OF ITS RESOURCES AND TRADE RELATIONS.

BY WALTER J. BALLARD.

THERE is no disguising the fact that the unrest in Cuba is increasing to such an extent that a third intervention on the part of the United States may become necessary.

Necessary, because it is against the interest of the United States to have an unruly neighbor, and essential, because of the large and increasing trade relations between the two countries, to say nothing of the safety and productiveness of the more than a thousand millions of dollars of American money invested in the rich island.

A further and very strong reason for a third intervention is that the United States in pouring out its millions to successfully free Cuba from the yoke of Spain, became, in a measure, responsible to the world for good government in the island.

The chances are that when the United States intervenes again in Cuba, it will, with the world's free consent, stay there.

From this viewpoint it is both interesting and profitable to consider the island, its resources, and the trade relations between it and the United States.

American-Cuban Trade Relations.

Looking back over the official records of our own Bureau of Statistics, O. P. Austin, chief, we find that our trade, both ways, with Cuba in the past twenty years has been:

Exports to Cuba.

Fiscal years—	Value.
1890	$12,684,415
[illegible]	17,952,570
[illegible]	20,125,321
[illegible] (revolution against Spain)	7,530,880
[illegible] (Spanish-American War)	9,561,656
[illegible]	26,513,400
[illegible]	26,623,500
1904	27,377,465
[illegible]	47,763,688
[illegible]	47,161,306
[illegible]	43,913,254
1910	52,858,758
1911	61,500,906

These figures for fiscal years show that in the twenty-one years—1890-1911—American exports to Cuba increased nearly 400 per cent.

Imports from Cuba.

Cuba's Strategic Postion.

Cuba is separated from the United States by the Strait of Florida, from Mexico by the Yucatan Channel, and commands the only entrances into the Gulf of Mexico. Extending east and west from the seventy-fourth to the eighty-fifth meridian, it constitutes the most important part of the northern barrier of the Caribbean Sea, and guards the windward passage, the national route for commerce between the Atlantic Ocean and the "American Mediterranean," which is equivalent to saying, if we take the larger view, that it guards the route of commerce between the Atlantic and Pacific oceans, via the Isthmus of Panama and the American Panama Canal. Its eastern point, Cape Maisi, lies directly south of New York City, and its western point, Cape St. Antonio, nearly south of Cincinnati. But the total length of the island, 730 miles, is somewhat greater than this statement would indicate, for Cuba curves "like a bird's tongue," as the Spaniards used to say, from lat. 19 degs., 40 m. N., in the province of Santiago, up to lat. 23 degs., 33 m. N., the most northerly provinces being those of Mantanzas and Havana. At one point Cuba is only 96½ miles distant from Key West., Fla., and at another point only 130 miles away from the mainland of Mexico. Its width decreases from 100 miles in the east to less than twenty-five miles near the line between the two western provinces, Pinar de Rio and Havana.

Area and Harbors.

Cuba's area, including the Isle of Pines and the cayos or keys (more than 1000 islets along both coasts) is estimated at 44,000 square miles. Thus it is larger than Virginia; smaller than Pennsylvania.

Nature has provided unusual facilities for making the most of Cuba's favorable situation upon a great and permanent marine highway. The coast line is 2000 miles long, or much more than that if we take into account all its indentations. Capacious harbors, quite evenly distributed along the north coast, are those of Baracoa, Nipe, Gibara, Neuvitas, Sagua la Granda, Mantanzas, Havana, Cabanas, and Bahia Honda; and on the south coast, Cienfuegos, Trinidad, Manzanillo, Santiago de Cuba, and Guantanamo—the latter being the one thought of for an American naval base, and visited by President Taft a few weeks ago. Besides these there are scores of fairly safe roadsteads and harbors of moderate size. Thus no plantation on the narrow island can be very far away from some shipping and receiving port.

Topography—Mountains.

The mountains of Cuba occur in three distinct groups. The Guanbguanico Range (Serra de los Organos; greatest altitude, 2532 feet.) extending from Cape San Antonio to the boundary line of Havana province, and forming the chief feature of the impressive landscapes around Sagua de la Tanama and Baracoa, far away in the east. The Guamhuaya group, between the cities of Cienfuegos and Trinidad, its highest summit, El Poterillo, is 2900 feet. While the foregoing are of no great height, but owe their attractiveness rather to beauty or oddity of outline, the luxuriance of the foliage on their slopes, and the exquisite charm of the valleys they enclose, we find on the southern coast of Santiago province a range that, in sheer majesty, certainly rivals and probably surpasses any mountains of the North American continent, east of the Mississippi—the Sierra Maestra, including the Sierra del Cobre and the Macaca group. Rising precipitously above the Caribbean Sea, this cyclopean wall extends through two degrees of longitude, from Cape Cruz to the city of Santiago, in a nearly straight east and west line. The altitudes of three widely separated peaks are: The Cerro del Oro, 3300 feet; La Gran Piedra, 5200 feet; the Pico Turquino, 8600 feet. All the northern parts of the islands, and the southern coast as far west as Cape Cruz, are either mountainous or at least well above sea level.

Secret of Cuba's Natural Wealth.

Geologic study of these mountain groups reveals the secret of Cuba's natural wealth—the fertility and depth of the soil that covers the pre-Tertiary sedimentary rocks forming the base of the island's structure—a great sheet of late Tertiary limestone, of remarkable thickness, which was formed as a deposit of "organically derived oceanic material," says Dr. Robert T. Hill; and the same authority adds; "The island was reclaimed from the sea by a great mountain-making movement in the Tertiary time, succeeding the deposition of these limestones." About two-thirds of the entire area of Cuba is covered with soils derived from this organic limestone—soils whose colors, red and black, are not at all suggestive of their origin. In quality, in depth, in the proportion they sustain to less productive districts of the island, these calcareous soils are probably unrivaled in the world. Hence Cuba's marvelous production of sugar, tobacco, etc., the soil being naturally and permanently fertilized. It is quite certain the soils of Cuba have no rival in any land whose situation is equally favorable for easy and cheap transportation of their produce to foreign markets. A different type of soil, also valuable in agriculture, is the clay and gravel resulting from the decomposition of Tertiary igneous rocks. This occurs in parts of the provinces of Santiago de Cuba, Santa Clara and Mantanzas. One-half of the island has been cleared, but between 13,000,000 and 15,000,000 acres are still covered with forests.

Climate.

The climate also favors vegetation, for the air is moist and injurious extremes of temperature are unknown. At Havana the thermometer averages 77 deg. F. for the year, or 82 deg. F. in the months of July and August, and 72 deg. F. in December and January. At Santiago the average temperature for a year is somewhat higher—about 80 deg. F.; on the other hand, towns located in the interior at an elevation of 200 or 300 feet above sea level have an agreeable climate, the temperature averaging not more than 74 deg. F. Rain falls most abundantly between the end of April and the beginning of November.

Cane-Sugar Product Enormous.

In normal years nearly one-half of the entire cane-sugar product of the world comes from Cuban soil, and yet the limit of the island's sugar capacity has not been reached. As early as the sixteenth century the sugar industry was established under the special protection of the Spanish sovereigns, but after more than 300 years have passed we find, at the beginning of the twentieth century, only about 8 per cent. of the area of the island devoted to the sugar crop—in other words, about 2,000,000 acres out of the total 28,000,000 acres. When Mexico was lost to Spain, Cuba lost the $1,000,000 a year which Madrid paid to her to help the sugar industry, out of the revenues of Mexico. Then Cuba turned her personal attention more vigorously to sugar production, resulting in the "Golden Age of Cuba"—1853 to 1868—with sugar outputs as follows:

Year—	Tons.
1853	322,000
1858	385,000
1863	507,000
1868	749,000

Then came the "Ten years' war," and loss in production:

1869	726,000
1874	681,000
1878	533,000

Then from the Treaty of Zanjon to the last Cuban insurrection in 1896:

1879	670,000
1884	558,319
1889	560,333
1894	1,054,214
1895	1,004,264
1896 (75 per cent. loss from 1894 and 1895	225,221
1897 (insurrection still)	212,057
1898 (Spanish-American War)	300,000

Since then (1898) the industry has gradually recovered. Witness American purchases of the past three fiscal years:

Year—	Pounds.	Value.
1908	2,309,130,286	$88,726,562
1909	1,962,635,718	63,857,770
1910	3,509,667,596	93,548,397

Tobacco Production.

American purchases of tobacco in three years were:

Year—	Pounds.	Value.
1908	17,929,086	$13,041,069
1909	26,422,439	15,669,570
1910	25,147,003	14,068,305

During seasons of moderate prosperity the tobacco industry of Cuba has given employment to 80,000 persons, with a larger number working this past year or so. Cultivation did not begin till 1580, though Columbus found the natives using it in 1492. The best Cuban tobacco is that grown in the Vuelta Abajo district, an area ninety miles long and ten miles wide. The product of that region is undoubtedly the best tobacco grown in the world. In 1902-3 large tobacco interests were transferred to American capitalists, who put in labor-saving devices and modern methods, with much resultant benefit. Details of Cuba's yearly tobacco production are not available

Large Natural Resources.

In the mountainous eastern provinces deposits of copper, iron, manganese, and lead exist, and some of the mines have been worked on an extensive scale. The copper mines at Cobre, near the city of Santiago, were opened in 1524, and ranked as the greatest copper mines in the world until the American copper deposits were developed. Iron ore of excellent quality abounds and several companies operate mines east of Santiago, shipping to the United States. Silver deposits are found in the provinces of Puerto Principe, Santiago, and Santa Clara, and every province has asphaltum. Cedar, mahogany, pine, lignum-vitae, ebony, rosewood, logwood and other dyewoods, are valuable products of the forest for export; for the use of the Cubans themselves the royal palm stands unrivaled. Native plants number almost 4000 varieties. All kinds of tropical fruits grow luxuriantly, many of them without cultivation. Bananas (leading) oranges, cocoanuts, lemons, limes and pineapples; the anon, mango, rose-apple, pomegranate, sapote, fig, tamarind, guava, aguacate (alligator pear,) mamey, guanabana, etc., are abundant. The cultivation of grapes was forbidden by the Spaniards in the interest of the wine merchants of Spain, part of Spain's policy of sacrificing her colonies to herself, and finally losing her colonies. This error the British and American government avoid in their colonial dealings. Coffee culture at one time was a flourishing industry, and may revive. Grasses grow rankly and forage is abundant, other conditions favorable to cattle-raising are the mildness of the winters, the streams of fresh water, and the ready access to important markets on the Atlantic Coast. American capital is largely in cattle-raising. The insurrection reduced the cattle from 2,500,000 to 75,000.

Population.

The growth of Cuba's population has been:

1774 (first census)	171,620
1810	600,000
1855	1,044,185
1874	1,446,372
1903	1,590,000
1910 (estimated)	2,000,000

Cities and Towns.

Each of the six provinces bears the same name as its capital city. The most populous is Havana province, with its 485,000 inhabitants, of which the city of Havana has nearly 300,000.

Havana City.

Havana is the capital of Cuba, the commercial center of the West Indies, and the second city of Spanish North America. It occupies nine square miles on the west side of the Bay of Havana, on the north coast, one of the noblest harbors of the world, with deep water up to her quays. The old city, the commercial quarter, is, or was largely until American occupation, a maze of narrow, crooked lanes, crossed by two broader streets—the Calle O'Reilly and the Calle Obispo (Bishop street.) The new city is on a ring of hills 150 feet high, with the castle of El Principe on the crest, and has a wealth of broad and finely shaded macadamized streets, drives, promenades, parks, plazas, flower gardens, fountains, statues, etc., which make it one of the handsomest cities in the world. The handsomest residence street, next to the new suburb Vedado, is the Cerro, a long thoroughfare running up a long hill at the end and bordered by immense old villas in the midst of splendid gardens.

The principal public buildings are the palace of the old captains-general, the cathedral (with the ashes of Columbus in an urn, though San Domingo claims to hold his bones,) the Tacon Theater (the largest in the world,) other theaters, operahouses, clubs, University of Havana, Jesuit Boys' College, La Casa de Beneficia, observatory, library (rich in old Cuban history,) College of American Augustinian Fathers, several hospitals, great lazaretto for lepers, insane asylum, etc. Over 100 newspapers, etc., are published in the city. The water supply of the city was installed by a Cuban engineer, Albear, some forty-five years ago, and is considered a remarkable specimen of good workmanship. It comes from the Vento by an acqueduct twelve miles long, known as the Canal of Albear. Except for this, American occupation at the start found an indescribable state of filth and disease. The city was the prey of yellow fever; the sewers had seldom been cleaned since they were laid down, and some of them were choked with generations of rottenness; the buildings were pest holes, and in that dungeon of horrors, the military hospital, 70 per cent. of the patients died. The United States forces in their short stay, transformed this reeking home of pestilence into one of the healthiest cities in America. In systematic order streets were cleaned, repaved, and widened; squads of cleaners were sent from house to house, emptying the Augean stables under them, whitewashing and disinfecting them, and where they were shanties that were nests of infection, tearing them down; the hospital was cleaned, disinfected, and covered deep with whitewash, and turned into a schoolhouse. New business streets were made by widening old lanes; parks were cleared up and a fine seawall along the ocean to the north was built. In 1896 (Spanish days,) the deaths from yellow fever were 1262; in 1901 (after the American cleaning,) only three or four. A Cuban physician of Irish descent, Dr. Carlos Finlay, made chief sanitary officer of Havana, was the originator of the mosquito theory of yellow fever. Gen. Leonard Wood and the American army surgeons, however, deserve much credit for making the theory of practical use.

Havana is the market of Western Cuba, the head of the island's banking and commercial interests, and the emporium of the West Indies. Besides being the center of the island railway system and of a great domestic shipping trade, especially with Santiago, it is the focus of a vast foreign commerce with Spain, France, England and the United States, regular ocean lines running weekly to the first three and semi-weekly to the latter, besides others to the other West Indies. Havana has excellent covered wharves and a capacious dry dock to aid this. Regla, on the opposite side of the bay, contains the sugar wharves and the railway termini.

The exports are chiefly sugar, tobacco, cigars and cigarettes; the main imports are flour, rice, lard and other foods, cotton and metals. Havana's manufactures are mainly tobacco products; its cigar factories, of which there are over 100 of the first rank, are the largest in the world, one covering an entire square. It also manufactures confectionery, perfumes, rum, etc. The new electric street railway system is one of the finest of its kind.

History of Havana.

Havana was founded here (transferred from an older site) by Diego de Velasquez in 1519, and called by him "the key to the New World." Burnt by buccaneers in 1528, it was rebuilt and made the chief naval station of Spain in this hemisphere, twice sacked in 1555 and 1563, it was a storm center of wars and piracies for two centuries. In 1762 the English captured it, but restored it to Spain the next year. In 1802 it was partly burnt, but under the famous Gov. Tacon, its second founder, commemorated at every turn, it was rebuilt from a straw-thatched wooden town to a [illegible] brick and stone.

3 ELECTRIC LINES ARE NOW BUILDING

All of Them to Connect With Pacific Electric Road at Van Nuys

VAN NUYS, Jan. 16.—Within the next few months Van Nuys will be the center of four electric street railway lines.

The Owensmouth line, which will extend from Van Nuys west to Owensmouth through the Van Nuys-Lankershim lands, has most of the overhead equipment strung, and the rails are laid for several miles. This line is being built under the direction of Mr. H. J. Whitley, general manager of the Suburban Homes Company. It will follow the line of Sherman Way through the tract, having the boulevard on each side, and will be of the same high-grade that the Pacific Electric Company has built and is operating to Van Nuys.

The line which the Mission Land Company is building through its lands to the reservoir site, north of Van Nuys, is progressing rapidly. The poles are all set, the overhead equipment is being placed, and the ties and rails are now being put down. It will connect with the Pacific Electric line near the new car barn on North Sherman Way.

The Grogan line to San Fernando, as proposed, and which will connect the two towns of Van Nuys and San Fernando by a direct route, is rapidly taking shape, and it is understood that the necessary bonus will soon be raised in our neighboring town to start the work. The line as approved by the promoters will commence at the intersection of the Pacific Electric line on North Sherman Way, near Van Nuys, run north to the intersection of Pierce Avenue and Twenty-second street, thence northeast along Pierce avenue to its intersection with Fourth street, thence northwest along Fourth Street to Harding avenue; thence northeast along Harding avenue to Fifth street, thence northwest along Fifth street to Hubbard avenue, San Fernando.

A $5000 passenger station will be built on the corner of Sherman Way and west Seventh street in Van Nuys, and it is understood that it will be used as a terminal for all these different lines.

PRODUCT REPORTS FROM HAWAII.

DEVELOPMENT UNDER THE AMERICAN RULE.

Sugar Production Has Increased Practically One Billion Pounds Since the Making of the Reciprocity Agreement With United States—The Japanese Influence.

The development of the Hawaiian Islands under American guidance is illustrated by figures presented in a document just received by the Bureau of Statistics Department of Commerce and Labor. The document, entitled "The Hawaiian Annual, 1912," is issued annually by Thomas G. Thrum of Honolulu, and presents statistics of the production, commerce, finance, population, and education in those islands during a term of years down to 1911.

The figures of growth since the annexation of Hawaii to the United States and, indeed, since the reciprocity treaty of 1876 between the islands and the United States, by which freedom of commercial interchange with this country was established and investments of American capital thus assured, are extremely interesting. A table shows, for example, the production of sugar, by far the most important product of the Hawaiian Islands, from 1875 down to and including 1911. The production of sugar in 1875, the year immediately prior to the adoption of the reciprocity treaty, is given at 25,000,000 pounds; by 1881 it had grown to 94,000,000 pounds; in 1891, 275,000,000; in 1901, 691,000,000; in 1910, 1,111,000,000, and in 1911, 1,011,000,000 pounds, or forty times as much in 1911 as in 1875. The value, which was stated at $1,250,000 in 1875, was given at $36,725,000 in 1911, or thirty times as much in 1911 as in 1875. Thus the quantity of sugar produced in 1911 is forty times as great as in the year immediately prior to the beginning of reciprocity, and the value thirty times as great, the relative difference in increase between quantity and value being due, of course, to a reduction in prices of sugar meantime.

Of this increase of practically 1,000,000,000 pounds in the sugar production of the Hawaiian Islands since the adoption of the reciprocity agreement with the United States, more than one-half has developed since annexation, which occurred in the year of 1898. The sugar production of 1898, the year immediately prior to annexation, was, according to the table in question, 520,000,000 pounds, as against 25,000,000 in 1875, the year immediately preceding the reciprocity treaty, 1,111,000,000 pounds in 1910 and 1,011,000,000 in 1911. Thus the increase in sugar production in the islands during the twenty-two years of reciprocity, 1876 to 1898, was 495,000,000 pounds, and during the period since annexation, 1899 to 1910, was [illegible] pounds.

Sugar, however, is not the only product of the Hawaiian Islands. The statements show numerous other articles or products of the islands, indicating that the recent attempts at diversification of production have been at least moderately successful. The value of canned pineapples sent to the United States alone in the fiscal year 1911 was over $2,000,000; of rice, the quantity shipped to this country from Hawaii in that year was 6,666,000 pounds; of coffee, 2,725,000 pounds; of hides and skins, 1,500,000 pounds; of bananas, 171,000 bunches; while of manufactures of of wood the value of the shipments in 1911 was about $146,000. By far the largest item of shipment to the United States is sugar, valued in the fiscal year 1911 at $36,725,000 and $42,666,000 in 1910, against $1,250,000 in 1876, the year of the reciprocity treaty.

Practically all the imports into the Hawaiian Islands are from the United States, except a few articles, required by local conditions, which cannot be obtained in this country. The imports of foreign merchandise amounted to [illegible], made up chiefly of [illegible] from the western coast of South America, and Japanese products imported from Japan to meet the demands of the 70,000 persons of Japanese birth or parentage now living in the islands. The census of 1910 shows the population of the Hawaiian Islands at 191,907, of which 70,500 are classed as Japanese, 26,000 as "Hawaiian," 22,000 as Portuguese, [illegible] as Chinese. The number of persons born in the United States living in Hawaii in 1910 has not yet been announced by the census of that year, the figures of 1900 having been stated at 4068. The total population has grown from 58,000 in 1878 to 192,000 in 1910, the growth of the foreign population during the period being from [illegible] to 152,300, while the number of Hawaiians declined from 51,500 in 1878 to 38,500 in 1910.

The figures of trade show a constant excess of exports over imports. In 1880 the excess of exports over imports was $407,265; in 1890, $6,000,000; in 1901, $4,332,000, and in 1911, [illegible]. Imports have increased from [illegible] in 1875 to $28,000,000 in 1911; exports, from $2,000,000 [illegible], the figures for 1911 including $22,000,000 worth of merchandise received from, and $41,000,000 worth shipped to the United States.

PLAN UNIQUE COMPANY.

REALTY MEN TO ORGANIZE.

BAKERSFIELD, Jan. 20.—At a meeting of the Bakersfield Realty Board tonight a committee was appointed to draw up a plan of organization for an investment company which, it is expected, will have practically the united support of the real estate dealers of the city. The general plan is to form a company with sufficient capital to purchase tracts of land of considerable size for subdivision. Tracts of a section in size and upward can be bought, it is said, for reasonable prices for cash, but are not available for subdivision on other terms. The owners will not permit them to be tied up on small payments or allow portions of the tract to be sold and take the chance of the remaining broken parcels being left on their hands.

The Realty Board also went on record as favoring the purchase of the old county courthouse for a City Hall. The building and block of land on which it stands have been offered to the city by the county for $125,000, and the realty men declared in resolutions passed unanimously that the property is a good buy at that price. The trustees will consider the question next Monday night.

Experts are still working on the plans for the enlargement of the city water system, and their report may not be ready for several weeks. It is the intention of the trustees to submit at one election the question of bonds for the city for a City Hall, park extensions, and improvements to the fire department.

If you are a business man—GIVE THAT EXTRA TIME TO YOUR FAMILY.

If you are the "Lady of the House," why not locate where you can easily and comfortably reach the shopping section?

MABERY HEIGHTS is fine for ALL the family.

The "old folks" will like the grand view of mountains and sea—and those elements of peace and quiet which Mabery Heights affords.

The children will be right close to school—and to ECHO PARK, with its wonderful municipal playground.

Really, taking everything into consideration, we ought to ask more for these lots, but we want to make a quick sale. YOU get the benefit, but you will have to hurry and take your choice.

YES, Mabery Heights prices include improvements—improvements that are improvements. Good, hard paved streets that cost more money than the general run of "subdivision specialists" care to spend. We are setting a mark for quality that will be hard to beat.

Sidewalks, curbs and gutters of best material. Ornamental shrubbery and shade trees. Restrictions that RESTRICT and protect. We want you to be satisfied AFTER YOU GET YOUR LOT.

"Wiseacres" told us we were spending too much money—putting too much money into improvements, and giving too much for prices asked. We turned a deaf ear because we had a fixed ideal—we wanted a tract that would really be the "Tract That's Different."

Hundreds of investors have inspected Mabery Heights, and a large number have bought lots since the opening a short time ago. You have been missing something. MAKE UP YOUR MIND TO SEE MABERY HEIGHTS TODAY.

Brick and Tile Industry.

A preliminary statement of the general result of the thirteenth census relative to establishments engaged in the manufacture of brick and tile has been issued by Director Durand of the Bureau of the Census, Department of Commerce and Labor. It covers building, fancy and ornamental brick, vitrified brick, drain tile, and any other brickyard product.

The general summary shows increases in all the items at the census of 1909, as compared with that for 1904, which decreased from 4634 to 4215, or 9 per cent.

The capital invested as reported in 1909 was $174,672,000, a gain of $54,716,000, or 46 per cent., over $119,957,000 in 1904. The average capital per establishment was approximately $41,000 in 1909 and $26,000 in 1904. The value of products was $92,776,000 in 1909 and $71,152,000 in 1904, an increase of $21,624,000, or 30 per cent. The average per establishment was approximately $21,000 in 1909 and $15,000 in 1904.

The salaries and wages amounted to $42,578,000 in 1909 and $32,176,000 in 1904, an increase of $10,402,000, or 32 per cent. The average number of wage earners employed during the year was 76,528 in 1909 and 66,021 in 1904, an increase of 16 per cent.; their wages increased from $28,646,000 in 1904 to $37,139,000 in 1909, or 30 per cent.

John Lane, who has just died in Washington at the age of 88 years, was the last of the men who looked upon the face of Gen. Washington when his body was taken from the old grave in Mt. Vernon and placed in the vault where it now rests, in 1833. At that time Mr. Lane was a boy and so small he had to perch himself up on the wagon seat before he could look over the heads of the crowds.

Great Country.

RESOURCES OF ALASKA.

Masterly Address by the Secretary of Interior.

Scenic Beauty Is in Itself an Asset.

Vast Mineral and Farming Possibilities.

The address made by Secretary of the Interior Fisher at Chicago, Ill., before the American Mining Congress has been published in pamphlet form. It is a valuable contribution to current literature, and is of especial interest to the people of the Pacific Coast. It deals with the Alaskan problems in a candid, careful and statesmanlike manner, and deals with them from the standpoint of one who made a close and prolonged investigation of Alaska during his lengthened visit there.

Secretary Fisher also availed himself of the data furnished by Alfred H. Brooks, geologist in charge of the United States Geological Survey, who for fourteen years has been studying Alaskan conditions on the ground. Before examining the Bering River field Secretary Fisher was preceded there by Dr. J. A. Holmes, director of the Bureau of Mines; by L. T. Wolle, an engineer of large experience in coal mining and railway construction, by F. W. C. Whyte, who for years has managed the coal mining and railway construction department of the Anaconda Copper Mining Company; by T. H. O. Brien who has conducted the coal operations of the Copper Queen; by George Watkins Evans, a coal mining engineer of experience in the northwest States, and by Sumfler S. Smith, who is a mining engineer and inspector of mines for Alaska.

Secretary Fisher, in his speech, said: "At the very outset I wish to express the high opinion I have formed at the remarkably large and fine body of people who have become permanent residents of Alaska. . . . There is a substantial percentage of vigorous, law-abiding, law-respecting men and women of the highest type of American citizenship. The total population is about 65,000 persons. They are entitled to a Territorial government."

Secretary Fisher further says, "I found Alaska a country of wonderful scenic beauty, which in itself will in future years be one of its greatest financial assets. From all the information I could gather I believe it to be a country of great mineral and agricultural possibilities; indeed, I should go further and say a country of great mineral and agricultural probabilities, needing development, ready for development, and inviting development, but held back chiefly by inadequate transportation facilities and inadequate laws."

Secretary Fisher further says, "What Alaska needs more than all else is a trunk-line railroad from the ocean to the great interior valleys of the Yukon and the Panama opening up the country so that its future development may really be possible.

"The vast interior valleys are covered with luxuriant grasses and can be made to raise cattle and sheep, and even grain, if proper seed and proper methods are experimentally developed by scientific agriculture. But agriculture development can not go forward where the local markets are small and scattered, and exportation is impossible."

Secretary Fisher finds the coal deposits of Alaska to consist of the anthracite and high-grade bituminous coal, which is found so far only in the Bering River and Matanuska fields. No anthracite coal has as yet been found anywhere else on the Pacific Coast, and but little high grade bituminous coal, or high-grade coking coal. Except for coking coal, anthracite coal and high-grade bituminous coal Alaska cannot command the fuel market. There are great quantities of lignite and low-grade bituminous coal throughout the Pacific Northwest and British Columbia. Much of the bituminous coal mined on Puget Sound is of fair quality and fit for steaming purposes, and when the freight and handling charges on Alaskan coal are taken into consideration it is clear that the low-grade coal will not be used on ocean steamers except those plying to Alaskan ports.

"For steaming purposes and for heating purposes in manufacturing establishments, California fuel oil is supplanting coal in many fields. It possesses advantages in economy and convenience of handling, and coal of any kind cannot compete with it. But oil cannot be used for smelting ores, or for making steel, and for these purposes Alaska coking coal will hold the market.

"When the anthracite coal fields of Alaska are opened, and railroads constructed, so that anthracite coal can be landed at Los Angeles or San Francisco for $5 or $6 per ton, it will drive all other coal from the market for domestic use. One ton of anthracite coal contains as much heating force as two tons of bituminous coal. In the New England and Middle States no other than anthracite coal is used for domestic purposes, and none other would be used here if it were available at reasonable prices.

Secretary Fisher favors the construction by the government of one main trunk line of railroad from tidewater to the Yukon 500 miles. The railroads now in operation in Alaska consist of the Copper River and Northwestern road, which leads from Cordova on Prince William Sound, 200 miles up the Copper River to the Bonanza copper field, the Alaska Northern Railroad, which started from Seward on Bering Strait for the Matanuska coal fields and the Yukon, but stopped discouraged seventy-one miles north of Seward, and the pioneer Alaskan road, the White Pass and Yukon narrow gauge, which is mostly in British territory.

"All railroad construction was stopped when Alaskan coal lands were withdrawn from entry. The direction of the Alaska Northern offer to sell or practically to give their road to the government if it will assume the outstanding bonds amounting to $4,600,000.

"It is generally and erroneously considered that Alaska is uninhabitable on account of the cold. Southern Alaska and its cities, Juneau, Sitka, and Wrangel, are in the same latitude with the north of Ireland and England, and the south of Scotland. The thriving city of Cordova is on the same latitude as Norway, Sweden, Petersburg, and the winter range of the thermometer is higher than in Washington, D. C."

Secretary Fisher favors a system of leasing the coal lands of Alaska on the Canada-Yukon territory system of an annual rental of $1 per acre for twenty-one years, 5 cents per ton royalty on the coal extracted and not more than 2500 acres to be leased to one applicant. The Cordova Chamber of Commerce, which at the time of Secretary Fisher's visit, disapproved of a leasing system for Alaska coal lands, has since reconsidered its action. It expresses its confidence in Secretary Fisher and avows its approval of any policy that will secure prompt action in some direction that will promote development.

BURNS CELEBRATION.

The 153rd anniversary of Robert Burns's birthday will be celebrated by the Caledonian Club tomorrow evening with a concert and dance in Blanchard Hall. The Highland Fling and sword dance will be featured and Burns's songs will be sung almost exclusively. Frank G. Terrell will be the speaker of the evening.

YouCan Own a Home In College Tract

THIS is the day for you to decide that you want to own a home. Come to College Tract and choose from 50 or more of the most artistic and attractive one, one-and-a-half and two-story homes that have ever been built in Southern California. You will be astonished how low you will find them priced. We venture to say that nowhere else in the State will you find homes so substantially and lastingly built, with hardwood floors, attractive built-in features, the best of plumbing, fixtures and hardware, attractive cabinet kitchens with woodstone sinks, reliable foundations and equally reliable roofs at prices so small and terms so liberal.

WHY should you keep on paying rent when that same amount of money will keep up your entire payments on a home, including interest, taxes and insurance? We will even help you on the first payment. All we want you to do is to come to College Tract—and choose the home you like best. You get free the use of and a two years' option on the adjoining 50-foot lot.

BECAUSE the Los Angeles Investment Company expects to realize no profit on its buildings, because we supply homes ready to move into on paved streets with cement walks and curbs, wide planted parkings, with good water, gas, electricity, telephones—that's why College Tract has been so enormously popular, so wonderfully successful. Come, join the successful ones.

5c CAR FARE is all the investment we ask you to make immediately. So far as your time is concerned, you will never have spent a more pleasant hour or two, looking through truly ideal, artistic and carefully planned California homes. We offer every feature you would seek in a home built according to your own taste. (If you wish to supply your own plan or suggestions for same, we shall be glad to build your home to order, on the same liberal terms.)

Or Buy a Lot in College Tract

How to Get to College Tract:

TAKE A GRAND AVE. W. 48TH ST. CAR ON BROADWAY, SEVENTH OR GRAND, TO DENKER AVE., GRAMERCY PLACE OR ARLINGTON ST. OR COME TO OUR OFFICE AND RIDE OUT IN AN AUTOMOBILE. IT'S A PLEASANT RIDE.

If you want to make a really judicious Real Estate investment, you will find College Tract lots, full sized, and all improvements in, at from $950 to $1200 a positively splendid buy. These lots are on such well-known, popular streets as Gramercy, Wilton and Arlington. On Western Avenue, in the same tract, we have some of the most desirable business lots which promise quick turnover at good profit.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE.

IN THE EARTH.

Rare Minerals, Metallurgy and Chemistry.

Niter.

SALT LAKE CITY (Utah) Dec. 27.—[To the Editor of The Times:] You will find enclosed, wrapped in blue paper, a sample of salt of some kind from Beck's Canyon, south of this city, and it may be niter or magnesia. Will you please have it tested and named in the "In the Earth" column?

Yours respectfully, A. L. B.

ANSWER: The sample is high-grade native saltpeter (niter.)

Porphyritic Rock.

COYOTES' HOME (Murrietta) Dec. 21.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I am sending you a small bag of rock. Please, kindly, let me know in "In the Earth" what the samples consist of. I remain, Yours truly, C. S.

ANSWER: The samples consist of orthoclase (potash feldspar,) and one whitish sample of albite (soda feldspar.) Both samples have scales of bronze-mica impregnated, sparingly, throughout the mass.

Botryoidal Manganese.

SEARCHLIGHT (Nev.) Dec. 28.—[To the Editor of The Times:] We send you herewith sample of ore from one of our customers and yours, which he requests analyzed and report made. Name of sender is T. B.

ANSWER: The samples are botryoidal manganese (psilomelane and pyrolusite.) Limonite present. Not tested for silver.

Granite.

TEMPE (Ariz.) Dec. 28.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I send to you a rock which I wish to have you test. Please let me know what mineral it contains, and the worth of it.

Yours truly, A. P.

ANSWER: The sample is a hornblendic granite boulder, carrying feldspar, quartz, mica and titanic iron ore. The boulder is a very deceptive one, and, at sight, the iron content very much resembles tungstate of iron (wolframite.)

Nitrate Traces.

SILVER LAKE, Dec. 28.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I mail you under separate cover five samples of minerals or salines, which are in place not many miles from Silver Lake.

Your answer on my samples of October 29, 1911, proved very satisfactory.

Will you please tell me what No. 1 consists of, and what percentage of nitrates? Nos. 2 and 3, what about them? What do Nos. 4 and 5 consist of?

Hoping to hear from you in "In the Earth" column, I am

Yours respectfully, A. F. E.

ANSWER: In nitrate values the samples are of but little value. No. 1 contains trace only; iron oxides and soda present. No. 2, trace of nitrates; magnesia and soda present. No. 3 is similar of No. 2. No. 4, a gritty and impure Fuller's earth. No. 5, like No. 4. All of the samples represent minerals of but little commercial value.

Volcanic Ash.

WONDER (Nev.) Dec. 28.—[To the Editor of The Times:] This sample comes from this district. Is it soda?

Yours respectfully, M'C.

Botryoidal Limonite.

CAJON PASS, Dec. 28.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Some time ago I sent you samples from fifteen miles north of this place, where I have a group of claims, and you tested and reported "tungstic acid absent." I was not satisfied with your report, because two assayers told me the ore was tungsten.

I sent some of the ore to Chicago, and the Chicago chemist reports that "the ore is hematite, and tungstic acid not present," confirming your "In the Earth" man in every way. It cost me something to find this out!

I now send you a sample of ore that has me and other prospectors guessing. It is "picture ore," but carries no gold value. What gives it the rainbow colors? Maybe, it is uranium of some kind. What makes it so look like a lot of marbles cemented together?

I will look very anxiously for your answer.

Yours very respectfully, E. M.

ANSWER: The sample is botryoidal (grape like) limonite, and of beautiful iridescent colors.

Limonite is hydrated iron peroxide with some 86 per cent. iron oxide, and the variety you send is botryoidal, and stalactitic.

"Peacock iron" is present in the ore to which the iridescent colors are due. There is not a trace of uranium in the specimen.

A Peculiar Specimen.

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 29.—[To the Editor of The Times:] This rock comes from Amboy, Cal. Please test for gold, silver and lead. Thanking you in advance.

Yours truly, S. H.

ANSWER: Combined with the quartz we find garnet (variety spessartite.) The blue-black oxide in the rock is a variety of hematite (micaceous iron ore.)

The specimen carries no lead, and for gold and silver values (if any) you are politely referred to reliable assayers.

Volcanic Ash.

TONOPAH (Nev.) Dec. 29.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I take the sample enclosed to be magnesite. It comes from a deposit within ten miles of Tonopah, and I think it is a pure article. I may be in doubt, however, as the study of mineralogy is a new affair. If I am wrong I'll take my medicine, and at the same time will be grateful if you will name it. Thanking you in advance and with best of wishes for the wide-awake Los Angeles Times in 1912, I am

Yours very truly, B.C.K.

Mountain Cork.

MOJAVE, Dec. 29.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Did you ever hear of "Metalliferous Murphy?" The question always uppermost in his mind was one of curiosity. One of his habits, if called upon to test ores was to scrutinize the sample and to pronounce it, usually, as "galeniferous and metalliferous," meaning that the specimen carried lead. Some of his old prospecting friends would like to know what became of him.

I am of opinion that the sample enclosed may be some kind of petrified wood, although it is found with the [illegible] of Kern county, Cal.

Please state some facts regarding the sample in your deservedly popular "In the Earth" column. Yours J.T.J.

ANSWER: We thank you for your letter. We have heard of Mr. Metalliferous Murphy, but of his [illegible] ignorance. Perhaps some correspondents of this department can "smoke out" the information desired.

The sample you submit is not petrified wood, it is a variety of asbestos, "in which the fibres are interlaced so intimately, as not to be perceptible, or capacle of separation. Sectile. Somewhat elastic. So light as to float on water. Opaque. Feels meagre, and resembles cork in feel and texture."

Beautiful Specimens.

SAN PEDRO, Dec. 29.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Am sending you under separate cover two samples of ore, and they come from near Cima, Cal.

No. 1 is from an old tunnel, and the whole inside of the tunnel is covered with it. Is it sulphur, or what is it? No. 2 is from a blanket-ledge three feet thick, is it boracite? One fellow called it Colemanite. Please name it for me, and if not asking too much would you kindly inform me if it is of any commercial value?

Thanking you very much for past and present favors, I remain. Yours respectfully. J.A.P.

ANSWER: Sample No. 1 is a handsome illustration of stalactitic formation (mixed iron and copper alum, with coppers of commerce present.) The old tunnel being covered with it "inside" shows that the salt gathers there.

It would be well for you to offer sample of the mineral to whole chemists, in hope of finding a market for it, and yet, the commercial value of the proposition all depends on the size of the tunnel and of the sulphates above the tunnel.

No. 2 is neither boracite nor Colemanite, it is a mixed lot of specimens, consisting of banded-agate, jasper and common opal.

Impure Clay.

LUDLOW (Stagg P.O.) Dec. 29.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Enclosed find sample of some kind of rock I find about five miles northwest of Ludlow, Cal., and I am unable to determine what it is or whether it has a commercial value or not. Any information you can give me will be gladly received and appreciated, as there seems to be quite a quantity of the rock, and if it has a commercial value it should prove to be a big thing.

Very truly yours, F.L.W.

ANSWER: The particular sample you submit is a mixture of fire-clay and of pipe-clay, with trace of lime carbonate.

It would require a thorough sampling of the deposit to arrive at its proper value. Why not submit samples of the clay to representatives of the clay-working industry?

Mexican Onyx.

PRESCOTT (Ariz.) Dec. 29.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Being in the West, and at the same time looking out for useful commercial ores and minerals, I beg to refer to your "In the Earth" department a sample of onyx, which I am creditably informed occurs in commercial quantity not far from this city.

Mineralogically, what variety of onyx is this? What is its composition chemically?

Your department is favorably commented upon every where, but in certain "very learned associations" it is condemned, because it is published in a lay paper. Sincerely yours, G.C.K.

ANSWER: We know of "the very learned associations" to which you refer, and beyond the fact that such associations, at times, obtain assistance from this column of "a lay paper;" when they "get stuck" on minerals—further reference to the criticism leaves us only to smile.

The sample you submit is, in chemical and physical properties, as follows: Specific gravity, 2.8. Hardness, 3.32. Iron oxides present, 3 per cent. Lime, 56 per cent. Carbonic acid, 41 per cent. This analysis confirms the theory into a fact that the sample is Mexican onyx of commerce, and not the true onyx of mineralogy which is "quartz in the chalcedonic condition."

"Mexican onyx is believed to be either travertine deposited out of the waters of limestone springs, or stalactite formed on the roofs of caverns from the dripping of limestone water, or stalagmite formed on the floors of such caverns; and the beautiful veins and delicate markings are the stainings of the mineral solutions of iron, copper, etc., held in the waters. It has been found in many formations of the earth's crust, and its nature is such that there is no reason for not expecting it anywhere that limestone water could ever reach. In Mexico and in the dry regions of Arizona and California, it is found in blocks and slabs . . . among all sorts of conglomerate deposits, calcareous tufas, and so forth." In passing, let it be known—there is nothing too good for Arizona.

Silica.

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 29.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Kindly submit the enclosed sample to the "In the Earth" department to be tested for the black material contained therein, and also the white material. Is the white quartz, or what kind of material can it be?

The sample was found a few miles north of Randsburg, and the required information will be highly appreciated by two old subscribers of The Times.

Very truly, H. C.

ANSWER: The matrix of the substance is silica, and the black content is hornblende with fractured tourmaline.

Pyritiferous.

REDLANDS, Dec. 29.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I am enclosing in a separate cover a sample of ore from Banning, Cal. Will you please classify it? What is its value? Kindly inform me through your "In the Earth," and greatly oblige.

Yours very truly, A. R.

ANSWER: The sample is an altered shale carrying microscopical pyrite (iron disulphide) with arsenopyrite (arsenical pyrite) and owing to the mixed pyrite obtained by concentration, the value of material represented by the sample is decidedly doubtful.

Not Beryl.

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 30.—[To the Editor of The Times:] These stones were picked up in an alluvial deposit near "Horse Thief Springs" in Southern Nevada.

I believe it to be beryllium, aluminum silicate. Please give complete analysis and commercial value if any.

Yours very respectfully, A. L. C.

ANSWER: There are probably other pebbles on the old-time alluvial beach of Southern Nevada that are beryl. The sample you submit is simply a spherule of volcanic glass (obsidian.)

Aragonite.

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 30.—[To the Editor of The Times:] A prospector with a claim near Caliente, Nev., sends me the samples enclosed with the request that I send them to The Times for classifying, and particularly, the name of the crystals with a short description in your columns. Thanking you in advance.

Yours truly, A. L. M.

ANSWER: The crystallized samples are aragonite, a variety of lime carbonate. Aragonite usually carries a low percentage of stronia. The samples are in hexagonal prisms, and the powdered crystal matter becomes phosphorescent on red-hot iron Calcite.

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 31.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Kindly assay the enclosed rock from San Bernardino county and give some information on it through "In the Earth" column.

Yours truly, H. D.

ANSWER: The sample somewhat resembles trachyte, at sight, but it is an impure limestone or "cement rock," if you please.

Silicates.

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 31.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Sample is from deposit east of Barstow, in San Bernardino range. Size of lead unknown. Believe it high-grade silicate, or high-grade magnesium oxide.

Yours truly, W. A. S.

ANSWER: Samples 1 and 2 are of the same variety, and are silicates of magnesia and lime, with alumina and iron oxides present, and trace of soda.

Fine Specimens.

PASADENA, Dec. 31.—[To the Editor of The Times:] In the ore sack enclosed you will please find smaller ore sacks with minerals from my properties in New Mexico.

The particular information that I am after is: Please give me the mineralogical names of the samples.

Thanking you in advance for the information requested through the "In the Earth" column, I am.

Yours very truly, D.

ANSWER: Sample No. 1 is scheelite (calcium tungstate.) No. 2 is hubnerite (tungstate of iron and manganese.) No. 3, ferberite (tungstate of iron.) No. 4, trachyte. No. 5, bismuthinite, carrying approximately 80 per cent. bismuth with 20 per cent. sulphur; soluble in warm nitric acid and then gives a white precipitate on dilution with water; this is a fine sample. No. 6 is wavellite (phosphate of alumina.) No. 7, turquois and rather "off" on true-blue color. No. 8 is vanadate of copper. No. 9 is paryte (barium sulphate.) No. 10 is Franklinite (iron peroxide, manganese peroxide, and zinc oxide,) and No. 11 is amethyst (quartz.)

AFTER NEW RESIDENTS.

PLAN ADVERTISING CAMPAIGN.

SOUTH PASADENA, Jan. 20.—With the active advertising campaign that has been entered into by the Chamber of Commerce, and with the other plans of this organization for the development of the community, it is believed that the year 1912 holds great things in store for South Pasadena. Leading members of the Chamber of Commerce confidently predict that more new residents will be attracted to South Pasadena this year than during any similar period in the past.

The new booklet descriptive of the city and its advantages as a place of residence will be given general distribution in quarters where it may be expected to accomplish the best results. Everything possible will be done to attract the attention of outsiders to this city. Its convenience to Los Angeles, its elevation, its beautiful sites for homes—all these things are to be impressed upon the minds of the prospective resident.

The largest transaction to occur recently in South Pasadena is the sale of the El Centro apartments, which is located on El Centro street, in the block between Diamond and Meridian avenues, by M. Durnbaugh to D. W. Honn, a capitalist from Los Angeles, connected with the Bakershippe Manufacturing Company. He has reopened the house as both a hotel and apartment-house, and will care for transient guests as well as those seeking apartments. The name will be changed to El Centro hotel and apartments. It contains sixty-six rooms in two-room suites, has elevator service, telephones, lobby and a large dancing hall.

Another sale is that of the residence of D. L. Peters to A. B. Cass of Los Angeles. The lot is 200x162 feet to an alley on the corner of Fair Oaks avenue and Oak street, and is improved with a two-story, fourteen-room house. The grounds are highly improved. The consideration is not named. Mr. Cass purchases for a home and has already taken possession.

TEHACHAPI PROGRESS

229 WEST SEVENTH STREET, LOS ANGELES, JANUARY 21, 1912.

LAND SALES TOTAL $97,000

Less Than Sixty Days Put Tehachapi to the Front

MUCH DEVELOPMENT WORK

Seven Hundred Acres to be Put in Trees and Crops In 1912

Sales at Tehachapi have now reached a total of $97,000. This includes only those deals in which the first payments have been completed and contracts of sale have been signed. There are about $15,000 of sales upon which earnest payments have been made, and which the selectors of tracts expect to complete first payments as soon as they can make financial arrangements.

The first sale at Tehachapi was completed November 20, 1911. To reach an aggregate of about $100,000 in sales in less than sixty days, with a region that had not had any advertising at all, shows two things:

1. That Tehachapi, on investigation, show up as good as represented.
2. That there is a VERY STRONG DEMAND for good apple and pear land in Southern California.

NAMES OF BUYERS TO DATE.

W. H. Omerod, tract 36, 10 acres, $2500.

C. T. Jones, tracts 37, 38 and one-half of 39, 25 acres, $5000.

J. W. Jennings, tracts one-half 39, 40 and one-half 41, 21 acres, $4200.

L. Kanstine, one-half tract 41 and tract 42, 15 acres, $3000.

Frank Wilbur, tract 43, 10 acres, $2000.

J. H. Fess, tract 44, 11 acres, $2200.

Mrs. Effie Coovert, tract 74, 10 acres, $2000.

O. B. Cook, tracts 75 and 76, 20 acres, $4000.

G. F. and E. T. Hendry, 21 acres, $4200.

W. L. Hillman, tract 79, 10 acres, $2000.

William Schmolze, tract 82, 10 acres, $2000.

Herbert Gray, tract 83, 10 acres, $2000.

H. J. Van Hee, tract 92, 10 acres, $2500.

William Conklin, tract 93, 10 acres, $2500.

J. M. Thielan, tract 94, 10 acres, $2500.

W. A. Cater, tract 95, 10 acres, $2500.

William Fleming, tract 98, 10 acres, $2500.

C. A. Johnson, tract 97, 10 acres, $2500.

H. W. Mitchell, tract 100, 5 acres, $1250.

B. F. Mull, tracts 101-2, 10 acres, $2500.

A. L. Stith, tract 80, 10 acres, $2000.

R. A. Riley, tracts 71 and 72, 20 acres, $4000.

H. Woolaver, tracts 55 and 56, 20 acres, $4000.

Midgley Brothers' Syndicate, Pomona, 320 acres (4 miles out, water not furnished,) $24,000.

CURRANTS WANTED.

Preserving Companies in the Market for Jelly Materials.

Various California fruit preservers are much interested in the planting of currants at Tehachapi. This is one fruit which the California climate in general does not favor. At Tehachapi the currants do as well as anywhere in the world, producing large crops of high quality and rich flavor, and the bushes are generally free from disease. Since the passage of the pure-food laws it is no longer possible to make "currant jelly" out of glue, red ink and acids. The public demands currant jelly, and the preservers are therefore willing to pay a high price for the fruit. A total of probably 30 acres of currants will be planted at Tehachapi in 1912. Most of the planting will be done in rows right down the rows of trees, leaving the spaces between the trees for other crops. Currants begin to yield well the second year from planting and should pay from $200 to $500 an acre in years following. Fay's Prolific is the variety most favored.

DISCUSSING POTATO VARIETIES.

It is believed that the "Netted Gem" potato will be the best for Tehachapi soil and conditions. This potato is raised very extensively in Northern Oregon and in the Roaring Fork Valley of Colorado, is a heavy yielder, of extra good quality and very popular on the California markets. Potato men are now looking in several directions to get a supply of seed for Tehachapi in 1912. It will take about three carloads of seed to meet the present demands.

HOUSES FOR RENT IN TEHACHAPI.

There are a number of good, modern houses, with bath, etc., for rent in the town of Tehachapi. New settlers will find this a great convenience, as all the land is close to town. They can move into a rented house, get their trees started and going, and then build their own houses and other improvements through the summer, in their spare time.

CARLE T. McKINNIE AND TWO CABBAGE HEADS.

This picture was taken Oct. 16, 1911. The two heads of cabbage weighed one 8 pounds, and the other 8½ pounds.
The man who raised this cabbage sold his wohle crop at 3 cents a pound. This made it pay at the rate of about $300 per acre.
It is COOL at Tehachapi. The cabbage crop matures in August, September, October, when cabbage raised in lower HOTTER places of California is tough, tasteless, and full of insects and slugs.
Tehachapi Cabbage is tender, sweet, free from insects, and sells readily at the highest prices.

CONTRACTS LET FOR NEW WELLS

Best and Most Costly Type of Wells and Pumps Ordered

CEMENT PIPE FOR LATERALS

Tehachapi Farmers Assured of an Abundance of Water for the Coming Season

The Tehachapi Fruit and Land Company has let the contract for putting down two new wells with the best type of centrifugal pumps, and also for a powerful pump for the well recently completed on tract 74.

The new wells will be specially constructed for assuring a large flow of water. The usual way of making a well is to push the hole down full size, making a record of the depths at which gravel is encountered. The well is cased all the way down, and then a "perforator" is lowered and holes punched in the casing. There is just a chance with a new well, that the "perforator" might not make a large enough hole, or that it would tear a large gash and sand would come in and choke the well.

The improved type of well is bored by first putting down a 4-inch hole through the gravels. The fineness of the sands and the flow of water are carefully measured, and then the hole is reamed to 14 inches, and cased from the bottom up, with elaborate sand screens through all the gravel.

The cost of one of the improved wells is nearly 50 per cent. higher than the ordinary type, but it is ABSOLUTELY CERTAIN that one of them will ALWAYS produce a LARGE flow. They can never be choked or interrupted.

As soon as these wells are completed, contracts will be let for two more. The contractors will put two rigs in the field and expect to have the wells bored, pumps and engines installed and water flowing in six weeks.

CONCRETE LATERALS.

Distributing system to be better than promised land purchasers.

Carrying out the Tehachapi policy of giving more than promised, it has been decided to build a complete distributing systems from all wells to all lands, consisting of underground concrete pipes and stand pipes. Contracts will be let to parties giving substantial guarantees that the piping will be absolutely durable and permanent.

BIG OPPORTUNITY FOR FARMERS

Rich Land, Plenty of Water and Very Profitable Crops

BUY TEN ACRES; FARM FIFTY

A Diligent Man Can Count $2000 Profits from a Small Investment and One Years' Work

We need more farmers at Tehachapi. While the favorable climate, the certainty of the water, the absence of weeds, and the soft mellow nature of the soil makes farming at Tehachapi easier and more certain than in many other parts of California—it still takes the exclusive time and attention of one man to make a success of farming ten to fifty acres.

The sure and large profits from growing apple and pear trees are bringing plenty of investors who want to buy land but who want to have someone else farm it the first few years. A man with a small amount of capital, enough to make a small payment on the land and provide himself with teams, tools, etc., can get an extraordinarily good farming deal at Tehachapi if he comes soon enough. Work will be under way now in a short time.

BEANS? WHAT KIND?

Pinks and Black-Eyes Both Have Their Advocates.

Some discussion has been in progress at Tehachapi among people who plan to put in beans between the rows of trees as to the best variety. A small planting of the black-eye or southern bean in the summer of 1911 showed a big return. The black-eye bean is common to the South, where immense quantities are consumed, largely by negroes, in the Southern States and in Panama. In the South, weevils do great damage to the crops and stored beans, and the price fluctuates widely. Last year the black-eyes were worth two or three times the price of pink beans, but the year before the pink were worth the most. J. A. Woy, whose 160-acre orchard is 1½ miles east of town, will plant almost the whole area in black-eyes between the trees. B. M. Denison, who has been making profits of $75 to $100 per acre from the pink beans for some years, will probably stick to them, but will change the seed. The black-eye bean is said to root deeper and to take a shade less water than the pink bean.

CHEAPEST GOOD APPLE LAND IN CALIFORNIA

Investigation Shows That Tehachapi Dirt is the Best Agricultural Buy in the State

Only $250, $300, $350 an Acre

Very Easy Terms, and Especially Easy Terms to People Who Will Build Houses

Among the many who come to Tehachapi, looks things over and decide to buy are people who have been going to all parts of Southern California looking for what they consider just exactly the right land at the right prices.

The verdict of these people is that considering all the advantages of location, directly on the main line of two transcontinental railways, so close to Los Angeles, the remarkable fertility of the soil, the abundance of the water supply and the high altitude, Tehachapi tracts are the very cheapest offerings.

"There are other locations just as good as Tehachapi," said an apple expert who had been to every known valley, "but they are from eight to twenty-five miles off a railroad, or else three or four hundred miles further from a good market, and in localities new, remote and little developed.

"The man who can buy such land as this for $250 is in luck. He can plant it in trees at an expense of not to exceed $50 an acre for the care of the trees the first year and the nursery stock. After that, the crops between the rows ought to carry all the expense until the orchard comes into bearing.

"A bearing orchard at Tehachapi ought to be worth from $1000 to $1500 an acre, and even $2000 an acre would not be out of proportion to its actual producing value. When a man can get a property for a total immediate investment of $3000 to $3500—and a large part of that on easy terms with payments extending over five years—and can make that property self-supporting at once and worth $20,000 in ten years, you can see that the price of the land is very low."

ANOTHER EXCURSION TUESDAY.

Sharer Investment Company Will Have a Carload of Homeseekers January 23.

Another private car excursion to Tehachapi will be operated by the Sharer Investment Company, leaving Los Angeles Tuesday evening, January 23, at 9:30 p.m.

These excursions have proven very popular. A sleeping car is put on the train leaving Los Angeles, and when the train goes through Tehachapi in the night this car is set off so the members of the party complete their night's rest. Breakfast and dinner are served in the clubhouse, which adjoins the land offered for sale. Returning the party leaves Tehachapi at about 3 p.m., reaching Los Angeles at 7:45 p.m., giving eight hours to look over the lands and adjoining orchards.

On the first excursions, as a matter of accommodation, the company took care of people who were coming to Tehachapi on business or pleasure trips, but since the movement of actual land seekers became, so heavy, the use of the car has been limited to people going to investigate the lands with a view to buying.

The price of tickets for these excursions is $2.50. Tickets can be obtained only at the office of the Sharer Investment Company. This price includes railway fare both ways, sleeping car berth and meals while at Tehachapi.

SUMMER RESORT DEVELOPMENT.

Watch Tehachapi boom as a summer resort during the coming hot weather. Every day we hear from some one who has known of this beautiful region for years, and who tells us that it is the most delightful, coolest place in California in summer time.

PRODUCE ASSOCIATION TO BE FORMED.

With fully six hundred acres of Tehachapi irrigated land to be cultivated in general crops between rows of trees, it will be necessary to make arrangements in advance for the sale of the crops. Preliminary steps have been taken for the formation of a Producers' Association. The markets for potatoes, cabbage and similar Tehachapi specialties are being investigated by one of the best commission firms in the State, and Tehachapi farmers will be carefully advised what varieties to plant, and when to put them on the market.

Another Opportunity

Consolidated Securities Company is just starting out. Its shares (alike to all) are ONE DOLLAR ($1.00) each. The terms are 2½ per cent monthly and only 10 per cent down, and will be until 100,000 shares have been sold, which will be in a very short time. They are founded upon Securities that are SAFE, if anything in Los Angeles is Safe, Consolidated Realty Company shares and other rapidly increasing assets being the foundation. This company has over $300,000 of highly profitable business in hand, out of which liberal cash dividends are assured. You are invited to investigate fully and thoroughly. The way is open.

You can also buy CONSOLIDATED REALTY COMPANY shares, which participate, share and share alike, in the surplus earnings of Consolidated Realty Building, at $140 a share on terms of 10 per cent down and $5 a share monthly, under a GUARANTEED Income paid in GOLD of 7 per cent per annum. February 1st the price advances to $145, March 1 to $150, and soon again to $160. These shares will be worth fully $200 in another year, based upon the steady growth of Los Angeles and the rapid development of Hill Street now going on, into the principal retail Mining in the Great Southwest.

Goldfield.

OLD WORKINGS TO BE WORKED.

Bullfrog West Extension to Be Reorganized.

Fire Protection for Property of Consolidated.

Considerable New Activity in Goldfield Mines.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

GOLDFIELD (Nev.) Jan. 19.—California holders of large blocks of stock in the Bullfrog West Extension have decided to reorganize after a lapse of two years so as to derive some profit from an investment that at one time promised to net them fortunes. In the reorganization all holders of stocks in the original company will have a chance to participate. Wm. T. Cochran, J. Sheppard, Jr., and Wm. Teague of Fresno, with Thomas K. Code of Rhyolite, have taken over the West Extension and also bought the Eclipse mill. The first payment on the mill has been made and funds provided for starting work at an early day. Some additions will be made to the mill in order to increase its capacity from thirty to forty tons a day. Code has the record of treating Bullfrog ores for the low rate of $4.60 per ton, which should leave a substantial profit for the new owners. There is a quantity of ore on the dump and the showing of milling ore in the mine is sufficient to keep the mill running for six months.

Two new leases have been granted on the Sandstorm Kendall in Goldfield and operations have already begun on blocks five and seven in addition to the company work which is progressing under the direction of Engineer H. K. Simpson. On block seven Tony Hill and associates are working through old lease workings from the bottom of a shaft that is down 400 feet on block six. The first work will be near the surface to determine the drift and the shoot of the ore body which once made this property famous. J. Berryman, E. F. Gordon and B. E. Davis are the other leasers. Berryman had charge of the clearing up of the old Kinkead mill at the foot of Columbia Mountain, some time ago and is reputed to be one of the best posted engineers in the district.

GOLDFIELD BELMONT.

On the Goldfield Belmont they are struggling against water which the company is trying to bulkhead with fair success. This accounts for the suspension of shipments. As soon as this is mastered the sinking in the winze will be continued to the 400 level at least before another station is cut. There is a good tonnage of excellent ore blocked out in the mine and this will be handled in the most economical manner. A peculiarity of the Belmont is that the deeper workings are as dry as a bone except in a few places where water seeps from the 300 level, but this does not amount to more than ten mine buckets a day. Below the 350 level the winze has followed a course near the wall nearly vertical and at times has broken into the ore for a few inches and there are constant and convincing indications that the ore body increases in dimensions as depth is reached. A lease has been granted to Cremer & Erickson on the Quartzite claim of the Belmont and the lessees who have been operating a lease on the adjoining Bulldog group, will proceed at once to drive from the 135 level of the Bulldog shaft to a point on the Belmont but a short distance away, where they will open a working shaft of good dimensions and proceed to sink to greater depth to search for the northern extension of Quartzite vein from the Black Butte which is thought to traverse this ground. Electric power has been installed on the Bulldog and it is rumored they have some good looking ore.

On the Vernal the north drift which has followed the Belmont vein for several hundred feet is nearing the No. 2 shaft, which will become the company's main working shaft. The first lift in the new shaft will be sunk to the 200-level, where a station will be cut and lateral work started to explore the vein on this level while sinking is continued to depth. From indications where work is in progress it is believed that the ore shoot opened on this level will be found within 100 feet or less from the main shaft on the 200 level, as the ore apparently pitches to the north at this point and toward the shaft.

J. K. Turner, consulting engineer for Al D. Myers, of Los Angeles, will hereafter act in the same capacity for the Black Butte Mining and Leasing Company, an organization of prominent Goldfield mining and railroad men, now operating from the main shaft of the Diamondfield Black Butte. Recent surveys of the work performed by these lessees indicate that the northwest cross-cut has passed nearly under the old stopes on the 150-foot level and there is every indication that it will be picked which this work is being carried on level it will afford a large area of stoping backs and will be of the greatest importance, not only to the leasing company but to the parent organization. The main shaft from which this work is being carried on, is of three compartments, well timbered, and is one of the best shafts in the district.

DEVPLOPMENT WORK.

On the Puleverde claim of the Jumbo extension, adjoining the Merger and Clermont mines, development continues in a manner and on a scale calculated to determine the value of the ground and to demonstrate the character of the vein at depth. Lessees will begin at once to explore the Gold Coin claim of the Jumbo Extension group, adjoining the Daisy north of Diamond field. Walter Norris and R. P. Myers have secured a long-time lease and will begin to sink the old shaft near the southern extension of the Belmont vein.

On the Consolidated the company is giving more than customary attention to the question of fire protection. The company has over fifty miles of timbered underground streets besides valuable surface property which has to be protected. The equipment embraces everything from helmets to hand sprinklers and it is estimated that the appliances, including reservoirs for a water reserve, involve an outlay of $250,000. It is said to be the most perfect fire equipment in Nevada. Claude Maxwell, for seven years assistant chief of the Goldfield fire department, will be in charge.

Reports from Lucky Boy, near Hawthorne, credit the Alamo with a strike of phenomenal ore on the 900 level, where a ledge of almost pure silver has been opened. This mine recently changed hands, having been acquired by the Tonopah Mining Company as part of its plan of enlarging the scope of its operations so as to take in other properties that promise to perpetuate the life of the company when it well have passed its sphere of usefulness in Tonopah.

The Great Western mine at Hornsilver has come back after a silence of almost a year with a shipment of lead silver ore that runs over $115, according to the sampler returns from a carload lot. The ore came from the old Chute lease within a few feet of where work was stopped when the backers of the lease surrendered their holding. Development shows the shoot is 200 feet in lenght, with about thirty inches of high grade.

BISBEE DISTRICT.
PROSPEROUS YEAR.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

BISBEE (Ariz.) Jan. 19.—The current year is expected to be the most prosperous ever known in this district. It is evident that copper is going to 15 cents and better, a figure which will warrant the operation of a number of mines now closed down. The Copper Queen now is working about 2000 men, a greater number than has been employed for several years past. The company will utilise its enlarged smelter capacity at Douglas for custom ores, for which there has been no particular desire heretofore. The new Dallas shaft of the Copper Queen is down about 1800 feet and lacks only about 100 feet of the total depth aimed at. Progress in sinking has been phenomenal, as much as 200 feet having been done in a single month. No difficulty appears to attend the operation of any of the Bisbee mines by reason of gas or fire, and the Lowell shaft of the Copper Queen is again being used for lowering miners. A denial has been given a report that the Copper Queen was about to resume Sunday work.

Material is beginning to arrive for the new Calumet & Arizona smelter at Douglas and 100 men now are employed in excavating and grading.

There are rumors of a possible agreement by which the Calumet & Arizona Company will assume a part of the expense of unwatering and pumping the Denn shaft. The Denn was flooded several months ago, when pumping was suspended on the 1800 level of the Junction shaft of the Calumet & Arizona Company, for the Denn Company is hardly in shape to take upon itself the task of pumping for the entire Bisbee district. Only a short time before the Denn closed down, its worth as a mine was demonstrated and there could be no doubt that its operation would add very much to the wealth of the district, provided some equitable plan were devised for handling water which drains into its lower levels.

Success has attended operation of the concentrator of the Paradise Mining and Milling Company in the Chiricachua Mountains and the mill is to be enlarged. The ore handled averages about $12 to the ton before concentrating and the concentrates are worth about $40.

OPTION HAS EXPIRED.
EXTENSION OF TIME REFUSED.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

TUCSON (Ariz.) Jan. 19.—An extension of time has been refused on an option held by the Victoria Mining Company upon the Greaterville placer claims of the George B. McAhney estate, the reason being the existence of unpaid bills amounting to about $2000, including wages of laborers and accounts for supplies. The petition for the extension bears the name of ex-Mayor Eugene E. Schmitz of San Francisco, who is a heavy stockholder in the concern.

The Sussex mining claim in Dos Cabezas district, together with some adjoining property, has been sold by Mrs. Nettie Noble to Charles and W. J. Davis for $10,000.

INDUSTRY IS GROWING.
PRODUCING QUICKSILVER.

The latest bulletin issued by the United States Geological Survey devoted considerable space to the production of quicksilver in California, showing that its value for the past year was almost $1,000,000. In detail the bulletin says:

"The production of quicksilver in California in 1911 was 19,131 flasks, valued at $880,217, a gain of 1920 flasks and $79,733 compared with the output of 1910. This increase was made notwithstanding the completion of the clean-up at the old Napa Consolidated mine in Napa county and the falling off in output of several other producers, and is due chiefly to substantial increases in production at the New Guadalupe and New Almaden mines in Santa Clara county. The New Idria mines of San Benito county, the largest producers in the western hemisphere, continued their important output, producing nearly half the quicksilver yield of the country in 1911.

"In Colusa county there was a nominal output from the Manzanita mine. In Lake county the Helen mine yielded an increased production, but there was a falling off in output as a result of the final clean-up at the Great Western mine. In Napa county the Aetna and Knoxville mines both increased their production, but the clean-up at the Napa mine had been completed in 1910 and for this reason there was a considerable decrease in output for the county. In San Benito county there was a decreased production from the New Idria mine and an increase from the Esmeralda properties, the net result being a falling off for the county output in 1911. In San Luis Obispo county also there was decreased output, but in Santa Barbara there was a small output, all an increase from operations at the Los Prietos mine. In Santa Clara county there was a marked increase in production from both the Guadalupe and New Almaden mines and a small production from the Comstock. In Sonoma county there was increased production from both the Culver Baer and Cloverdale groups, but in Trinity county the output from the Altoona mine decreased."

Angelenos After Rising Sun.

Thomas Wilkinson, a Los Angeles mining engineer, recently arrived at Arastraville, Tuolumne county, to examine the Rising Sun mine. Arrangements have been made for the unwatering of the property and a thorough examination of the workings will be made. It is understood prominent capitalists of the Angel City plan to take over the group and inaugurate vigorous operations. The Rising Sun has a good record as a producer and with a strong company in charge is expected to again become a valuable property. The veins are said to be of good size with fair free-milling values in gold. D. A. Porter, of Los Angeles, is the present owner.

STEEL DREDGE FOR NATOMAS.

First Boat of Its Kind Ever Built in California.

Moisture and Insects Damage the Wooden Hulls.

Mayflower Group Acquired by Nevada Miners.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 19.—Dredge No. 10 of the Natomas fleet is rapidly nearing completion and will go into action in April. The boat will be the first steel-hull dredge ever built in California, and will operate in the Folsom dredging field. It is of the close-connected bucket type, equipped with buckets of fifteen cubic feet capacity. The hull is 150 feet long by fifty-six feet wide with a depth of 10.5 feet. The total weight of the hull approximates 920,000 pounds, or about one-half the weight of the ordinary wooden hull. The monthly capacity of the new mammoth is placed at about 450,000 cubic yards of gravel.

The great dredge is being constructed for the Natomas Consolidated of California, the greatest dredging corporation in the world, by the Yuba Construction Company. Steel dredges have been previously employed in the Yukon, Alaska and tropical fields, but have hitherto received little attention in California. The destruction of 2 dredges by fire during 1911 and the growing scarcity of desirable timbers convinced the Natomas people that steel was the best material for future dredges, and it is probable that other companies will emulate the example. The first cost of a large steel dredge will not exceed that of the wooden boat, and in some cases will be less. The employment of steel has attracted the attention of dredge builders to the Hercult electric iron smelter, and the large production of California iron and steel will naturally encourage the construction of steel gold-boats in the California fields.

The wooden hull has fallen into disfavor in tropical fields because of the great damage done by wood-eating insects and the rapid decay of the hulls under the severe climatic strains. The latter factor has also encouraged the employment of steel hulls in the far North. In California the excessive moisture in the main dredging districts damages the hulls after a few years of service, while it is becoming exceptionally difficult to obtain desirable timbers for the new mammoth fifteen cubic-foot boats.

The launching of the new boat will give the Natomas Consolidated ten of the best gold-boats in the world. The company is operating in the Folsom and Oroville fields. It is estimated the production for 1911 amounted to approximately $3,000,000 Considerable Southern California capital is interested in the company.

Angelenos Examine Climax.

The Climax group, near Stent, has been recently examined by engineers for Los Angeles capitalists, and it is expected a deal will be closed shortly, whereby the mine will pass into the hands of new owners. The Climax is one of the old Tuolumne properties that made a good record in past years, but of late has been neglected because of the financial condition of the owners. The property lies in the noted Stent district, where some of the best properties on the mother lode have been opened. The ore is free milling and values are readily recovered with little effort. The values are somewhat low, but this is balanced by the large dimensions of the ledges.

Acquires Mayflower Group.

J. W. and W. B. Daniels of Wonder, Nev., have bonded the Mayflower group for a reported consideration of $40,000. They have also bonded the Seminole group for a good sum. It is understood a substantial cash payment will be made in both instances early in March. The Daniels are reputed millionaires and have large interests in the Wonder district. The Mayflower group comprises several patented claims, embracing 120 acres. The main adit and a series of drifts has exposed the vein for about 1500 feet. The quartz is low-grade, averaging around $10 per ton, but is free-milling. The vein is also several feet wide. Some equipment has already been purchased and it is understood a modern plant will be erected if developments prove satisfactory. The Seminole has been developed to a depth of nearly 500 feet and has been worked at various times. Strong veins have been exposed and the property shows much promise.

Dredging in Trinity.

Three dredges are about to go into commission in Trinity placer fields and numerous tracts of valuable dredging land have been recently acquired in the Carrville, Trinity Center, Weaverville and other districts by powerful interests. The Trinity Dderging Company will soon have its new dredge in action near Lewiston. This company controls valuable placer holdings extending from Lewiston to Minersville and is composed largely of Southern California people. The dredgable deposits have been carefully examined and it is believed the company will rank among one of the most profitable dredging ventures in the State.

The Alta Bert has its 7.5-foot dredge ready for action and the dredging of ground will soon be in full swing. This boat formerly operated in Siskiyou, but has been completely overhauled and modernized. The Poker Flat Company is soon to commence work with its Marion dipper dredge at Poker Flat. It is again rumored that interests connected with the Butte Creek Consolidated Dredging Company are planning the dredging of valuable deposits in the Trinity Center section. Representatives of other strong interests recently took options on valuable placer deposits in the Carrville and Weaverville fields. Considerable Los Angeles capital is known to be back of recent activities in the probable dredging enterprices.

Conditions Have Improved.

[The Spectator:] Once an old Scot weather prophet at Whittinghame informed Mr. Balfour that "It's gaun to rain seventy-two days, sir."

"Come, come!" said the statesman. "Surely the world was entirely flooded in forty days."

"Aye, aye!" was the response, "but the world wasna' sae weel drained as it is noo."

El Segundo's new railroad—

Is Almost Completed!

Only a few more days--and then-- well you'll see town lot prices and acreage soar way up--and you'll be saying --"If I had only grasped the opportunity and taken one of those acres or lots before the rise."

Just 5 months ago El Segundo town lots were first placed on the market. The opening sale broke all records. Hundreds of people bought lots; scores of families prepared to move in. Today El Segundo has a population of several hundreds. It has substantial store buildings; street work and cement work on many streets is finished. The mammoth reservoir is completed—a reservoir which would supply the needs of a city of 10,000 population. The Standard Oil Refinery is operating. A large number of men are regularly employed at good salaries. El Segundo Home Builders—the building company—has contracts for 40 new houses, mostly for refinery Employees.

El Segundo has a weekly eight-page paper. El Segundo has prosperous merchants and happy citizens. This "City That Must Be Built" is climbing right up. It is the fastest growing new industrial city in Southern California. El Segundo's fame is spreading. We receive newspaper notices every day—many from far away points. Undoubtedly many investors are getting ready to join the ranks of the "Profit Makers" in El Segundo. Why don't you?

There is room for you in El Segundo. "The City That Must Be Built" wants substantial citizens. The broad acres adjoining the town are waiting for wide-awake energetic settlers who will raise produce and poultry for the El Segundo market. There is good demand all the time.

Out of one acre you can get several town lots. Be a subdivider. Acres sold on small payment down, $10 per month. Lots $350 up.

UPS AND DOWNS OF COPPER ORE.

Prosperity and Adversity in Interesting History.

This State to Figure in a Great Revival.

California Will Benefit by the Panama Canal.

In 1880 Lake Superior Copper sold in New York City for 25 cents per pound. In 1886, it sold at 9 4-5 cents per pound. The fall was due to a great increase of production, which was not accompanied by any increase in consumption.

From 1873 to 1885 the increase in the copper product of the world was 97 per cent. The countries most notably contributing to this increase were the United States, Spain and Portugal; the increase in the case of the former having been from 23,000 tons in 1879 to 74,053 tons in 1885; and in that of the latter from 32,677 tons, to 45,749, in the same period.

Copper at 10 cents a pound in New York City entailed a loss on the producers, and in many instances mines were closed. The Montana Copper Company, with an annual product of 8,000,000 pounds of pure copper, entirely suspended operations; and the Anaconda Company, with an annual product of 36,000,000 pounds, shut down twenty, out of twenty-eight furnaces and discharged most of its hands at the mine. In Chili, production in 1885 was diminished 10 per cent.

In Germany the great Mansfield mine, which reported gross profits in 1884 of 5,675,000 marks, sustained a loss in the operation of 1885 of 653,338 marks. For the years 1881-83 the great San Domingo mine in Portugal paid annual dividends of 12½ per cent.; in 1885 the annual rate was reduced to 3 3-4 per cent.

Other agents than increased production of copper, the result of opening new mines, were influential in causing a fall in the price of copper. Owing to improved processes in mining and smelting and reduced rates of railroad transportation, the cost of producing and marketing copper was greatly reduced.

In the Lake Superior mines $5.50 per ton was paid in 1867, for stamping and washing; in 1885 the expense had been reduced to 47-31 cents. Between 1876 and 1885 the cost of manipulating the rock was reduced from 8.45c per ton to 1.95c. The cost of refined copper at the mine in 1876 was 15-42c per pound, and in 1885 it was 8½ cents.

The cost of refining, freight, commission and office expense, on Arizona copper produced by the large companies, will average 2½ cents per pound. The cost of mining and smelting is not less than 9 cents. Copper at 12 cents in New York will about clear its cost; at 14 cents it will pay handsome dividends.

CORNER IS ATTEMPTED.

In 1887 the low price of the metal had tended to enlarge the sphere of its uses, the visible supply had fallen off, consumption had gained upon production and new sources of supply were not opened. At this juncture the Societe des Metaux of France undertook to corner the copper market of the world. It succeeded so well that in three months it advanced the price of copper more than 100 per cent. Chili bars, which sold in London on October 1, 1887, for £39, 15s. per ton were quoted on January 1, 1888, at £85. In March, 1889, the syndicate broke down, and in thirty days the price of copper fell in London from £80 to £40 per ton.

Since then the price of copper has fluctuated accordingly as its production has exceeded or fallen below its consumption.

The price of copper has never affected the product of the United Verde mine belonging to Senator Clark, in Northern Arizona, for the gold in the ore has more than sufficed to pay all cost of mining reduction and transportation, and part of the gold and all of the copper in New York was clear profit. Arizona and Sonora in a few years became rivals of Lake Superior and Montana, as producers of copper and some years since the electrization of trolley lines throughout the United States produced a demand that sent copper up to 26 cents a pound. New mines were opened, old ones reopened, and Arizona had a copper mining boom. All of a sudden the boom collapsed. Copper fell with a crash, to 12 cents per pound in New York, where it remained until a few weeks since, when it rapidly advanced to 14 and 15¾ cents per pound.

COPPER REVIVAL.

At the later price there is a fair profit in copper mining in mines in Arizona and Sonora situated on or near a railroad, and a revival in the copper mining industry there is now in progress.

The principal copper mining in California at present is in Siskiyou county. The coke used in smelting is brought by rail from San Francisco and the copper pigs are sent to the Bay City by the same route.

A railroad is projected across the mountains a comparatively short distance to the harbor at Crescent City. This road will pass through a large copper field, which has been untouched for many years. With the completion of the Panama Canal, smelters at Crescent City can be supplied with cheap fuel, and pig copper can find cheap transportation to New York. Northern California will then enter the field as a producer of copper as a competitor of Montana, Arizona and Lake Superior.

ALASKA DREDGING.
INTERESTS ANGELENOS.

There was a well-attended meeting of the stockholders of the Budd Creek Gold Mining and Dredging Company in the I. W. Hellman building last night. The meeting was called for the purpose of listening to what W. W. Johnson of the Union Construction Company of San Francisco had to tell about the development of this kind of mining on Seward peninsula, where the property of the Budd Creek company is located.

Johnson's company has built a number of dredges which have been installed on Seward peninsula during the past three years and what he had to say was based on actual experience and the figures which he quoted were the results which had been obtained by this method of mining. Johnson said there were twenty-six dredges in operation last year and that a dozen more would be shipped up this spring and before the close of navigation next fall.

The most conspicuous success was the Wild Goose dredge, which was working on Upper Ophir Creek in the Council district, which had a gross output of $240,000. This dredge handled an average of 2000 yards per day, at a cost of 12 cents per cubic yard for the season, but which will be reduced to 10 cents this season. As much as $25,000 was cleaned up on an eight-day run, but the average was above $1000 per day for the first 130 days of the season.

The Blue Goose Company's dredge on Lower Ophir had a much better season this year than last and showed a gross output of $90,000 and was still running when Johnson left. The Alaska Dredging Company is operating one dredge on Gold [illegible] Creek and one on Warm Creek, at a cost of 10 cents per yard. Some of their ground ran as low as from [illegible] to 50 cents, and yet a good profit was made.

Charles Kimball of San Francisco is operating three sluice box dredges on the peninsula and had a cleanup of over $200,000. His gold is coarse and easily saved. The gravel averaged about 85 cents per yard. This type of dredge handles about [illegible] yards per day and the cost set up ready to run is $13,000. Others [illegible] with the same success.

The directors of the Budd Creek Gold Mining and Dredging Company have decided to give Johnson the contract for their first dredge, which will be shipped up by the first steamer in the spring. This company is composed almost entirely of Los Angeles men, who sent the general manager of the company, J. D. Campbell, to Alaska in June of last year to make a thorough examination of the property which the company had under option. Campbell's investigations were so satisfactory that the corporation was formed immediately upon his return and substantial progress has been made towards raising the required amount of money for initial first dredge and other expenses.

WICKENBURG DISTRICT.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

WICKENBURG (Ariz.) Jan. 19.—The operations of the Big Blue Mining Company started off the present year with considerable activity. The arrival of the mill and crusher and the removal of the big engine from the Goddard Mining Company's plant to the mines on the Hassayampa River have kept the teaming facilities of this section busily employed.

This company without a doubt will have its concentrating plant in shape to do business within a very short time, as the lumber for building operations has been steadily going forward for the past thirty days and the tables are already housed and the foundations complete for the [illegible] portions of the mill. The movement of the six and ten-horse teams hauling these great pieces of machinery makes the town of Wickenburg look more like a mining supply point again.

BUICK WELL IS STILL FLOWING.

North Midway Gusher Is Not Yet Under Control.

Report that Water Has Got Into First Well.

No Date Set for Meeting of Independent Agency.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

BAKERSFIELD, Jan. 19.—The Buick Oil Company's well No. 3, in North Midway is still flowing at the rate of 8000 or 9000 barrels per day, and is no nearer control, apparently. Most of the oil is being saved in the sump, but beyond keeping the heavy hood of timbers over the casing to smother down the stream of oil and gas and prevent it from shooting through the casing the well is following its own untrammelled will.

On the same section the Buick's well No. 1 is flowing about 1500 barrels of liquid, but water has broken in and the product is an emulsion similar to that which came from the Lakeview for a long time, and is unfit for commercial use.

The Belridge well No. 16, the latest gusher in that district, is flowing at the rate of 1400 barrels, and well No. 15 is making a little more than half that amount. Both wells are under control.

In connection with the doings of these recent additions to the list of gushers, no little interest is being taken in the question of what the Lakeview will do when the Union succeeds in opening it up again. The broken casing which was found at a depth of about 100 feet below the level of the ground has been connected with new lengths that make the string intact at the upper end, at least, and when a suitable derrick is fitted up there will be nothing to prevent sending down the tools to explore the lower depths and find out what stopped the stream of oil that flowed so long.

Not a few oil men are hoping that it will be a long time before the Union opens up the extinct gusher, preferring uncertainty to the possibility of starting the well flowing again at a rate that could not be controlled. It is pointed out that the long rest which the gusher has enjoyed may have resulted in an accumulation of gas in the cavern, which is supposed to exist at the bottom of the hole, and this gas may start something when it is released. It is the history of gushers that they gain force when they have been sanded up or capped for a considerable time, and the Lakeview probably will prove no exception.

The Coronation Oil Company, which proved the presence of oil sands far out on the Maricopa flat by its well on section 4, 11-23, is preparing to pull back the casing and make another effort to cement off the water which is ruining the well and menacing the adjacent territory whose value is demonstrated.

The Sunset Security on section 29, 11-23, after losing a lug from an under-reamer and having no end of trouble in consequence, is again making hole around the 2700-foot mark. In trying to get past the lost lug the eight-inch casing was pulled back and forth until it was broken in two. After trying to drill out a section of the broken pipe a charge of dynamite was put in the bottom of the hole that jammed things up and stuck the upper section of the casing fast. It was finally loosened, however, and everything is now going smoothly with a clean hole, and the casing within thirty-five feet of the bottom of it. The string now weighs about forty tons, however, and so soon as suitable formation is encountered it will be landed. Gas in considerable quantities is coming from the shale in which the drill is now dropping.

The Maricopa Visalia, a lessee of the Sunset Security, is drilling at 2900 feet, and expects to strike oil within a few hundred feet more.

The Maricopa Northern, which went down to a depth of 3300 feet, in its well No. 2, for the purpose of testing the deeper strata, has pulled back to the first sand which is being perforated at 2800 feet. Nothing was found at the lower depth.

No date has yet been set for the meeting of the directors of the Independent Oil Producers' Agency, and President St. Clair, who has been in Bakersfield on other business, said that he was not yet able even to approximate the time when he will call the new directors together. The delay is occasioned by the fact that the arrangements for the organization of the storage company are still incomplete, and it is not desired to bring the oil men together twice.

NOTICE IS SERVED.
SOUTHERN PACIFIC LANDS.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

COALINGA, Jan. 19.—If the Southern Pacific Company is not making a huge bluff there may be exciting times in the Coalinga field next week. On January 4 C. A. Hively, manager of the K. T. & O., was instructed by the high officials of the company to notify George Roberts and the United Development Company that unless all of their personal property was removed from land held by the Southern Pacific within ten days they would be forcibly ejected from the land.

Roberts stated that he would take no orders from anybody except the United States courts, and that if it comes to a forcible ejection he will be on the spot with sufficient armed men to take care of his property and claims. He says if necessary he will put a thousand men upon the property and buy several gun stores to properly equip them for any kind of an attack.

The time allowed the United Development Company to move expires tomorrow, and if the Espee is not bluffing they will probably make some sort of a move by Monday, and Roberts has been planning to outflank them in any move they might make. Hively had nothing to say regarding the matter, as it is being directed from the head offices of the company. Hively has served notices many months upon Roberts, directing him and his company to vacate the land, but Roberts has never paid any attention to the notices. He has obtained instructions from his attorney, Francis J. Heney, to combat any move made by the Espee, and he says he will do it.

Roberts stated that his company has already expended over $300,000 upon the property and that he does not intend to give up without considerable of a struggle. As Roberts is determined to stay on the land and go on with development work, there may be a repetition of the Muscle Slough affair of the early eighties unless the Southern Pacific is bluffing.

It was learned today that the K. T. & O. is planning considerable development work on 7, 21-15, and will probably start work in the near future if the flow of the Canadian Coalinga well keeps up. This well is being watched by K. T. & O. men, and they believe that they can get an enormous production of the light oil on the section adjoining that of the Canadian.

It is also rumored that Thomas O'Donnell is preparing to do considerable development work on 1, 21-14, on account of the showing being made by the shallow wells on 2. This, however, could not be confirmed, as O'Donnell is in the South.

C. H. Allison arrived from Taft yesterday to construct two water filtering plants for the Zier Oil Company, one for each battery of boilers. The process is known as the Keystone Pressure Filter, and it takes all of the scale forming properties out of the water used for boiler purposes. The water is chemically worked in the plant in such a manner that the scale forming minerals are changed from solution to suspension form, and are then taken out of the water through a filter. Allison recently erected a plant for the Mammoth company in the Midway field, which gave the best satisfaction, and it was this test that resulted in the ordering of the two plants for the Zier.

CONSOLIDATED MIDWAY.
NEW COMPANY IN CHARGE.

The Consolidated Midway Oil Company, which has had a tempestuous career on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange for the past two years, has sent out notices that the property of the company has been transferred to the National Pacific Oil Company. This arrangement was decided upon at the annual meeting recently held at Phoenix, Ariz.

The new company is organized under the laws of California, and now that the stock is subject to an assessment it is believed such a move will be the order of the day. The Consolidated owed about $175,000.

MIDWAY FIVE COMPANY.
WELL BREAKS LOOSE.

W. T. Wheatly, vice-president of the Midway Five Oil Company, who is now in the field, telephoned to the local offices yesterday that the No. 1 well, which had been making about 600 barrels of oil a day, broke loose Friday and is flowing at least 4000 barrels a day.

NEW COMPANY'S PLANS.
GETTING OIL PROPERTIES.

The Seaboard Oil and Transit Company, a corporation which began business on the first of the year, reports that the amalgamation of the properties which it was organized to take over is progressing more satisfactorily than was expected. During the first fifteen days of the new company's existence control was secured of a large percentage of the properties in question, and the company expects to have all of these properties under one management before the end of the month. The company has also had a large number of applications from additional companies to take over their properties through an exchange of stock.

While it is too early to name all of the properties which may be taken over by the Seaboard Oil and Transit Company, the following is a list of those the consolidation of which is already under way: Forty-two acres at Coalinga (deeded land,) 440 acres in Devil's Den oil district (deeded land,) twenty acres in North McKittrick oil district, 400 acres or more in North McKittrick oil district, forty acres in Sunset oil district, forty acres in Maricopa oil district, twenty acres in Sunset oil district, fifty acres in Kern River oil district, 640 acres in Ventura county, sixty acres in Newhall district (deeded land,) seventy acres in Newhall district (deeded land,) 3000 acres or more in Topila oil district of Mexico.

MINING CONVENTION.
MEETING AT SPOKANE.

The Northwest Mining Convention, under the auspices of the Mining Men's Club, will be held at Spokane, Wash., February 15 to 17 inclusive. Among the subjects to be discussed are mining laws, leasing vs. freehold, mining in forests, mining investments, water power development, metallurgical economies, wastes and losses, and various other topics.

Among the speakers of national reputation who have already sent in their acceptance are Governors Hay of Washington, and Hawley of Idaho. Seattle, Tacoma and Butte will send strong delegations, and the Arctic Club of Seattle will be represented by delegates and will provide a speaker to present the Alaskan situation from the standpoint of those interested in the development of that vast mineral territory. James H. Lynch, S. W. Kemper and Senator H. A. Gallway and others will represent the City of Butte, and one of these men will place before the convention a resolution in favor of an increased coinage of silver dollars at a mint to be located in the Northwest, and will ask the convention to endorse an aggressive move of a national character in favor of such legislation by Congress.

As this convention will be a representative gathering of mining men from all the mining States west of the Mississippi River, it is fair to presume that any action taken on questions of needed legislation will have weight with the State Legislatures, and with Congress at Washington. All papers presented by the principal speakers will receive consideration in detail, and the broadest discussion will be permitted on all phases of the mining industry.

Novel Experiment.

The Yuba Consolidated Gold Fields Company, operating thirteen dredges in the Yuba River field, has adopted a novel method to lessen damage by moisture to the woden hull of No. 13 dredge. Six tons of salt have been placed aboard the boat to absorb moisture, and results are said to be satisfactory thus far. The excessive moisture in this field speedily decays the wood and seriously menaces the life of a dredge. Three California dredges were wrecked last year by weakened hulls, and if the new idea proves completely successful salt will probably be largely employed on other gold boats in the State.

Oodles of Oil.

OIL BULLETIN JUST ISSUED.

Petroleum Output of Country for Past Year.

Geological Survey's Expert Gives the Figures.

California Fields Largest in the World.

Dr. David T. Day, the government's petroleum expert attached to the Geological Survey, has just issued a bulletin dealing with the production of petroleum in the United States, exports, marketing conditions and other details of special relevance. The report in full follows:

The production of petroleum in 1911 increased slightly over the record-breaking figures of 1910; moreover, the industry assumed a steadier condition, owing to the absence of the very disturbing incidents of 1910, such as the bringing in of the Lakeview gusher and other great wells in California. The trade had also accustomed itself to the unusual wells in the Caddo oil field of Louisiana. The following table gives a comparison of the final figures of the United States Geological Survey for 1910 and the estimated output for 1911:

	1910. Barrels.	1911. Barrels.
Appalachian field	31,995,315	28,000,000
California	73,010,560	81,000,000
Kansas and Oklahoma	52,157,288	56,000,000
Louisiana	6,841,395	10,000,000
Texas	8,899,266	9,000,000
Miscellaneous	35,661,976	33,000,000
Totals	209,556,048	217,000,000

The most striking feature of the year in the petroleum industry was the development of the Electra oil field in Northern Texas.

The total production for the United States is between 215,000,000 and 220,000,000 barrels. The gain in a single State—California—was greater than the net gain shown for the country as a whole, the usual decline in the older districts offsetting the increase in the Middle West and South. Once more the refining interests and marketers of fuel oils, etc., have by strenuous efforts almost compensated the increased production by bringing about an increase in consumption. There is no longer much doubt that a plentiful oil supply will be afforded for many years; rather, the general feeling expressed by the question, "Where will oil break out next?" is a disturbing element.

FOREIGN MARKETS.

A valued feature in the work of finding use for the great output is the restoration of a better market condition abroad. The exports have increased very satisfactorily. Another outlet is due to the general recognition of the fact that asphaltic oils, which have been a drug on the market, make the best surfacing material for macadam roads.

The petroleum trade as a whole has suffered of late from two antagonistic conditions. First, there has been an oversupply due to the sudden development of great fields first in one part of the country and then in another, until confidence became shaken as to the possibility of maintaining a satisfactory price. This condition has had an unfavorable effect on production in the older settled districts which have passed the gusher stage and yet are capable with fair prices of maintaining a reasonable output for many years. Second, the trade has been constantly handicapped by the fear lest the big producing districts should wane as rapidly as they have waxed, and leave a supply far below the capacity of the huge industrial plants designed to utilize such veritable floods of oil as have characterized late years.

For two years, however, discoveries of oil fields of great size have followed one another so closely that doubt has become conviction that the supply is abundant for years. It cannot be denied that the quality of geologic deduction has so changed for the better, thanks to more exact and intelligent field investigations, that the geologists' estimates of the oil resources are now more than generally accepted by the oil producers and users. The common expression "Oil is everywhere," is a daily exaggeration of the idea that the oil supply may be depended upon.

For just about a year the oil trade has been developing under this new conviction of a sufficient oil supply, which has especially affected the consumer. The tendency to substitute oil for coal in many industrial establishments is growing rapidly. It is further encouraged by the possibilities of still greater economies by burning oil in internal-combustion engines. Its advantages long known in the manufacture of fine glass are being heeded. It has been adopted by the navy and its use increases on the railroads. Oil is being taken seriously.

During the year stocks in general have declined except in California. In the Appalachian field and in the mid-continent field they remained stationary. In Illinois there are about 21,000,000 barrels in storage, compared with 27,000,000 in 1910. The stock on the Pacific Coast is estimated at 40,000,000 barrels, compared with only 33,000,000 barrels at the close of 1910. In neither year is account taken of such producers' stored oil as has not been sold or even carefully measured, but is chiefly contained in open reservoirs.

ADVANCE IN PRICE.

In the Appalachian field the pipe line price of $1.30 a barrel has prevailed steadily throughout the year, at the end of which the price of oil of Pennsylvania grade was raised from $1.30 to $1.35 a barrel. This is the first advance in price since March, 1907. In Illinois the changes have been as follows: At the beginning of 1911, 60 cents a barrel was paid for light oil and 52 cents for heavy oil. Light oil was raised on May 2 to 63 cents and on June 14 to 65 cents. The heavy oil was raised to 55 cents on May 2.

The Mid-Continent field began the year with oil at 42 cents a barrel and on January 2 the price was raised to 44 cents. On May 2 this was changed to 46 cents, on June 14 to 48 cents, and on September 15 to 50 cents.

In California the prices were held at 30 to 65 cents, according to quality, with higher prices for oils near the Los Angeles market.

In oil-well drilling the most significant advance has been in the increased popularity of the rotary drilling method and its adoption, with modifications in regions where the "standard rig" had prevailed, especially in California. The modifications include, chiefly, the installation of costly but efficient combination rigs where the plant contains a complete system of standard tools and even its own engine and boiler equipment and also a complete rotary rig. Another modification consists in the use of certain patent rotary bits for drilling through very hard, flinty limestones, cements, etc. As a last resort these are all temporarily set aside by the standard rig, especially when boulders are encountered.

In oil storage large concrete reservoirs have found favor in California.

In transportation the use of rifled pipes and the practice of heating thick oils while pumping have been extended with good results.

The improvement in manufacturing processes tends in the direction, first, of heat conservation, by preheating the oils by the waste heat of the vapors in the condensation tanks; second, of the distillation of crude oils clear to coke without transferring the residue or tar to special stills, and third, of "topping" or "skimming" oils to take off the gasoline or gasoline and kerosene from crudes which are used chiefly as fuel oils. A tendency is also evident toward obtaining larger yields of gasoline and the light products from crude oils by partial cracking processes.

GASOLINE FROM NATURAL GAS.

The production of gasoline from natural gas has made rapid strides and the process is evidently successful when applied to most natural gas from oil wells. An interesting development has been the extraction of oils of low boiling point from wells by attaching a vacuum pump to the well casing and causing the oil to distill out with the gas. It is condensed again at the atmospheric pressure. The gasoline thus obtained is, of course, heavier and more valuable for general use than the lighter products.

Greatly improved conditions in the export trade of all petroleum products characterized the year 1911, in remarkable contrast to the depression in 1910.

According to the Bureau of Statistics of the Department of Commerce and Labor, the exports of crude oils increased from about 165,000,000 gallons for the first eleven months of 1910 to 183,000,000 gallons for the corresponding period of 1911; of naphthas from about 92,000,000 to over 130,000,000 gallons; of illuminating oil from 861,000,000 to 1,025,000,000 gallons; of lubricating oils from 150,000,000 to 164,000,000 gallons, and of residuum from 113,000,000 to 125,000,000 gallons.

For every product the exports in the first eleven months of 1911 not only increased over those of 1910, but even exceeded the quantities exported in the twelve months of 1909, before the decline took place.

Prices for exported products, which had declined to extremely low points, recovered rapidly, especially in the later part of 1911, and though they were not as good as in earlier years, the total values were greater than in 1910, or even in 1909.

Since oils were put on the free list imports of crude oil and certain products have become a feature of the United States trade, especially crude oil from Mexico imported into Texas and Louisiana ports. In 1911 the Bureau of Statistics for the first time chronicled the importation of gasoline, 7,639,125 gallons being imported, principally from the Dutch East Indies. In 1909 the importation of other oils, chiefly crude oil from Mexico, amounted to 3,831,295 gallons in the first eleven months. In the corresponding period of 1910 such importations had increased almost seven-fold; that is, to 23,924,571 gallons, and in the first eleven months of 1911 they had increased again to 48,216,167 gallons, worth $1,640,514.

MOJAVE COUNTY
MINING ACTIVITIES.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

PRESCOTT (Ariz.) Jan. 19.—The mines of Mojave county for many years were thought valuable only in silver. At present Mojave county is producing more gold than any other subdivision of the Territory, its golden product in 1911 approximating $2,000,000. The heaviest producers were the Tom Reed, $787,031, and the Gold Road, $675,540.

A milling plant is now about completed on the Juno mine at Chloride. In the same camp, shifting ground is causing much trouble in the well-known Tennessee mine, crushing the heaviest of timbers.

A Chilian mill is being installed in the Last Chance mine at Hualpai Springs, together with concentrating and cyaniding equipment, to handle ores sampling $25 to the ton in gold, silver and lead. The mine lately was visited by William Ochs, James Otis and James Connor of Long Beach, who are interested in the property

--Improved lands, with heavy stand of alfalfa--$150 per acre--ten years time to pay for it. On Chandler Ranch, in the early orange district of Salt River Valley, Arizona.

The photograph above shows Roosevelt Lake, eighteen miles in length, which supplies Chandler Ranch with an inexhaustible supply of gravity water. Roosevelt Lake is the reservoir of the great Roosevelt Dam project, which Uncle Sam recently completed at a cost of over $8,000,000. A government edict necessitates the dividing of the Chandler Ranch—the cream of Salt River Valley, Arizona—into farms of 10 to 160 acres. The government has ruled that water will not be furnished to any one person in the valley for more than 160 acres. The ranch is in the heart of one of the most prosperous fruit, vegetable, dairying and stock raising communities in the Southwest. This is not isolated land—it is in touch with the best of schools, churches, commercial and transportation advantages. Your profits from the alfalfa now growing on the land should easily meet your payments and afford you a comfortable surplus besides. This isn't like buying raw land and taking a chance on soil and water conditions. The water is there, and the alfalfa is growing. All you have to do is to cut your crop and sell it at the highest prices afforded throughout the entire Southwest.

You can have uncultivated land if you prefer it, at $100 per acre, with the same water privileges and on the same buying terms. Salt River Valley is famed for its early oranges and grape-fruit. It is one of the best early melon districts in the United States. As a dairying and stock raising section it has no equal. Deciduous fruits, dates, figs, etc., thrive to perfection here. Better olive land could not be found. Nearly nine thousand ostriches are now in the valley—the only large ostrich industry outside of Africa. In ten years the Roosevelt Water System will be owned and operated by the ranchers of the valley, who will then not only obtain their water absolutely free, but will also receive dividends from the sale of electrical power. We are conducting a large advertising campaign, with the result that orchardists, stockmen and agriculturists from California and all parts of the Pacific Coast are locating on Chandler Ranch. Nearly $300,000 worth of land has been sold in the last five weeks to California ranchers. Special excursion rates to the ranch four days each week. REDWOOD PULP KEEPS GRAPES.

Plant Industry Bureau Makes Important Tests.

California Grapes Keep for Over Three Months.

Best Flame Tokays Will Last Until Holidays.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—Secretary Wilson calls attention to the important advance accomplished this season in the progress of the table grape storage experiments being conducted by the Bureau of Plant Industry of the Department of Agriculture. Two carloads of Red Emperor grapes were packed and shipped by George C. Roeding of Fresno, Cal., for holding in cold storage in accordance with the results of the Bureau investigations, with a view to testing the commercial application of the work. The sale of these grapes occurred last week in New York and Chicago, where the fruit has been in storage for over two months, and very satisfactory prices were obtained, averaging $2.57 per drum or from 8 to 9 cents per pound.

The department grape storage investigations were begun six years ago with two objects in view: A study of the factors which affect the keeping qualities of table grapes while in transit and in storage, and the possibility of extending the marketing season of California grapes by holding them in cold or common storage with a view to the possible replacing of the imported fresh Spanish grapes with the California product. The importations of fresh grapes from Spain during the present season amount to nearly 900,000 barrels, which have sold at wholesale prices ranging from $2.50 to $7 per barrel, or from 5 to 15 cents per pound, the bulk selling at the lower price. Under ordinary conditions, most of the California table grapes must be marketed within a period of a little over two months and early attempts to hold them in storage for the holiday markets did not prove entirely successful.

CARE IS A REQUISITE.

The bureau investigations have shown the importance of handling grapes with care to insure their being packed in sound condition. It has also been found that it is impossible to hold the varieties of grapes that are commercially grown in California any appreciable length of time without a filler of some kind. The Spanish grapes are packed with a filler of ground cork. As this material is both scarce and expensive in California, special efforts were made to obtain a satisfactory substitute. Many different materials were tested but only one has thus far proved wholly satisfactory. This is redwood sawdust, which is a waste product of the California sawmills.

Much to the surprise and gratification of the department investigators, this material has proven even superior in many ways to the ground cork. It is found that the grapes hold longer and in better condition when packed with the redwood sawdust. Great pains have been taken to corroborate the results and the data have been consistent throughout. It was necessary to learn how to prepare the sawdust in order to have the grapes remain in attractive and salable condition. The sawdust must be perfectly dry and the finer particles must be removed.

SUITABLE VARIETIES.

A number of varieties have been under investigation, and naturally their behavior under storage conditions has been different. Of the varieties grown in commercial quantities, Red Emperor, Malaga and Flame Tokay have been found to hold best in storage. The length of time which these varieties may be held vary from sixty to seventy days for the Flame Tokay and Malaga, and from ninety to 110 for the Emperor.

In the commercial test of the application of this work during the present storage season the grapes were packed in drums holding about twenty-seven pounds, and the work of packing and shipping was done largely under the supervision of one of the Bureau representatives. The drums were forwarded from California to Chicago and New York under refrigeration, where they have been held at a temperature of 32 degrees in cold storage. The Emperors have proved to be the best for storage purposes and form the bulk of the grapes sold for the Christmas trade. The best grapes of Flame Tokay may be held until Christmas, but the ordinary run of this variety will not hold in first-class condition beyond December 1. The Malaga varies considerably in its behavior in storage, depending upon the conditions under which it is produced. Some lots of this variety have been held in first-class condition until January 1 in past years, while others are not safe beyond December 1.

The value of this work to the grape industry of California is apparent when the full significance of the extension of the marketing season is appreciated. The production of table grapes in California is increasing and unless some way can be found either to broaden the area over which the fruit may be distributed, or to lengthen the marketing season, the industry will be face to face with a serious problem of over-production. When it is considered that this country uses large quantities of imported grapes, the demonstration of the possibility of replacing the foreign product by one home grown is worthy of the most strenuous effort.

The possibilities of packing California grapes with the redwood sawdust filler for export are also recognized and efforts are being made to extend the marketing area by this means. A small test shipment of California Tokay grapes shipped to England was made during the past season and the fruit arrived in excellent condition. The sawdust pack in drums is well adapted to ocean transportation, because the necessarily rather rough handling in loading and handling aboard does not affect the grapes when packed in this way, while the ordinary open crates are too weak to withstand rough handling, and in addition the grapes deteriorate during a long trip unless a filler is used.

It is expected that a considerable number of carloads of grapes will be packed for storage next season.

There are great men who cannot spell, and small people who object to them. "Spell 'cot,'" said the teacher to the boy at the tail end of the class. "K-a-t," replied the boy. "Silly," replied the teacher. "Can't you spell cat?" "Well," replied the sensible boy, "what does 'k-a-t' spell?"

BUSINESS IS GOOD.

WHITTIER, Jan. 20.—In spite of the continued dry weather real estate and business in general is moving rapidly and building activities are continuing along the same lines with a notable increase in the number of the better grade of houses and business blocks.

Residence property along the slope of the hills continues in demand and is selling at prices far exceeding those of the boom days.

The business section of the city is expanding and each month sees some old building remodeled or torn down to make room for a new and better block.

Store rooms are in such great demand that every sort of building is being pressed into service, while new buildings are under construction in nearly every block.

Citrus groves in this and the Rivera districts are in great demand as the trees in these two sections were unharmed by the recent frosts.

A ten-acre grove of full-bearing Valencia oranges was sold this week by J. Howard Johnson for G. W. Goodell, near Rivera, for $22,500. The place was sold to the Rev. Sinces of Dennison, Iowa, for a home.

The price included the crop on the trees, which is estimated at $5000.

Another important sale made this week was that of a controlling interest in the Whittier Hardware Company to C. C. Barr, a late arrival from Nebraska. The deal was made by J. Howard Johnson for the reported consideration of $16,000.

Rich Ore In Tightner.

According to Nevada City advices another rich strike has been made in the Tightner mine, at Alleghany. The shoot was opened in a stope above the lower adit and ore of remarkable richness is reported in sight. Manager A. D. Foote of the North Star Mines Company is now in charge of the Tightner and arranging for more vigorous work. He confirms the report of a good discovery. The ten-stamp mill is running steadily on ore previously extracted. Attention is concentrated on the development work now going on from the lower adit. It is rumored that the plant's capacity will probably be increased before the close of 1912, as developments continue satisfactory. It is expected to strike the Red Star vein at an early date.

$100 moves forty families into homes of their own tomorrow

They will quit paying rent and join the thrifty ones at Rodgers Park. Take advantage of this opportunity to choose from 40 one-story, two-story and story-and-a-half homes; all different, all attractive. And they're on wide streets with 15-ft. parkings; trees and lawns are all in; gas, electric light, water, everything is ready for you at

Rodgers Park

Yes, and the values are fine. Buildings are sold at cost, absolute cost. Lots are full 50 feet wide, you get free the use of the adjoining 50-foot lot and an option on it for two years at its present price. You'll wonder how we can offer such bargains.

Rodgers Park contains 160 acres of as fine medium-priced Bungalow-land as has ever been developed in Los Angeles. It lies between Normandie and Vermont avenues, in direct line of the city's prosperous development toward the busy Southwest.

Rodgers Park lies high and dry. The city lies before and below you. Splendid view of the mountains. Streets are paved. Cement curbs and sidewalks. Public tennis court and playground, also 14 separate parks, all maintained by the Company. Model stores. Homes are strongly built — to last; 5-7 rooms. Splendid finish, hardware, fixtures, etc. Beamed ceilings. Attractive fireplaces. White enamel bathrooms. Sleeping porches. You'll be agreeably surprised in the tract and the homes offered. Come and see. Five-cent fare on yellow car line.

$100—and you move in

Of course, such an offer is not going to remain open many weeks or for many purchasers. Get in line NOW. Come out TODAY and make your selection. $28 to $30 a month keeps up your payments including the principal, interest, taxes and even your insurance. That makes it easy.

If you'd rather furnish your own plan or suggestions for one, we'll build to suit you—on our liberal terms, just like rent.

Or---buy a lot in Rogers Park

You never had the chance of buying a $600 lot to better advantage. Investigate this promising new subdivision. Get in at the present ground-floor price and reap correspondingly rich returns. Many of those who invested in lots in any of our former tracts had the opportunity of soon reselling at a good advance. Make YOUR start NOW.

How to Reach Rodgers Park

We'll be glad to have you come to our offices and ride out in an automobile. Or take a Florence Avenue car on Hill Street, between Third and Eighth to Florence Avenue, 10-minute service. Or take a Vermont Heights car on Broadway, south of Fourth to Seventy-sixth Street. Salesmen on tract. There's always a best early choice.

Big Land Opening—the Rush is On to the Great Workman Ranch—the Newest Subdivision on the

Van Nuys-Lankershim LANDS

There's nothing else like it. Only after weeks of negotiations and conferences were we able to secure the sale of this splendid ranch. This property was from the beginning reserved from sale. It was not included in the original offering of the Van Nuys-Lankershim Lands—but the immense demand for this fertile "close-in" land forced our hand. We HAD to have more land to satisfy this demand.

We urged the Developers of the Van Nuys-Lankershim Land to subdivide this ranch and place it on the market at once. Here it is—broad, fertile acres ready for the onward march of improvement—country estates, small ranches and fruit farms—5, 10, 15 and 20-acre tracts of the richest sub-irrigated land, right at the gates of this big city.

Hundreds of men, scores of teams and mammoth steam rollers are forging to completion the magnificent $500,000 boulevard—a beautiful driveway, centering the entire property and connecting with the paved streets of Los Angeles.

Note particularly that the boulevard and electric car line will run through the center of this new tract. Construction work has commenced. Cars are already running part way.

Get in ahead of the car and the boulevard. The "fence" is down, join the rush to the Workman Ranch.

BUY NOW—

Before the big improvements are completed—before prices double and triple.

Think of the opportunity this affords—to own a country estate or small ranch or for investment—the richest of land with wonderful improvements.

Peaches, apricots, walnuts, etc., grow here absolutely without irrigation.

You cannot afford to overlook this land opening. Come in and get more information. See the land our way.

OIL BURNERS FOR WARSHIPS.

NEVADA AND OKLAHOMA TO USE ONLY OIL FOR FUEL.

This Means that All Government Fuel Stations Must in Future Be Oil Stations—Will Prove Boon to Oil Operators of California—San Diego Station.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—It has been learned by Congressman Needham that when the new battleships, which are to be known as the Nevada and the Oklahoma, were designed, they were planned for the consumption of oil fuel only, no provision being made for coal even as secondary fuel.

This is a great step ip advance for the use of oil. It means that all fuel stations of the navy must in the future be oiling stations, whether they be coaling stations or not. As the naval vessels become obsolete at an alarmingly rapid rate, it will not be more than a decade, or perhaps two, before a coal-burning naval vessel will be as great a novelty as Nelson's old "fighting Temeraire," with its wooden bulwarks and iron guns would be today.

This means for one thing that there will be no more Pocahontas coal shipped around the Horn, and some of the millions expended for freight in that manner will go into the pockets of the California oil producers. This may grieve the Pinchots and other self-lauded conservationists, who may or may not own stock in the Pocahontas and other mines which supply the hand-picked coal the navy has demanded, but it will be satisfactory to the men in California who have been fighting to find oil and then to find a market for it. The industry will profit and the courage of the oil producers will be sustained and rewarded.

While the Navy Department is not saying much about its plans, it has admitted that it will change the plan for the fuel station at San Diego to make it an "oiling" station. It will probably put in oil tanks and pipe systems at California City Point, near San Francisco, where it has just completed a coaling station at great expense. There would seem to be good logic for the establishment of an oiling station also at the port of Los Angeles, and it would be very good logic to assume that a pipe line from the oil fields would supply this station and serve also as an outlet for surplus oil which could be shipped from that port to San Francisco, the Canal Zone, Hawaii—in short, to any port where a market might develop.

and who brought with them a motor truck, which will be used between the mine and Kingman.

A tramway is being built from the Rainbow mines to the railroad, capable of handling about ten tons a day.

Near the Santa Fe bridge below Needles is a large deposit of concreted gravel said to carry an average value of $2 to the cubic yard in gold. A number of claims upon this gravel deposit are being handled by H. K. Rosenberger of Needles, who is preparing to have some of the stuff milled, as it is not loose enough to be washed by ordinary sluicing methods.

An additional contract for 5000 horsepower has been made by the United Verde Copper Company with the Arizona Power Company, doubling the service of the latter corporation into Jerome. The electric company is about to present a proposition to the City Council of Prescott to furnish power for the pumps at Del Rio, where fuel now constitutes about the largest single item of the municipal expense.

J. H. Canavan, one of the best-known miners of Arizona, lately resident in Los Angeles, has returned to take charge of mines at Placeritas for a coast company. Mr. Canavan at one time was in charge of the Old Dominion mines at Globe.

Two heavy roasters, transferred from the old Rigby plant, now are being installed at the Humboldt smelter, which is to start again in a few weeks to work up a miscellaneous lot of accumulated ore. It is understood there are no plans for the resumption of regular work.

POSTOFFICE OPENED.
SEVERAL NEW HOMES PLANNED.

EL SEGUNDO, Jan. 20.—The new El Segundo postoffice has been opened and the amount of business being transacted is exceptionally large for a new town of this size. R. S. Holden has been appointed postmaster, and Mrs. Etta Reeves, assistant.

W. S. Stinnett of Globe, Ariz., has purchased a lot on Arena street and contemplates erecting a substantial bungalow. Mr. Stinnett and his sister-in-law, Miss L. Smith of Phoenix, Ariz., are also considering the erection of an apartment-house on their lot on Main street.

The El Segundo Home Builders Company has contracted with Mrs. Annie Bowes for the erection of a store building on Standard street. The company also reports the sale of lots to Standard employees, who intend to build residences at once. They are Frank S. Wilder, J. W. Tucker and Charles G. Henderson.

Ballona avenue, between Richmond and Concord, has been graded to sidewalk grade. Work has been commenced on the Harry Wright store building on Richmond street.

The Greek-American Land and Investment Company of Ventura purchased a lot on Penn street last week from W. H. Eastman.

W. I. Hollingsworth & Co. report that the new railroad will soon be completed and the announcement of the date of the formal opening will soon be forthcoming. They report also that there have been a large number of sales since the first of the year.

SALES INCREASE.
BUILDING CONTINUES ACTIVE.

VAN NUYS, Jan. 20.—Following the extensive programme of future improvements for 1912, outlined by H. J. Whitley, general manager of the Suburban Homes Company for the townsite of Van Nuys and the Van Nuys-Lankershim Lands, the number of sales made in the townsite by W. P. Whitsett, sales manager, through the month of January so far have been very extensive.

The business houses of this new town are all flourishing and reporting increased sales each month. Building activity continues, and during the month of December forty-eight carloads of material were shipped into the town and reports from the freight agent of the Southern Pacific indicate that the January business will be much larger.

Postoffice cancelations for the month of December showed about 30 per cent. increase over November. The telephone exchange building which is being erected here by the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company is well under way and service is promised within sixty or ninety days.

Seven days' sales as reported by the W. P. Whitsett Agency are as follows: Tohachi Shimshora, $400; F. R. Cyriack, $1768; O. W. Wilcox, $300; Wilfred Stalay, $400; F. D. Haddock, $2250; Miss O. K. Bell, $1100; F. R. Cyriack, $500; F. R. Cyriack, $800; Mrs. L. H. Myers, $2500; F. R. Cyriack, $1450; A. P. Prooach, $500; G. A. Bronson, $450; Joseph P. Burdick, $450; Harry Philippi, $500; G. A. McKee, $1100; Mrs. Francis Smith, $450; William Ryan, $562; Mrs. Alice A. Thomas, $500; Lillian B. Streeter, $2250; Eugene Glare, $750; G. A. Bronson, $500; Miss A. V. Scloch, $500; Paul E. Hoffman, $500; Mrs. Olive F. Amis, $562; T. T. Crippen, $550; Miss Mary L. Myers, $500; Mrs. J. Fine, $1000; Foe Licke, $600; Fred F. Pipher, $550; F. Levitt, $300; J. M. Tucker, $1100; Ira Hageman, $800; Mary and Ann Connelly, $1000; H. G. Tsukishima, $300; J. C. Guggolz, $1050; Selon Gavary, $300; E. L. and Laura A. Muerner, $750; Emma L. Muerner, $300; Laura A. Muerner, $300; William H. Vaughan, $1000, and Mett Siebery, $975.

TO FIFTH AND SPRING.

The L. J. C. Spruance Company, which has been engaged in the realty business in the Pacific Electric building for several years, has moved to new offices at room 1002, Title Insurance building. The loan department will be in charge of F. M. and R. O. Simpson.

Alfalfa Land With FREE WATER

$70 Per Acre

If you want any of this land at $70 per acre, you had better immediately arrange to be a member of either of our two special excursions this week. This splendid alfalfa land, with its excellent free water supply is going—AND GOING FAST. Bear in mind that the water supply is absolutely free, and there is a great big supply of it. Don't think that because this land is exceptionally low priced that it is not equal to any alfalfa land in the State. Richer soil than this does not exist. It is of sedimentary origin and is now covered with a thick growth of tule plants which prove it. The location is ideal—one of the best sections of California's most famous valley. Right adjoining this land, alfalfa and dairy ranchers are becoming wealthy. Alfalfa and dairying combined form the most substantial and reliable farming industry in the West today. There is no limit to what you can do with cows and good alfalfa land. This tract is in the natural gas district, and a fine quality of gas, suitable for light, heat, fuel and power, is available by boring wells at moderate cost. All excursionists this week will be given an opportunity to examine the scores of priceless producing gas wells owned by the ranchers of this district. We honestly believe that the gas feature alone is worth the price asked for our land. We have been selling hundreds of acres of this select land to many of the most experienced ranchers in the West. Make arrangements to go now. Only a short, interesting trip from Los Angeles. You will have a good time, and you will see the kind of land you have always had in mind, at the price you always wanted to pay for it. Write, telephone, wire or call for excursion reservations immediately, as we can only accommodate a limited number of people.

WHEN

You want to buy or sell real estate; borrow or lend money, you need the services of a competent real estate broker. The time has gone by when one man with a good general idea of real estate can fill the bill. There is too much ground to cover.

This is an age of specialists and you cannot get the best service—the kind you want—at least the kind you ought to have—except from a specialist. In other words you want to talk to an 100% efficiency man. You cannot get 100% efficiency from a man who is trying to do two or more things at once, and you cannot get the best service in real estate except from a man who is concentrating in one special field. For that reason no man in this office attempts to cover more than one department, but he does cover that field thoroughly.

FRESHMEN WIN TRACK MEET.

Victors Over Sophomores by Good Margin.

Torrance Breaks Two-Mile College Mark.

Throop Almost Achieves a World Record.

BY OWEN R. BIRD.

The freshmen galloped away with the interclass meet of the University of Southern California, yesterday afternoon on Bovard field, by the score of 42 to the sophomores' 36. Before the relay, the freshies were only one point ahead of the second-year men, but in this final thrill of the day, walked away from the field, running the score to the above mentioned winning total. The Prep's got 30.

There were some good showings made by the men on the various teams, and also some of the old-timers showed real come-back stuff. One of the features of the afternoon was the work of Bill Trager, the old Stanford star, who is now attending the Law College. Bill waltzed out on the field with his collar and tie nicely fixed and his stick-pin at a rakish angle, but won the shot-put nevertheless, with a heave of forty feet two inches, with the sixteen-pound pellet. Clement was awarded the first place, as he got the pill out 48ft. 7in., but this was with the twelve-pound weight, so the real moral victory goes to old fire-eating Trager.

Torrance broke the college record for the two miles, and showed rare form in the long grind. His time of ten-thirty, four-two, was great for this early in the season. The old record was ten forty-nine. Torrance should give Bill Sturgis a hard race for a time if Pomona and U.S.C. come together.

Right now, before going any further, I would like to draw attention to young Mr. Hodge of the freshman class and late of the San Bernardino High School. This youngster is a brother of Harry Hodge, the famous 440 man, and when he gets into action he looks a dead ringer for the other members of the family. His form is excellent, and with a little more work under Cromwell, he should prove a quarter-miler of renown in the South. He won the 440 yesterday under wraps in 54 flat, and took third in the 75-yard dash. In the 220 relay he was so far in the lead that he did not have to extend himself, but looked to have the extra kink all right.

In the 75-yard dash Waldo Throop came back and was only one fifth of a second behind the world's record, dipping off the distance in 7 4-5 seconds. He was easily four yards in front of Hansen, who took second. Throop ran with more form yesterday than he showed during all of last season, and if the little speedster will only train for the remainder of the present season, he may be able to get back into the 9 4-5 class again.

Again in the 150-yard dash Throop showed a clean pair of heels to the field, and romped home an easy winner.

Ben Ward took the high stick with Taylor coming a close second. This latter party showed some unheard-of form and made the long-legged Ward move several feet before he won the race.

Tipton, a freshman from the wilds of Anaheim, won the half-mile, showing good form in turning the trick. He runs easily and with a long stride that will gain ground in any race.

Taking the meet as a whole, the showing was above par for the first two weeks of the season, and the U.S.C. aggregation need have no fear of making a great showing against the North when the day of the meet at first rolls around. Of course, the time in the different events made in the meet yesterday can be taken for no definite criterion for the real

FORTUNE IN GOLD FOR BIG ROAD RACE.

Ten thousand dollars as a prize for the Santa Monica road race. This is the purse promised by A. M. Young if he decides to handle the meet. With the Motor Car Dealers Association back of the big event a purse of this size will mean not only the greatest auto race meet ever held in the West, but one of the biggest road races in motor history should be pulled off on Saturday, May 4, at Santa Monica.

While there has been a certain amount of secrecy about the negotiations for the big race, a prominent auto dealer yesterday admitted that Young has been asked to take charge of the big event. Young refused to be quoted.

Unless he positively refuses to manage the meet an urgent demand will be made by the many interested in the big contest and by a host of Young's friends, who are determined that the prominent dealer shall conduct what promises to be the most sensational road race.

Over National Highway.

MOTOR TOUR FROM YUMA.

Three Hundred Miles of Road to Be Covered.

Fifty Autos Join in Great Road Pageant.

Ruts and Bun Bumps Are Smoothed on Route.

BY BERT C. SMITH.

Fifty touring cars are to be sent over the Banning route of the proposed national highway this week. Tomorrow morning the cavalcade will pull out of Yuma, with The Times Special in the van of the long procession. The first night stop will be at Brawley. This will be the first tour ever conducted over the desert route which has been prepared for the tour.

Early Tuesday morning the cars will pull out of Brawley for the tour up the southern shores of the Salton Sea. This part of the route has also been prepared and Tuesday at noon the tourers will be given a barbecue at Indio. That night Palm Springs will be reached and Dr. Coffman will care for the travelers.

At 7 o'clock Wednesday morning the cars will be started for Riverside. Lunch will be served at the Glenwood Inn at 1 o'clock Wednesday, and that afternoon the machines will roll into this city, where the tour will end. This route is to be followed carefully and the roads from Yuma to this city have been scraped, the sand has been brushed and the ruts filled.

With road enthusiasts pulling for a national highway in earnest, the good roads convention will be called to order in this city Thursday morning. John S. Mitchell, president of the Ocean-to-Ocean Highway Association, will be in the chair, and delegates from all the towns along the route chosen at Phoenix will be in attendance. The question of the hour will be State appropriation for the national highway.

The sessions are to be held in the Chamber of Commerce. Secretary Frank Wiggins is heartily in favor of the plan and business men of Los Angeles are expected to take an active part in the discussions which are to follow. Invitations, which will include the Boards of Trade, Chambers of Commerce and other civic bodies in the towns and cities of Southern California, have already been sent out.

There is to be a united effort to settle the question in a way that will mean unity on the one great project. With the farmers and autoists of Southern California working in earnest for a national highway, those in

STRIPPED SIMPLEX FOR SANTA MONICA.

One of the fastest motor racing cars known to the motor industry is to be entered in the Santa Monica road race May 4, if the plans of a prominent young millionaire in this city are carried out. Negotiations were opened with W. H. Carlson of the Simplex agency, yesterday, which may result in a 1912 Simplex "90" being shipped to the Coast in time for the big road race. The car will be stripped and will have a special racing body. Bert Dingley is to be the driver.

When the Simplex man wired the factory he received the news that the car can be sent here in time for the big road battle. The deal may be closed this week.

This car if started in the Santa Monica road races would be shipped back to Indianapolis for the Decoration Day races. Oscar Werner, the Simplex agent, who has been in the East for the past three weeks, is on his way to this city and should be here Tuesday.

Thrills Thousands at Big Aviation Meet.

Glen Martin Carries Mail to Compton Office.

Five-Mile Race Proves an Exciting Event.

BY R. A. WYNNE.

Out at Dominguez Field where the greatest aviators of the world gathered yesterday and before the eyes of 14,000 enthusiastic spectators, a beardless young man with mild blue eyes figuratively fractured every article in the law of gravitation and performed evolutions in the air which make the remembrance of the great Paulhan, the daring Hoxsey and others pale into insignificance.

Lincoln Beachey, in a Curtiss biplane, did these things.

Driving at the rate of eighty miles an hour, Beachey turned and twisted, wove in and out, tilted and bucked, dove for the ground and righted himself when a half moan of fright was escaping the specta-

FREDDIE WELSH HURT AND ANOTHER FIGHT GIVEN.

BY DE WITT VAN COURT.

NEITHER FREDDIE WELSH nor Bobbie Waugh met yesterday in their scheduled twenty-round bout in the Vernon Arena. Welsh was said to be sick in bed as the result of a strained tendon in his neck, aggravated by a severe cold. Waugh would not fight because he was not offered enough money.

In place of these two Kid Dalton and Roscoe Taylor were advanced from the second prelim to the dignity of a main event, and Dick Wheeler and Young Ketchel were added to the card to take the place of Dalton and Taylor.

There were practically three knockouts.

The first preliminary between Dick Wheeler, Freddie Welsh's trainer, and Young Ketchel, started at 2:30.

Ketchel is a wrestler and is trying to break into the fighting game. He is a muscular, fine-built fellow, but knows little about the fighting game, and like all wrestlers is muscle-bound. Dick was too clever, and near the end of the round knocked Ketchel down three times with right hand punches to the jaw. Ketchel did not know enough to take the count. The last time he was knocked down George Blake very properly stopped the one-sided contest.

Louie Rees and Eddy Patten then entered the ring to try their hands in the lightweight elimination contest. Rees was seconded by Clar-

STATE HIGHWAY IN FOOTHILLS.

National Route Could Follow This Course.

Towns Along Upper Road Are in Line.

Men of Affairs Swing Into Road Boosters.

BY M. F. PALMER.

The building of the State Highway is ever a live topic, and being a member of The Boosters for Good Roads of the Auto Club of Southern California, and chairman of the Good Roads Committee of the Chamber of Commerce of Claremont, I have driven extensively by automobile over the highways of nearly the entire State. I feel in a position to say conclusively why the State Highway should be built along the Foothill boulevard from Los Angeles to Redlands.

One of the foremost reasons that has stood out pre-eminently before me is the fact that the Foothill boulevard, as it is now routed, caters to the largest population, and therefore we have the greatest amount of wealth, which means that the residents along the Foothill boulevard have in their possession the greatest amount of valuable property and consequently pay the heaviest tax. The foothill route connects with more towns; in fact, it is practically a succession of villages and towns all the way from Cucamonga to Los Angeles amid rich orchards.

Upkeep of the highway is another important matter, and we find along the scenic drive a sameness of roadbed that tends more toward lasting wear than any other one thing. Material with which to renew and rebuild the road is scattered along this route in great abundance, and of the best quality, and more accessible, and I firmly believe if any other route is taken than that of the Foothill boulevard there will be more expense incurred.

Another point to be touched upon more emphatically, perhaps, is the scenic value of the Foothill boulevard. We have touched upon the material advantage of the Foothill boulevard, which appeals to the business man, but there is another side which appeals to the tourist, and that is beauty.

BY W. A. JOHNSTONE.

The Foothill boulevard, leading from Los Angeles and Pasadena eastward, traversing the richest citrus district in California, is the logical and most serviceable route for this part of the California highway system now in process of creation.

Paralleling in its whole length the beautiful Sierra Madres, overlooking fertile plains and connecting a score of prosperous towns and cities it joins at its eastern terminus with the main roads now leading northward through the El Cajon Pass to the Mojave and Upper Colorado valleys and the rich Nevada mining districts.

This leading through the San Gorgonio Pass by Beaumont to Imperial Valley, Yuma and Phoenix, and to the inland road to San Diego, determining its value and importance as a commercial as well as a great touring highway.

BY W. S. PALMER.

The question of the selection of the Foothill boulevard as the connection between the western end of the Yuma-Banning route and Los Angeles would seem to admit of little argument for the following reasons:

More than 75 per cent. of the population of this great valley are residents of the foothill towns and adjacent cultivated territory. A still larger percentage of the material resources of the country come from the orange and lemon groves which line this route.

The material for road building and maintenance is close at hand and readily obtainable and has already been utilized in large measure by some of the more enterprising foothill communities, notably, Claremont, which more than ten years ago set the pace for her neighbors in the matter of rock-paved roads. In striking contrast with the poor construction and indifferent maintenance of the highways of the lower portion of the valley. The Pomona-Colton road has the advantage in the matter of distance, but a dozen added miles are nothing when the arguments in favor of the foothill-road are considered.

BY DR. F. W. THOMAS.

When choosing from two routes, foothill and valley, for our portion of the proposed State or national highway lying between Colton and Los Angeles, the preference seems decidedly in favor of the Foothill boulevard. This route parallels the mountain range all the way, and is lined on either side for the greater part of the distance by beautiful orange and lemon groves, which give a combination of picturesque scenery and charming beauty that leaves a lasting impression on the mind. This will always remain the popular drive that connects Los Angeles and Pasadena on the west, with Redlands and Riverside on the east, passing en route through more than a dozen thrifty towns and cities, with a commanding view all of the way of the rugged mountains on the north, and the fertile valleys on the south.

BY FRANK WHEELER.

An ocean-to-ocean highway is to be built. We want that boulevard to serve the needs of the largest number of people in Southern California. We should work together for this one big project, and when we have the necessary funds to start, work should be commenced at once. It cannot be started too soon for those who live in the towns along the Foothills boulevard.

Is this road to be built between Imperial Valley and Los Angeles for the benefit of these two places, or is it to be a State and national highway over which the tourist and homeseeker will travel and form impressions of this "sun-kissed" country?

For that reason it is important that topographic conditions should be studied so that the tourists may follow a route which is never obstructed.

The valley route will benefit Ontario and Pomona and, of course, will mean much to the nineteen towns along the foothills, between San Bernardino and Pasadena.

The great burden of taxation is borne by the orange and lemon growers, and the foothill districts pay the heaviest taxes.

In a few months the new viaduct over the Arroyo Seco will be completed west of Pasadena. This will open the extension of the Foothill boulevard direct to Santa Monica, making one of the grandest boulevards in the world.

RAMBLER LINE FAST AND FINE.

COWAN SELECTS GREYHOUND FOR STAR OF SEASON.

Pioneer of Auto Row Hustling Cars Out in Numbers and Is Prepared for Big Things With a Line that Is Pleasing—Factory Enlarged.

W. K. Cowan has received his largest consignment of Rambler cars and is cutting into the heart of the greatest year he has known since he has been in the business. Cowan is the pioneer of automobile row, who is coming into his own in earnest. He is pushing the Rambler seven-passenger "Greyhound" forward this season. It is one of the handsomest cars of his line.

In addition to the Greyhound Cowan has the two-passenger roadster, a car that is one of the most stylish ever turned out by the factory. The cross-country car, one of the lowest-priced of the Rambler line, is proving a great seller. The change in the Rambler radiator is radical, but is pleasing. The 1912 cars are by far the handsomest the concern has built.

Plans have been completed and contracts let for the erection of the new Rambler sales and service building, in the Back Bay district of Boston. work has already been started on the big Rambler service building for Chicago. The Boston building will be a four-story, fireproof structure. It will be 216 feet long, will have a frontage on Commonwealth avenue and set back 127 feet, with the open space attractively graded and laid out. This property has been leased for a term of twelve years.

A magnificent exterior is shown by the plan, the total floor area being 60,000 square feet, and this building will be used for showrooms, sales and service headquarters for Boston and vicinity. No expense will be spared to make the new building an imposing addition to the newer automobile district.

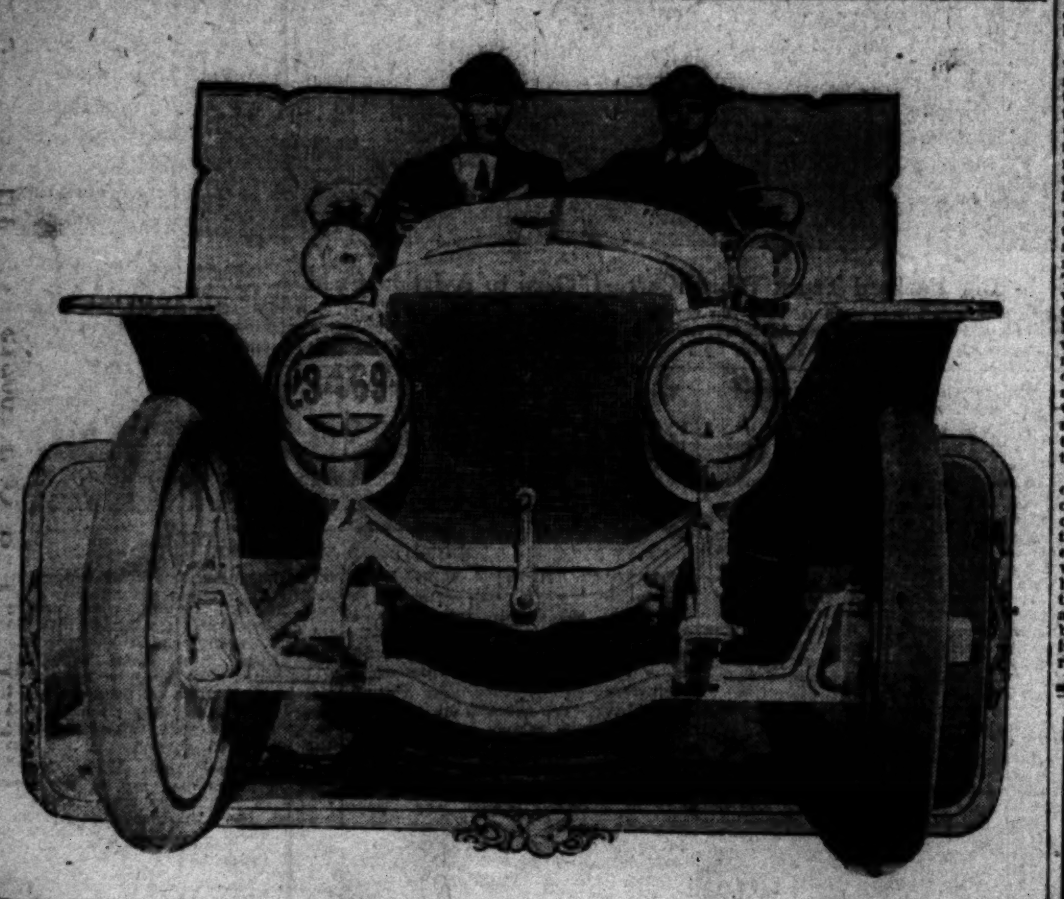
Everything will be so arranged as to give plenty of light and air, and at the same time make it as near fireproof as it is possible to have a structure of this kind. Work on the foundation will be commenced at once so as to have it ready for occupancy during June of this year.

The Rambler service building in Chicago will be one of the most complete in the United States. It is being erected on the northwest corner of Indiana avenue, and Twenty-third street, on a lot 150x165 feet. This property has been leased for a term of fifteen years.

The aim of the Rambler people is to give to their owners the most complete service that is possible. There are 700 Rambler cars running in Chicago now and this number is rapidly increasing. The service and second-hand car departments will be located in the new service building, while the principal salesroom will remain at No. 1008 Michigan avenue, just one block south of the Blackstone Hotel.

COAL TAR ROADS.

An inkling as to how far the actual production of coal tar will go in the improvement of roads may be had from British statistics on the subject. In 1889 there was an overproduction of the tar, and it was contemplated to turn it to use as fuel. Since then the tendency has been to reduce the tar production at the gas works, while the steel mills turn it out in ever-increasing degree. The coal output of Great Britain rose to 263,774,000 tons in 1908. Out of this total, 1,500,000 tons were used at the gas works. The total tar production was at the same time 1,100,000 tons, of which 750,000 tons came from the gas works, 150,000 tons from the coke ovens and 200,000 tons from the steel mills.



That New White Lozier,

One of the handsomest of the late-model 1912 cars. At the wheel is Milo Bekins, who made a record last week by selling four of the cars, and with him is Froman Speers, also of the local Lozier agency. The car is finished in white, has particularly handsome lines and a full equipment, which includes top, glass front, speedometer and seat covers. It is of the latest design and is one of the gems of the Lozier factory

ANOTHER BOOST FOR GOOD ROADS.

WALLER CHANSLOR FIGHTS FOR THE FARMERS.

Local Supply Man Is Alive to the Needs of the Smaller Towns and Would Not Have the City Take the Lion's Share of the Good Roads Work or the Benefits Therefrom.

"That work on California's new highways to be constructed with the $18,000,000 voted by taxpayers is soon to be begun, seems to be an established fact, according to latest newspaper reports," said Walter Chanslor of Chanslor & Lyon. "One-fourth of all the automobiles in the State are owned in Los Angeles county. Local motorists should not demand the same po artar of the money to be expended.

"It must be remembered that public highways are for the general public's use and hundreds of horse-drawn vehicles still are owned by many citizens who use roads the most. It is true that the advent of the automobile has made the good-roads agitation forceful, but the roads to be constructed are not to be looked forward to as speedways for motor cars. While every mile of road that will be constructed means added interest to motoring, and consequently the sale of more cars and their accessories, motorists must not try to get an undue advantage and 'kill the goose that lays the golden eggs.'

"This matter of good roads is Statewide, and many rural localities that are the arteries for the city trade need the greatest help. Los Angeles county is now spending several millions of dollars to construct highways, and many miles of excellent roads are already constructed. Let us work for the upbuilding of the rural districts in Southern California with the portion of the State's money that is to be used in road work, for it will all assist in bringing more trade to the southern metropolis of Los Angeles. The man in the country who owns valuable acreage will pay the bulk of the money for road building, and as his acres become more valuable, he will have the more money to spend, not only for pleasure cars but also for commercial cars, for the use of trucks and delivery wagons for farm work will increase 100 per cent. just as soon as good roads afford easy transportation for farm products from the ranch to the city."

Chanslor & Lyon, with their series of stores that supply automobile accessories to every automobile center on the Coast are in position, through the weekly reports submitted by traveling men, to keep in closest touch with the motoring situation. They have felt the pulse of the rural districts on the subject of good roads, and know that there is going to be but little antagonism if city motorists will keep hands off and allow the roads to be built that will benefit the greatest number of small towns and ranch owners. One or two so-called main roads will not do because there must be easy access to the big road arteries from all directions.

Chanslor has just returned from San Francisco, where he held a conference with many of the firm's subagents in California, and it was the consensus of opinion that the contemplated State highways would give a big impetus to the demand for motor cars and accessories from remote rural districts if a spirit of fairness is shown in the road building.

PREMIER ON DISPLAY.

Handsome Exhibit at Madison Square Garden Auto Show With Prairie Schooner as Star.

Probably no motor car makers in the country are better represented at the big Madison Square Garden Automobile Show than the Premier of Indianapolis. There are three Premiers and a stripped chassis in the Premier space inside the Garden, while three other Premiers, two regular demonstrators and the famous prairie schooner baggage car of the ocean to ocean tour of twelve Premiers, last summer, are on the streets, and still another Premier, a new 6-60 seven-passenger touring car is being exhibited in the palm room of the Hotel Martinique, on Broadway, opposite the new Pennsylvania Railroad station, near Thirty-second street.

The management of the Martinique gave the Premier the enviable privilege of placing one of its cars in the palm room of the beautiful hotel and acceptance was swift and eager. The Premier is the only car displayed there. The Indianapolis Premier representatives, including President H. O. Smith, Vice-President George W. Weidley, R. W. Macey, sales manager; John G. Monihan, advertising manager, and Ray McNamara, famous Premier road driver, who are at the New York show, are stopping at the Martinique and the individual Premier show there is continuous.

The picturesque Premier prairie schooner that is kept on the streets of Gotham constantly created a sensation and several times blocked the thoroughfares. The other Premier demonstrators supplied by R. M. Owen & Co., Premier representatives in New York, are on the streets giving demonstrations to prospective purchasers.

The Garden display of the Premier includes a five-passenger 6-60 Clubman, a 4-40 seven-passenger touring car, a 6-60 seven-passenger touring De Luxe, the latest Premier design with convertible closed or open body, and a 6-60 stripped chassis. The Clubman, De Luxe, and chassis are painted in fancy show colors of green and white and are finished in old Roman gold.

MOTOR TRAFFIC.

The ordinance designed to regulate motor vehicle traffic in Chicago, which has been presented to the City Council, makes many radical changes in the present law, and is believed to be the most comprehensive and fair measure that has been prepared. Mayor Harrison had a hand in its drafting, while the Chicago Automobile Club and other motoring organizations were consulted in preparation of its various sections.

¶ By purchasing a Stearns equipped with the Silent Knight motor, one obtains the latest and most improved design in gasoline propelled vehicles.

¶ The rapid strides this wonderful motor has made since its introduction three years ago is unequalled in motor history.

¶ It has replaced the Poppet type motor in the most prominent high-grade motor cars in the world.

¶ No commodity could equal this remarkable rise out of obscurity, unless it was based on the strong foundation of superior value.

¶ These facts you must consider if you desire the latest and the best.

¶ We would be pleased to demonstrate the Stearns-Knight to you.

38 Horse Power, Shaft Drive

Our Shaft-Drive Model is equipped with the celebrated Mea Magneto. The most striking feature of this magneto is the adaptation of the bell-shaped magnet which is shifted around the armature, carrying with it the timing mechanism and producing a spark of positively the same intensity throughout a range of 70 degrees. This is an important factor in obtaining a steady engine speed of 160 revolutions and a larger range up to the highest engine speed without using any other agent than a high tension magneto—a result which is accomplished with no complications and taking up less space than any magneto with stationary magnets.

MOTOR TRUCKS BUILT HERE.

Moreland Factory Turns Out Machine a Day.

Commercial Car Plant Now in Full Operation.

Designer Perfects His Own Freight Carrier.

Moreland motor trucks are a reality. After seven years of hard fighting Watt Moreland, designer and builder, has perfected a truck which is being built in numbers in this city. The first commercial truck factory on the Pacific Coast has been located in Los Angeles. The factory already is running to its full capacity and the demand for the commercial cars continues.

The growth of the commercial industry is remarkable. The success of this Los Angeles designer has been such that today Los Angeles has a factory which can turn out a one and one-half ton, a two, three, three and one-half, four, five and six ton truck on order. This means that the industry has taken a different phase as far as trucks are concerned. We have a plant of our own.

The Moreland Motor Truck factory has a capacity of one complete truck every working day. It has a flooring space of approximately one and one-half acres. Although it has been in operation only sixty days, the factory is being operated sixteen hours a day. Manager Moreland made several trips East in order to familiarize himself with the latest factory construction.

The Moreland factory is a one story structure, so situated that it gives the men at work a chance to direct operations in the best light possible. The building, from the roof to the sides, is prismatic glass, reinforced with strong building material and the floors are of concrete. Seven trucks were nearing completion in the factory yesterday and are to be delivered at once.

While in the East Designer Moreland studied carefully the different methods of truck manufacturers. He had an opportunity to figure the needs of the Pacific Coast. He is assisted by several of the leading transportation engineers and as a result his trucks have witnessed some of the severest tests to which commercial cars are subjected.

MANY STEELS.

Seventy-seven different kinds of steel are used in the construction of Moreland trucks. This steel ranges from the finest imported Krupp, costing $1.50 per pound to the common acid process, open hearth steel. These various steels have been selected after years of testing by the engineers of the association of the automobile manufacturers. These steels are the best obtainable for their particular uses and are used in only the highest grade trucks and automobiles manufactured in the United States.

Moreland himself has been experimenting and constructing experimental trucks here in Los Angeles for the past seven years, and today three one-ton trucks constructed by Moreland has been in service in Los Angeles for the past seven years, and are still in the ring.

WORKS HARD.

Five years ago Moreland saw the necessity of a cheap fuel for motor trucks and turned to California distillate as a substitute for gasoline. This was not particularly new as there are thousands of stationary and marine engines in California that are using distillate instead of gasoline for fuel. It has remained for Moreland after years of experimental work, to perfect the "Moreland Gasifier," which is used exclusively on Moreland distillate trucks.

The Moreland Company guarantees a saving of at least 60 per cent. in the fuel cost of Moreland trucks over any gasoline truck of similar capacity manufactured in the world. Moreland trucks are constructed in sizes ranging from one to six tons, they are fitted with all kinds of express bodies, dumping bodies, tank wagons that are special in design, special loading and unloading devices and have already closed several contracts for their special trucks.

HUPP R. C. H. GAS CAR.

A. E. Morrison Is to Become Western Sales Manager for the Hupp Corporation.

A. E. Morrison has resigned his position as factory manager of the Cole Motor Car Company of Indianapolis to become western salesmanager for the Hupp Corporation, and will have general supervision of sales of the Hupp-Yeats electric and the R.C.H. gasoline car in the territory west of the Rocky Mountains.

Few men in the automobile business have had wider experience, or are better or more favorably known than Morrison, who "broke into" the selling end of the business in 1897, when he went to the Pacific Coast to sell [illegible] bicycles. Morrison sold bicycles for three years and then associated himself with the Waltham Manufacturing Company, manufacturers of the Orient buckboard. Later he went with the Pope-Toledo Company, where he became sales manager. In 1902 Morrison opened a branch in Boston for the Peerless Motor Car Company, remaining in charge [illegible] years.

He then organized the A. E. Morrison Company, selling the Oldsmobile and Stearns cars in New England. In [illegible] he was badly injured while driving a Stearns racing car and did not get back into the harness again for nearly a year, when he organized the Boston Taxicab Service. A year later Morrison disposed of his interests in the business and went to California, becoming western salesmanager of the Pacific Motor Car Company, handling the Stevens-Duryea and Cole cars. Later he resigned to become factory manager of the Cole Motor Car Company at Indianapolis.

Just previous to leaving for Portland, Or., to take charge of the Coast business for the Hupp Corporation, Morrison was tendered a farewell banquet at the Columbia Club, Indianapolis, by the officials of the Cole Motor Car Company.

The instant popularity gained by the R.C.H. in the Pacific Coast territory and the certainty of heavy sales in this part of the country necessitated the [illegible] supervision of a man of long experience, wide acquaintance and executive ability, hence the selection of Morrison for this important position by the Hupp Corporation.

REGAL MOTOR TRADE FIRM.

FACTORY MAN TELLS SEVERAL IMPORTANT FACTS.

Young Man Is Leaving the Farm for the Greater Attractions of the City, but the Automobile Will Change Conditions by Bringing the Farmer Closer to the Metropolis.

"The automobile is an equalizing factor in the financial and political welfare of the country. It makes the United States less subject to a fluctuating market or a change of administration."

Such is the authentic statement received from a government statistician at the offices of the Regal Motor Car Company in Detroit.

"I find," writes the Federal official, "that in accord with the popular opinion to the same effect, there has been a depreciation in the number of people found in country homes and tilling the soil.

"My conclusion as to the cause of this is that the youth has found greater attractions, and the possibilities of a happier life, in settled communities, the result being that he has chosen to live in the city rather than on a farm.

"But the automobile, in my opinion, is going to be the means of rectifying these conditions. It is already proving itself the savior of the country home. It has long since been an accepted fact that the betterment of our general commonwealth rests with the farmer and not with the interests on Wall Street. The farmer is the backbone of the nation. If he succeeds, it can mean nothing more nor less than success to our country. Such being the case, it is logical to believe that the automobile is going to prove the means of making us a far more stable nation, less subject to depressions due to a fluctuating market or a change of administration."

KNOX FOR HONDURAS.

Negotiations have just been completed by cable by the Knox Automobile Company with the President of the Spanish Honduras for a five-passenger Knox touring car. Honduras is to open a fine macadam road ninety miles in length from the Pacific Ocean to the Capitol. HUDSON COVERS SANTA FE TRAIL ACROSS CONTINENT.

F. W. POTTER has driven from Brooklyn to Los Angeles in his Hudson touring car. He is one of the first to make the transcontinental journey by way of the Banning route. He followed the Santa Fe trail and after reaching Yuma took the roads as outlined in The Times and completed the journey without a mishap to his car.

One of the sad events of the journey came at a point thirty-five miles from Mecca. While Jack Hilley, who was driving the Hudson, went back to see if other tourists who were following needed assistance, Potter left his car, and in the darkness stumbled over an embankment and fell into a gulch. He sustained a broken leg.

He was hurried to the Good Samaritan Hospital in this city and yesterday was much improved. He was so far recovered that he stated that it is his intention to return over the same route in the same Hudson car. The trip was replete with thrilling incidents. Potter showed his nerve from the moment he started until he finished the long journey. In spite of the accident, Potter is as enthusiastic as ever for an ocean-to-ocean tour.

When he left the East, Hilley was told that it would be foolhardy to attempt to make the trip across the continent at this time of the year. He refused to listen to any of those who were so fearful, and with Potter in command, started for the West. From the moment the Hudson was cranked in Brooklyn until the car reached Mecca, Potter had the time of his life.

It would have been impossible to make the trip by way of the Oregon trail, because of the snows in the high Sierras. He came over the Raton Pass, when the other route was closed and found everything in fine shape, with the exception of the rocks along the way.

From one end of the Santa Fe trail to the other the tourists were greeted by enthusiasts who are helping to mold the sentiment in favor of the national highway by the Santa Fe route. The little Hudson "Thirty" was admired by many and was one of the few cars that have been driven over the route this winter.

At Phoenix, where the crew rested, the boosters there gave the car a great sendoff. When the Hudson reached Yuma information concerning the roads was easily obtained. Then at Brawley Potter and Hilley were well received, and all along the route to Banning the car was greeted by the men who hope to complete the national highway.

FAIRMOUNT PARK RACE.

Notwithstanding the assertion that "literary club members, financiers and physicians" would veto the annual race in Fairmount Park, Philadelphia, if it were put up to them, the contest will, in every probability, be held next October as usual. The Fairmount Park commissioners have considered the resolution offered by Dr. J. William White, calling for the abolition of the race, and have decided to ignore it, and permit the race to go on as usual. The Quaker City Motor Club has made application for a sanction to the contest board of the A.A.A, and has secured October 8 for the event.

Road-Building Work Now Done in Earnest.

Rincon Project One of the Big Things of Year.

There Is Promise of Much for the Coming Months.

BY FRANCIS MARSHALL.

Of all the improvements made in these days of great things, tending toward the comfort and pleasure of the greatest number of people, the chiefest is that of road building—it is so far reaching—it annihilates distances, and more than any other factor, it has put agriculture upon its present sound and profitable foundation. It has pushed the boundaries of cities to otherwise impossible dimensions, and it has made the fruit grower, the farmer and the rancher the intimate neighbor of his urban friend, enabled him to enjoy the advantages and pleasures of city life, and has brought him wealth with which to enjoy them.

There is small wonder that States and counties are in every direction making appropriations and agitating bond issues for the development and maintenance of good roads. This is the only means of developing the real values of the lands in this country, a veritable Garden of Eden. And if one wants one's Garden of Eden cold, it is easily obtainable. This instance will give an idea of the variety of climate that may be enjoyed in this most wonderful country—at a place in the mountains, within but two hours' ride over good roads, ice strong enough to support the weight of a man was found, while at the same moment, the city was basking in the balmy air of such a temperature as caused the poet of a less favored region to exclaim: "What is so rare as a day in June?" As far as known, this query has never been answered, but it might well be by the simple statement: "Any day in Southern California."

AUTO CLUB.

The most potent factor in the development of this road building sentiment has been, of course, the vast array of automobile owners. In the van of this army is the Automobile Club of Southern California, which has been built up into a splendid, powerful organization of nearly 4000 members, and which is growing fast daily under the able management of S. C. Geary, secretary; Standish L. Mitchell, assistant secretary, and a board of directors, composed of the following well-known business men of Southern California: Fred L. Baker, president; W. L. Valentine, vice-president; Henry W. Keller, Charles Wier, A. C. Balch, A. M. Goodhue, E. G. Kuster, Horace Miller, Fred W. Jackson, Frank Miller, John H. Fisher, C. C. Teague, P. H. Rice, W. S. Benchley and R. T. Off. These men, in their broad public-spiritedness, generously give their time and thought to the affairs of the organization without compensation other than the satisfaction which they always seem to take in the promotion of the best interests of the country.

It is a strong probability that a majority of the members, even, do not realize the honor that is theirs in belonging to such an organization as the Automobile Club of Southern California. The hanger furnished members, shows the license number and bears at either end the official emblems of the Automobile Club of Southern California, and the American Automobile Association, giving him a world-wide affiliation. Aside from the individual benefits to be derived by each member, the club's hanger displayed upon his car, is a badge of honor symbolizing to the world his public-spirited citizenship, his desire to assist in a purely unselfish manner in the development of the wonderful resources of Southern California, not only in his own vicinity but extending, through the automobile club as a clearing-house, his financial and moral aid to his neighbors.

HAS DONE MUCH.

The Automobile Club of Southern California has accomplished much to merit the gratitude of every resident of Southern California, whether he be a motorist, the driver of a horse, or travels the highway afoot. Take San Diego county as an illustration. During the winter months in flood season, all communication was cut off from the North. Three years ago the Automobile Club of Southern California, at its own expense, constructed and erected two channel iron bridges over the theretofore impassible washes.

Another instance is in the case of Santa Barbara and Ventura counties, between which lies the East and West Casitas Pass. This road, one of the most beautiful drives in Southern California, because of the nature of its soil, becomes impassable during wet weather to any but the most experienced drivers.

The automobile club called meetings of the Ventura and Santa Barbara motorists urging them to provide another connection with Los Angeles so that inexperienced drivers could get through without danger. The result was the Rincon road, on which contracts have been let, and the work actually started, although the full sum required is still some $6000 short. It was understood that Casitas was to be kept in good condition and Rincon was to furnish an alternative route.

The automobile club has explored, surveyed and promoted nearly all of the roads upon which work has been done during the past five years, both by valley and coast, between San Francisco and Tia Juana, Mex.; built considerable road and many bridges; erected all of the road signs, thus rendering travel by highway, comfortable and speedy, and also safe, particularly in the deserts, and provoked much county and State legislation favorable to the cause of good roads. There has been spent by the club in the past four years up to January 1, 1912, in the work of exploring, surveying, developing roads and erecting signs upon the roads in the southern counties of the State, and exclusive of large amounts appropriated for this purpose by the officers of the different counties in a great measure through the efforts of the organization, the sum of $59,574.34.

APPERSON CARS IN NEW HOME.

GARAGE TO BE BUILT ON PICO STREET SITE.

When First Shettler Started Desk Room Was Low on West Sixth Street, Now He Is Hustling for Space Blocks Away from Where He Made His First Sale.

The Leon T. Shettler Company began the building of a new garage on Pico street between Main and Hill streets last week and will be in new quarters by March 1. In speaking of the change in location from Grand avenue, where he has held forth for the last six years, Shettler calls to mind the fact that when he first started in the retail business here in 1902 his salesroom was on Sixth street, between Spring and Broadway, on the property now covered by the Trust and Savings Bank building. At that time, this location was considered to be a little too far south, and the rent a little excessive at $75 per month. Desk room on the ground floor in the same location could not be had today for many times that amount.

Joel F. Lindsay, who has for the past year or two been a member of the sales forces of the Leon T. Shettler Company, has accepted a position as city salesman for the Maxwell line. N. H. Williams, formerly of the local Ford agency, has accepted a position as salesman with the Leon T. Shettler Company.

H. W. Curtis, Pacific Coast representative of the Apperson Bros. Automobile Company of Kokomo, Ind., manufacturers of Apperson cars, spent a few days with the Shettler company last week. He has gone to Portland, where he will remain for three or four weeks and will then spend two or three months in Southern California, where he has decided to establish permanent headquarters.

The aristocrat of the Apperson line will be known as the "Bachelor," and will be on exhibition at the Shettler Company's place of business on Grand avenue, some time during February. This car, which has attracted so much attention in the eastern market, will be a semi-racer built on the regular Apperson "4-45" rabbit chassis.

It is a two-passenger, vestibuled car of low and rakish appearance, and capable of a speed of seventy-five miles per hour. Special attention has been paid to the riding qualities of this car, with the result that it will leave nothing to be desired in this respect. Of course, the gasoline and oil tanks will be at the rear of the front seat, above the frame, and will be placed high enough so that the car can climb a telegraph pole without pressure on the gasoline tank.

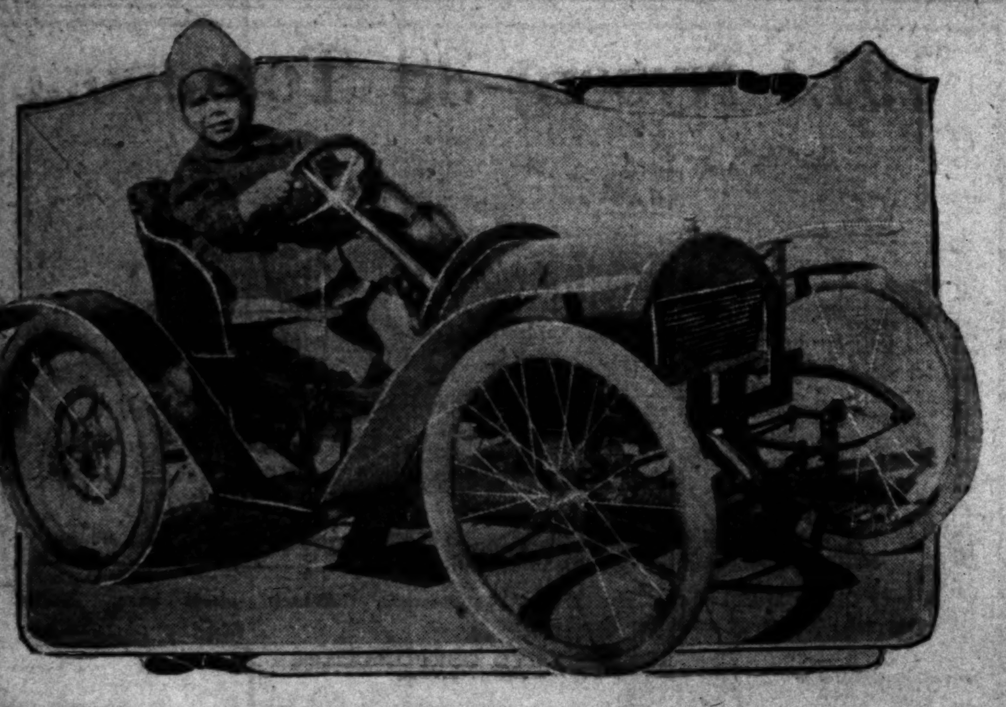
PENN THIRTY MAKES HIT.

Lamme Hears Good News from New York Auto Show and Prepares for Big Business.

A. J. Lamme, local distributor for the Penn "Thirty," received a wire from the New York show last week stating that the new Penn "30" line was one of the hits of the big exhibit. The small Penn "30" has made a great reputation for itself. Its first introduction to this city was through a non-stop run to San Diego and return in which Lamme and his wife drove the car to the southern city and returned here without a stop of the motor.

The entire allotment of Penn "Thirties" are almost gone. Lamme has tried, unsuccessfully, to secure more cars. He went to Phoenix at the time of the road race and was unable to secure a car from the factory in time to strip it and prepare for a dash across the desert. He stated while there that if it is possible he will enter a car in the next Phoenix road race and he would prefer to have the race conducted over the proposed new route for the national highway from Yuma to Los Angeles by way of Banning.

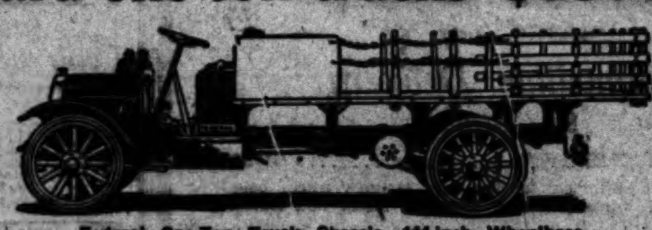
A German inventor has taken out a patent for warming the rugs or carpets on the floor of the automobile. The contrivance involves a series of wires run through the carpet, and the current being turned on, the result is a sufficient amount of heat to keep the passengers' feet comfortable in the winter.



Two-Year-Old Brawley Booster.

One of the youngest enthusiasts who met the Stoddard-Dayton. This is little Ruth Shaw, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson T. Shaw of Brawley, who was out in her own midget car to greet The Times special as it hummed into the Imperial Valley city after the dash down the southern side of the Salton Sea.

The Federal sets the final price of standard one-ton trucks—$1800 (f. o. b. Detroit)



Federal One-Ton Truck Chassis, 144-inch Wheelbase, including seat, $1800. Body type at purchaser's option.

Wheel base optional, 110 inch or 144 inch; Motor, 4 cylinder, "35 HORSE POWER;" Magneto, high tension; Clutch, 16-inch cone; Transmission, 3 speeds forward and reverse; Timken bearings in wheels; Tires, solid 36x3½-inch front—36x4-inch rear.

Federal One-Ton Truck

It is the same Federal Truck that has been in operation and demand for two years; that has stood up and proved up; that has met every hauling test; that has solved every hauling problem.

It is the same Federal that was awarded the Grand Trophy in the Chicago-Detroit-Chicago Truck Run last summer.

It is the same Federal that in the last Glidden Tour carried more than a ton of baggage 1500 miles in eleven days over all sorts of roads and finished with the touring cars. No truck had ever before even completed the Glidden Tour on time.

The Federal was the first truck to cross the desert from Los Angeles to Phoenix, carrying its full capacity; establishing a record for commercial vehicles of 52 hours and 30 minutes; finishing in perfect condition.

It is the same Federal that has for two years been setting new marks for strength, durability, speed and cost-reduction for the American business man.

Here is your OPPORTUNITY—to buy for $400 to $500 less than the price of any other truck of the same rating, a one-ton truck that is the Standard of TRUCK-EFFICIENCY, TRUCK-RELIABILITY and TRUCK-ECONOMY.

"There is more interest just now in the national highway project," said Vance yesterday, "than there has ever been before. It is my belief that this highway will be built before the World's Fair in San Francisco. We should do all in our power to bring this about and it cannot be built too soon for any of us.

"When that Halladay car came across the Santa Fe trail I was at once converted to the ranks of the real road boosters. That tour was remarkable. Just think of a man crossing the continent a day after he had learned to operate a car. That was a remarkable stunt.

"One of the things that pleases me most is the interest which the Halladay and Cartercar owners show in the good roads question. The Times is right in this matter and I expect to do all in my power to boost the project for a national highway over the Santa Fe trail. Yes, I also favor the Banning route and expect to send a Halladay out to meet the tourers this year."

OVERLAND BOWLERS.

John N. Willys Springs Innovation at Factory and Makes Decided Hit With Employees.

In the new building just completed in the plant of the Willys-Overland Company at Toledo, John N. Willys, president of the company, has caused to be built, in the basement, bowling alleys and gaming rooms for the entertainment of the men employed in the factory. These will give the men social opportunities during their leisure hours. Willys has always been a firm believer in making things pleasant and last summer presented his employees with a handsome clubhouse on the shores of Lake Erie.

Edward Usher, in response to Willys's presentation address, in behalf of the men thanked their president for his interest in them. Both the rooms are finished beautifully and are well equipped. There are three of the finest bowling alleys that could be constructed and seating capacity for hundreds of people. The game room is a meeting room where committees may meet and also includes a fine reading-room.

Basing his calculation on a registration which fell less than 100 short of 30,000, the Secretary of State of Iowa has bought 35,000 new license numbers. The plates are lighter and more sightly than the old ones. They cost 19 cents for mailing.

Dealers' Banquet.

WIESE MAKES GREAT HIT IN SPEECH AT AUTO FEAST.

JOHN WIESE, local representative for the United States Tire Company, was the honored guest at a banquet given to Charles Illingsworth and Harris Hanshue the two injured automobile drivers. Automobile dealers of Los Angeles and prominent rubber dealers, were guests. The table was in the form of a letter T, and Wiese had a seat at the head of the board.

The speech of the evening was given by Wiese, who directed all his remarks to the carnival of sports at Ascot Park Sunday, where the well-known tire man won a match race against Wild Bill Ruess. The after-dinner talk was the hit of the evening as Wiese was requested to tell just why he won from the Pope-Hartford champion.

"All my life I have been sentimental," said Wiese. "When I saw that woe-begone look on the face of Wild Bill it was too much for me. Of course, I shot away from the tape and won that race, but it hurt me clear to the heart to think of defeating the one-time champion-has-been Bill. Well when the crowd wanted another heat I consented.

"Now you know how that heat came out. I had won the race, but being filled with regard for Wild Bill, sentiment won again. Of course I danced away from the tape and was wining in a canter when I heard Bill muttering to himself about the disgrace of losing. Well what did I do? Sure I slowed up and let the Pope-Hartford man cross the tape ahead of me. Glad he won. Yes I let him win, but did so out of the goodness of my heart as I realized that Bill could not come back."

This speech was greeted with rounds of applause and when Wiese took his seat he was cheered to the echo. He had touched a cord of sympathy in the hearts of the throng and could not have made a better hit if he had studied for weeks on the speech.

Bert Dingley, who managed the meet, was the toastmaster. Bill Ruess, who was defeated by Wiese, followed the champion tire man, and bowed to the orator of the evening. Following this speech the question of the A.A.A. sanctions for race meets was taken up. Charles Merz, the man who drove the National to victory several times last year, was the A.A.A. champion. He is out and out in favor of the governing body.

William Bush addressed the banqueters, and following his remarks Hanshue and Illingsworth spoke. The checks for the money realized at the sports carnival were presented to the injured men and the evening's entertainment came to a close with a neat sum tucked away in the pockets of each of the injured drivers, who are convalescing.

Requiem at Annual Meeting Settles Remains to Rot in Deep Grave.

Final action toward dissolving the Association of Licensed Automobile Manufacturers was taken at the annual meeting yesterday, when the members voted to close its affairs and to arrange for the Automobile Board of Trade to succeed it in the important work of trade co-operation in the motor-car industry.

Charles Clifton, the president for the past seven years, made his final report and a unanimous vote of thanks was tendered to the officers and Executive Committee for their services in guiding the organization in its work and in advancing the interests of motor-car manufacturing with its resultant benefits to the user.

A good auto road, connecting Palm Springs to the rest of the country, both east and west, means much. Anyone with the least atom of gray matter would know at once that its value to the place is inestimable. We surely appreciate the efforts of those who are working with untiring energy to get the highway along the selected route. The tour of the Stoddard-Dayton, Times Pathfinder was the best means of waking the people up along the proposed route and has had the desired effect, for those that were indifferent, and who are now among the strongest boosters.

That the road from Banning to Indio should go through Palm Springs, and not follow the railroad, as was rumored, between those two points, is plainly seen by those who are familiar with the conditions of this section of the country. By going through Palm Springs, the traveler avoids the constant winds and sandstorms that blow along the line of the railroad, and as the distance is about the same by either route, everyone prefers to travel the most pleasant road, where they can get good meals, water and supplies.

The Harrisburg (Pa.) Automobile Association has selected February 3 to 10 as the time for its third annual exhibition.

CHICAGO AUTO SHOW.

At the Coliseum show to be held in Chicago Febuary 5 to 10 there will be much interest displayed in the exhibits of perhaps twenty manufacturers who have never before shown their products at the Chicago shows. Most of these exhibits will contain motor trucks and commercial wagons. It seems that the manufacture of the commercial vehicles is centered in the north central States by the list of exhibitors of such machines. Of the eighty manufacturers who intend to display their 1912 models at this show, twenty are located in Michigan, sixteen in Ohio, Twelve in Illinois, seven in New York State, six in Wisconsin and five in Indiana.

RUNNING IS GREAT SPORT.

Best Exercise Known for Any Human Being.

Great Care Should Be Taken in Training.

Athletes Should Walk and Run Alternately.

BY AL TRELOAR.

[Physical Director Los Angeles Athletic Club.]

The art of running is far too little appreciated in the United States. American young men have plenty of speed and ginger; they will get out and train more or less faithfully for definite events, in which they hope to win, and they will play with enthusiasm certain games that involve running. But as an art, for its own sake, running is not practiced enough in this country. Games that require much running are played for the game and not for the running. The very pleasing and immensely valuable sport of cross-country running never had a foothold here, as in England.

Running is the most natural of human activities; in fact running is the one activity, practiced through countless generations, which has had most to do with giving the body its characteristic shape and structure. A mechanical expert, if asked for what work the human body is best fitted, would at once pronounce it primarily a running machine.

Of course, it is also well adapted to swimming, climbing, hurling stones, lifting and carrying burdens, and many other muscular activities, but the long, straight legs, the mechanical arrangement of the joints, muscles and tendons, the large chest and mobile ribs to give heart and lung power, all point to running as the one action for which the body is especially designed. In fact the long straight legs, and the erect carriage, the things which make the body a perfect running machine, are the chief characteristics in which the human frame differs from that of the higher anthropoid apes.

ADAPTED TO RUNNING.

It is a principle of theoretic physical training that function makes structure. The working of this principle is really the foundation of the whole science of physical training. If we try to do things which require quickness, we will acquire the power to move quickly. If we do things requiring strength, we will develop strength. The action of running needs long legs, and we have developed long legs, as compared with the types from which we are said to have sprung by generations of running.

Another principle of the theoretical science of exercise is that an organism functionates best under the same conditions that caused its structure. Therefore, if running has been the chief cause of our present leg and chest structure, we will be healthiest if we keep up running as the main feature of our artificial system of exercise. Running is and ought to be the basis of all athletics.

There is a poetry of straight limbs of which we hear too little, and the clothing with which we have so carefully covered ourselves has shut our eyes to the beauty of our bodies. The ideal of the Greek sculptors was generally the runner, though they proportioned him much heavier than men of the present time. The rythmic harmony of running is the most perfect of human actions. As the most graceful motions of which the human body is capable, I would put running first, classic dancing by male performers second, and the acrobatic feat known as a "row of flip-flaps," third.

TRAINING.

In training for any contest the preparation should be either very long, say three months or more, or particularly in this climate, very short, about two weeks or less. An intermediate period is too short to form the particular athletic habit desired, and too long for keeping up concentrated work without danger of going stale.

The long period, three months or more, is the more desirable. In long training the work is much lighter and more spread out. In either case we are aiming at the same thing, condition, as athletes understand the word. Condition, in this sense, is a difficult word to define, but an illustration may be drawn from the physiology of running. The large muscles of the legs in a state of great activity call for a great deal of blood. The heart beats more rapidly and strongly to supply them. The blood from the muscles is returned to the right side of the heart and sent from there to the lungs, to be purified. This causes the capillaries of the lungs to dilate a trifle. The lungs, for the time, are not quite equal to the task of oxygenating the suddenly increased quantity of blood sent in from the muscles of the legs. A temporary feeling of distress supervenes. The "second wind" comes when the balance of circulation and respiration is at last restored. Training aims to produce a condition in which the muscles, the heart, and the lungs, will be equal to the demands made upon them, a condition in which the "second wind" comes right away.

Staleness is the particular bete noir of athletes training hard over a long period. The condition of staleness in which the expenditure of the body is greater than the income, is brought on by worry and nervous tension, generally, rather than physical effort. If the athlete's ability to turn food into protoplasm was unlimited this condition could be avoided simply by eating more, taking more fuel to meet the increased demands for energy. But unfortunately there is a limit, probably a neural limit to the energy producing power of the body.

WAY TO PREVENT STALENESS.

Staleness comes more quickly to some individuals than to others. A decrease of weight is nearly always the sign. In fact the weight tells the story of condition. It is rarely that an athlete is overtrained if his weight keeps the same. The man's feelings are also an indicator of his condition. Good feelings indicate good condition. An athlete should feel like working. To avoid staleness, do each day a little less work than you can recover from over night.

In training for a race like the great Times Marathon, over a period of three months or more, there should be several objects in view. One important thing should be to develop the whole muscular system. Runners are likely to rely too much on the legs alone. A strong back, strong abdominal muscles and some thickness of muscle over the upper chest and shoulders, are of great importance to the runner. I would suggest that the three morning exercises described in last Sunday's Times be kept up religiously by the young runner in training. Do each one from twenty to thirty counts. There should also be a little hanging work to stretch the chest and raise the ribs. Swinging with straight arms from rings or a trapeze bar is better for a runner than exercises like pulling up to the chin.

The long period of training also gives a chance to develop the habit of running by easy stages. In a three months course of training for a twelve-mile race I would lay out the running work like this for the first week.

HOW TO GET READY.

First day, jog one mile.

Second day, walk two miles.

Third day, trot and walk alternate quarters till you have covered two miles. Trot the quarters in not faster than two minutes.

Fourth day, no road work.

Fifth day, a fast two miles.

Sixth day, walk five miles.

Rest on Sunday. Lay out the second week on the same lines increasing up to the fourth day. Rest the fifth day, and on the sixth day take the first run over the whole course. Study the relation of speed and step to heart and lung action. Slow down till your heart and lungs are comfortable, then very gradually increase speed, and note the point at which signs of distress appear. Do not try for fast time.

The second two weeks should be like the first only with a steady increase of distance covered, and ending with another run over the whole course. On this second full-distance try-out, get away with a fast two miles, and hurry a little all the way without badly distressing yourself.

From this point on there should be no more runs over the whole distance. During the second month, run as far as seven miles once a week, a fast two miles, a brisk four miles, and days of alternate walking and sprinting being scattered along in such a way as to have a change every day. Aim to develop a fast four miles to get away with.

During the third and last month, do not run farther than seven miles at any time, and that distance should only be run once, at about two weeks before the race. A fast two or three miles should constitute the day's work three times a week till the last week. During the first three days of the last week run lively quarters with rests between, reduce your food a little and rest from running entirely for three days before the race. Cut out the morning exercise except the sitting up during the last week. Do the sitting up every morning except the day before the race and the race day itself.

Go into the race with the stomach empty. Eat your breakfast a good two hours before the starting time. In the race do not be afraid to get away in front. Eat up the distance while you are fresh in a twelve mile race.

CHRISTY'S CATCHER IS TO QUIT GAME.

Frank Bowerman of Romeo, Mich., famous as the inventor of the only method of eating peas with a knife and without the loss of a pea, also as the only man who ever caught the delivery of Christy Mathewson to the complete satisfaction of the peerless Christopher, has quit baseball.

Bowerman has been in the American Association for several years. He first played on the Indianapolis team under Charlie Carr. Bowerman and Carr were bosom friends until a dispute arose one day and they became bitter enemies. The result was that Bowerman and Carr split for good.

At present Bowerman is the property of the Kansas City Club. Carr is going out to manage Kansas City this year and he said that he would not have Bowerman on the club. Likewise Bowerman does not care to play under Carr.

Before the world series last October Christy Mathewson remarked that he missed Bowerman. The peerless Giant hurler said that the Romeo, Mich., fashion plate was the best catcher he ever worked with. After the series Mathewson and Bowerman went on a hunting trip.

ONLY FIVE HAVE SURPASSED COBB.

Cobb's feat of batting .420 last season stands as the greatest batting for a season ever in the history of the game, considering the fact that he accomplished it handicapped as he and all present-day batters are by the foul strike rule.

In the past twenty years only five men have made a higher mark and they made their records when fouls did not count as strikes. They could foul them off as often as they wanted to. The five men are:

Duffy (Boston, 1894)	438
Burkett (Cleveland, 1895)	433
Turner (Philadelphia, 1894)	423
Burch (Brooklyn, 1895)	423
Lajoie (Philadelphia, 1901)	422

All of these five men were known as sluggers. They were of the old school with little of Cobb's knowledge of the bases.

STANFORD NOTES.

S. H. Bellah, '10, captain of the Stanford track team last year, who is residing at Portland, has started to train for the Olympian try-out to be held in San Francisco. He has vaulted 12ft. 6in. in practice and expects to top the world's record before the end of the season. Bellah is practicing in the javelin throw and has flung the spear 155ft., which is only ten feet short of the world's record.

March 30 and April 6 are the dates that have been set for the annual baseball games with California. A third game, if necessary, will be played at Stanford, April 13.

The eight-oared shell that Stanford ordered from an English manufacturer last spring has at last arrived at the campus. It will be used on the San Francisco Bay at Redwood City.

Medals have been awarded to Paul Eliel, '13, of Pasadena; W. S. Wilson, '12, of Los Angeles, and E. E. Chase, ex-'13, the authors of the junior opera, "The Girl and the Voice," which will be produced on the campus in March.

The freshmen at Stanford gave a banquet in honor of President Jordan, Friday night. Several hundred students and faculty members attended the affair.

The census report shows over a million and a half more horses in the United States now than ten years ago, and an increase of over a billion dollars in the value of all the horses. It remains for motor vehicles to displace over 20,000,000 horses in the United States

THE OUT-DOOR BOY.

THIS COLUMN DEVOTED EXCLUSIVELY TO NEWS STORIES OF OUT-DOOR PASTIMES AND ATHLETIC ACTIVITIES OF BOYS OF GRAMMAR SCHOOL AGE.

CONDUCTED BY ARTHUR LEE.

PUBLISHED IN THE TIMES PINK, SUNDAY AND TUESDAYS.

BY ARTHUR LEE.

Hello, boys. This is the opening gun of a great volley of surprises and good things that are in store for every boy who is vigorous enough to appreciate and enjoy the delights and pleasures of outdoor life and clean athletic sports simply for the fun and physical benefits that are to be derived from them. To win is not everything. The good loser oftentimes derives more of an uplift to his character and body than an unfair winner who is bound to surpass at any cost.

You are at last going to have your athletic sports and games spread before the public in The Times Pink just like the older fellows. We believe that every red blooded young American boy should be encouraged to engage in all sorts of outdoor athletics and games and we can see no reason why he should not have the same mention in these news columns in proportion to the merit his performance deserves as does his older brother. Send in your items for this column not later than Friday morning for Sunday and Monday morning for Tuesday's paper.

Coaster Racing.

In the districts around Los Angeles that are favored with hills the "business" and pleasure of coaster racing seems never to die out. The Momentummobile Club of Annandale Hills in Garvanza has had a very busy season in "manufacturing" and racing their imitation automobiles—hereby christened "momentummobile." In one of their recent meets on the Annandale hill, which is about a mile long, Speed Demon Ed made the course in a little more than two minutes, which actually gave him an average of over thirty miles an hour on the middle of the course. His car is a Marmon No. 11 and the mechanician he used on this winning trip was his old stand-by, Bud Ellis.

There were seven other teams in this race and these finished in the following order: Billie Schuford and S. Newton in National No. 17; Dick Bradford and A. Herman in a Pope-Hartford No. 3; Ray Miller and Austin Reynolds, Pierce-Arrow No. 6; Gardner and Donald Partridge "made good in a day" with their Stutz No. 5; Charlie Williams and Kimmie Stewart were pulling down the lead of the other flyers in their Lozier No. 2; Tollie Evans in a No. 5 Loco is like Harroun and races without a mechanician; Charlie Culley in an Interstate and Howard Edgar in a Fiat both raced alone and fought a clean duel for the last place and all these boys need is more weight. Hire a mechanician.

Basketball.

A fast game of basketball was played at Manual Arts, Thursday afternoon, between Whittier High School and the Manual Arts team. Whittier won, 24 to 15. The line up was as follows:

Manual.		Whittier.
Fidel	Forward	Hood
Acker	Forward	Graham
Greenbaum	Guard	Scomiller
Jenkins	Guard	Woolems
Horrie	Center	McBurney

The girls from Avenue 54 won a game of basketball from the girls from Avenue 62 by a score of 13 to 7.

The boys of Avenue 62 played a one-sided game of basketball with the girls of the same school, the boys winning 50 to 2.

Indoor Baseball.

Indoor baseball seemed to hold the principal place in the activities of the boys of several of the intermediate schools during the past week.

The Thirtieth-street seniors played the team from Avenue 21 and the "thirty" boys were the winners by 10 to 6.

The Thirtieth-street intermediates took the Pico Heights boys from Berendo school into camp by the score of 14 to 1.

The Custer and Thirtieth juniors played one of the hardest fought games of the week and either team looked a winner until the last inning, when the Custers had just one run to spare in the 8 to 7 score.

The Fourteenth-street juniors run away with the Berendo juniors by a score of 25 to 5. The Berendo boys say that they will do better next time.

The A 4's and the B 5's of the Fifty-second-street school played a 15 to 8 game of indoor baseball last Thursday which resulted in victory for the former class.

Volley Ball.

Volley ball is having a big run at the Fifty-second-street school and the boys and girls are getting to be quite expert at this great outdoor game. This game, while not played at all the schools, is a sort of a cross between basketball and tennis, differing from tennis in that the net is high above the ground and a ball about the size of a basketball is used, the hand taking the place of a racquet. The speed and quickness of action necessary makes the game a good one for open air fun and vigorous exercise.

Track.

With the track athletes in the High Schools and colleges all over the State going into training, field athletics will without any doubt be the most popular sport that the grammar and intermediate boys will have to engage their attention.

It will be one of the functions of this department to offer every aid and encouragement to boys in every part of Southern California to get up a track team and to put their school on record as having a bunch of fellows who have the energy to organize and manage a track team, in addition to making creditable performances in the various events.

To further encourage the organization of teams The Times will publish in this column all athletic news of every grammar school in Southern California, and if the writer is advised in time, a reporter will be sent to any regular track contest and stop watch records will be recorded and the full news of the meet published. We will also find a field.

With an unusually bright outlook for a successful athletic season every boy in the grades should make a big effort to keep his scholarship percentages up to the very highest notch so that he will not be barred from competing in any events that might be arranged. The good athlete should be a good scholar. Study hard, boys.

SIMPLEX AUTO EXHIBIT.

Word has been received at the Golden State Garage that the exhibit of the Simplex cars at the Twelfth National Automobile show in the Madison Square Garden in New York City attracted a great deal of attention. The fifty horsepower polished Chassis received especial attention of the thousands of people who visited the great salon. Wm. K. Vanderbilt, upon viewing the chassis immediately purchased the car, delivery to be made immediately after the show closes. The Simplex car is manufactured in New York City and the company have recently moved into their new sales quarters at Fifty-ninth and Broadway. This is in the very heart of automobile row and an ideal location

CHICAGO MEN TO SHOW CLASS.

Windy City Bowlers to Tour Western States.

Intend to Enter Big Tourney at Los Angeles.

New Contest to Be Started End of Month.

Chicago boosters have arranged the greatest trip ever made by a bowling club to boost a tournament.

The Chalmers Club will leave the Windy City early next month for a three weeks' campaign to all the leading cities of the West, taking in the Western Bowling Congress tournament in this city next month, before the return. The trip of the bowling experts is to be financed by the Chalmers team itself, but it will carry entry blanks of the American Bowling Congress tournament, which starts in Chicago on March 2, and distribute them broadcast in every town the club visits.

FIRST STOP AT ST. PAUL.

The first stop of the Illinois State champions will be at St. Paul, where they will compete in the International Bowling Association tournament, on February 12. From there they will visit Omaha, Denver, Salt Lake City, and then take in Los Angeles, for a whirl at the big prizes of the W.B.C. meet.

Trips to San Francisco, Portland, Seattle, and other big cities in the West are being planned by the bowlers before they return to Chicago to take part in the national tournament. Six men will be carried on the trip, the men signed being Bob Reife, Gus Steele, Harry Steers, Jimmy Blouin, Ed Blouin and August Leverenz.

Alfred E. Mackenzie, secretary of the Los Angeles Bowling Tournament Association, is figuring on organizing a team to compete in the American Bowling Congress tournament at Chicago March 2. It is rumored that he will take the new Maier team, intact.

PRIZES AWARDED.

Last Monday evening the Southern California Bowling Association held a general meeting and awarded prizes to the winners in the recent tournament. The prize money was distributed as follows: Grands, first place, $64; College Inns, second, $60; National Lumber Company, third, $42; Pioneer Commercial Auto Company, fourth, $30; Venice, fifth, $24; New Bachelors, Brenwoods, Harding Colts and Long Beach, $18 each, and the Rathskellers, last, $13.

High three-game team total, Pioneer Commercial Auto Company score 3074, $15; second high, Grands, score 3044, $10; third high, Venice, score 2944, $7.50; high team game, Grands, score 1075, $15; second high, New Bachelors, score 1055, $10; third high, Pioneer Commercial Auto Company, score 1040, $7.50.

High individual grand average prize went to Ernest Shay, with an average of 195 35-54, $17.50; second high, Sciple, average 192 23-51, $10; third high, "Bun" Lustig, average 192 8-54, $7.50.

High individual three-game total was made by Ernest Shay, score 727 (Coast record,) $12.50; second high, Sciple, score 718, $7.50; third high, George Bunn, score 680, $5.

High individual game, Ernest Shay, score 278, $12.50; second high, Tommy Tompkins, score 268, $7.50; third high, J. Benfer, score 265, $5.

After the prize money had been awarded, it was decided to start another tournament on Monday, January 29, and dues, entrance and initiation fees must be paid not later than Monday, January 22. It was voted to increase the entrance fee from $15 to $20. After much discussion the question of drafting players from the lower leagues was laid on the table. The next meeting will be held Monday evening, January 22, at 8 o'clock at No. 426 H. W. Hellman building

Peter won the championship of Australia and England, but never met Sullivan, as John L. drew the color line from the start, and always kept his word about it.

Bob Fitzsimmons is as well known to the public as any one. He was a freak in build and for years was a middleweight. He fought longer than any other fighter ever in the game, for he won many fights after he was 40 years old. Bob was also a clean hitter and while he was not a fast boxer, he was a wonderful judge of time and distance. He fought most all of the big fellows and had several lucky escapes himself from being knocked out. In his last fight with Jim Jeffries he had hardly received a single blow up to the time he got knocked out.

While Griffo, the Australian featherweight, that is he was a featherweight when he was at his best, was considered a great fighter by many, I do not think he should be classed with the great fighters for the reason that he was never a puncher. He was a wonderful defensive boxer, and that let him out.

America has had more great fighters than any other country. Among the first of the small fellows was George Dixon, the little mulatto featherweight. For his size he was about the hardest hitter ever in the ring. He was as fast as lightning, strong and clever, with terrible left-hand swinging blows. He often said that he thought he could lick any man that he could hit. He had a wonderfully long record, perhaps, for the time he was in the game, had more fights crowded on him than Abe Attell. "Little Chocolate," as he was often called, made a fortune in the ring, but died a poor man, but, like Joe Gans, had many friends. He was a quiet, unassuming fellow, and always a gentleman.

Jack Dempsey was more of a welterweight than a middleweight, but was one of the most clever fellows that ever fought, and considered weight little if he thought he had a chance to win. He was also one of the most popular fighters in the ring, and outside of old John L. Sullivan himself, had a larger following than any one. He was, without exception, the coolest man that I ever saw fight. Dempsey was a collar and elbow wrestler before he was a fighter and had a wonderful pair of legs under him and had better control over them than any man outside of Jim Corbett.

He lost his first fight to George LaBlanche, the "Marine," by a pivot blow, when he had LaBlanche badly beaten. He had the "Marine" hanging on the ropes with both hands, with his back to Dempsey, when, in desperation, LaBlanche swung wildly around and caught Dempsey on the point of the chin and knocked him out in a single punch. Many at that time said that he hit Dempsey with his elbow, but it was done so quickly that it will never be known how it did really happen.

After that Dempsey was never the same man. He tried in every way to get a return match, but LaBlanche would never give it to him. He fought a few times later and won, but finally fought and lost to Bob Fitzsimmons, whom he had never seen seen until he met him in the ring. Dempsey was a wonderfully game fellow and once wanted to fight Charlie Mitchell, who at that time was at his best and a heavyweight. Dempsey died later, many said of a broken heart, from his defeat by Fitzsimmons.

NEW HIGHWAYS.

Engineers of the Pennsylvania State Highways department have completed the surveying of sixty-five of the routes for main highways carried by the Sproul main highway act of 1911. Included in these routes are 2755 miles, all of which have been surveyed, and of this length 621 miles has been plotted. These dirt roads will be taken by the State June 1 next, and maintained by the State Highway department. The toll roads will not be surveyed until they have been taken over.

Chas. H. Thompson, the Southern California agent for the popular Jackson cars, will receive three more carloads of the different models of Jacksons during the week. Included in these carloads will be the model "52" model "32", and the classy Jackson runabout. Interest in the Jackson car is rapidly growing in and around Los Angeles, especially since the wonderful record of the Jackson Mudhen across the country, when it made the trip with no mechanical trouble. The driver changed only one tire in the whole run.

SOUTHERNERS HONORED.

Nominees for Important Positions in Senior Class at Stanford are Registered From South.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Jan. 19—The senior class today nominated members to fill the class offices during this semester and all the proposed officers are registered from the South. R. H. Seward, of Los Angeles, and Tom Sanborn, of Redlands, will contest the presidency of the class, which is one of the most coveted offices in undergraduate affairs.

S. W. Gilfillan, of Los Angeles, was named for the vice-presidency, but he declined to run. Miss Agnes Yoch of Santa Ana, is the only nominee for the position of treasurer and J. W. Vickers, of Los Angeles, was the lone nominee for the office of secretary.

The senior president this semester has in charge the graduation functions in May and selects all the committees to handle the commencement week festivities. The election will be held Monday.

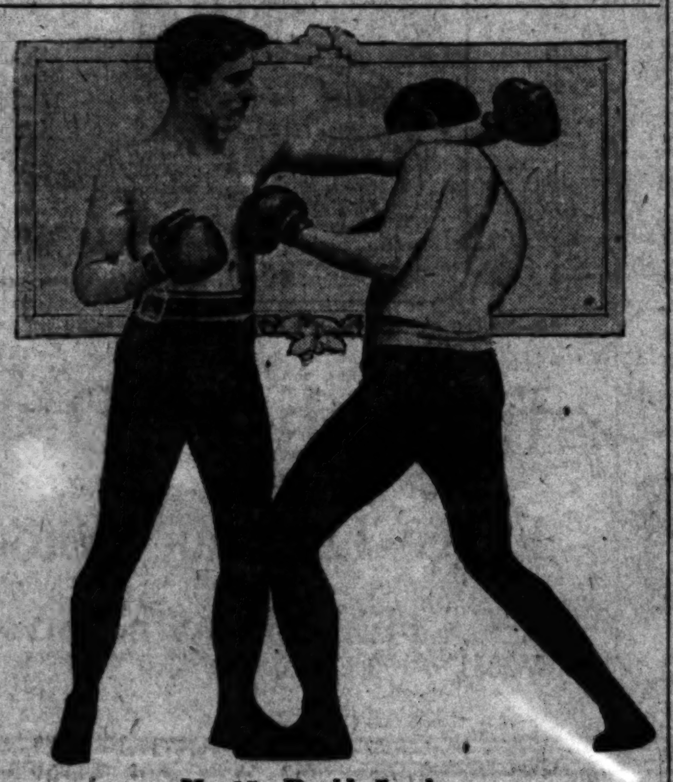
Seward is crew captain and rows No. 2 in the varsity boat. This is his third year in the shell. He is the leading student thespian at the university. Sanborn was a varsity football ist in 1909 and during the last two years has been a varsity substitute. Two years ago he went to Australia with the All-American Rugby team.

Miss Yoch is the holder of the women's tennis championship of the university. Gilfillan is captain of the baseball team.

LEWIS HOLDS BASEBALL MARATHON RECORD.

Jimmy Lewis, of the Sacramento team of the Pacific Coast League, believes that he is the only player who has participated in two twenty-four-inning ball games. In addition he played in a twenty-one-inning drawn battle between Sacramento and Los Angeles. The total number of innings played by Lewis in these three games was sixty-nine or nearly eight ordinary games. The average time of the three would be a contest of twenty-three stanzas, or five frames longer than two regulation contests.

Lewis's first appearance in an overtime battle of extreme length was in 1909, when, as a member of the Frisco club, he went through a twenty-four-inning game in Oakland. In the recent season he figured in the two-dozen-inning affair between Sacramento and Portland. The twenty-one-frame struggle between Los Angeles and Sacramento a short time ago was the third freak contest in which he performed.



No. 25—Double Leads.

Be Careful Here.

NEVER BEGIN CONTEST WITH RIGHT-HAND LEAD.

In delivering these blows draw the right foot up when you hit, as you must follow the first blow delivered very quickly to land the second or third. When you hit, lean the body back and step in with the left foot to your opponent's left, and step with each blow struck, if possible.

Commence with a left at the head and follow with a right at the head; left at the body and right at the head; left at the head and right at the body; right at the body and left at the head; right at the body and left at the body. These blows may be followed by a third or fourth blow at any spot where there is an opening.

Never begin with a right-hand lead at the head, as this is a very dangerous thing to do at any time. In delivering a right-hand lead at the head you might turn your head into your opponent's right and then it is simply a question as to who lands first. The double leads are the proper way to start a rush for a mix-up or in infighting.

GOSSIP ALONG GASOLINE ROW
BY BERT SMITH

George O. Seeley, vice-president of the Disco-Pacific Company, is here with his Disco self-starter ready to install the device. This is the starter with which every Hudson is equipped. In addition to this the Everitt, Simplex, Colby, Paige-Detroit, Stevens-Duryea, King, Westcott, Pratt-Elkhart and Rambler cars are also equipped with the Disco. Seeley has offices at No. 316 California street and expects to locate at the Disco-Pacific Company, No. 804 South Olive street. After five months of active work this self-starter has made remarkable progress. Seeley expects to make his home here and will be established for a good long stay.

Walter Cather of the Prudential Tire Company has started a unique scheme for selling tires. His opening day, Wednesday, was an auction. More than $2000 worth of tires were sold. His specialty will be all makes of tires and as a regular agency he has secured the Gibraltar tire, the product of the Prudential Tire Company of Akron, O. Cather decided that the auction is to be his first and last. He will sell tires without special aides.

Harry Harrison is here. Twenty pounds lighter, and twice as handsome. The Peerless and Everitt man expects to stay a week. Of course he came down to take in the aviation meet, but as a matter of fact it took H. O. Harrison just one month to find time to leave his business in San Francisco long enough to take in the land of sunshine and flowers. Harrison will locate in a large building in this city. He is looking for a site now. Real estate dealers will please take notice. The successful automobile man, who was formerly our greatest road pilot, has now jumped into the heart of the motor business in real earnest. He has the Peerless, the Everitt and the Waverley electric. This should keep most men busy and in addition to his plans for a large building Harrison has about all one can attend to.

John Wiese and Harvey Herrick will reach Chicago this week with straw hats and light linen dusters. These two men, who are both champions in their way, will be the scream of the Windy City. Herrick is the champion road driver and Wiese is the champion bicycling of automobile row. The fame of the two will precede them and when they reach the frigid zone they both expect to tell of their triumphs.

Norman W. Church is back from the East. He looks better than ever. After spending several months on the Atlantic, the former Stoddard-Dayton chief looks like a plutocrat and is even more handsome if that is possible. He was greeted warmly by his many friends and was welcomed back in a way that makes certain the fact that he is one of the men who has a firm place in the hearts of the motor car dealers.

What a relief that new boulevard will be. We need not risk being arrested at the little city along the route. What city? Oh you know. take the other route to the aviation field and avoid all trouble if you feel inclined to exceed fifteen miles an hour.

We are ready for that automobile picnic. With due respect to President J. S. Conwell of the Motor Car Dealers' Association, we request that he take charge of this matter. About April would be a fine date. April 1 if the boss is willing. Willie Ruess and Jack Wiese are two of the stars who will lock up in a match and Walter Hemenway and Wild Willie will shine in a rifle match. Seems to me we are all after that goat of Willie's, which was sent scampering away at Ascot Park last Sunday. Let's have the picnic about two months from now and give us all a chance to meet the new men on auto row.

The Don Lee Company is breaking all records from the standpoint of shipment and deliveries. During the last two weeks sixty-four 1912 Cadillacs have been received and delivered in Los Angeles. There are now on the road over 100 Cadillacs, which will be delivered in this territory within the next five weeks. At one time last week there were fifty-six carloads of automobiles between Detroit and California, which were being sent to Don Lee for California distribution.

Tom Evans, the Cadillac factory representative, arrived last week and will leave tonight for Salt Lake City. Evans has been visiting the western territory and says that Cadillac business is good in every city. According to Evans he did not visit a single place where the agent complained of business conditions.

Charles H. Bigelow is ready to leave Yuma tomorrow morning with the Stoddard-Dayton. He will be the pilot for the tourers who are to attend that Good Roads convention in this city Thursday and Friday. At least 200 are expected here and the boost for good roads should be one of the best ever made.

Francis J. Bird, with Mrs. Bird and their young son, are here with an idea of locating in this city. Bird is the representative for the Waverley electric. He has the entire territory for the factory from Mexico to British Columbia and back eastward to the Rocky Mountains. He is evidently capable of handling this wide mart as he has already shown his good sense in choosing H. O. Harrison as the dealer to handle the Waverley in California.

J. S. Wiese, local manager for the United States Tire Company and Harvey Herrick, the champion racing driver for 1911 will leave for Chicago Automobile shows this morning. Wiese goes to attend a conference of branch managers and also to visit the United States plants. Herrick has never attended the eastern shows and he is anxious to mingle with the lights of the industry. The National Company will make a big exhibit in Chicago and Herrick will be a part of this exhibit if he can be kept in one place long enough.

The Diamond
SAFETY TREAD
TIRE

Any curbstone will stop a skid—what you want is something that prevents the tire's starting to skid.

The Diamond Safety Tread is not a mere matter of buttons, knobs or ridges.

It is a safety tire that is safe because it is based on scientific principles.

Tires skid because a film of mud, water or grease acts as a lubricant between tire and pavement. To prevent skidding CLEAN the pavement. How? The same way the squeegee dries a window. That's all there is to it—but the Diamond Safety Tread Tire is the only tire that does it.

The only tire that is based on a real understanding of the skid problem.

The Diamond Safety Tread Tire is an all-year-round tire. It gives even Greater Mileage than the regular Diamond Tire—and the regular Diamond Tire is greatest in mileage among smooth tread tires.

GREAT CHANGES IN AEROPLANES.

NEW FEATURES ADDED EACH YEAR TO FLYING MACHINES.

Warships of the Future Will Be Equipped With Air Scouts Having Latest Wireless Apparatus—Engines Have Been Changed So as to Meet Conditions of Modern Flying.

BY GLEN H. CURTIS.

There has been a world of advancement during the last year in aerial flying.

It has not been all made in the machines, but the greater part of the advancement has been in the discovery of the tricks and knacks necessary for proper flying.

The aeroplane of today is but slightly different from the planes of one year ago and this difference is principally in the controls and the refinement of parts.

Men have been doing things during the last year that would have been believed impossible two years ago and which even today in the light of our advancement in aerial flight seems to be almost uncanny.

One year ago or longer the sight of a byplane was a thrilling spectacle and if a man could leave the ground in a heavier-than-air machine he was immediately called an aviator, but at present an aviator must leave the ground as free from any chance of a mishap or a mistake as a man starts his automobile. He must fly miles in the air and make cross country runs which would have seemed record flights one year or more ago.

The advancement in aerial navigation will be startling during the coming year. The Army and Navy have taken up flying and while they have not gone into the subject as thoroughly and completely as they should they should have a great deal to show during the next twelve months in aviation.

During the recent revolution in Mexico, when the United States Army was camped along the Rio Grande, the bi-plane was used for scouting purposes and flights of hundreds of miles were made and the entire surrounding country mapped out for military purposes.

It has been demonstrated that a biplane can rise from and alight upon a war vessel whether the vessel is in motion or anchored.

The last year has proven that the bi-plane can be used for mail carrying, express carrying, scouting purposes in addition to pleasure. A biplane has flown with a wireless attachment and messages have been received from planes miles away.

It will make it possible for a warship to send out a fleet of powerful bi-planes equipped with wireless apparatus and the enemy definitely located hours before the eye could discern the enemy's ships.

AVIATORS SKILLFUL.

Not only have the aeroplanes and motors undergone great improvement but the aviators have become more skillful in operating the aeroplanes.

The general design of the Curtiss machine has been changed very little since its appearance here. The shape of the tail or stabilizing surfaces in the rear, has been altered somewhat; the forward elevator has been brought in close to the main surfaces, and in the machine used by Lincoln Beachey, has been removed entirely, the vertical control being accomplished by the twin elevator in the rear.

Aside from these alterations of the control the machine is almost identical with the old Rheims racer which won the first international aviation race, at France in 1909.

The actual construction, however, is greatly changed. There is not a rib, post or brace which has not been altered. The metal braces in the machines of today are reinforced and every piece of wood is laminated; the surfaces are also double covered; the entire machine is double-wired and all of the controls work independently.

The two independent elevators give the operator complete control so that in the event of an accident to either of the two surfaces, the cable which operates the machine can be readily controlled with the one remaining surface.

With this construction there is not a wire or bolt on the machine which would cause a serious accident should it break. While the engines have undergone considerable improvement, it is an interesting fact that the old No. 1, eight cylinder, engine, built by the Curtiss Aeroplane Company in 1909 is still in daily use, although it has receded from its position as winner of the world's championship to that of pushing a private machine over the course at the Curtiss Aviation school on North Island, near San Diego. It has flown in all parts of Europe, having covered between 30,000 and 40,000 miles; and has the distinction of having been driven by more famous aviators than any other motor in the world."

TO OPEN IN FEBRUARY.

All Departments of Educational Work of the Young Women's Christian Association Are Registering.

With the exception of the commercial school, which is open throughout the year, all departments of the educational work at the Young Women's Christian Association will open February 1. The office is open for registration for all subjects and as the classes will be limited it is urged that persons intending to enroll do so as early as possible.

The school of expression promises to be larger than ever next term. A full course is given in that department so that pupils may have English and gymnasium work to supplement their voice training and reading if they wish. The director of the school, Miss Gertrude Hensel, is a graduate of the College of Oratory of Southern California and has already built up a large department.

No less enterprising is the department of languages. The Spanish classes are under Miss Katherine Kent, who speaks Spanish exclusively in her classroom with beginning pupils. Mrs. Selma Bloom, who completed her education in Paris, has the French and German classes. After less than four months of study, they gave an entertainment in which they spoke French and German exclusively. Mrs. Bloom plans to give a short play next term in order to develop greater fluency in speech and to familiarize the pupils with foreign manners and customs. There are classes for beginners as well as for the advanced pupils in French and German conversation.

ROAD RACE ENTRY BLANKS ARE READY.

The Los Angeles Athletic Club road race, Venice to Los Angeles, was definitely planned yesterday at the meeting of the Race Committee at the L. A.A.C. rooms. The course was laid out and will start from the Venice Country Club and finish at Bovard Field, where the A.A.U. meet is to be held on the day of the race, February 22.

The course will be on the Washington-street road from the beach and will probably turn off at Adams street road and will then extend to Bovard Field, turning off Adams at Vermont and then crossing over on Jefferson street to the field.

The time of the start will be so arranged that the race will finish at the A.A.U. meet at about 2 o'clock and will be a great feature of the championship meet this season. Entries for the race will now be taken at the Los Angeles Athletic Club.

Gray In Form.

Gray, the Australian billiard player, beat Stevenson, the English expert, by 636 points in the first of their 18,000 matches for $2500 a side in London. The contest lasted nearly three weeks. Stevenson won $250 by making the best break, 543, during the first week of the match. The second contest will be played at Liverpool this month and the third at Caxton Hall, Westminster, in February.

MOTOR TOUR.

charge of the big affair believe that great things can be accomplished.

FEDERAL AID.

With Federal aid for the great highway assured, there is reason to believe that the entire delegation will swing in with a big boost for both State and county aid. There is money enough in sight to begin the work, according to those who are working the hardest. From Brawley to Los Angeles the host of men are sure this highway is to be built.

There is not a discordant note in the towns and cities along the Banning route. From every village and hamlet where an automobile is owned the tourists will be given a sendoff in keeping with the spirit of the Imperial Valley. This is to be the first active step toward completing the highway through Southern California.

Miles of desert must be crossed. These hills of sand have been made passable. When the tourers demonstrate that an automobile can be sent over this route at a touring pace, it is believed the entire country will be ready to start this good roads project in dead earnest.

YUMA BRIDGE.

At Yuma Dr. Ketcherside and Dr. Clymer have promised to start a campaign which is to result in the building of a bridge across the Colorado. This is one of the big undertakings. It is enough for the Yuma citizens to do without working on this side. At that an offer of $1000 was made by a Yuma citizen toward the good roads work on the California end.

Cash is in sight for the first aid work. At Riverside a decided movement on which is almost certain to result in work being done on the route. At Redlands H. H. Ford has the matter in hand, and is taking the lead in the road project. At Banning men of the city are ready to do first-aid work on the stretch of road near Whitewater.

Here the first work must be done soon. It is possible to start the work without any large amount of money in sight. When Charles H. Bigelow looked over the roads he made an estimate of the cost of building the highway over that nose of rocks near the river. In this way the danger of floods will be avoided. The road can be built along the highlands away from the sandy wash.

WELCOME HERE.

From one end of the Coachella Valley to the other the sentiment is strongly in favor of active work on this highway. Men on desert claims, far from the heart of civilization, have promised teams for work on the road. Already many of them have driven many miles from the ranches with shovels and scrapers. The road is much better than it was a month ago.

Those who are figuring on the work say that if as much is done during the coming four weeks as has been accomplished in the month that is passed the boulevard will be built in three years. This tour will mean much. Men of affairs are to be given a chance to study road conditions. Instead of a hundred boosters, at least 10,000 should be swung into line as active workers, following the convention which has been called for Thursday and Friday of this week.

Delegates to the convention are to tour over the route to this city. [illegible] will come here in several different makes of cars. A large delegation will be sent out from this city to meet the tourers. This will mean a [illegible] lar run over the desert [illegible] that will be impressive.

Avoid Loss Through Motor Car Depreciation

Millions of dollars are lost every year through motor car depreciation. Depreciation, though, does not result so much from wear as from advancement and improvements made in other cars.

If you choose wisely you can avoid taking a loss on the car you buy.

As startling as this statement seems, you can appreciate its accuracy by recalling cars of a few years ago. Cars that today will not bring a tenth of what they cost three years ago are still giving good service. They are practically as good as new as far as road performance is concerned.

YOU CAN AVOID LOSS

Most 1912 models are but little changed from those of years ago. Of course bodies are different, fore-doors have been added and the style of [illegible] has been altered, but the motors are still just as inaccessible. They have just as many parts to wear and get out of adjustment. They are the same jumbled mass of exposed rods, wires and mechanism. Some have improvised methods to protect the bearings from sand and dust; in others improvement has been made in quieting the car, but there has been no real advancement. This you can confirm by comparing the present models of any such cars with the models of the same make two or three years ago. Having done this, make a similar examination of the New Self-Starting Hudson "33."

HOW DIFFERENT HERE

The litter of exposed parts, the confusion of rods and wires so prominent in other cars are entirely lacking in the Hudson "33." Simplicity is the trend and goal of all engineering. Every designer is doing his utmost to reduce the number of parts.

Howard E. Coffin, long recognized as America's foremost engineer, has led the development of simplicity. His latest car, the New Self-Starting Hudson "33," has approximately 1000 fewer parts than has any other automobile.

ARE FOLLOWING HIS EXAMPLE.

As you look at the 1912 models of some cars and compare them with their 1911 models, you will recognize how Mr. Coffin's ideas have been followed. This shows that he is setting the pace which is affecting the values of many cars.

There is one certain way in which you can avoid the usual loss of depreciation. All admit the Hudson "33" to have features which will characterize other cars two and three years hence. Cars not possessing these advantages are out of date as soon as they are adopted. The value is already depreciated because the Hudson "33" now has the features others do not possess. The way to make a safe purchase is to get a New Self-Starting Hudson "33."

Appearance is quite as important as are the mechanical details. That adds still another reason why you should choose the "One advanced car in three years," for it is famed for its beauty and the completeness of its equipment.

BUICK CARS ROUTED HERE.

Record Shipment Is Soon to Start for West.

Howard Plans Big Things When Cars Arrive.

Local Branch Has Grown in Leaps and Bounds.

"The trainload of fifty double-decked carloads of Buicks for the Howard Automobile Company will surely move as scheduled on the 25th," said Manager F. S. Howard of the Howard Automobile Company, yesterday. "While we naturally feel proud of the distinction attending the handling on a cash basis of the largest shipment of automobiles ever made in the world, it was not in this idea that this record-breaking transaction had its conception.

"Notwithstanding that the Buick plant is the largest automobile factory on earth, and with but two exceptions is the largest manufacturing establishment of any character in the world, and regardless of the fact that the Buick Motor Company is the largest shipper of first-class freight in the world, there has never yet been one season that we have been able to meet the great demand for Buick cars.

"While our Buick allotment for 1912 is larger than any previous year owing to the factory's increased facilities and production, this trainload we are getting is just that number of automobile in excess of what we should have gotten otherwise, and there will be just 230 more satisfied 1912 Buick owners."

BIG GROWTH.

One of the most remarkable examples of business growth in Los Angeles is furnished by the Howard Automobile Company, Buick distributors. The concern has just opened its new warehouse at No. 1701 San Fernando street.

In January of 1909, the Howard Automobile Company opened a branch of their San Francisco house at No. 1806 South Main street. Business grew with such rapidity that by November of the same year they found it necessary to move to larger quarters, so their location was changed to No. 1144 South Olive street. It was here that the Howard Automobile Company received their first solid trainload of Buick cars, nearly 100 out of this shipment being delivered from their building in less than a week.

These quarters, however, proved very inadequate for the ever-increasing volume of Buick sales, and just fifteen months later, or in February of 1911, the company moved to their present location on the northwest corner of Tenth and Olive streets, which is one of the largest salesrooms in the city.

For some time past, however, C. S. Howard has realized that it is practically impossible to adequately supply the market for Buick cars by single carload shipments, however closely they follow each other, and to prevent as much as possible the disappointment caused by being unable to fill their orders, the company has set a new record in automobile shipments, ordering over $300,000 worth of machines in one trainload.

To properly house this immense number of cars and facilitate handling larger quantities of machines at a time, they inaugurated a warehouse plan. This warehouse contains 10,000 square feet, has private driveways and a spur track to private unloading platform, and will be equipped with a modern wash rack and other facilities for the quick handling of machines.

GOLF NOTES.

BY ALMA WHITAKER.

Feeling is running very high in Britain just now over the new rules for the open championship, which are declared by the professionals and a great many amateurs to be hopelessly unworkable.

A committee of amateurs governs this great international meeting but the entries comprise about 90 per cent. professionals from various parts of the world. The latter naturally feel that they should have a say in matters, more particularly since under amateur authority there has always been ample room for improvement.

The new scheme put forward by the committee for this year's event on the famous Westward Ho! links in Devonshire, is a long-drawn-out, tedious affair by which the meeting will last nearly ten days, thus wasting a good deal of precious time for the professionals, during which they won't be able to practice.

In addition to this class distinctions are peculiarly marked in England to an embarrassing degree. The amateurs always enjoy all the courtesies and privileges of the club, as befits reputable members of other clubs, while the professionals—well, do not! So there would appear to be trouble ahead in tory-democratic England.

Of course times are not sufficiently socialistic in England yet for the professional to claim the courtesies of the club as a member, but he is very loudly and persistently claiming a share in the government of the meeting. As the amateurs are proving so inept, he will probably get it.

For the benefit of all those Southern Californian stars of golf who may be considering the advisability of going over to wipe out Harry Vardon, I may add that the date fixed is Thursday, June 20, for the qualifying stages, and the championship proper on June 24 and 25.

French Championships.

And the dates for the French open championship are July 1 and 2, while those for the amateur honors are July 4, 5 and 6. Both events will take place on the beautiful La Boulie links at Versailles.

So that will make a very nice little European trip, just in time for the fag end of the London season, too.

Freak Golf.

A well-known English golfer has won a considerable wager by playing from Broom Hill, Sheffield (Sheffield is half as big again as Los Angeles) through the streets of the city to the ninth hole of the Abbeydale Club's links in 150 strokes or less. And he did it with 30 strokes to spare!

He started out at 4 a.m. (could you get Norman Macbeth to do that?) and finished just before 6 a.m. His most serious obstacles and hazards were the trolley cars, that interfered with his game disgustingly, cutting two balls all to pieces. Otherwise he had no broken windows or casualties of any description. All the same we would not recommend this style of play for Los Angeles.

Strenuous!

Another earnest soul backed himself to go around the Sunningdale course in an hour, holing out at every green. Sunningdale is all of 18-holes. With relays of caddies he succeeded, doing the lot in forty-nine minutes, and his score was one above the record for the course.

Could you get Arthur Braly to do that?

Then there are the gentlemen who play all day—119 holes between 4:30 a.m., and 6:40 p.m., and those others who played fourteen rounds of a nine-hole course without pausing even for drinks!

As feats of endurance they are heroically masculine—as golf they don't amount to much.

Study, Boys, Study!

"Most of our best players have never read a line about golf," says a gentleman that finds out these little things. "They would no more think of reading how the game should be played than they would of teaching a baby how to walk by looking at pictures."

So we can only conclude that all those kindly experts who have been flooding the world with golf logic and instructive literature for the last ten years have not been catering to "our best players." From the floods, mountains, oceans of the stuff we can't help thinking that "most of our best golfers" have spent their time writing it instead of reading it. Which doubtless pays better.

Holes in One.

I am getting sick of these stories of holes in one, aren't you? Here's a man named J. A. H. Jackson getting his name in the papers for doing two holes on two separate courses, 150 and 154 yards respectively, in one, during the same month. I call that a vulgar display of talent, don't you?

Golf, the Seducer.

And now a British Cabinet Minister makes public speech in the House of Commons, to the effect that golf with its insidious seductions, is the cause of the falling off in volunteers to the Territorial army. Where formerly a man served his country he now serves golf and the country be—well, Germanized!

6-Cylinder Popular Price Cars Are Bound to Predominate

It is folly to pay over $1500 for a "Four" when you can buy this "Six" for $1900 equipped

It is far more profitable to be in the automobile vanguard than away back where you have to sit down.

Why on earth any rational man will allow himself to be talked into paying more than $1500 for a four cylinder automobile is more than we can understand. If it is prejudice that keeps you from admitting the superiority of a six cylinder over a four, then it is high time you were awakening to the biggest fact in present-day motor development.

Mitchells have been alive to this refinement. For three years they have been perfecting, proving, producing "Sixes," until today, they are undeniably the leaders in moderate priced "Sixes."

The "Little Six" is built for Five Passengers. Its long-stroke, six cylinder motor, develops 40 Horsepower. Its purr is as soothing and quiet as a kitten's and its velvet smooth running is only equalled by an electric. It is long—125 inch wheel base, as lithe and graceful as a gazelle. Luxuriously furnished and finished as any car made.

It has everything any owner should want in an automobile, unless he wants to squander his money, for its price is only $1900. Think of it, only $1900!

STANFORD AFTER BLOOD.

Nearly Two Hundred Track Athletes Sign Up for Training at Mammoth Rally.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Jan. 19.—Stanford will have a big season in spring athletics if the rally that opened the season tonight is a sample of what will be doing during the next three months.

Nearly 200 men signed up for track work and seventy-five candidates for seats in the varsity and freshman shells signified their intention of indulging in the long grind of preparing for the intercollegiate regatta.

The rally was the most enthusiastic meeting that has attended the opening of the spring athletic season, in the memory of the present generation of students. Speeches were made by men prominent in athletics and student affairs and a great amount of "pep" was in evidence.

With the added facilities this season in both sports and the co-operation of the hygiene department in encouraging the men in the gymnasium classes to take up work on the track and in the boats, by allowing university credits for the work, an unusually large number of new men have been attracted to the sports.

Active track work under the direction of "Dad" Moulton and Capt. Coleman, and crew work, under the direction of the coaching committee, is to begin immediately. Seventy-five baseball men already are at work.

"Dad" Moulton asserts that there is room on the track team for 100 men, and he expects to develop the biggest and most balanced team that Stanford has turned out.

ANOTHER AUTO RACE.

Among important automobile races this year is a meet at Old Orchard Beach in Maine. There, on July 4, 5 and 6, motor cars will race at every standard distance known to promoters. Short sprints, long-distance drives and special record trials will all have a place on the card. The course will be 500 feet wide and two miles long, conditions that will permit of terrific speed. As every class of car will be raced according to the American Automobile Association provisions, a wide representation of manufacturers is assured.

Sioux City has selected February 26 to March 2 as dates for its show, so as to follow the Omaha and Minneapolis shows, and precede the Des Moines show.

SUPPLY MEN ON THE JUMP.

Slight Rain Causes Rush for Goods and Accessory House Is Hive of Busy Bees.

The usual number of out-of-town car owners and dealers were the guests of the Western Rubber and Supply Company during the past week. Among those who registered were the following: Albert Sitton Fullerton, Mr. Lind, Long Beach; H. W. Loud, Pomona; S. S. Beamon, Nordhoff; Bert Hatfield, Redlands; Richard Jones, Phoenix, Ariz.; M. H. Butcher, Santa Paula; Charles Lampkin, Ontario; R. B. Rogers, Gardena; A. G. Charle, Riverside; G. H. McCaddon, San Diego; W. H. Du Bois, Ontario; Nelson T. Shaw, Brawley; Roy Creighton, Upland; Josh Draper, San Bernardino; J. H. Bliss, Holtville; J. Otto Johnson, Montebello; L. W. Lovejoy, Burbank.

During the last few days the Western Rubber and Supply Company has been disposing of a large number of rain coats, cravenettes, skid-chains, gloves, and many other rainy weather necessities.

The employees are on the jump filling orders for out-of-town garage men. The great demand for auto supplies has made things hum for the Olive-street supply house. The concern is now the sole distributor for California, Arizona and New Mexico for Federal tires. This tire is manufactured by the Federal Rubber Manufacturing Company of Milwaukee, Wis., and is a product worthy of the consideration of every progressive automobile driver. Quality rubber is used in manufacturing these tires, the result, a finished product which will stand wear and tear that would suffice to destroy the ordinary tire. The last carload received was disposed of in four days.

The new G. & A. carburetor has proven so popular that it has been practically impossible to keep a sufficient number on hand to supply the demand.

Something of McVey.

Sam McVey, who may be Jack Johnson's next opponent in a heavyweight boxing contest, is a Californian, having hailed from Oxnard in Southern California. He was discovered by Billy Roche, a saloon man, who thought him a coming champion. He first attracted attention in 1902 and 1903 and on February 17, 1903, had his first bout with Johnson in Los Angeles, the present champion gaining the decision in twenty rounds. In October of the same year Johnson again won the decision. They fought again on April 22, 1904, at San Francisco, when Johnson won by a knockout in the twentieth round.

Ford

THERE are mighty practical reasons why every fifth motor car sold in the United States last year was a Ford Model T and why every third motor car built this year, in this country, will be a Ford Model T.

If you contemplate the purchase of a motor car, self interest will lead you to investigate the reasons why Ford Model T cars have been and are now in such tremendous demand.

More than 4,000 Ford dealers scattered all over this country and Ford branches in every principal city will give you in detail the reasons why Ford Model T is the car that will satisfy your every day wants.

Please keep in mind that the Ford Motor Company builds only ONE car—that is only ONE chassis—with five different bodies.

Ford Model T—the one car that is sold fully equipped with Top, Automatic Bras Windshield, Speedometer, Ford Magneto built into the Motor, Two 6-inch Gas Lamps, Generator, Three Oil Lamps, Horn, Tools.

FORTUNES POURED OUT ON NEW YORK GROUNDS

More than $2,500,000 is being spent on new baseball plants for the plans of Greater New York. The stadiums are either under way or under contemplation for the Giants, the Yankees and the Brooklyn Superbas. These and their cost are:

Giants' stadium, $1,000,000; Yankees' new park, $850,000; Brooklyn's new park, $750,000.

Within a year the three fields in Greater New York will be able to seat 110,000 fans in an afternoon. The Polo Grounds will seat 50,000; the Yankees' new park will seat 30,000, and the great stadium to be erected in Brooklyn will accommodate 30,000.

Should the United States League get into operation in 1912 and invade New York, two more big stadiums will be erected, one in New York proper and the other in Brooklyn. However, the paths of new baseball leagues are filled with trials and tribulations.

AUTOS IN AFRICA.

The automobile will soon be running over a section of the Congo territory, which echoes its tales of barbarous deeds of mutilation in connection with the harvesting of rubber by natives. Already the motor trolley has leapt out across portions of the land, the line threading dense forests. Preparations are on foot for the making of roads for automobiling, the contemplated scheme being to link up Broken Hill, Bwana Mkubwa and Luembe.

Rayo Lamp

It Never Flickers

The long winter evenings give a woman a splendid chance for sewing or embroidery; but her eyes suffer from the strain unless she has a good light.

The Rayo is the best lamp made.

It gives a strong, diffused light that is remarkably easy to the eyes.
There is no glare to it; no flicker. It lights up a whole room.
The Rayo is an economical lamp, too.

You get the most possible light-value for the oil burned; and the Rayo itself is a low-priced lamp. Yet it is a handsome lamp—an ornament to any room in the house.

The Rayo Lamp is easily lighted without removing shade or chimney; easy to clean and rewick. Made of solid brass, nickel-plated; also in numerous other styles and finishes.

Ask your dealer to show you his line of Rayo lamps; or write for descriptive circular to any agency of the

SILENCE PEERLESS COMFORT
ALL THAT THE NAME IMPLIES

"48—SIX" SEVEN PASSENGER

Peerless Years—Not Days the Peerless Test

No man spends as much money as a Peerless Automobile costs without first making what he considers to be a satisfactory investigation of the car and its capabilites. But no such preliminary testing of the Peerless can be made a measure of its true worth. When the car has tolled off its thousands and thousands of miles over all kinds of roads in all kinds of weather, you get a full realization of what a Peerless is—and not before. It takes time to prove a Peerless' worth—years, not days. The Peerless is all its name implies.

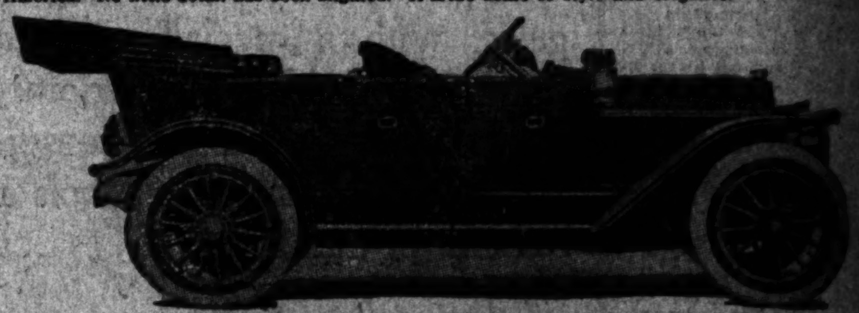
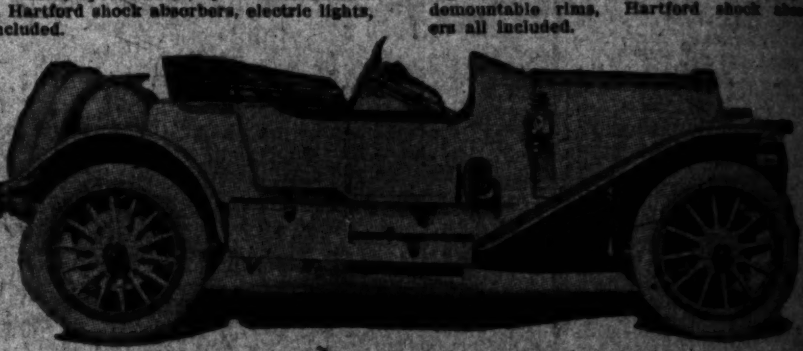
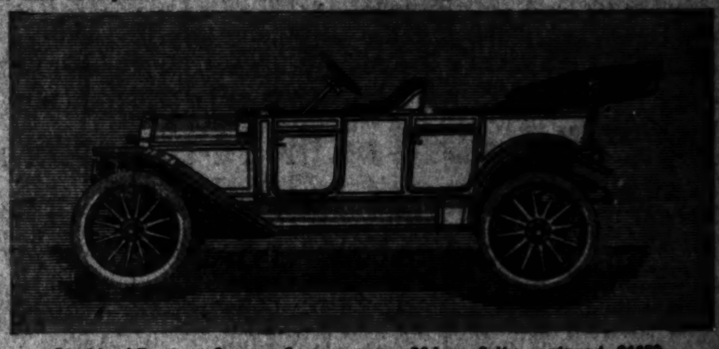
"38—SIX" FIVE PASSENGER "40—FOUR" SIX PASSENGER TORPEDO







Stoddard-Dayton

STODDARD-DAYTON "Saybrook" Limousine 7-Pass., 48 H.P. Ful'y Equipped $41
The very latest and smartest design in fore-door Limousine. The most richly finished [illegible] America. No little detail has been slighted. It isthe acme of style and elegance.

STODDARD-DAYTON 7-PASSENGER TOURING CAR

"Saybrook" 48 H. P. Fully Equipped $3000
Everything that the most exacting buyer could demand is embodied in this superb car. Quality, Performance and Durability are its bywords. Seven-passenger touring car fully and completely equipped, mohair top, rain vision glass front, speedometer, Q. D. demountable rims, Hartford shock absorbers, electric lights, all included.

"Special" 58 H. P. Fully Equipped [illegible]
Still the Touring Car unequaled. Its lines continue to surpass anything that has ever been produced in motordom. Equipped with either six or seven passenger bodies, mohair top, rain vision glass front, speedometer, seat covers, dynamo electric lighting outfit, electric and bulb horns, Q. D. demountable rims, Hartford shock absorbers all included.

STODDARD-DAYTON COMPARTMENT TORPEDO

"Saybrook" 48 H. P. Fully Equipped $2850
An entirely new model, designed for the man whose carrying requirements are not over two passengers. The body is excessively roomy, in fact, wider than any model we build. At rear of car is a luggage compartment, which can be gotten into only by pulling forward the back of the seats. This insures protection absolutely, water and dust proof.

"Savey" 30 H. P. Fully Equipped [illegible]
Patterned after our larger model, this new style of roadster is taking like a whirlwind everywhere it is seen. The body is extra wide, while the seat is placed far from the dash, giving it more room than is found in most cars of the same wheel base. An ideal car for two persons to tour in. The most satisfactory roadster equipment that has been brought out this season.

Stoddard-Dayton Savey, 5 passenger, 30-h.p., fully equipped, $1650
If you desire to own a car that will fill your every requirement, and at the least possible cost, we offer you this five-passenger 30 H. P. "Savey." Its motor has power enough to take you anywhere you want to go. Fully equipped, mohair, top, wind shield, speedometer, Bosch magneto, Prestolite tank, 34x4 tires, nickel trimmings, all included.
Immediate Deliveries on All of the Above Models.

BEACHY DOES STUNTS.

tors, and skimmed off in the distance like a swallow.

Los Angeles fans remember the great sights displayed one and two years ago, and were calloused to a degree, as far as regular flying was concerned.

Beachey first appeared in an exhibition flight, betwen Glen Martin of Santa Ana, W. Cook and himself.

Mayor Alexander, with a flag in his hand, started the three machines. Two laps of the course were made and the other aviators had made good landings directly in front of the grand stand. Beachey was still in the air and flying at a terrific pace about the course.

Suddenly as he came in front of the grand stand the gyrations began. Spectators thought that he had lost control of his biplane. It swung around almost within its own length. It dropped and swooped and turned and twisted until the crowd yelled like mad for the very enjoyment of the man's skill.

He waved his hands at the spectators and swung his great air bird back and forth like a rocking chair as he dipped and turned.

It was the first taste of the great skill of the present day aviators over those of one and two years ago.

Beachey's machine answered every motion of his body and arms like a thing of life. It reminded one of the uncanny skill of Walter Brookins of last year, the young man who, when he was not sulking, did things in the air that have not been equaled on Dominguez Field until yesterday.

PROGRAMME STARTS ON TIME.

The programme was started promptly. Manager Ferris arrived from Los Angeles at 2 o'clock, grim and dusty after a hard motor drive. There were about 10,000 people present at that time, and every steam and electric car and train brought thousands more.

Mayor Alexander arrived shortly after Ferris. There were five machines in the air at the time and while they were merely flying for the fun of the thing, the spectators were enthralled by the beautiful sight when they came close together.

Following the official beginning of the meet, Glen H. Martin drove his biplane in front of the grand stand and took up the first United States mail by aerial post that has been carried in California.

The mail bag was heavy with the post cards and letters which had been sent out by the spectators. Martin made a beautiful start and sailed away toward Compton. He flew over the center of Compton and dropped the mail bag to a man on the ground and then flew back to the field. Every hour this same programme was carried out.

FISH WINS ENDURANCE.

Farnum I. Fish, the boy aviator, started with Cliff Turpin and Howard Gill on an endurance flight. Fish kept to the field and circled round and round hour after hour, somewhat like Hubert Latham of last year. Turpin and Gill flew across country and were lost to the sight of the crowd for hours.

Fish won the day's endurance flight when he alighted at 4:25 o'clock, having started at 1:55 p.m. Turpin and Gill were forced to descend owing to engine trouble.

About 3 o'clock in the afternoon a balloon could be seen coming from Watts. It was the Topeka II in charge of Frank Jacobs, and Hugh Stephens. It was in view for an hour and then disappeared over the San Pedro hills.

Phil Parmalee made an attempt at altitude, but when 5000 feet in the air found that his barograph was not working properly and descended. He will make an attempt today with everything in perfect order.

The five-mile handicap between Parmalee, Beachey and Martin was a terrific contest. Beachey won it, but under protest of Martin, who charged him with cutting corners within the pylons and the contest was called off. Beachey had the faster machine and would probably have defeated Parmalee and Martin had he not cut corners.

AERIAL PIGEON SHOOTING.

Frank Stites of Los Angeles in a modified Curtiss machine and using for the first time in an aviation meet a Macomber rotary engine, the only rotary engine made in America, made several excellent flights, and while he is a new aviator, showed excellent control.

A spectacular scene was created when Parmalee and Martin went aloft carrying shot guns and pigeons were released as the machines passed over head.

Warren Wood, commodore of the South Coast Yacht Club, rode as a passenger with Parmalee and succeeded in shooting several of the birds. Martin drove alone but was successful in landing one or two of the birds.

Miss Blanche Stuart Scott, the only woman aviator entered, made a sensation as she appeared upon the field. She was given an ovation, and waved gaily to the great crowd which banked the grand stand. She made a beautiful ascension in Glen Martin's biplane and drove over the field at will. She made the famous "right-hand turn" which it had been charged she could not do.

The afternoon's sport ended in a race between a man, a motorcycle, an automobile and an aeroplane. The motorcycle won.

There was a great improvement shown in the handling of the crowds as compared with last year. A half-dozen big auto trucks were kept constantly running from the foot of the incline to the grand stand. These were free and thousands took advantage of them.

FREE-FOR-ALL RACE.

The five-mile free-for-all race between Beachey, Parmalee and Martin was won by Beachey, his official time as announced by the judges being 7 minutes and 15 seconds. Martin, who was second, completed the course in 8 minutes and 15 seconds, and Parmelee, third, in 8 minutes 30 seconds.

Of all the aerial stunts of the opening day, the "figure eight" contest between Beachey and Parmelee proved the most spectacular. Racing through the air just above the grand stand and then back and forth, Beachey made a speed of nearly eighty miles an hour, as estimated by experts on the field.

The judges announced his time for three figure eights as 1 minute and 27 seconds. Parmelee's time was given as 3 minutes and 10 2-5 seconds.

PARMELEE DOING STUNTS.

Traveling at an estimated speed of fifty miles an hour, Parmelee several times hypnotised the crowd as he swung over the grand stand close to the heads of the spectators. While cutting one of his capers he made a low dive and a man who happened to be leaving the field in an automobile ducked his head, to the amusement of the crowd.

Fish, the son of Dr. Cook of Los Angeles, was up in the air for 2 hours and 24 minutes. Turpin's time was 2 hours and 10 minutes and Cook's time 2 hours. When he landed in front of the judges' stand at 4:20 he received the applause of the thousands assembled.

Weldon B. Cook, an Oakland young man only 27 years old, has been flying only four months and is the first native son to get a pilot's license, which he received just two weeks ago. His record of remaining two hours in the air after so short an experience in flying, like that of young Fish, is considered wonderful.

A Vershuren, a French aviator of New York, who is here for the meet, says his French Bleriot monoplane will arrive from New York this morning. It will be the only monoplane on the field and he hopes to make some records in both the endurance and speed contests.

BIG MEET OPENS WITH LONG PARADE.

The first genuine dyed-in-the-wool aviation parade ever held in California began yesterday morning at 10:30 o'clock, as a prelude to the great aviation meet which opened in the afternoon at Dominguez Field.

The parade was more than two miles in length, and represented practically every method of transportation from the camel and burro down to the elephant, prairie schooner, stage-coach, one-horse shay, cowboys, bicycles, motorcycles, magnificent automobiles to an aeroplane, the latter being hauled on a big truck.

The parade brought out several thousand people, and the streets were lined for block after block by eager spectators, who immensely enjoyed the spectacle.

The order of procedure in which the parade passed The Times office was as follows:

Brass band of forty pieces, camel, elephant, Indians on horseback, stagecoach, prairie schooner drawn by oxen, ten cowboys on horseback, modern wagon, one-horse shay, brass band of fifty pieces, children on ponies, high-wheel bicycle, old-fashion safety bicycle, motorcycle several 1912 models of automobiles and finally Harry Schiller's monoplane on a big four-horse truck.

A score of prominent organizations contributed to the success of the pegeant. The Selig Polyscope Company contributed the camels and elephants, and Turkish attendants. The Indians came from the 101 Ranch Show, now wintering at Venice, and the Out-West Club, sent a number of members.

The parade ended at noon and the aviators who participated hurried immediately to Dominguez Field and the aeroplane belonging to Harry Schiller, which was in the parade, was taken rapidly to the field on a big motor truck.

The stadium that is to be erected at Yale is to have a seating capacity of 60,000 and will cost about $300,000.

FLYING SPARKS OF MOTORDOM.

Two more entries have been received for the 500-mile International Sweepstakes race, to be held at Indianapolis on May 30, bringing the total to five.

A special committee of the Portland (Or.) City Councils has been at work on a set of traffic rules designed to relieve congestion on streets in the business districts.

It is expected that 10,000 automobiles will be registered in Oregon during 1912. Up to December 1, $27,241 was collected fr m fees, and it is believed that the number of vehicles registered at present is 6000. The new numbers have black figures on a green background instead of yellow and black as last year.

February 2 to March 3—one week earlier than last year—are the dates selected for the second annual Mississippi Valley automobile show, to be held at Quincy, Ill., by the Quincy Automobile Club. The stone pavilion at Highland Park will again be used. This is a fireproof structure having 20,000 feet of floor space.

Seven hundred motorists of Lowell, Mass., and vicinity, are perfecting an organization among themselves. The purposes of the organization are to secure road and street improvements, assist in obtaining favorable laws and in opposing unfavorable legislation and generally to promote the interests of users of motor vehicles.

Dealers at Davenport, Iowa; Rock Island and Moline, Ill., have organized a Tri-State Association. Dubuque (Iowa) dealers have formed an association.

In ten months American makers have shipped to other countries 12,196 automobiles, worth almost $13,000,000, with Canada accounting for about a third of it.

A short bill for amending the motor car act has been introduced into the British Parliament, which will relieve drivers of automobiles of the necessity of taking out duplicate licenses. Men are obliged, under the present system, to take out a police-driving license, in addition to the ordinary license from the City Council, a fee being exacted in both cases.

Announcement by the Wisconsin Highway Commission that $1,250,000 will be expended during 1912 for highway improvement has surprised even the most enthusiastic supporters of State aid, and proves that the State aid law is being received in a most gratifying manner. Never before in Wisconsin has there been so great a proposed expenditure for highway work.

Applications for sanctions are coming in slowly to the contest board of the American Automobile Association, and it is likely to be some little time before the schedule is fully arranged. One of the most notable applications thus far received is from the Elgin Automobile Racing Association, to hold the Elgin national stock car championships at Elgin, Ill., August 30 and 31.

FREDDIE WELSH HURT.

ence Hall and several friends. Patten was seconded by Bill Huddy of the Columbia Club, and Benny Soloman.

In the sixth round Rees knocked Patten down hard with a good right-hand punch to the jaw, and the referee stopped the fight. Rees had too much experience for him.

MAIN EVENT.

Before the last fight, between Roscoe Taylor and Charlie Dalton, Bert Fagan, a fine looking middleweight, was introduced and challenged any one in his class. He was followed by Joe Meyers, who challenged any man in the world at 133 pounds.

Ad Wolgast, who was sitting in the back part of the arena, was then called for, and on entering the ring got a great hand. When called on for a speech he said that the first time he fought again, he expected it would be in the Vernon ring. Frankie Conley, who is to meet Johnny Coulon for the championship of the world at Vernon on February 22, was then introduced and got his usual send-off. Needless to say that Frankie is a popular little fellow, and got his share of the hand clapping. Jim Jeffries was then called for by the crowd, but sat quietly in his seat with Frank Chance, Henry Berry and Tom Jones, and refused to be introduced.

Dalton looked a little drawn when he squared off and Taylor looked out of condition. Taylor is a long rangy fellow with a wicked left hand that he used with good effect in the first round, and showed poor judgment by not following up this advantage throughout the fight.

Taylor started to slug from the beginning but Dalton could not stop him. Taylor is a wonder to take punishment. Dalton does not seem to punch as hard as of old.

In round 6 Dalton did something that seldom happens in ending a fight. He knocked Taylor out with a straight left hand punch to the jaw. His seconds then threw the sponge into the ring as George Blake was counting off the seconds.

WELSH'S INJURY.

The accident to Freddie Welsh occurred Friday.

From a statement made by Dick Wheeler, his trainer, it seems that he and Freddie were pulling and hauling each other around the ring, and Freddie got a kink in his neck.

After he was rubbed down he took a ride on a motorcycle out to Santa Monica canyon, and on the way back he rode about thirty miles an hour, and the probabilities are that he took cold in his neck.

Wheeler said that late Friday night he complained that he had little feeling on one side of his body and that his neck hurt him. They worked on him until 4 o'clock the next morning, then called in a doctor and he advised Welsh to call the match off. McCarey was notified and substituted Dick Wheeler and Young Ketchel to take the place of Welsh and Waugh.

NO SUBSTITUTE HANDY.

McCarey tried to get a substitute for Waugh, but when it came to make a match, Will Champion demanded as much as Welsh was to get for his end. McCarey would not stand for this, so Champion demanded Welsh's forfeit money for weight and appearance. Champion said that he had been out $150 for training expenses and that he was entitled to something for his trouble as he had Waugh in good condition and was ready to keep his contract, which seems reasonable enough, and he further said that if he got what he asked for he would not demand the forfeit from Welsh.

There was a dispute at the weighing-in time. Champion said that if Welsh did not weigh in at the appointed time he would claim the forfeit money.

A fair crowd appeared at the Vernon Arena, despite the fact that the sports knew the Waugh-Welsh fight was called off, and everybody went away pretty well satisfied. A big crowd would have [illegible] in attendance if Welsh and [illegible] had fought.

Before the fights started [illegible] Carey entered the ring and [illegible] it was no fault of his that Welsh [illegible] hurt, and that if anyone was [illegible] fied he could get his money [illegible] at the door, but no one [illegible] Arena.

New Greek Star.

Marathon runners from the [illegible] States and other countries, [illegible] reported, meet a real star at the [illegible] tance game next summer [illegible] holm in a young Greek named [illegible] who a short time ago showed [illegible] form in the Victoria Marathon [illegible] twenty-six miles 385 yards, [illegible] bourne, Australia, which he [illegible] in 2 hours, 59 minutes. He [illegible] claimed, can run the distance [illegible] hours and 35 minutes on a [illegible] day.

Emperor Pu Out.

J. Clarence Fletcher, a [illegible] dian, heads the successful [illegible] Japanese horse racing and [illegible] the right of sovereignty [illegible] sing principle on occasion [illegible] contrary to all etiquette [illegible] horses of the emperor. [illegible] tion was relieved when his [illegible] majesty withdrew from racing [illegible] own name and colors. In [illegible] and Prussia the ruling sovereigns [illegible] the other view, their horses [illegible] tered in many of the races.

Big Ice Rink.

Johannesburg has a great [illegible] rink. The building [illegible] ice sports and embraces the [illegible] clubhouse and is practically [illegible] square. The rink itself [illegible] square feet, being 180 feet [illegible] 80 feet wide. DOROTHY DEERE

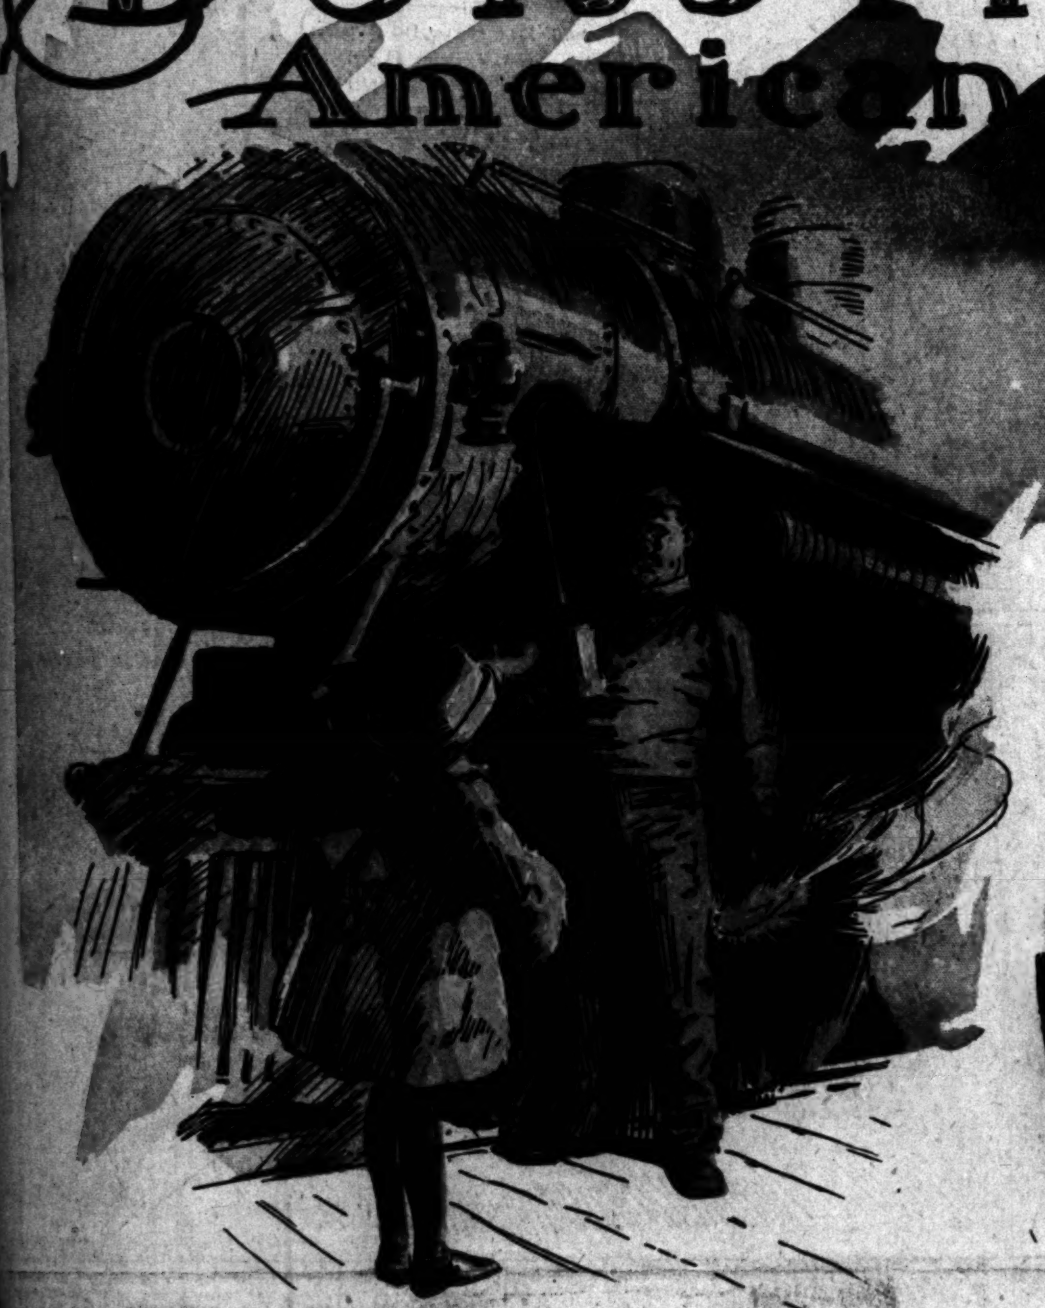
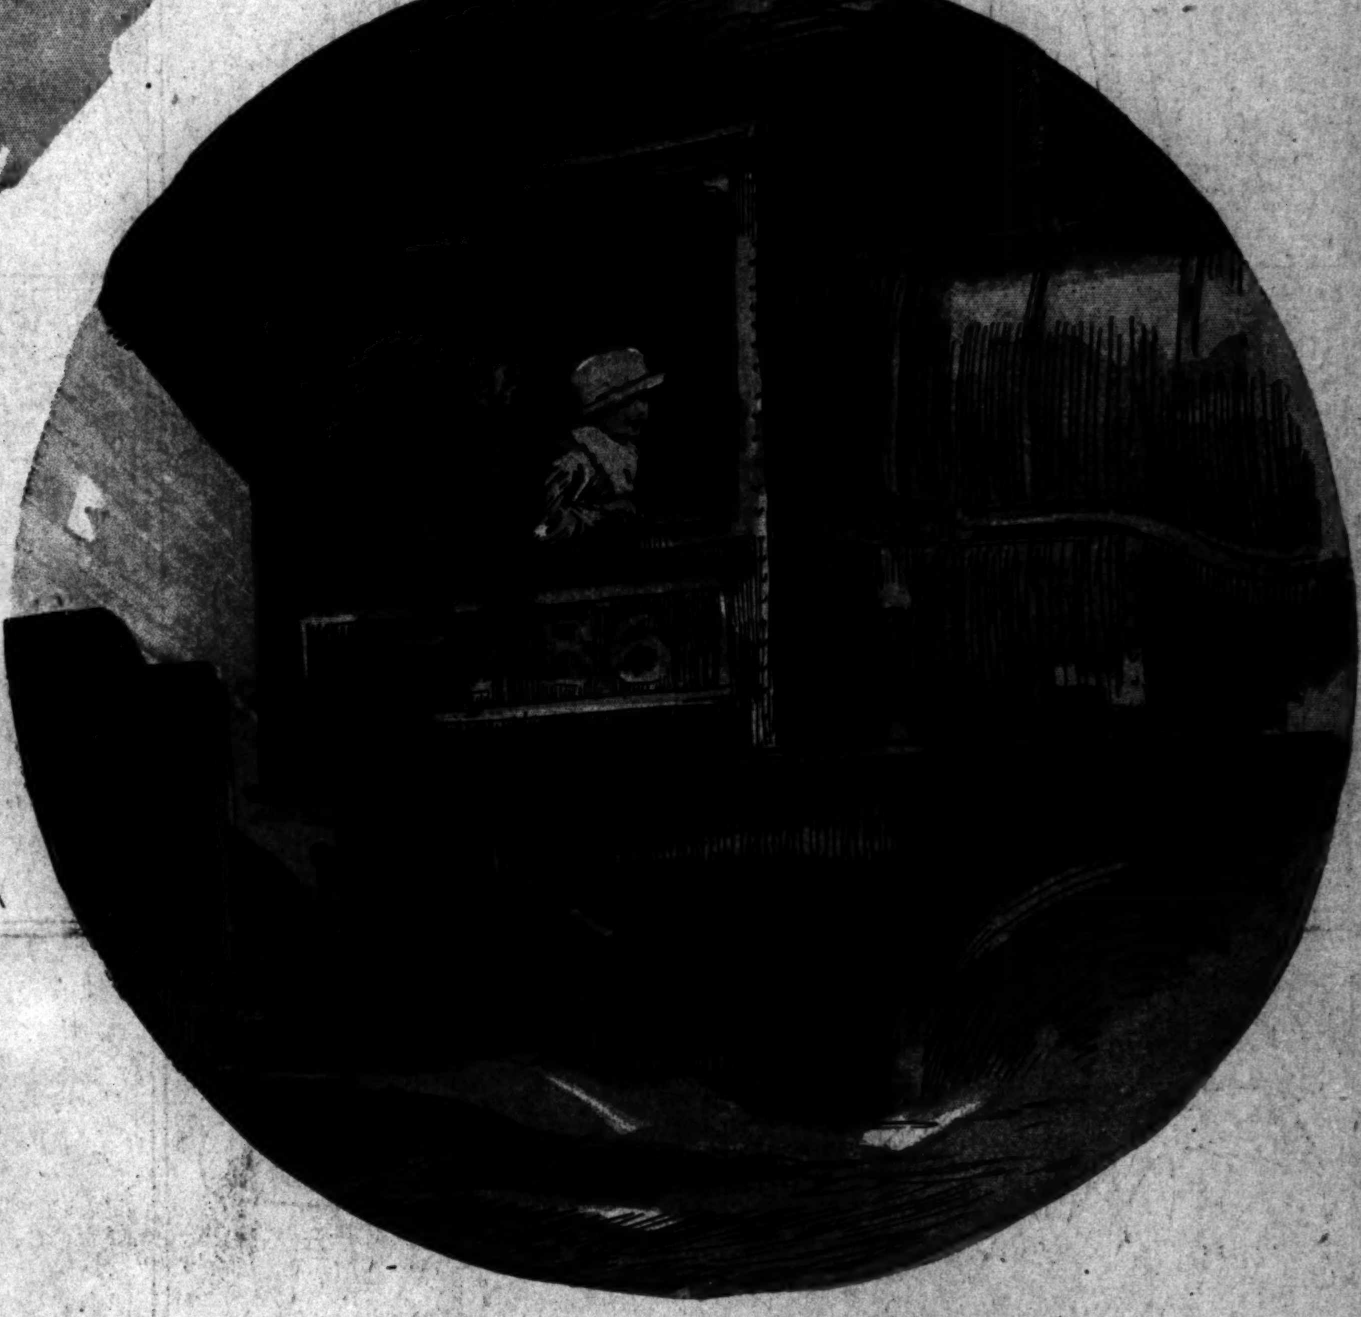
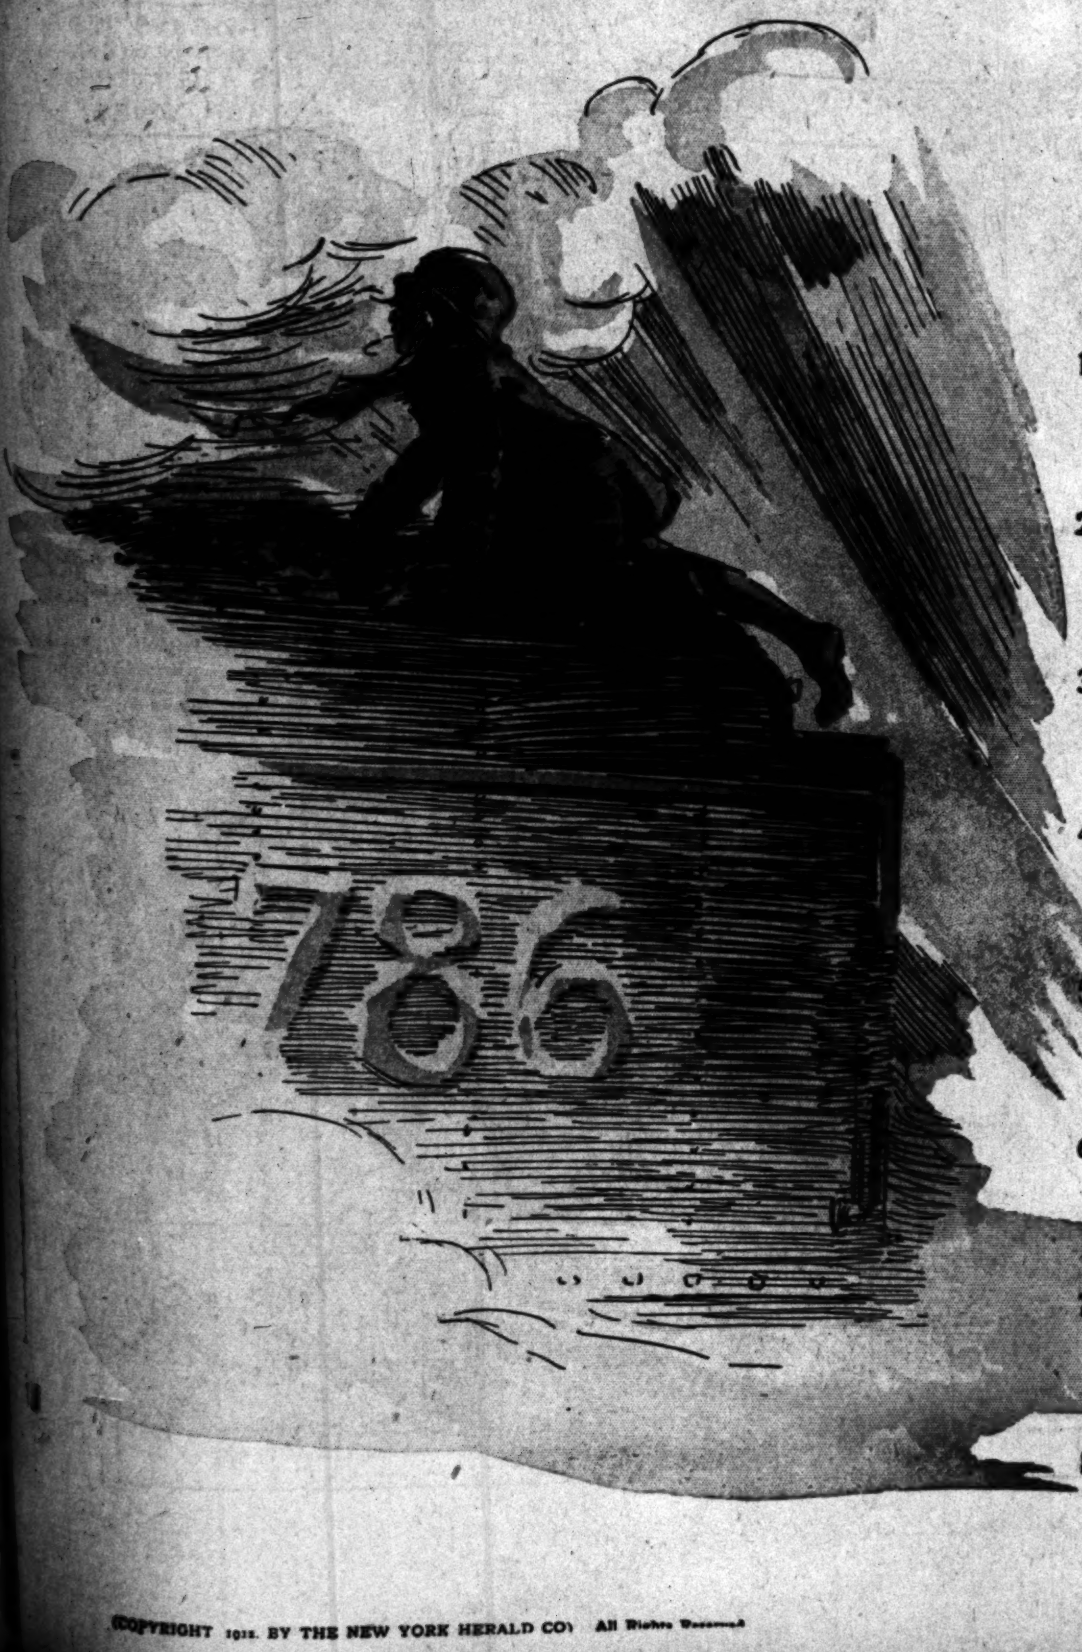
American Girl







1.—When pretty Dolly Deere was ten unquiet was her mind.
She thirsted for adventure, the most thrilling she could find,
And was always looking for it in the things that came her way.
And was ever disappointed till one bright and happy day—

2.—When she had an inspiration—what it was you couldn't guess—
'Twas to ride upon the engine of some famous night express!
Pleased as Punch she trotted, happy with anticipative cheer,
To the station, there to conquer the astonished engineer.

3.—"Please, Mr. Engineer," said she, "I want to ride with you!"
The man stared dumbly at her, but whatever could he do?
He spoke of "rules" and "orders"; Dolly looked at him and sighed.
"Well, I guess—this once—I'll break 'em; just this once," the driver cried

4.—So our Dolly sat beside him as the engine dashed along
'Mid the thunder overwhelming of its own terrific song,
'Mid the glare of blinding flashes, and the heat and smoke and spark—
Dolly Deere sat with the driver as they hurtled through the dark

5.—She saw the trees throb by her and the houses flashing by,
And she saw the engine stoking with a fascinated eye.
Then the driver looked behind him and a shout went through the air.
He pushed a lever, stopped the train, for Dolly wasn't there.

6.—The engineer was frantic as he dashed upon the ground;
The passengers, in panic, fainted everywhere around,
When suddenly the driver looked about and tore his hair—
Dolly Deere was smiling at him from a velvet Pullman chair

7.—She explained it in a little, when her breath had come again.
She had crept across the engine to the body of the train,
Where a stout and cheerful gentleman, with smiling energy,
Outdid himself in efforts to amuse small Dorothy.

8.—'Twas that fact that saved the driver, for the entertaining man
Was the railroad's mighty president, who chuckled and began:—
"You've broken your rules, Mr. Driver, I know,
But you are forgiven, for—say—
I think, if she tried, she could get the whole road with her cunning American way!"

THAT'S A FINE STOVE, GEORGE, BUT YOU MUST HAVE A PIPE.
George
LETS USE GRANDFATHER'S PIPE.
NOW, BUILD YOUR FIRE AND DON'T BE SLOW.
GRANDFATHER'S PIPE WILL DRAW I KNOW.

YS, COME AND MY SNOW MAN.
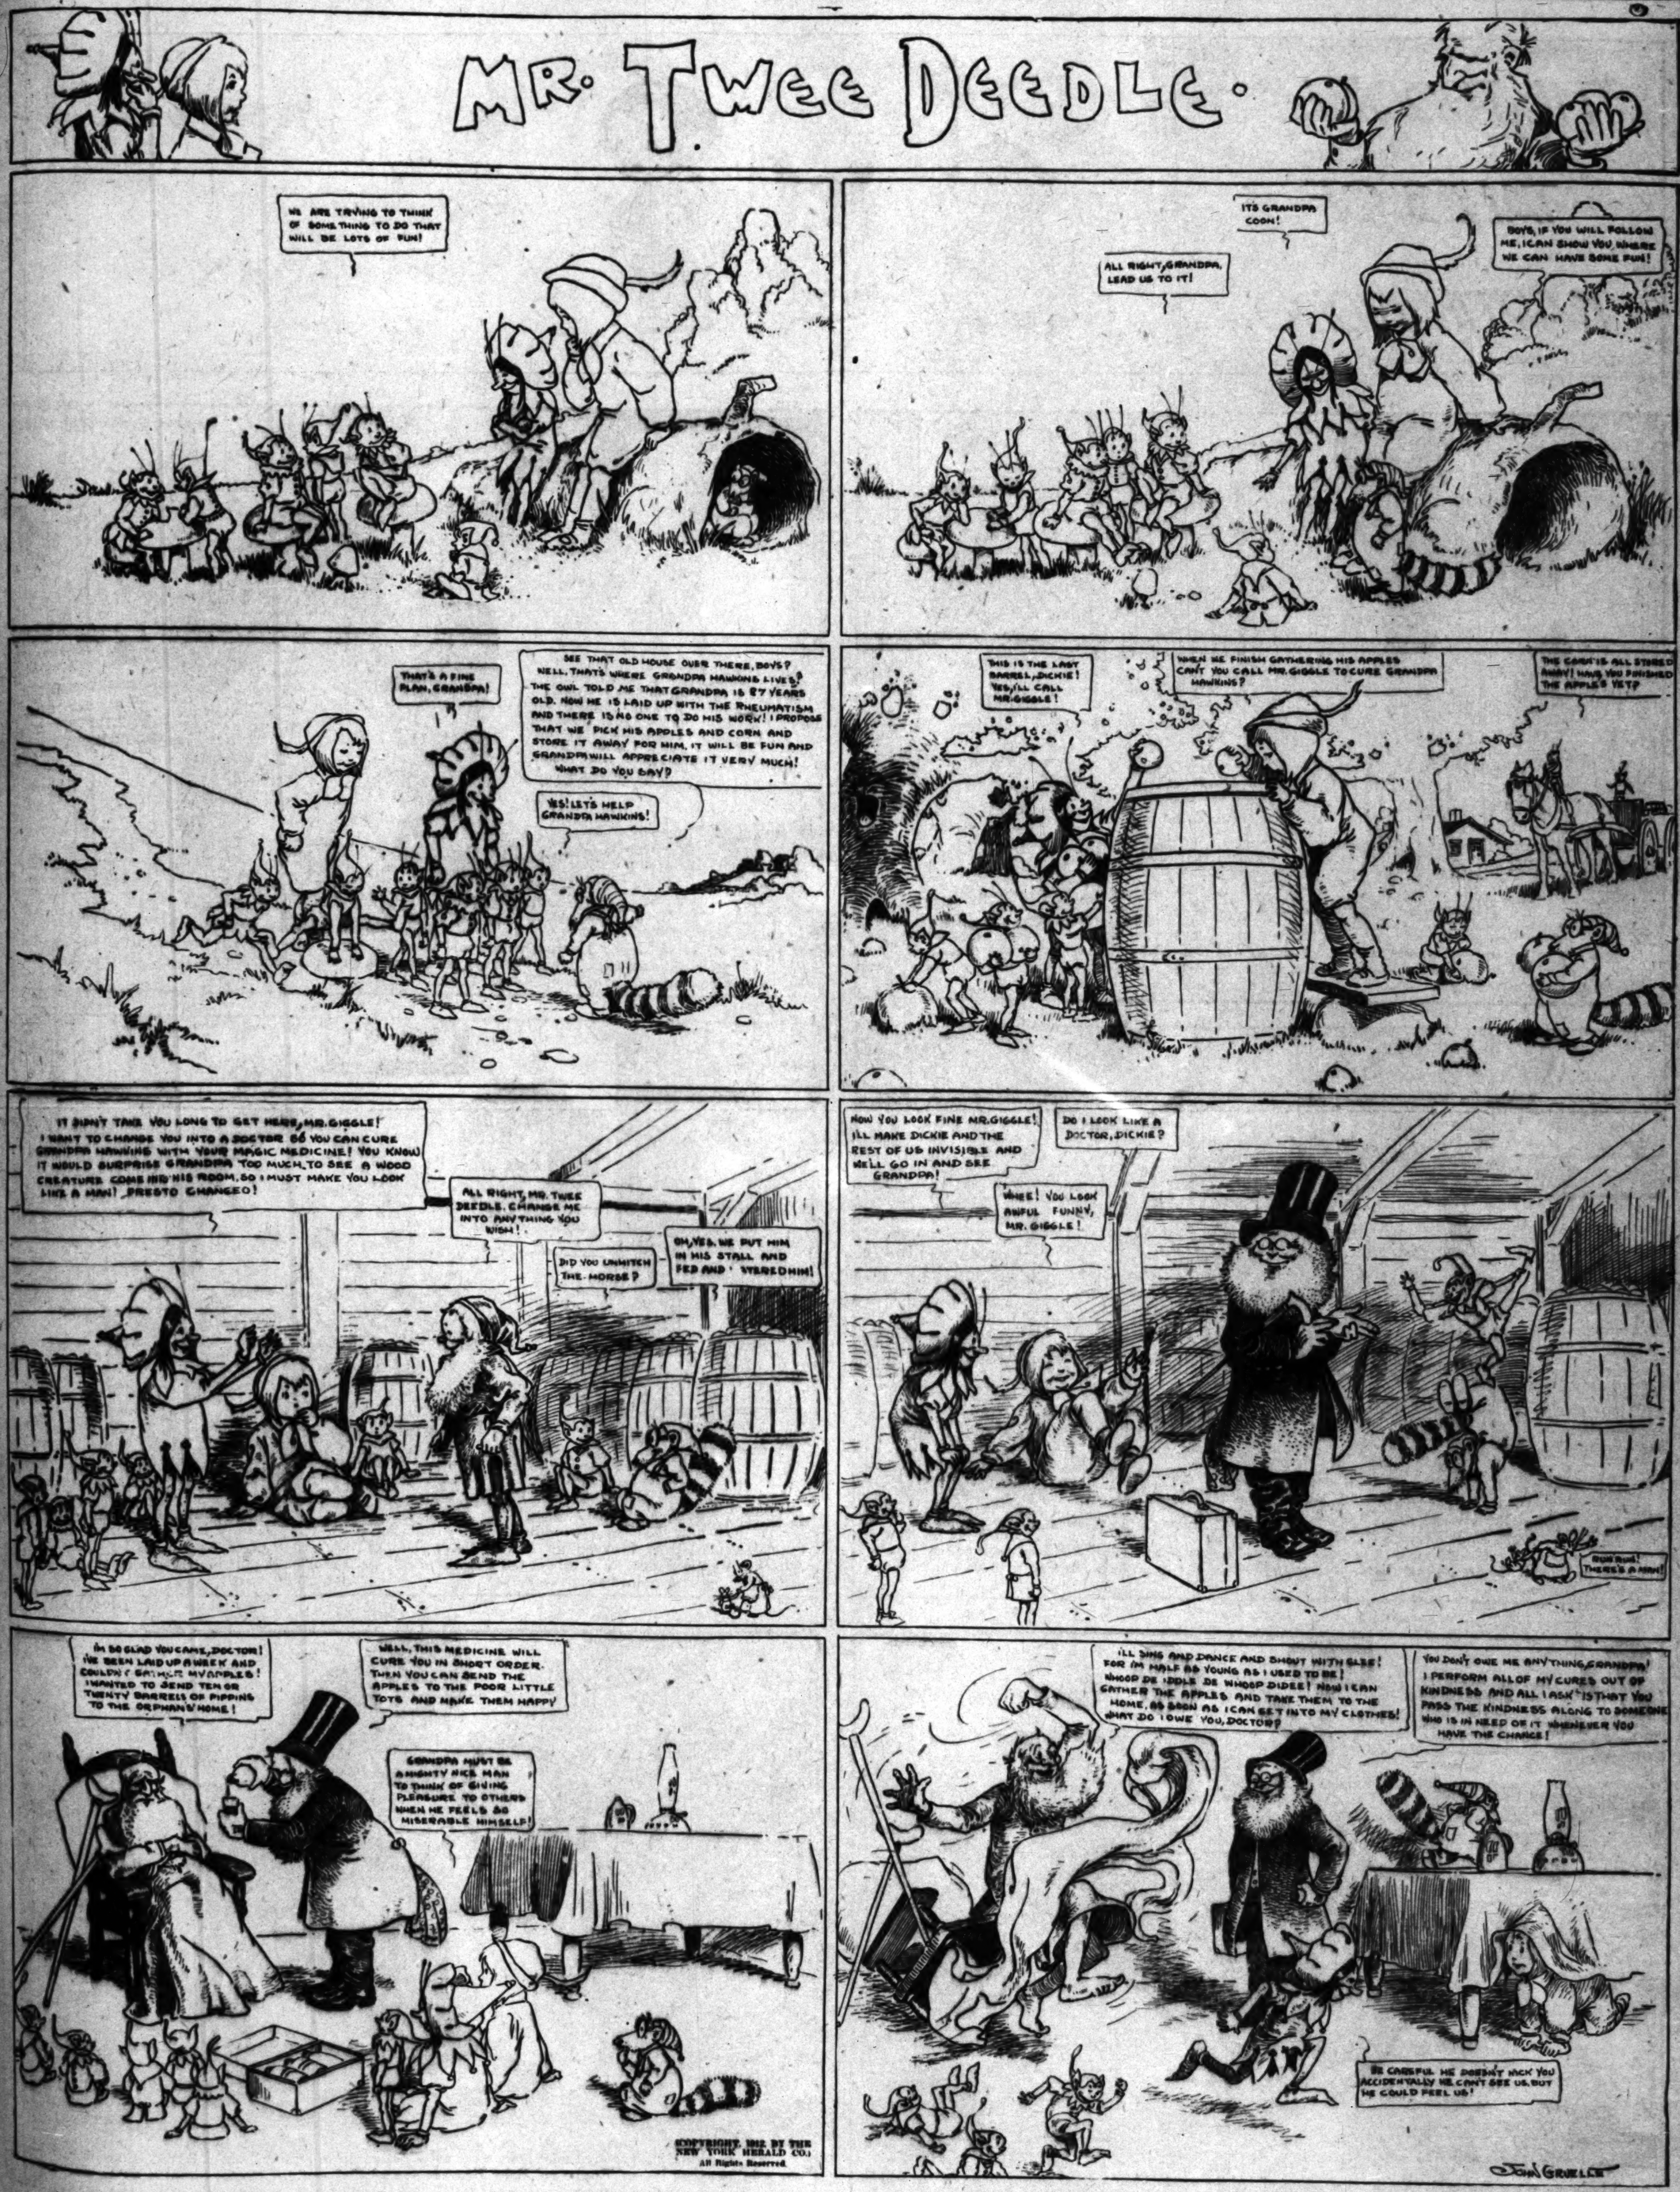
LOOK OUT BRER RABBIT.
HERE, BOYS, SEE MY SNOW MAN. T'S A BETTER ONE THAN YOURS.
DO YOU
NCLE MUN?
GRANDFATHER'S PIPE WILL DRAW I KNOW.



MR. TWEE DEEDLE.
WE ARE TRYING TO THINK OF SOMETHING TO DO THAT WILL BE LOTS OF FUN!
BOYS, IF YOU WILL FOLLOW ME, I CAN SHOW YOU WHERE WE CAN HAVE SOME FUN!
IT'S GRANDPA COON!
ALL RIGHT, GRANDPA, LEAD US TO IT!
THAT'S A FINE PLAN, GRANDPA!
SEE THAT OLD HOUSE OVER THERE, BOYS? WELL, THAT'S WHERE GRANDPA HAWKINS LIVES! THE OWL TOLD ME THAT GRANDPA IS 87 YEARS OLD. NOW HE IS LAID UP WITH THE RHEUMATISM AND THERE IS NO ONE TO DO HIS WORK! I PROPOSE THAT WE PICK HIS APPLES AND CORN AND STORE IT AWAY FOR HIM, IT WILL BE FUN AND GRANDPA WILL APPRECIATE IT VERY MUCH! WHAT DO YOU SAY?
YES! LET'S HELP GRANDPA HAWKINS!
THIS IS THE LAST BARREL, DICKIE! YES, I'LL CALL MR. GIGGLE!
WHEN WE FINISH GATHERING HIS APPLES CAN'T YOU CALL MR. GIGGLE TO CURE GRANDPA HAWKINS?
THE CORN IS ALL STORED AWAY! HAVE YOU FINISHED THE APPLES YET?
IT DIDN'T TAKE YOU LONG TO GET HERE, MR. GIGGLE! I WANT TO CHANGE YOU INTO A DOCTOR SO YOU CAN CURE GRANDPA HAWKINS WITH YOUR MAGIC MEDICINE! YOU KNOW IT WOULD SURPRISE GRANDPA TOO MUCH TO SEE A WOOD CREATURE COME INTO HIS ROOM, SO I MUST MAKE YOU LOOK LIKE A MAN! PRESTO CHANGEO!
ALL RIGHT, MR. TWEE DEEDLE, CHANGE ME INTO ANYTHING YOU WISH!
DID YOU UNHITCH THE HORSE?
OH, YES, WE PUT HIM IN HIS STALL AND FED AND WATERED HIM!
NOW YOU LOOK FINE MR. GIGGLE! I'LL MAKE DICKIE AND THE REST OF US INVISIBLE AND WE'LL GO IN AND SEE GRANDPA!
DO I LOOK LIKE A DOCTOR, DICKIE?
WHEE! YOU LOOK AWFUL FUNNY, MR. GIGGLE!
RUN RUN! THERE'S A MAN!
I'M SO GLAD YOU CAME, DOCTOR! I'VE BEEN LAID UP A WEEK AND COULDN'T GATHER MY APPLES! I WANTED TO SEND TEN OR TWENTY BARRELS OF PIPPINS TO THE ORPHANS' HOME!
WELL, THIS MEDICINE WILL CURE YOU IN SHORT ORDER. THEN YOU CAN SEND THE APPLES TO THE POOR LITTLE TOTS AND MAKE THEM HAPPY!
GRANDPA MUST BE A MIGHTY NICE MAN TO THINK OF GIVING PLEASURE TO OTHERS WHEN HE FEELS SO MISERABLE HIMSELF!
I'LL SING AND DANCE AND SHOUT WITH GLEE! FOR I'M HALF AS YOUNG AS I USED TO BE! WHOOP DE IDDLE DE WHOOP DIDEE! NOW I CAN GATHER THE APPLES AND TAKE THEM TO THE HOME, AS SOON AS I CAN GET INTO MY CLOTHES! WHAT DO I OWE YOU, DOCTOR?
YOU DON'T OWE ME ANYTHING, GRANDPA! I PERFORM ALL OF MY CURES OUT OF KINDNESS AND ALL I ASK IS THAT YOU PASS THE KINDNESS ALONG TO SOMEONE WHO IS IN NEED OF IT WHENEVER YOU HAVE THE CHANCE!
BE CAREFUL HE DOESN'T KICK YOU ACCIDENTALLY! HE CAN'T SEE US, BUT HE COULD FEEL US!

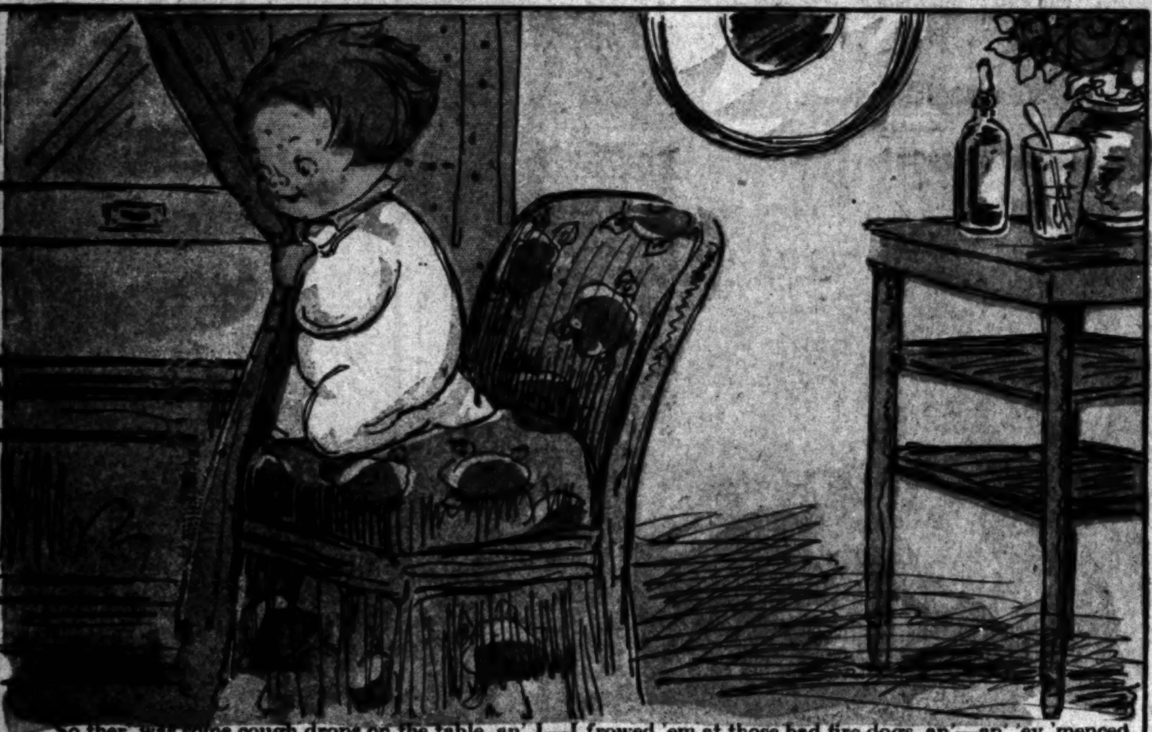
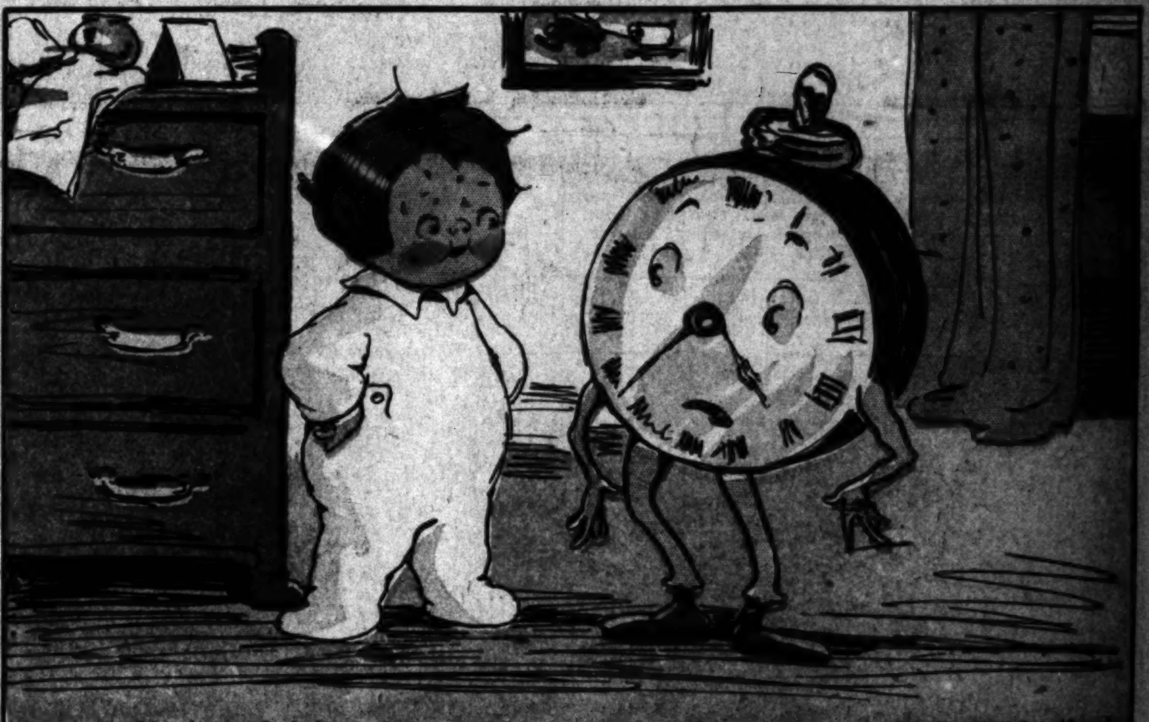
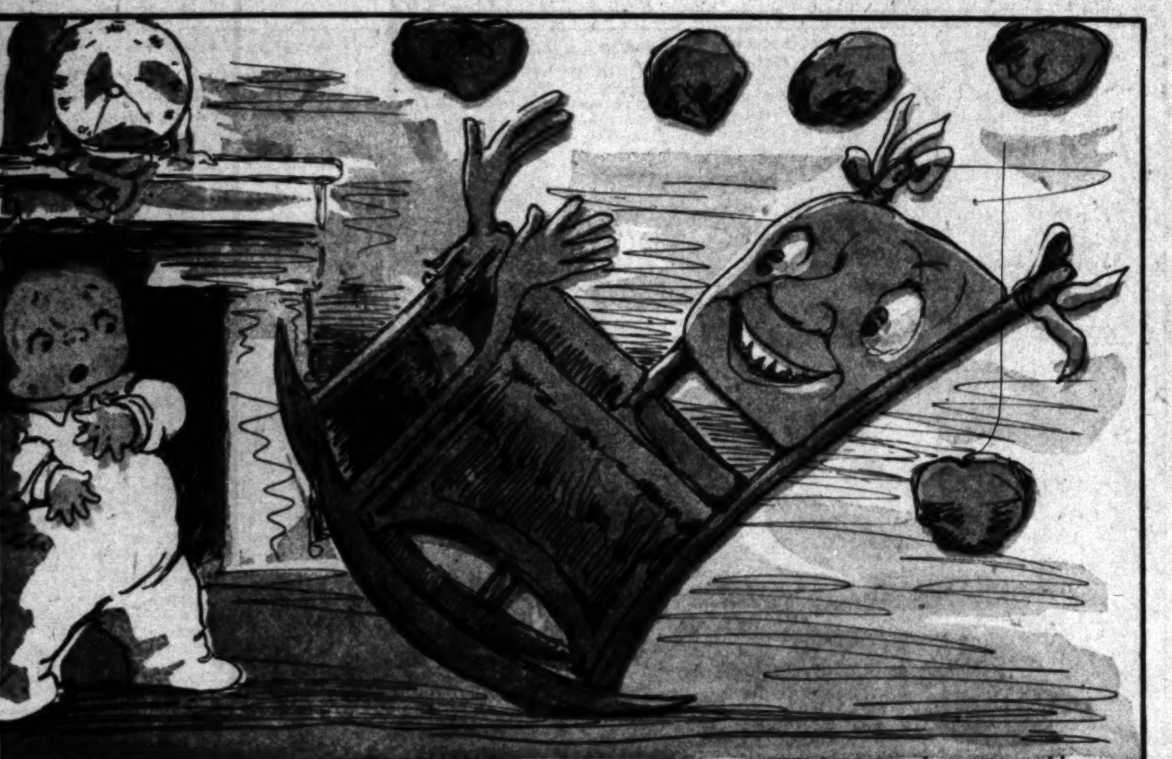
An' she jus' shutted the door—an' ther' was a pair o' fire dogs in the fireplace, an' 'ey 'menced growlin' an' fightin' an' makin' a horribliferous noise roun' ther', an' mine Baby Bruvver was scared, an' Puppo he 'menced to growl an' want to get in the fight, too, an' I sed, "You stay in bed, Puppo, you'd catch cold an' 'en the old Chicken Poxers'd get you all deaded!" I sed.



So ther' was some cough drops on the table, an' I—I frowed 'em at those bad fire dogs, an'—an' 'ey 'menced to cough so loud an' explosiferous the fire dogs was scared an' stopped fightin' an' goed back to ten' to ther' business an' not let the fire go out—'cause—'cause the fire wanted to go out orful bad to see a p'rade what's passin' by our house.

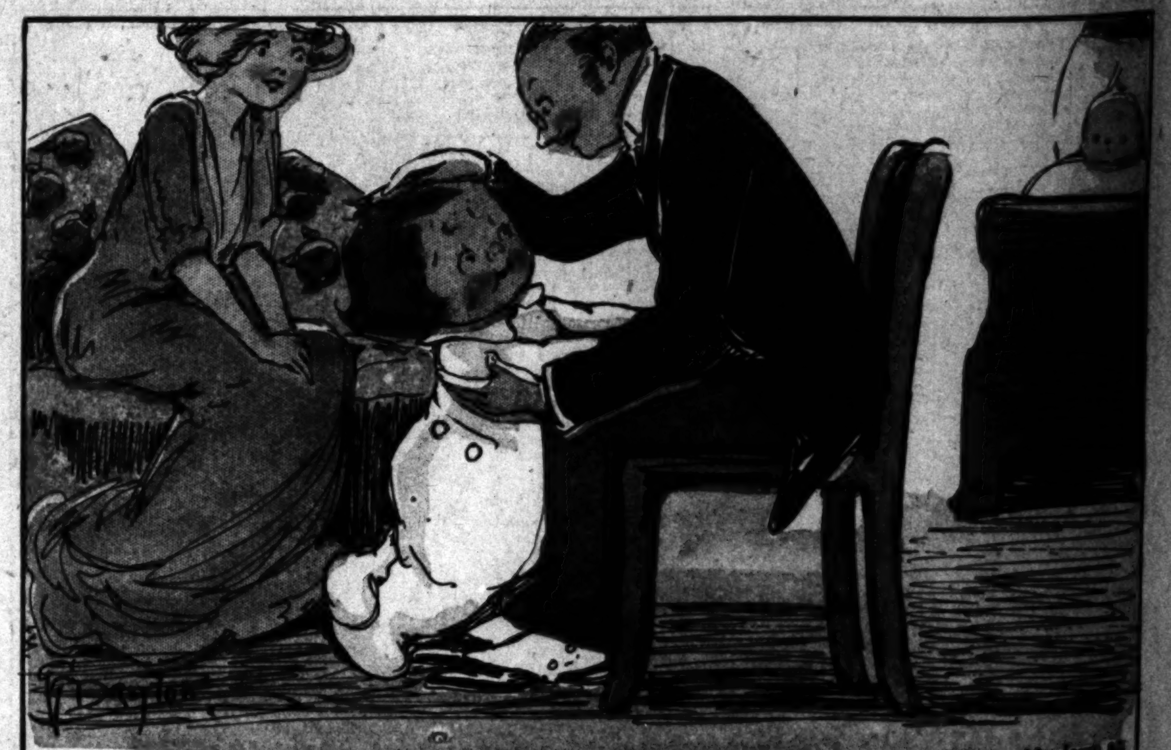


An' suddently the clock jumped down orf the mantel piece an' it comed over an' shaked hands wif me'n Puppo an' mine Baby Bruvver—an' it sed, "Don't you fink I has a pretty face, Kaptin Kiddo?" An'—an' I sed, "I is Kaptin Kiddo, an' I cannot tell a story. No!" An' the ol' clock gotted orful mad an' it sed, "Tick-tick-tick!" (An' it meaned swear words!)



An' I sed, "Ain't you 'shamed o' yourself!" I sed. "If you doesn't stop I'll frow your key away an' 'en you won't be no more use—never!" 'En the clock stopped, but the rockin' chair started frowin' rocks an' the winder 'menced to squeak an' cry, "Oh! I has a pane!" An' I had to get up out o' bed to close the winder—an' mine Baby Bruvver sed, "I is glad you shut it up, Kiddo."

(Copyright, 1912, by The North American Company.)



'En the rockin' chair frowed some more rocks an' I gotted up to punish it, an' I turned it upside down as was goin' to spank it—an' Puppo an' Baby Bruvver was a-laffin'—an' the Doctor comed in an' he sed, "You's got the Chicking Pox an' you mus' go back to bed!" An' I telled him 'bout us playin' wif the chickies an' catchin' it orf o' 'em, an' he laffed—an' laffed an' sed, "Oh you Kiddo!"

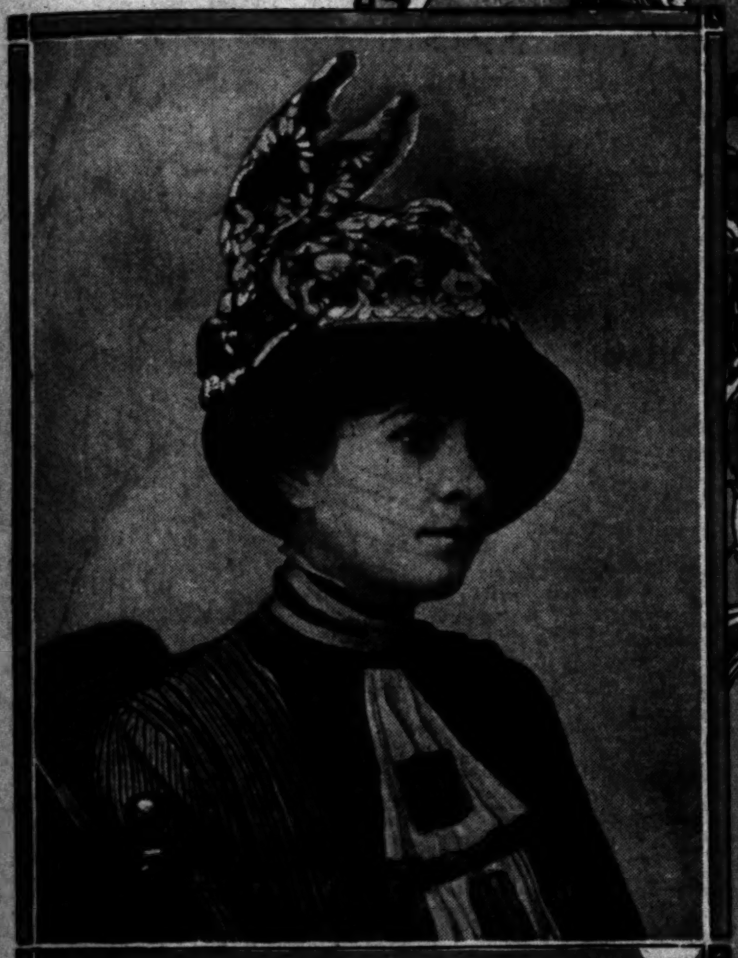
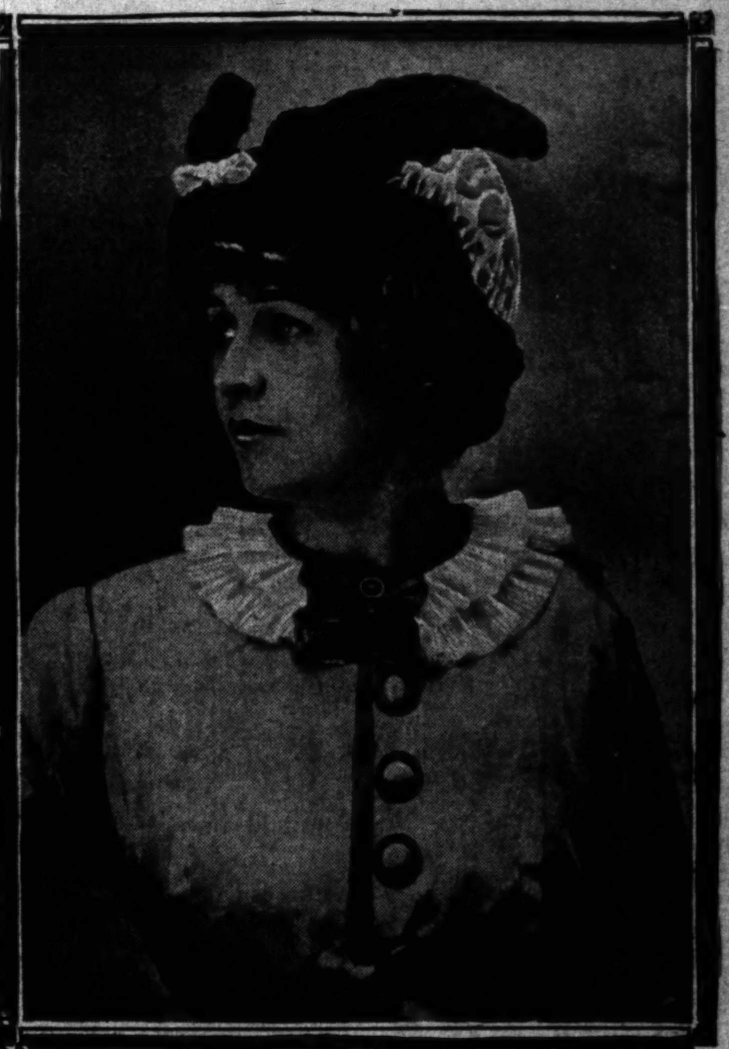
BROCADED VELVET RETURNS

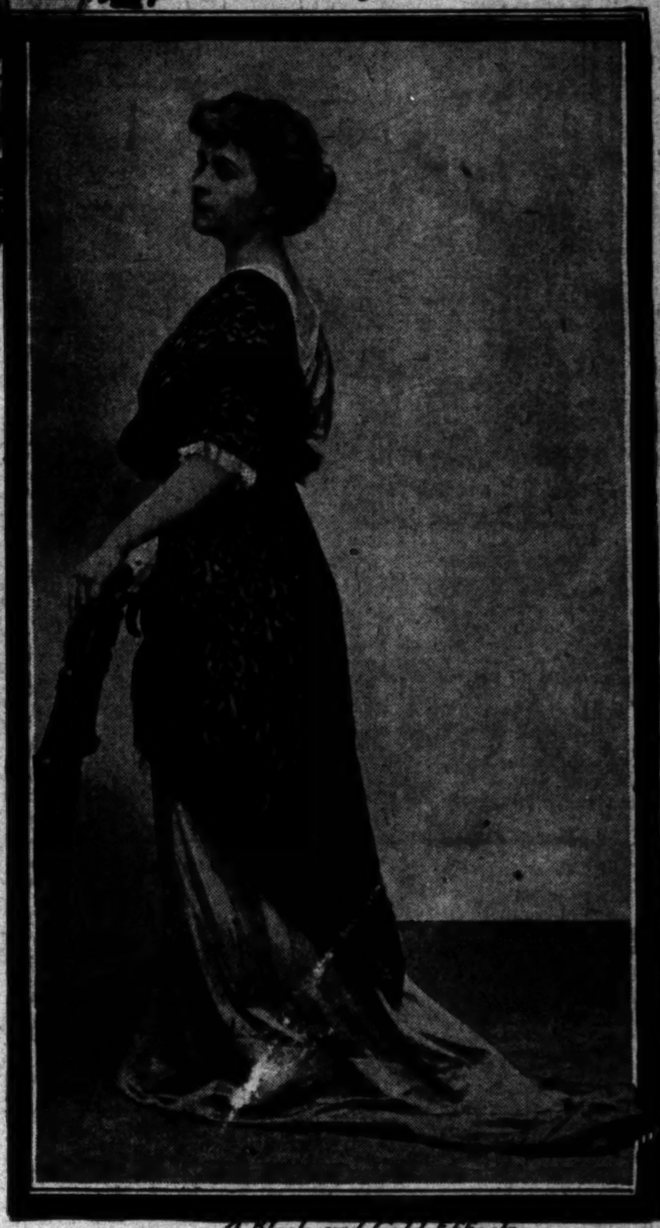


Ribbon is Brocaded

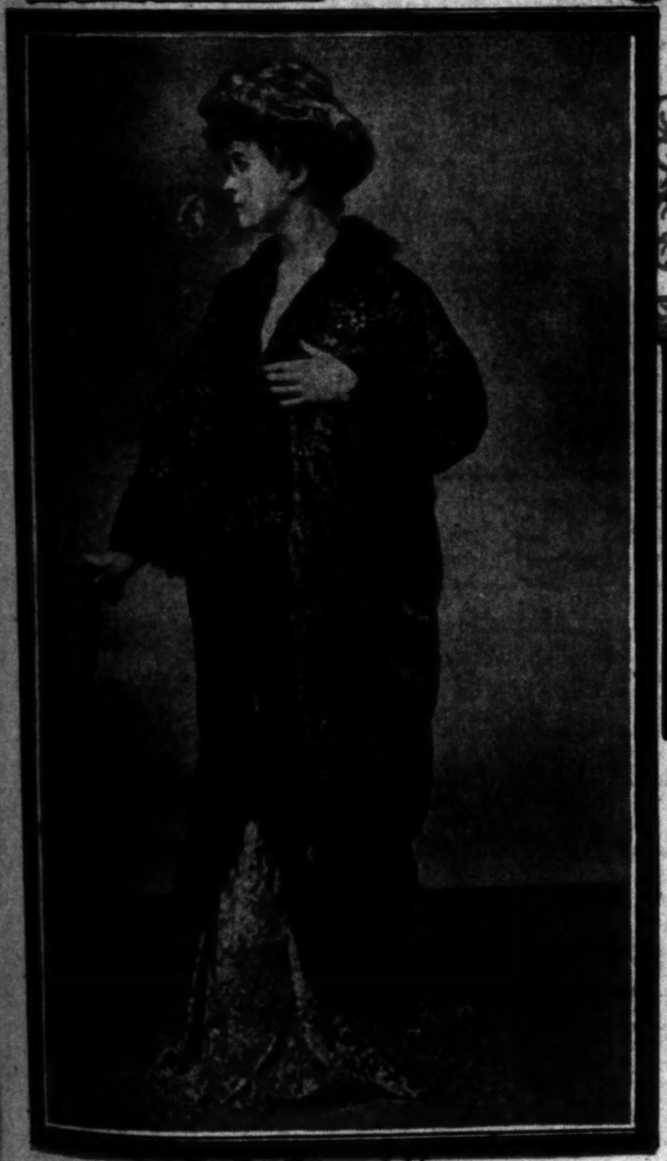


On the Crown of a Hat

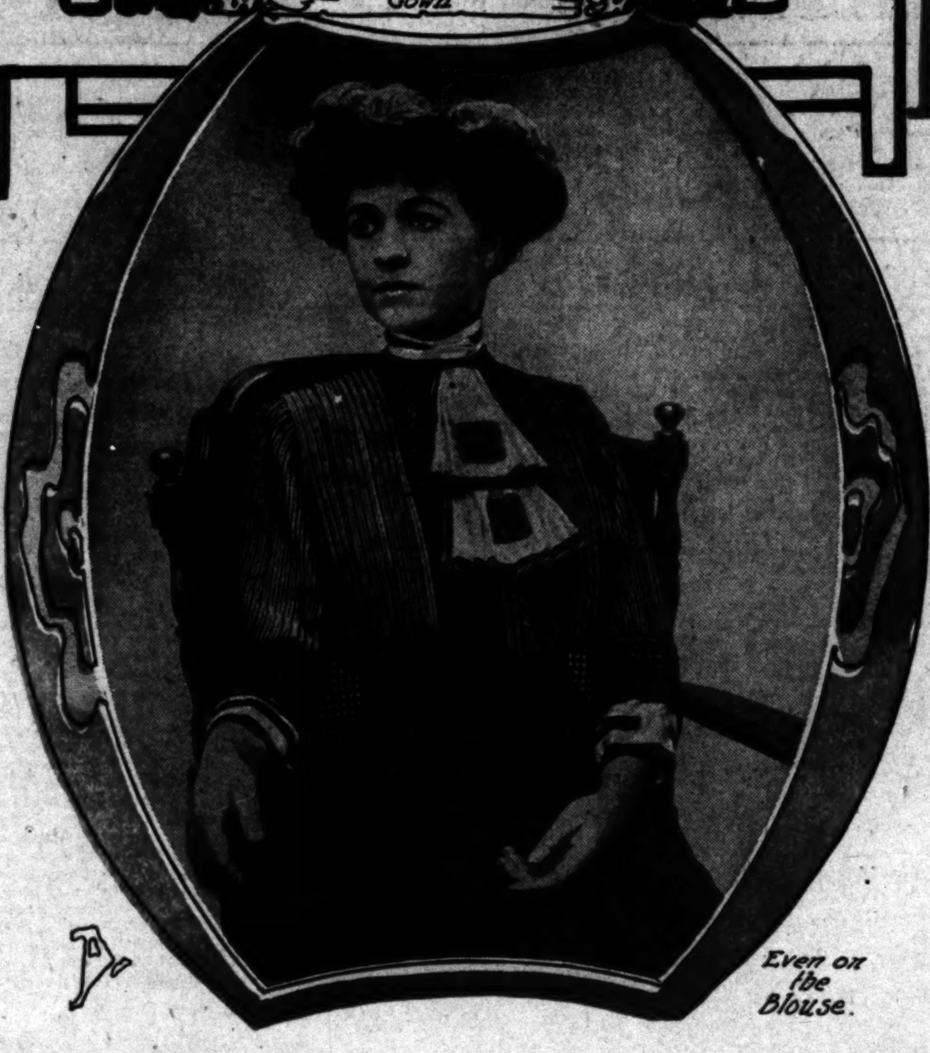
In the Evening Gown



A Black and Gold Effect



The Fur Trimmed Wrap



Even on the Blouse.

What an inundation of brocades will break in upon us!—Addison.

JUST two hundred years ago the jolly contributor to the Spectator showed that even his eye was open to the turns of fashion. And we can quote his phrase of wonder in this twentieth century, backed by admiration for the exquisite patterns in velvet and silk that fashion has launched.

Brocaded velvet is quite supple this year. It gives no bulk to our slender figures; it can be draped in clinging lines about the wearer, and lends itself to the accepted alliances with sheer materials.

Brocaded velvet appears in the evening gown of pale rose with the upper bodice of ecru lace. The skirt is wrapped and pieced at the lower part, while a one-sided effect is shown on the bodice. A large gold rose is placed at the waist line, while pink tulle is laid in folds at the neck and appears in a quilling at the edge of each sleeve.

Extremely serviceable is the black-and-gold brocade over old-gold satin. The fichu of the cut velvet is edged with fur and crossed over ecru chiffon in a one-sided effect. A pointed tunic drops over the skirt. Pleated net edges the short sleeves.

It would be surprising if the beautiful brocades did not invade the field of evening wraps. Here is one in a lovely Persian design of blues and gold, draped around the body and edged with skunk fur. The sleeves are gathered into cuffs and protect the arms more satisfactorily than the loose kimono type. The wrap is lined with brocaded silk to match.

On the striped velvet blouse we have a straight vest of brocaded velvet. It consists of two straight pieces at the front, over which falls a pleated tulle jabot trimmed with velvet. Cuffs of brocade edge the simple sleeves with tulle undercuffs. Here is an excellent way to use an odd strip of pretty brocade that you perhaps will find in grandmother's trunk.

The close hat now rejoices in a broad band of lovely brocaded ribbon. This is placed around the high crown and ends in two high wired loops and a broad knot at the side. Any color effect is permissible, because a softening sheen of silver blends the shades of flowers and background into the color of the hat. The flower pattern is perhaps the most favored, but quaint empire designs of wreaths, baskets, landscapes and birds are returning with twentieth-century art to enforce their beauty.

Brocaded velvet forms the crown of the little bonnet edged with sealskin. It is stretched over the crown, and a tiny bow is placed at the front among the wings of fur. If you wish, you can carry this lovely combination idea still further by fashioning a muff or scarf of the left-over pieces and thus complete a set of the accepted alliance for this season.

Brocade recalls to us the elegance of the courts and the beauty of centuries gone by. In satin or velvet form it has returned to us with the same loveliness and the added charm of a revived beautiful fabric.

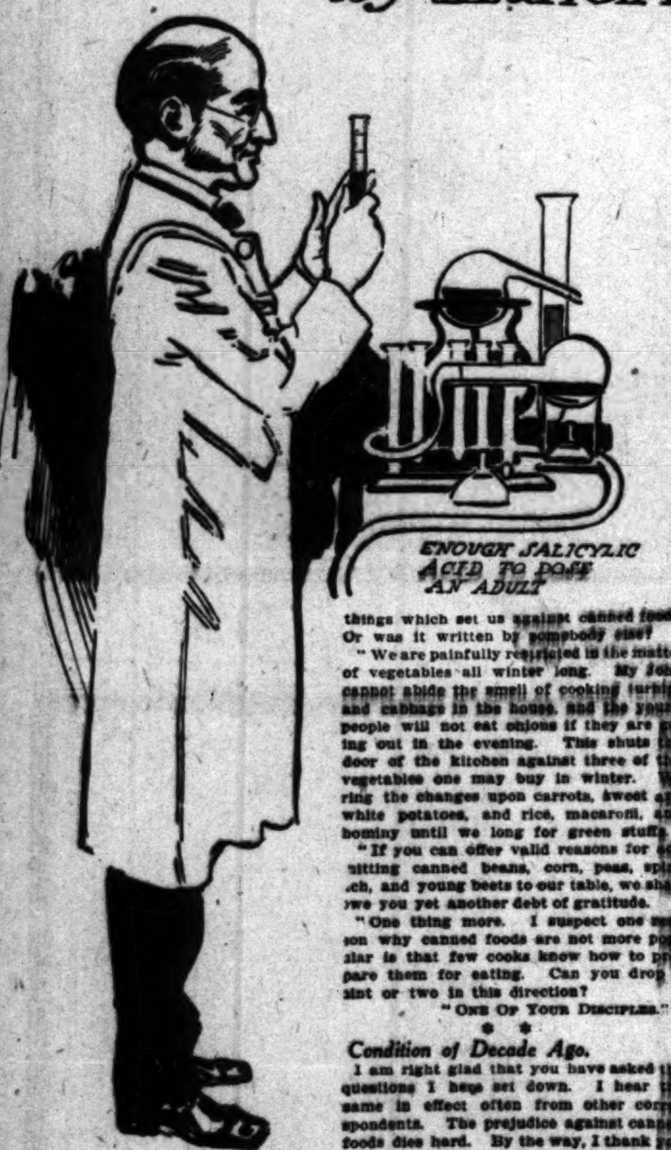
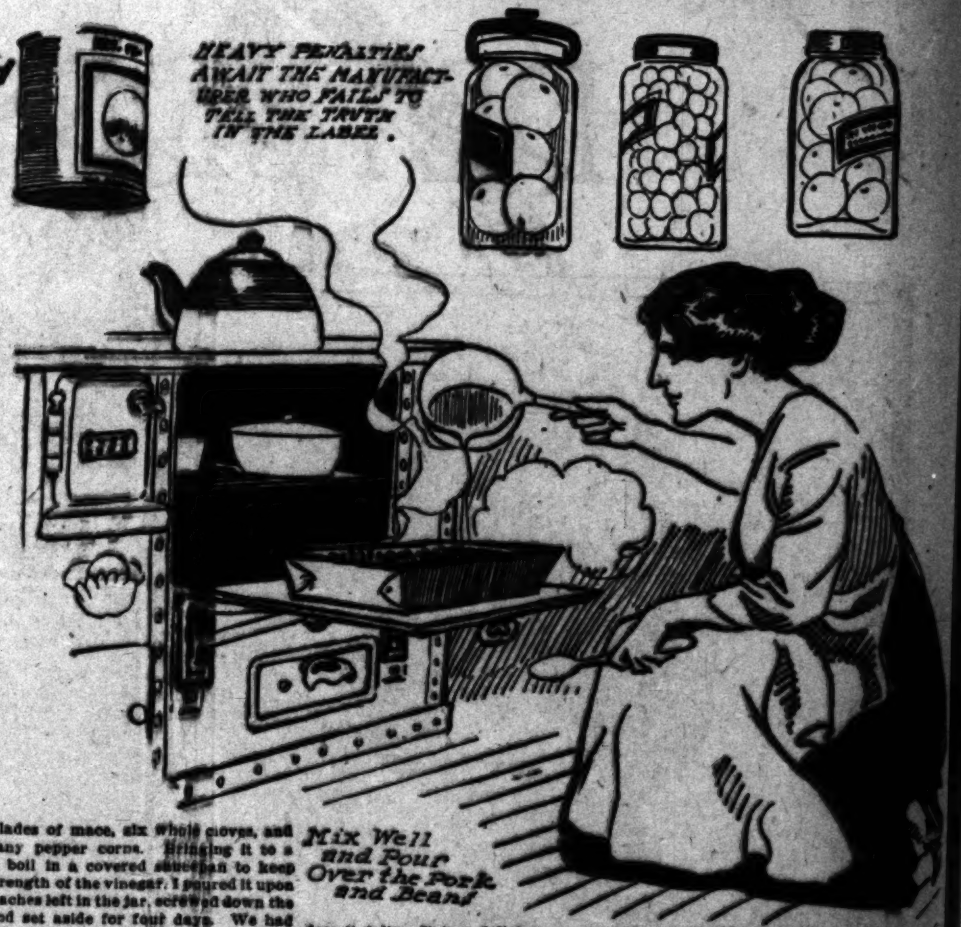
About Canned Foods

By Marion Harland



ENOUGH SALICYLIC ACID TO DOSE AN ADULT



HEAVY PENALTIES AWAIT THE MANUFACTURER WHO FAILS TO TELL THE TRUTH IN THE LABEL.

Mix Well and Pour Over the Pork and Beans

An esteemed and intelligent correspondent writes:

"I have noticed that your 'Family Meals for a Week' include almost daily mention of canned fruits and vegetables. We have read so much of late years concerning poisonous adulterations of canned provisions and so sickened over the novelist's pictures of canning establishments, that we have banished them from our table. If I mistake not, you refrained for years from recommending these foods. Would you mind letting us know what has altered your views? Unless my memory is at fault, I read several years back an article from your pen making revelations of deleterious chemicals discovered by you in preserved pears. That story was one of the things which set us against canned foods. Or was it written by somebody else?

"We are painfully restricted in the matter of vegetables all winter long. My John cannot abide the smell of cooking turnips and cabbage in the house, and the young people will not eat onions if they are going out in the evening. This shuts the door of the kitchen against three of the vegetables one may buy in winter. We ring the changes upon carrots, sweet and white potatoes, and rice, macaroni, and hominy until we long for green stuffs.

"If you can offer valid reasons for admitting canned beans, corn, peas, spinach, and young beets to our table, we shall owe you yet another debt of gratitude.

"One thing more. I suspect one reason why canned foods are not more popular is that few cooks know how to prepare them for eating. Can you drop a hint or two in this direction?

"ONE OF YOUR DISCIPLES."

* *

Condition of Decade Ago.

I am right glad that you have asked the questions I here set down. I hear the same in effect often from other correspondents. The prejudice against canned foods dies hard. By the way, I thank you for not saying "canned goods!" Somehow I always connect the idea of "goods" with a yard stick. Under conditions which existed a score—or even a decade—of years ago, the objections to the use of them entertained by you and other intelligent housemothers were not groundless. Novels and newspapers may have plied the muck rake over-zealously in bringing to light the unspeakable abominations of slaughter house and canning factories. There was foundation for the shocking tales. One could hardly pick up a paper that did not contain the report of somebody poisoned by eating canned corned beef or potted salmon. Now and then a chemist told of analysis excited by suspicion of family or individuals who had suffered agonies of indigestion after indulging freely in canned oysters or fruits. It is not always true that "there must be fire where there is much smoke." In this matter of canning the smoke became an offense in the nostrils of the community, at length.

You are correct in thinking that I had my say anent canned pears five or seven years ago. I did much of my own preserving and pickling at that time and we never bought canned fruits or any vegetable artificially preserved except, occasionally, tomatoes for soups. A remark of a member of my family in regard to the "brunette complexion" of my Bartlett pears as contrasted with what the critic termed the "chemical blondes" sold by grocers, put me upon the scent. A chemical analysis of the contents of a can of pears put up by one of the most respectable canning houses in the country revealed in three tablespoonfuls of the fruit enough salicylic acid to dose an adult.

* *

Before Days of "Pure Food."

"And this stuff," wrote the indignant chemist—one of our best—who reported the result, "is fed freely to children all over the United States!"

Simultaneously with this discovery by a private citizen, a meeting of eminent physicians, held in the largest city in our country, condemned, in no measured terms, other products put up in airtight cans, as highly deleterious to the human stomach. It was openly suggested at that convention that the alarming increase of Bright's disease in America within the last quarter century might be in consequence of the lavish use of such preservatives as salicylic acid and perhaps benzoate of soda, by canning companies.

My publication of the Bartlett pear story to which you refer drew down upon my unscientific self a storm of protest from those most nearly interested. One ingenuous manufacturer forwarded to me a list of the agents used in putting up his food stuffs, "to prove the harmless nature of each of them." Salicylic acid stood at the head of the list. An excellent medicine in skilled hands, as were, doubtless, others of the catalogue. But, speaking in behalf of my constituents—the housemothers of the land—I replied that "we do not take our physic at random with our victuals."

Then came a reaction of common sense and scientific revolt. The most beneficent law that has been enacted since we became a nation—the pure food law—swept like the besom of reform from one end of the country to the other. Men like Dr. Harvey P. Wiley held with steady hand the searchlight that brought the hidden things of darkness into public view. Heavy penalties await the manufacturer who uses adulterants in the preservation of food and fails to tell the truth in the label affixed to can or parcel.

* *

Canned Foods Made Safe.

Intelligent men with the fear of God before their eyes and the love of their brother man in their hearts combined to make canning safe and honorable. Having watched the progress of this reform from its inception until now, I wish I had space and time in which to tell the story as I should like to lay it before my big family. They must take my word for it that canned foods are now prepared for them far more carefully than they could be were they picked by the housewife's own hand and cooked in her own kitchen. The manufacturers invite and desire inspection of their admirably appointed works. The one and sufficient preservative is HEAT, held continuously at a given point until the work of sterilization is complete. Cans and rubbers are likewise sterilized as is every part of the machinery with which the foods come into contact.

I am thus circumstantial in statements relative to this important subject because in times past I shared fully in the distrust of canned foods expressed by our present correspondent, and did not hesitate to declare my sentiments. I owe it to constituents and to the reformers to whom I award the honor of the great and beneficent change in the conditions we once deplored to explain why I recommend the free use of that which I then deprecated.

It is not right that we should have to live upon starchy foods all winter long, when our overheated houses and lessened outdoor exercise engender bile and a congested state of the whole system. It is an unspeakable comfort to me—and it must be to numberless other housemothers—to be able to order green and succulent adjuncts to the heavy and heating meat dishes which belong to the season. And it is a genuine satisfaction to me that I may conscientiously assure those who do me high honor when, like our correspondent of today, they call themselves my "disciples"—that they may set before their households the "kindly fruits of the earth" in the depth of winter as fearlessly as in summer.

* *

Treatment of Canned Goods.

Now, as to the treatment of canned foods in order to make them palatable to the eater. Many persons do not relish them because they maltreat them as they would not think of handling fruits and vegetables just gathered. The most skillful canner does not pretend to do more than to give you cooked, unseasoned material to be prepared by yourself as you may judge best.

None of the canned foods should be turned directly from the just opened tin or glass into the saucepan, or the dish in which fruit is to be served. Open the jar several hours before cooking or serving, and turn the contents into an uncovered dish. The air takes off the "close" taste inevitable to food that has been hermetically sealed. You "aerate" it by this simple process.

In my home we add sugar to canned fruit before sending it to table. It is usually too tart for the palates of those who like "sweet things sweet." Cream is passed with peaches and berries after they are sugared. A delicious conserve is made by turning the sirup from canned peaches, adding a cupful of sugar for a quart jar, and boiling the sirup for half an hour after the sugar is dissolved. Then pour it boiling hot over the peaches; cover closely, and do not use until next day. As the fruit is not cooked in the sirup it does not lose flavor.

I asked my grocer last week the price of a certain brand of pickled peaches, and was told "80 cents!" This for a quart jar!

I bought a quart can of a brand I knew I could trust, and when it came home drained off every drop of the sirup and brought it to a boil in a saucepan. At this point I added a cupful of vinegar with a few blades of mace, six whole cloves, and as many pepper corns. Bringing it to a quick boil in a covered saucepan to keep the strength of the vinegar, I poured it upon the peaches left in the jar, screwed down the top and set aside for four days. We had pickled peaches as good as those of the fancy brand, at a cost of 30 cents, counting all ingredients. In these days of high prices it is no mean achievement to save 50 cents upon one quart of sweet pickle.

* *

Bit of Culinary Economy.

BAKED PORK AND CANNED BEANS.—Here again is a bit of economical contrivance. Canned pork and beans may be had, but they cost a third more than the can of beans by itself.

Turn out the beans an hour before you are to cook them. Boil a bit of streaked salt pork for the same time; put the beans into the bake dish, scoop a hole in the middle in which bury the pork. Set the vessel containing the water in which the pork was cooked in snow or iced water to throw up the fat. Skim this off and put into the pan in which you save drippings. Add to the skimmed liquor a tablespoonful of molasses, a saltspoonful of made mustard and a dash of pepper. Mix well and pour over the pork and beans. With a fork work these gently to let the liquor reach all parts. Bake, covered, half an hour. Uncover and brown lightly.

This dish will be more delicate in flavor than when the raw beans are prepared for baking by the ordinary method. The saving in time and trouble is a consideration, and the lessened cost in money is something to be thought of.

GREEN CORN SOUFFLE.—Chop a can of green corn fine. Whip the yolks of two eggs light and beat them into the corn. Stir in a tablespoonful of melted butter and the same of sugar, with salt to taste. Dissolve a bit of soda not larger than a pea in a tablespoonful of hot milk, and add to the mixture. Lastly beat the whites of two eggs to a standing froth and whip in. Turn into a buttered pudding dish, cover, and bake in a quick oven for twenty minutes. Brown quickly and serve at once before it falls. It is a delicious accompaniment to roast beef or mutton.

* *

Process an Easy One.

There is no nicer preparation of spinach than this. The wonder is that so few cooks are willing to undertake it, for the process is simple.

SPINACH SOUFFLE.—This is an excellent left over from the dish I have just described.

Turn the remnant of spinach à la crème into a bowl and beat into it a cupful of milk into which you have dropped a tiny bit of soda, then the whipped yolks of two eggs and the stiffened whites of the same. Beat all hard for a minute and pour into a buttered bake dish. Bake, covered, twenty minutes, uncover, brown quickly, and serve before it falls.

If you have no left over from yesterday, chop a can of spinach fine, season with salt, pepper, a teaspoonful of sugar and a little nutmeg, then proceed as directed with the cold spinach.

CANNED GREEN PEAS.—Turn from the can an hour before using, and drain off every drop of liquid. It gives a "flat" taste to the peas. Now lay in iced water for half an hour. Put over the fire in enough boiling water, slightly salted, to cover the peas an inch deep. Bring to a quick boil, add a small lump of sugar; cook for a minute more, and drain. Serve hot, stirring a teaspoonful of butter into the peas after dishing them.

* *

Creamed Corn for Soup.

CANNED CORN SOUP.—If possible get creamed corn for this. Your grocer should be able to procure it for you.

If you cannot, chop the corn fine and put it over the fire with a pint of weak soup stock. If you have no stock [illegible] 10 cent can of beef soup. Cook gently [illegible] half an hour, then stir in a tablespoonful of butter cooked to a "roux" with one of flour; a teaspoonful of onion juice, salt and pepper to taste. Boil up once and serve.

GREEN CORN CHOWDER.—Chop the corn fine. Peel and mince an onion and fry it brown in a great tablespoonful of butter. Turn into a saucepan and add the chopped corn, four pilot biscuits that have been soaked half an hour in enough milk to cover them, and two dozen potato balls cut with a gouge, then parboiled. Season with pepper, salt, and a tablespoonful of chopped parsley, and pour into the saucepan three cupfuls of boiling water. Simmer slowly half an hour, and stir in a cupful of hot milk which has been thickened with a roux of a tablespoonful of butter stirred up with one of flour in a frying-pan.

Serve as soon as the soup is mixed with the other ingredients. This is a nourishing and palatable soup, although it has no base of meat stock.

SPINACH A LA CREME.—Turn the spinach from the can an hour before cooking it. When you are ready to cook chop it fine and set over the fire in the inner vessel of a double boiler, the outer being filled with boiling water. When the spinach is heating make a roux in a frying-pan of one tablespoonful of flour and two of butter. When this is a smooth "blend" stir it into the hot spinach. Season with white pepper and salt to taste, with a teaspoonful of white sugar, a dash of nutmeg, and a teaspoonful of lemon juice.

Beat all together over the fire [illegible] for ten minutes, stirring often. Heat half a cupful of cream in a separate vessel and add a bit of soda the size of a pea, and when it is scalding hot beat into the spinach. Cook three minutes more, stirring and beating all the time. Serve smoking hot, garnishing the dish with triangles of toast.

MARION HARLAND'S HELPING HAND

"CAN you tell me why for the last few months my cakes fall, no matter how carefully made and whether coal or gas range is used? They are almost sure to fall in the cooking or soon after they are taken from the oven.

"I have been a housekeeper for twenty years and used to be a good cake maker.

The probability is that your batter is too thin. This is, oftener than any other cause, the mistake in cake making. Thin batter puffs up like a soufflé when baked, and, like the soufflé, collapses in cooling.

Or the fault may be in too rapid baking. Do you cover the cakes during the first half of the time they are in the oven? And is the heat steady? Try making the batter a trifle more consistent.

Three Good Recipes.

"My offering is three recipes that have never failed me. They may help some Newlywed who likes to get up homemade menus.

"GRAHAM BREAD—Two cups of bread dough, one egg, one tablespoonful of lard, one-third of a cupful of sugar, graham flour.

"Mix into the dough as much of the graham flour as you can by using a spoon. Let it rise and make into a loaf. Set for the second rising and, when it is light, bake.

"WHITE CAKE, ALIAS 'BRIDE'S DELIGHT—Two cups of sugar, one and a half cups of milk, half a cup of butter, three cups of flour, three teaspoonfuls of baking powder, whites of four eggs. N. B.—This cake has never failed.

"FUDGE—Two cups of sugar, one cup of milk, two squares of unsweetened chocolate. Boil slowly, stirring little, until when a little dropped into cold water may be formed with the fingers into a soft ball. Then add butter, about the size of a walnut, and set aside to cool.

"Do not beat until it is perfectly cold. Just before pouring it out of the kettle add a cupful of English walnut meats broken to pieces. If at any time the fudge is too hard, beat again, adding cream.

"In answer to a request made by a Minnesota housewife I add this recipe for:

"REAL GERMAN KAFFELKUCHEN—One cup of bread sponge, one tablespoonful of lard, half a cupful of currants. Flour to make a dough not quite so stiff as that for bread. Just before baking spread with soft butter, sprinkle with sugar and cinnamon.

MRS. L. A. R."

Notable additions to our store of recipes. I wish you had said how soft the bread dough must be which would allow enough graham flour to be worked in to entitle the product to the name of "graham bread." Don't you mean bread sponge? Let us hear from you again on this little point.

As you will see, I have taken the liberty of substituting "teaspoonfuls" of baking powder for your "tablespoonfuls" in the recipe for "bride's delight." The larger quantity was undoubtedly a slip of the pen. Having made the like on sundry occasions, I can comprehend how it happened. Three tablespoonfuls of baking powder to three cupfuls of flour would have made an odd combination which would have been anything but a "delight."

At least, this is my idea of the proportions. I recall that I once wrote "pounds" instead of ounces, and, had not the proofreader "queried" it, the atrocity would habe been published. I have always been grateful to that man!

* *

Recipe for Taffy Apples.

"Could you kindly give me a recipe for taffy apples? I have children who love them dearly.

MRS. W. H."

As your letter did not reach me until the Sunday specified had passed I cannot comply with your request in full. It is never practicable to answer a query in the paper within a week after it comes to me. The mail is immense and a certain degree of order in replying to queries must be preserved. Consoling myself for the inability to do as you wished and as I should like to do, with the reflection that the children's love for the delicacy is likely to be perennial, I offer the coveted recipe.

TAFFY APPLES—Get clean, sound lady apples. Stir a cupful of sugar into a pint of molasses and when the sugar has dissolved set over the fire where it will heat slowly to a boil. Cook for twenty minutes after the bubble becomes general, and drop into the mixture a teaspoonful of baking soda. Do not stir the sirup or it may granulate. The soda will take care of itself and with much fizzing and foaming blend with the acid in the molasses. Shake the pan to prevent scorching at the bottom. Watch it constantly and lift the saucepan into the air for a minute, should the boil become violent. At the end of half an hour test the sirup with a spoon to see if it is brittle. If it spins a thread from the tip of the spoon and hardens instantly when dropped into iced water it is done.

Turn into a bowl to cool and make ready the apples by running a long splint of wood or a hat pin or a toothpick into the stem end. When the taffy is more than lukewarm yet not hot enough to burn the finger dip the apples in and hang them from a line stretched across the room. Let a few clinging drops fall before you hang them. There should be a smart current of frosty air blowing through the room and over them to cool the taffy quickly. You will perhaps have to dip them several times, letting the candy covering then get hard before you do this. The sticks are necessary to keep them in shape. It would not do to lay them down or to let them touch one another.

The success of the recipe depends upon the brittleness of the boiled sirup.

* *

Anent the "Turkey Question."

"Just now the 'Turkey question' is uppermost in the public mind. Now that Thanksgiving and Christmas are among the things that were, I want to tell housemothers of my economical way of serving the parts of the national bird left after the feasts are over.

"First—Take off with a sharp knife all the meat that will come away in nice, large, neat pieces and serve cold or warmed up in the giblet gravy.

"Second—Break apart the bones and pick out and off all the small pieces of meat which adhere to the carcass. Put into a small pan with some of the stuffing and a few stalks of celery. Chop this fine, make into balls or rolls, roll in egg and cracker crumbs, and fry as croquettes.

"Third—Put all the bones thus denuded into a kettle, cover with cold water, and season well. Cook slowly until the bones are perfectly clean, remove them, and strain the soup. You will have a most appetizing broth for the first course of your dinner of cold meat, with the croquettes as an entrée.

MRS. F. A. D."

You might have made a scallop of the first gleaning from the skeleton which would have gone further than the cold meat by reason of the addition of crumbs and milk! The second scrapings might have been wrought into a [illegible] even elegant salad by the help of the celery. Your dinner would have been tempting. Cold meats are [illegible] in winter. We thank you for [illegible] far a turkey may be made to go. Questions dealing with entrees [illegible] leftovers, yet which play [illegible] gallantly, appeal to me with peculiar force. "Turkey rack soup," as the [illegible] name it, is a prime favorite in our household. It is a sort of final chorus [illegible] the vanishing bird who was [illegible] last. Not a scrap of him should be thrown away until the bones are drained of every drop of savoriness.

What Are "Rillettes"?

Some weeks ago [illegible] an inquiry as to the nature and [illegible] of "rillettes." A member wrote [illegible] how to make them—[illegible] a dish she had eaten and enjoyed in Paris seven years ago [illegible] "half a pound of fresh rillettes." [illegible] ignorance frankly and begged for enlightenment. This is supplied by a Pennsylvania correspondent:

"Upon page [illegible] of [illegible] Dictionary we read: '[illegible] pork.'

"This work was printed for [illegible] Routledge & Sons, London, by [illegible] & Tauchnitz, Leipzig.

"Is this what 'F. L.' wants? CLA[illegible]"

You may be right and the definition correct. In which case "rillettes" would seem to be a refined edition of the [illegible] sausage.

Yet "F. L." should not have had so much trouble in getting them in her city markets. Hear her plaint!

"The rillettes which New York restaurant keepers pretend to make are useless for our purpose."

So, in spite of Messrs. Routledge, [illegible] hard, and Tauchnitz, we are [illegible] in the fog again. Who can tell us what the vaunted "rillette" is?

FAMILY MEALS FOR A WEEK

"Some weeks ago the following question and answer appeared in the Helping Hand:

"'I see that you answer questions on household subjects, and especially on management. I am a young housekeeper, and my husband doesn't earn good wages. I should like to know how we can live on $4 a week and have nice things to eat. I don't want anything elaborate. NORA.

"'A puzzle which I submit to a comittee of the whole. Can two healthy persons live and keep in tolerably good plight upon $4 a week for food alone? If so, tell us how, giving figures and food.'

"I purpose to answer this question in the affirmative if you will resign the menu corner to me for one week. The bills of fare I inclose may be filled at the price named by 'Nora.' I send a list of purchases that prove this. You need not print the menus if you are not convinced by the examination of this list that my claim is valid.

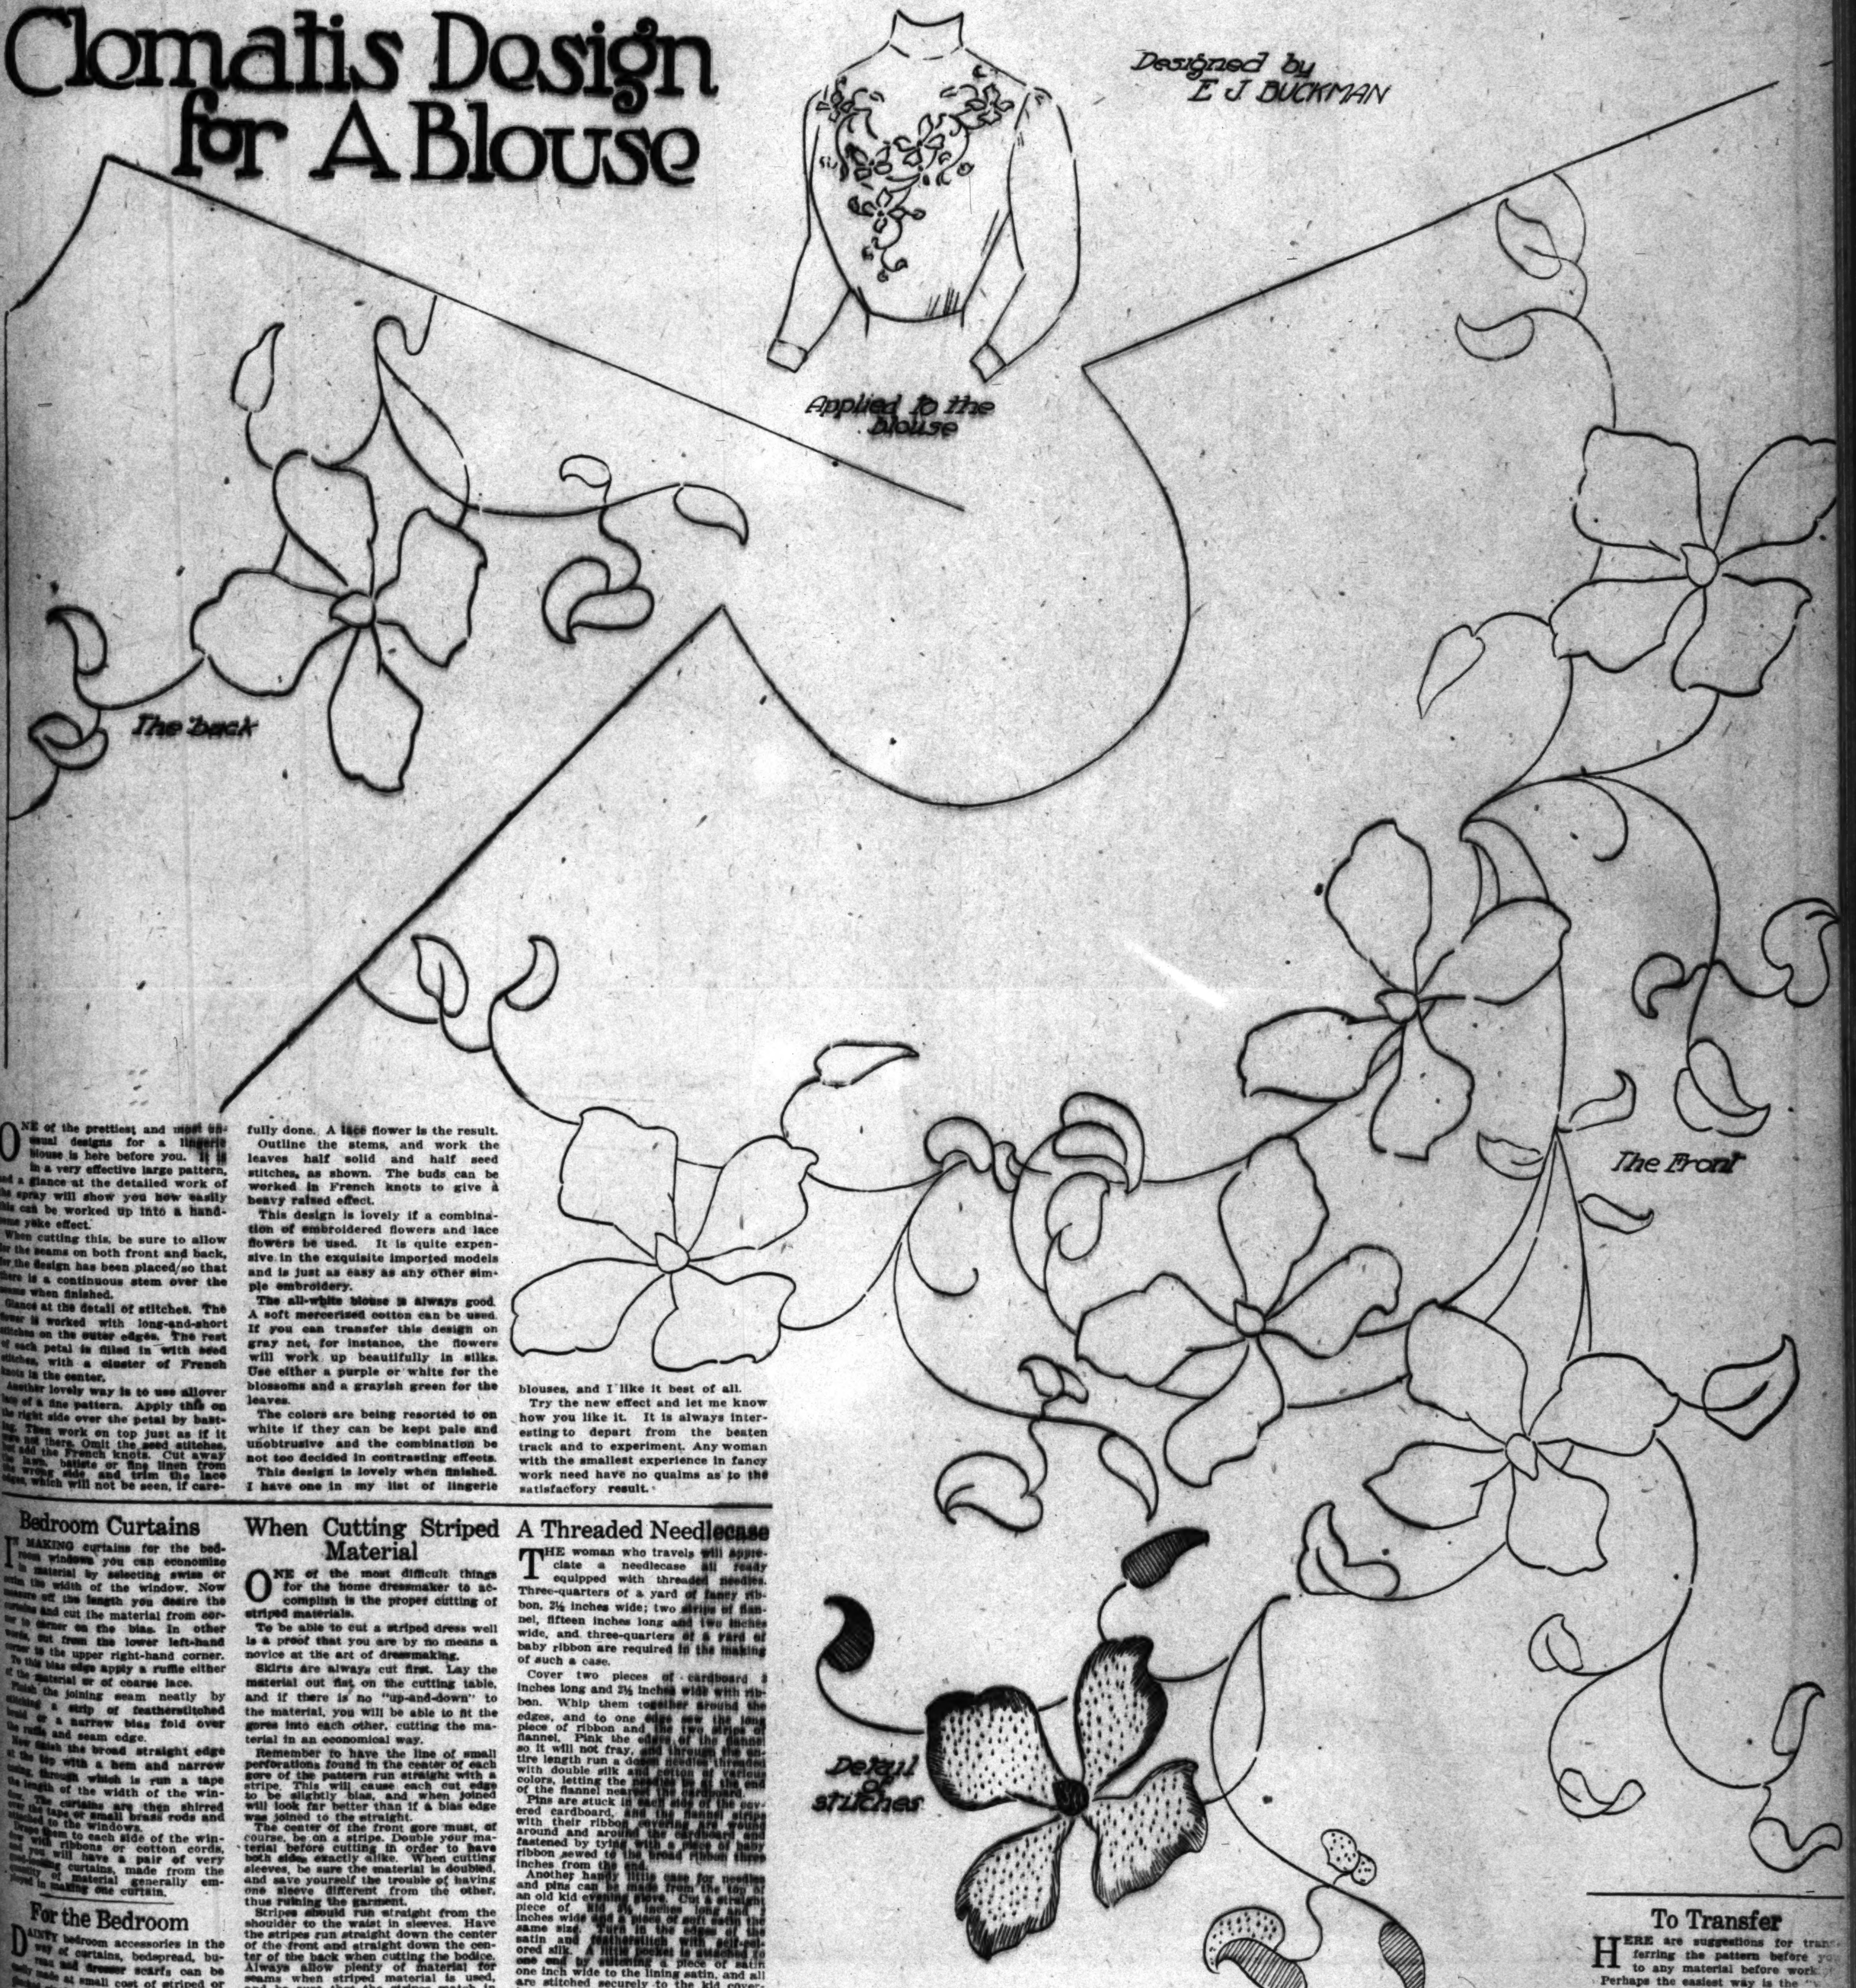
The foregoing is submitted to the judgment of housewives who clamor for economical menus which shall yet combine palatableness with nourishment, variety, and cheapness. They are also referred for careful consideration to the scores of Johns who prick up their ears at sound of "four dollars a week enough for a family of two or three," and forthwith demand of their respective and harried spouses, "Why cannot you do what other women and housekeepers do?" There is not a doubt that the above meals may be set upon the table for the sum named by the compiler in reply to "Nora." Will our critical John be content with it for his healthy, hungry self? We should like to hear from wives and husbands upon the points suggested.

For the INDUSTRIOUS NEEDLEWOMAN

By ADELAIDE BYRD

Clematis Design for A Blouse



ONE of the prettiest and most unusual designs for a lingerie blouse is here before you. It is in a very effective large pattern, and a glance at the detailed work of the spray will show you how easily this can be worked up into a handsome yoke effect.

When cutting this, be sure to allow for the seams on both front and back, for the design has been placed so that there is a continuous stem over the seams when finished.

Glance at the detail of stitches. The flower is worked with long-and-short stitches on the outer edges. The rest of each petal is filled in with seed stitches, with a cluster of French knots in the center.

Another lovely way is to use allover lace of a fine pattern. Apply this on the right side over the petal by basting. Then work on top just as if it were not there. Omit the seed stitches, but add the French knots. Cut away the lawn, batiste or fine linen from the wrong side and trim the lace edges, which will not be seen, if carefully done. A lace flower is the result.

Outline the stems, and work the leaves half solid and half seed stitches, as shown. The buds can be worked in French knots to give a heavy raised effect.

This design is lovely if a combination of embroidered flowers and lace flowers be used. It is quite expensive in the exquisite imported models and is just as easy as any other simple embroidery.

The all-white blouse is always good. A soft mercerized cotton can be used. If you can transfer this design on gray net, for instance, the flowers will work up beautifully in silks. Use either a purple or white for the blossoms and a grayish green for the leaves.

The colors are being resorted to on white if they can be kept pale and unobtrusive and the combination be not too decided in contrasting effects.

This design is lovely when finished. I have one in my list of lingerie blouses, and I like it best of all.

Try the new effect and let me know how you like it. It is always interesting to depart from the beaten track and to experiment. Any woman with the smallest experience in fancy work need have no qualms as to the satisfactory result.

Bedroom Curtains

IN MAKING curtains for the bedroom windows you can economize in material by selecting swiss or scrim the width of the window. Now measure off the length you desire the curtains and cut the material from corner to corner on the bias. In other words, cut from the lower left-hand corner to the upper right-hand corner.

To this bias edge apply a ruffle either of the material or of coarse lace.

Finish the joining seam neatly by stitching a strip of featherstitched braid or a narrow bias fold over the ruffle and seam edge.

Now finish the broad straight edge at the top with a hem and narrow casing, through which is run a tape the length of the width of the window. The curtains are then shirred over the tape or small brass rods and attached to the windows.

Drape them to each side of the window with ribbons or cotton cords, and you will have a pair of very good-looking curtains, made from the quantity of material generally employed in making one curtain.

For the Bedroom

DAINTY bedroom accessories in the way of curtains, bedspread, bureau and dresser scarfs can be easily made at small cost of striped or checked gingham.

Blue and white is a clean, cool color to select.

For the bedspread use coarse white lace insertion about an inch and a half wide to join the breadths together down the center and also to place at the heading of a ruffle eight inches wide that is placed on each side and across the bottom of the spread.

Shams for pillows are edged with narrow insertion and a four-inch ruffle. For the bureau scarf use three twelve-inch squares of gingham, joined and edged with insertion.

The window curtains are made perfectly plain, excepting for a ruffle across the end headed with insertion. A tiny valance across the top is edged with a narrow ruffle also. With a blue-and-white cotton rug on the floor this makes a most attractive room for a young girl. Gingham is very inexpensive and launders beautifully.

When Cutting Striped Material

To be able to cut a striped dress well is a proof that you are by no means a novice at the art of dressmaking.

Skirts are always cut first. Lay the material out flat on the cutting table, and if there is no "up-and-down" to the material, you will be able to fit the gores into each other, cutting the material in an economical way.

Remember to have the line of small perforations found in the center of each gore of the pattern run straight with a stripe. This will cause each cut edge to be slightly bias, and when joined will look far better than if a bias edge was joined to the straight.

The center of the front gore must, of course, be on a stripe. Double your material before cutting in order to have both sides exactly alike. When cutting sleeves, be sure the material is doubled, and save yourself the trouble of having one sleeve different from the other, thus ruining the garment.

Stripes should run straight from the shoulder to the waist in sleeves. Have the stripes run straight down the center of the front and straight down the center of the back when cutting the bodice. Always allow plenty of material for seams when striped material is used, and be sure that the stripes match in the joining of seams.

Gilded Laces

ONE clever woman who appreciates artistic touches on her gowns and hats discovered while gilding little fancy things for Christmas that laces are made very beautiful by applying to them a coat of gilt paint.

She experimented at first with old bits of lace, and found the result so satisfactory that some yards of coarse imitation Irish lace were gilded and used as trimming on an evening gown.

To do the gilding, lay the lace perfectly flat over a clean piece of blotting paper and apply the gilt with a brush. Let one side dry, turn and repeat the process on the other side.

If necessary, apply two coats of paint. Silver and copper can be applied in the same way. Lace treated thus is lovely for all sorts of fancy work, besides trimming for gowns and hats.

A Threaded Needlecase

THE woman who travels will appreciate a needlecase all ready equipped with threaded needles. Three-quarters of a yard of fancy ribbon, 2½ inches wide; two strips of flannel, fifteen inches long and two inches wide, and three-quarters of a yard of baby ribbon are required in the making of such a case.

Cover two pieces of cardboard 3 inches long and 2½ inches wide with ribbon. Whip them together around the edges, and to one edge sew the long piece of ribbon and the two strips of flannel. Pink the edges of the flannel so it will not fray, and through the entire length run a dozen needles threaded with double silk and cotton of various colors, letting the needles lie at the end of the flannel nearest the cardboard.

Pins are stuck in each side of the covered cardboard, and the flannel strips with their ribbon covering are wound around and around the cardboard and fastened by tying with a piece of baby ribbon sewed to the broad ribbon three inches from the end.

Another handy little case for needles and pins can be made from the top of an old kid evening glove. Cut a straight piece of kid 3½ inches long and 3 inches wide and a piece of soft satin the same size. Turn in the edges of the satin and featherstitch with self-colored silk. A little pocket is attached to one end by stitching a piece of satin one inch wide to the lining satin, and all are stitched securely to the kid covering.

Pins, safety pins and needles are stuck into the satin, and in the pocket are slipped two little cardboard bobbins wound with black and white thread. The case is then folded over in three parts and fastened with a glove snap or tied with ribbon.

On the outside the kid can be decorated as desired or the covering can be of heavy silk, brocade or linen embroidered with any dainty design.

A Rolled Hem

TO WHIP on the edge of a frill or an trimming for an undergarment without rolling the edge of the material, place the lace one-fourth of an inch from the edge of the material and whip it closely; then roll the material into a neat and even hem.

This is particularly satisfactory for bias materials or circular edges, and will iron without wrinkling.

When Placing Sleeves

A GOOD rule to follow when determining the proper position of sleeves when placing them in a blouse is to fold the sleeve along the forward seam and crease it at the top of the fold at the opposite side.

This crease marks the point of the sleeve that is to be sewed to the shoulder seam.

On this crease the forward seam of the sleeve is pinned. It is then an easy matter to baste in the under part of the sleeve and, gathering the upper part of the sleeve, baste that in even with the edge of the armhole.

Lace-Edged Doilies

IN MAKING a set of round doilies for Christmas gifts one woman made the discovery that by stitching narrow hems in the edges with a rather long machine stitch she could very easily crochet linen thread lace on the edges, catching a loop of the linen thread in each machine stitch.

A simple wreath of scattered daisies and leaves was embroidered on each linen circle, then a two-inch edge of lace, resembling torchon, was crocheted about the edge of each. The effect is wonderfully good. The work is easily done, making a charming set for gifts.

About Buttonholes

EVEN such simple things as buttons and buttonholes require proper treatment to insure neatness.

When buttoning or unbuttoning a garment, forcing the buttons across the width of the hole will soon tear out the latter.

For this reason, buttons with only two holes are better than those with four, and should be so placed that their holes will be on a line with the length of the buttonhole.

Some women place buttons with four holes so that only two holes need be sewed through—those on the opposite corners—thus making them last longer than if all four were used.

To Transfer

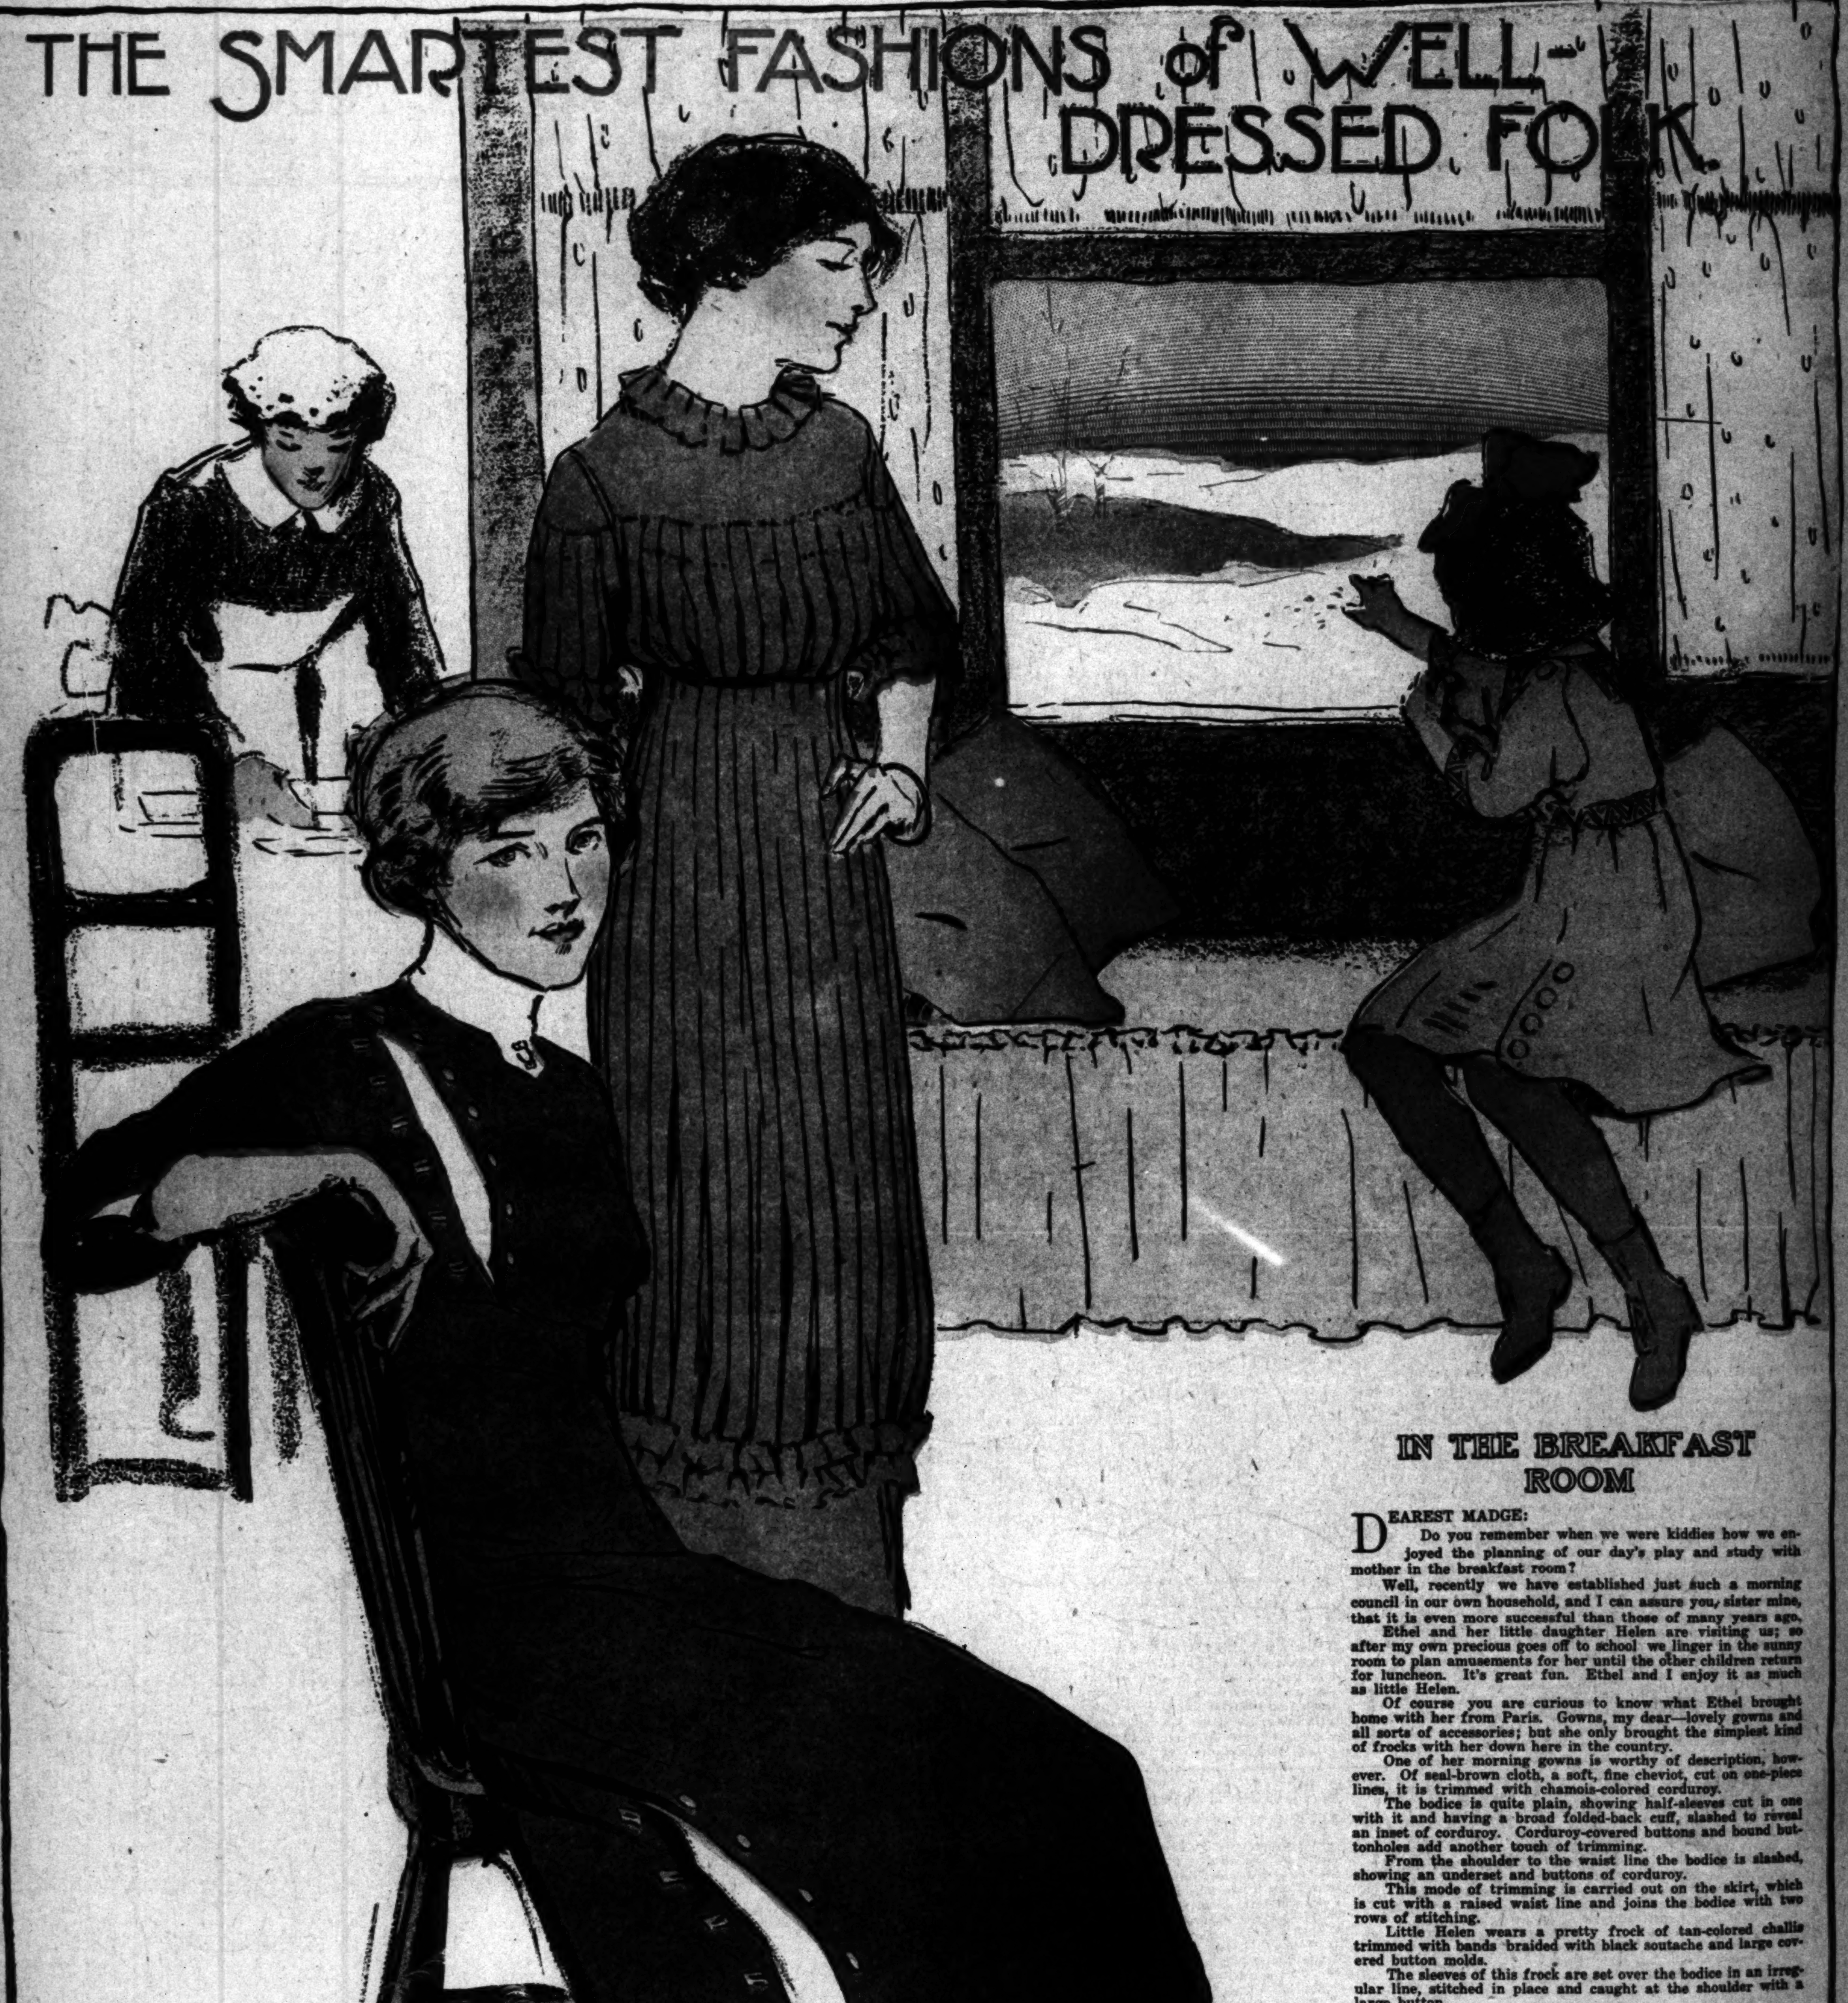
HERE are suggestions for transferring the pattern before you to any material before working.

Perhaps the easiest way is the "window-pane" method. This is successful when the material is thin, like batiste, etc. Pin the sheet of paper and the material together and hold them against the glass of a window. With a sharp pencil draw on the material the design, which can be easily seen through the goods. If one-half of the design only be given, unpin the paper and turn the other side to the fabric. The strong light behind will make it plain.

If you have carbon paper, you should place the sheet between your fabric and the newspaper. This latter is on top. With a sharp pencil go over the outline of the design. The impression will be left in fine lines and will last until worked. This method is successful on heavy material.

Surely the way is easy.

THE SMARTEST FASHIONS of WELL-DRESSED FOLK



IN THE BREAKFAST ROOM

DEAREST MADGE:

Do you remember when we were kiddies how we enjoyed the planning of our day's play and study with mother in the breakfast room?

Well, recently we have established just such a morning council in our own household, and I can assure you, sister mine, that it is even more successful than those of many years ago.

Ethel and her little daughter Helen are visiting us; so after my own precious goes off to school we linger in the sunny room to plan amusements for her until the other children return for luncheon. It's great fun. Ethel and I enjoy it as much as little Helen.

Of course you are curious to know what Ethel brought home with her from Paris. Gowns, my dear—lovely gowns and all sorts of accessories; but she only brought the simplest kind of frocks with her down here in the country.

One of her morning gowns is worthy of description, however. Of seal-brown cloth, a soft, fine cheviot, cut on one-piece lines, it is trimmed with chamois-colored corduroy.

The bodice is quite plain, showing half-sleeves cut in one with it and having a broad folded-back cuff, slashed to reveal an inset of corduroy. Corduroy-covered buttons and bound buttonholes add another touch of trimming.

From the shoulder to the waist line the bodice is slashed, showing an underset and buttons of corduroy.

This mode of trimming is carried out on the skirt, which is cut with a raised waist line and joins the bodice with two rows of stitching.

The sleeves of this frock are set over the bodice in an irregular line, stitched in place and caught at the shoulder with a large button.

I wore that quaint little frock of violet cloth which has a plain deep yoke extending over the shoulders. The lower part of the sleeves and bodice is laid in narrow box-pleats, which are hemstitched to the yoke.

The idea is used also on the skirt, where a broad plain band matches the yoke in effect. Box-pleated quillings trim the skirt and sleeves and a little frill encircles the low-cut neck.

It is really a charming little gown and very becoming.

Here I am, babbling on about clothes, when a multitude of household duties await me.

Let me hear again soon from you, dear sister, and give love and kisses to your own dear ones.

Affectionately, ELEANOR.

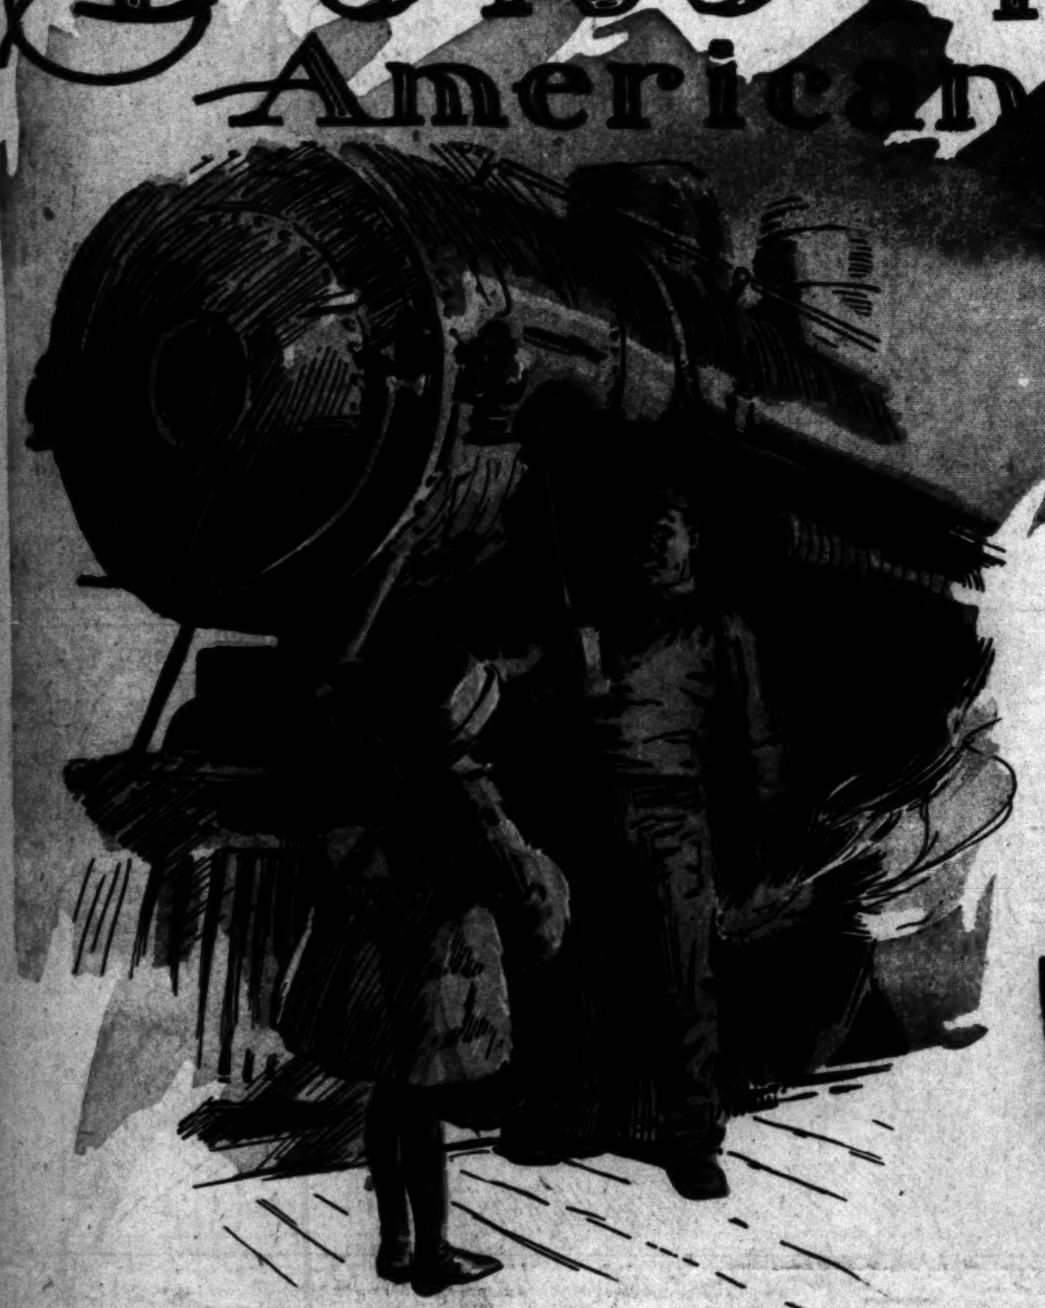
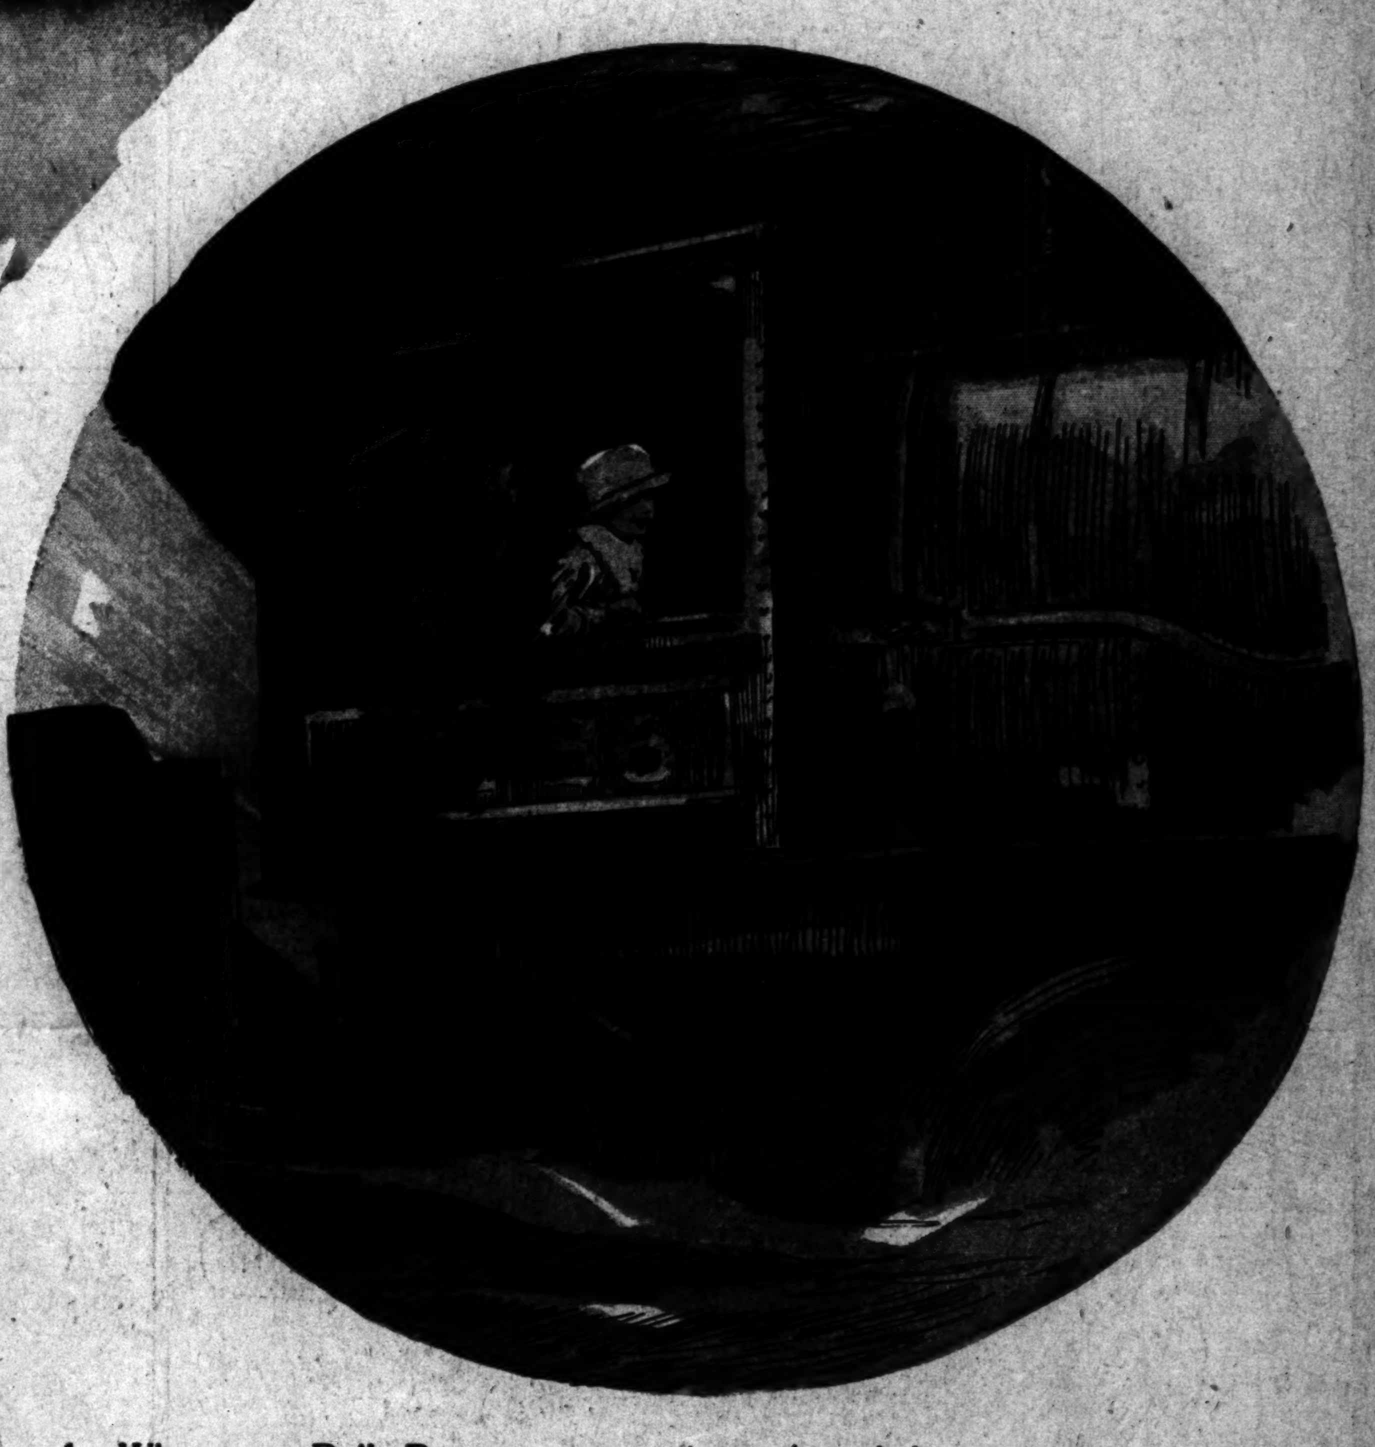
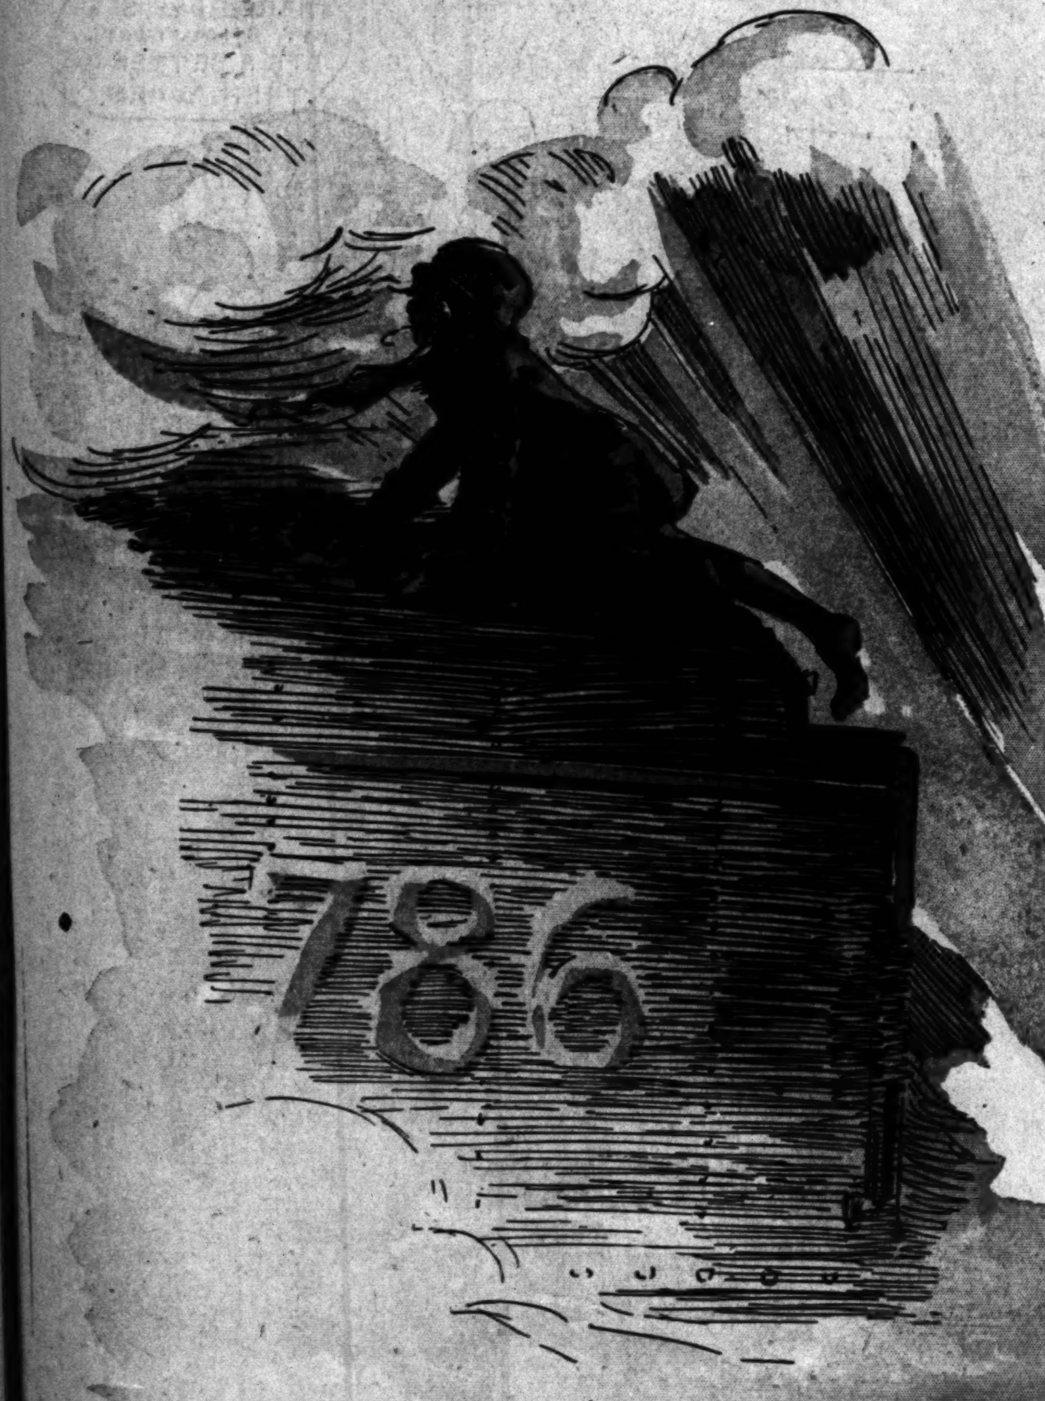
DOROTHY DEERE

American Girl







1.—When pretty Dolly Deere was ten unquiet was her mind.
She thirsted for adventure, the most thrilling she could find,
And was always looking for it in the things that came her way,
And was ever disappointed till one bright and happy day—

2.—When she had an inspiration—what it was you couldn't guess—
'Twas to ride upon the engine of some famous night express!
Pleased as Punch she trotted, happy with anticipative cheer,
To the station, there to conquer the astonished engineer.

3.—"Please, Mr. Engineer," said she, "I want to ride with you!"
The man stared dumbly at her, but whatever could he do?
He spoke of "rules" and "orders"; Dolly looked at him and sighed.
"Well, I guess—this once—I'll break 'em; just this once," the driver cried

4.—So our Dolly sat beside him as the engine dashed along
'Mid the thunder overwhelming of its own terrific song,
'Mid the glare of blinding flashes, and the heat and smoke and spark—

5.—She saw the trees throb by her and the houses flashing by,
And she saw the engine stoking with a fascinated eye.
Then the driver looked behind him and a shout went through the air.
He pushed a lever, stopped the train, for Dolly wasn't there.

6.—The engineer was frantic as he dashed upon the ground;
The passengers, in panic, fainted everywhere around,
When suddenly the driver looked about and tore his hair—
Dolly Deere was smiling at him from a velvet Pullman chair

7.—She explained it in a little, when her breath had come again.
She had crept across the engine to the body of the train,
Where a stout and cheerful gentleman, with smiling energy,
Outdid himself in efforts to amuse small Dorothy.

8.—'Twas that fact that saved the driver, for the entertaining man
Was the railroad's mighty president, who chuckled and began:—
"You've broken your rules, Mr. Driver, I know,
But you are forgiven, for—say—
I think, if she tried, she could get the whole road with her cunning American way!"

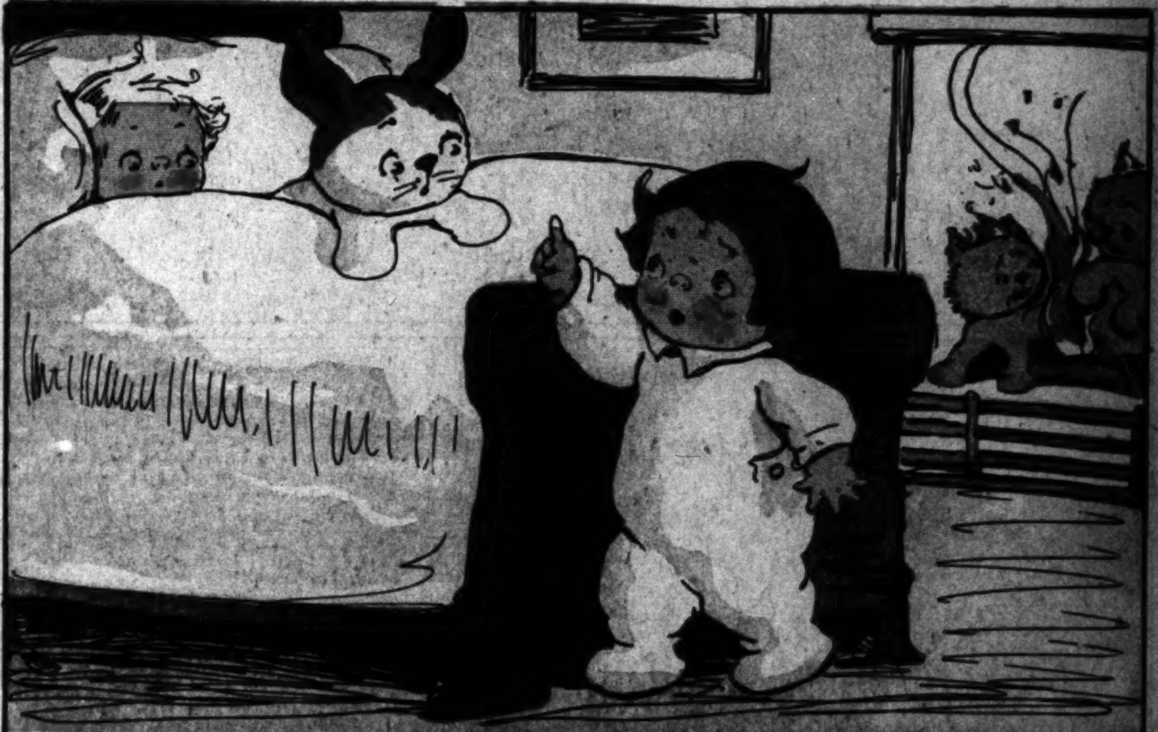
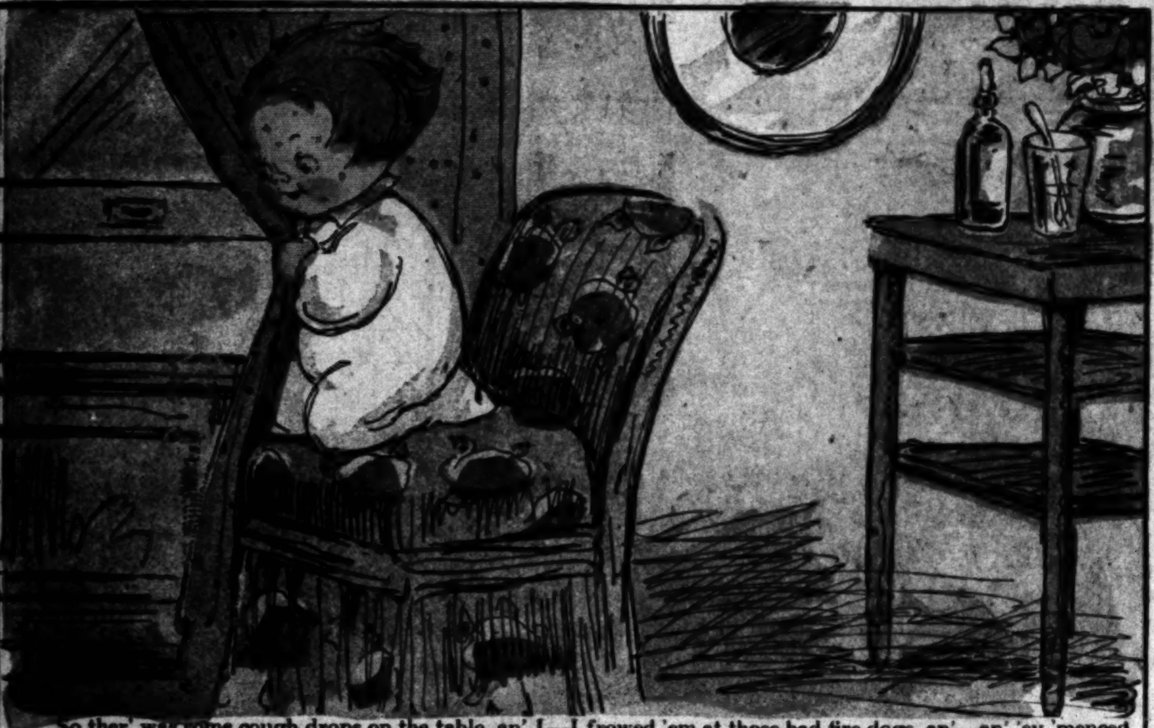
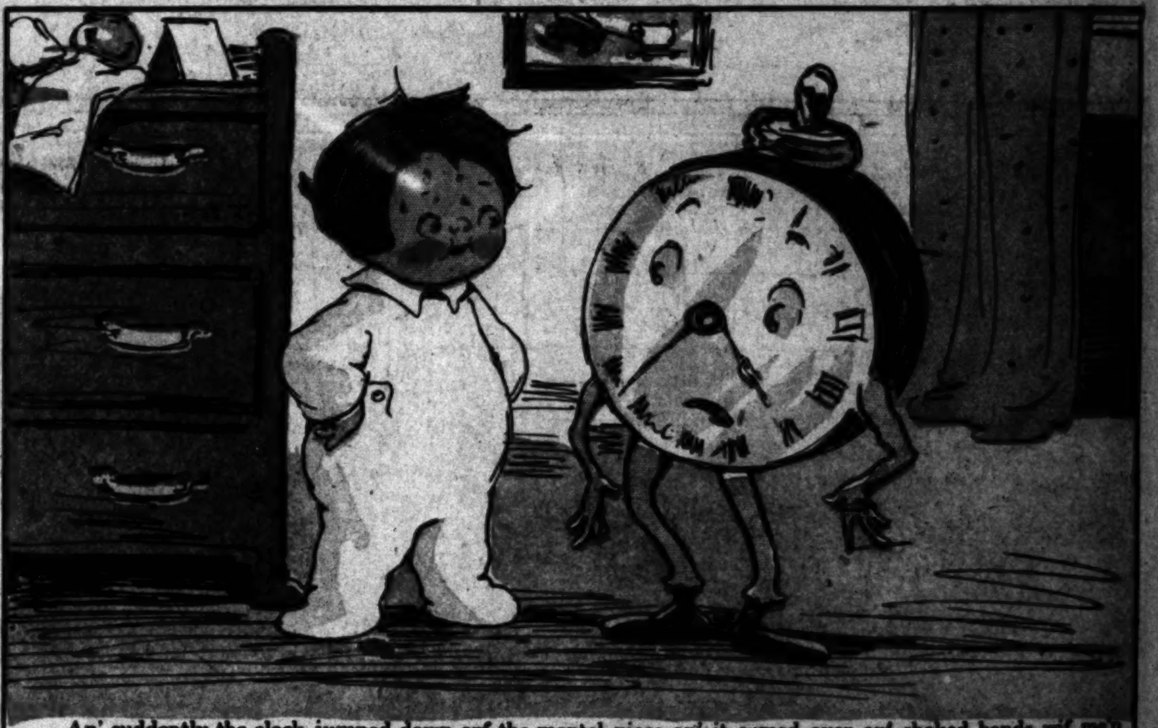
Me'n Puppo was playin' wif—wif some chickies one day, in their house, an 'at's how we catched the Chicking Pox orf o' 'em—an' we was turr'ble sick, an' so was mine Baby Bruvver—and mine dee-ar Muvver putted us all to bed in one bed an' 'en she goed to telephone to the doctor to come an' bring us some nassy powders to make us well 'gen.



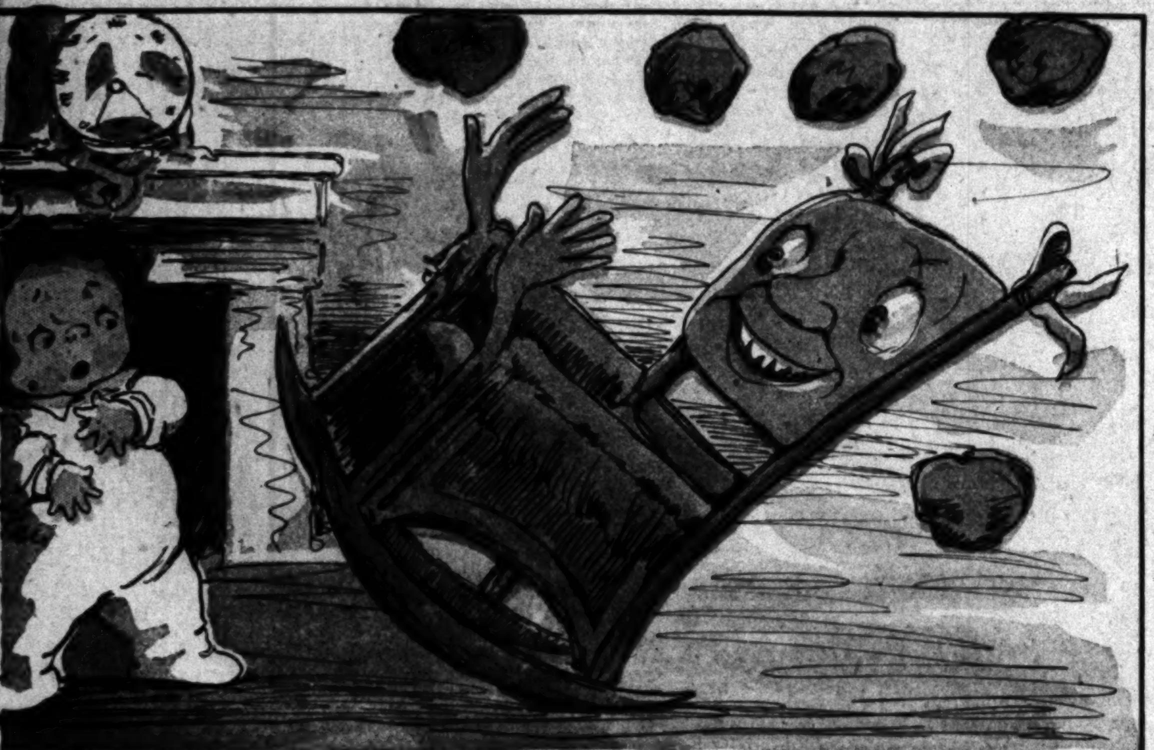
An' she jus' shutted the door—an' ther' was a pair o' fire dogs in the fireplace, an' 'ey 'menced growlin' an' fightin' an' makin' a horribliferous noise roun' ther', an' mine Baby Bruvver was scared, an' Puppo he 'menced to growl an' want to get in the fight, too, an' I sed. "You stay in bed, Puppo, you'd catch cold an' 'en the old Chicken Poxers'd get you all deaded!" I sed.



So ther' was some cough drops on the table, an' I—I frowed 'em at those bad fire dogs, an'—an' 'ey 'menced to cough so loud an' explosiferous the fire dogs was scared an' stopped fightin' an' goed back to ten' to ther' business an' not let the fire go out—'cause—'cause the fire wanted to go out orful bad to see a p'rade what's passin' by our house.



An' suddently the clock jumped down orf the mantel piece an' it comed over an' shaked hands wif me'n Puppo an' mine Baby Bruvver—an' it sed, "Don't you fink I has a pretty face, Kaptin Kiddo?" An'—an' I sed, "I is Kaptin Kiddo, an' I cannot tell a story. No!" An' the ol' clock gotted orful mad an' it sed, "Tick-tick-tick!" (An' it meaned swear words!)



An' I sed, "Ain't you 'shamed o' yourself!" I sed. "If you doesn't stop I'll frow your key away an' 'en you won't be no more use—never!" 'En the clock stopped, but the rockin' chair started frowin' rocks an' the winder 'menced to squeak an' cry, "Oh! I has a pane!" An' I had to get up out o' bed to close the winder—an' mine Baby Bruvver sed, "I is glad you shut it up, Kiddo."

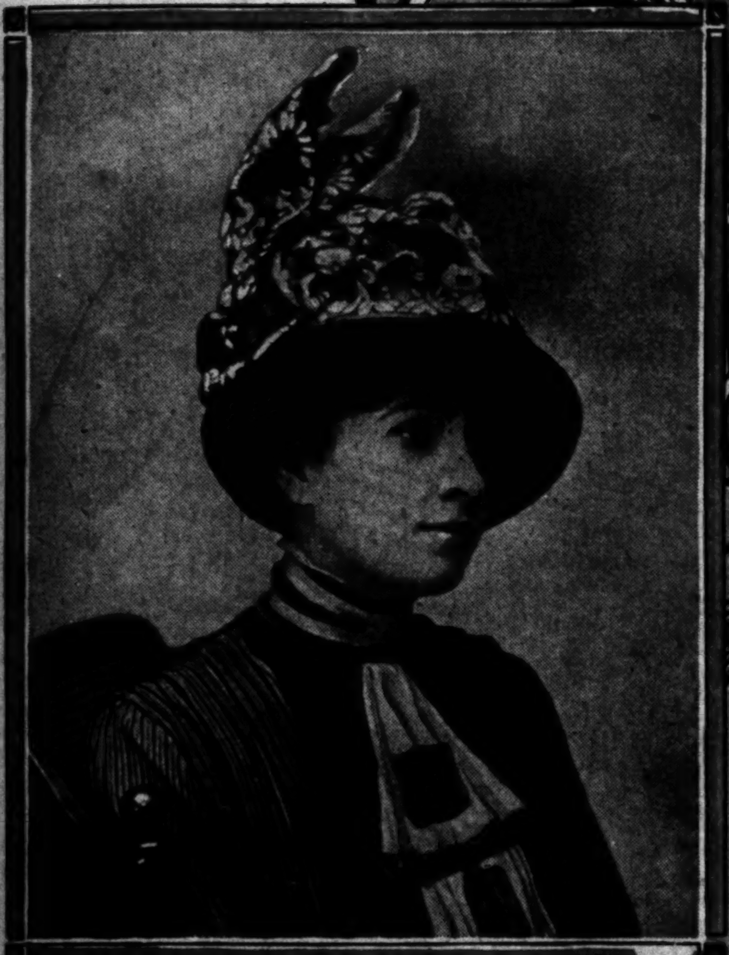
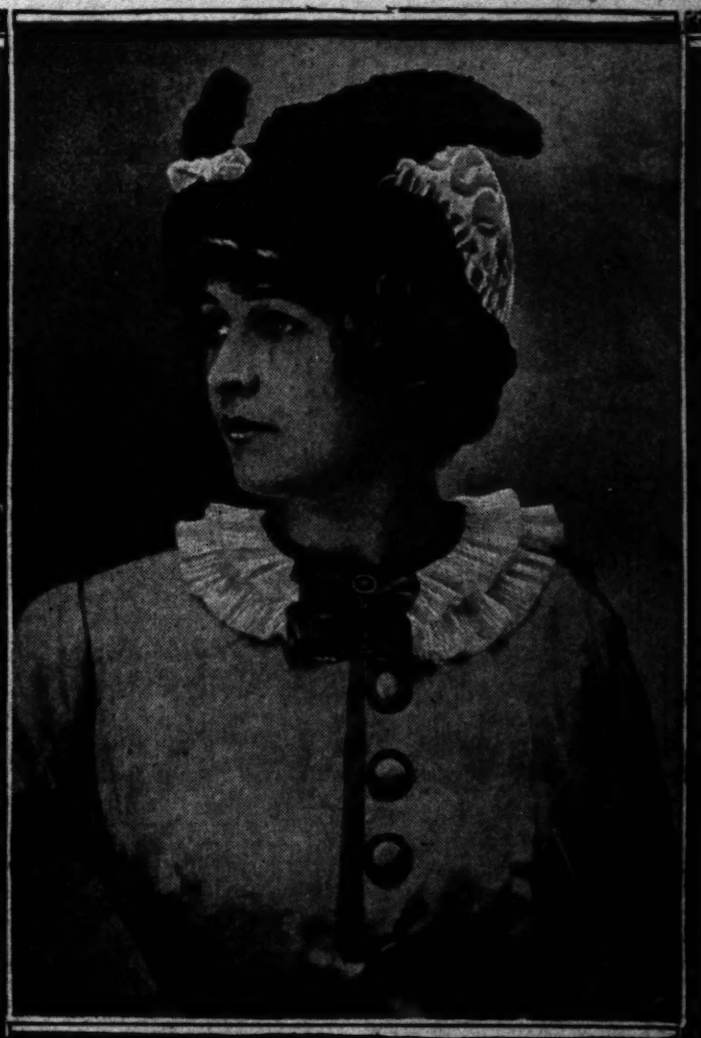
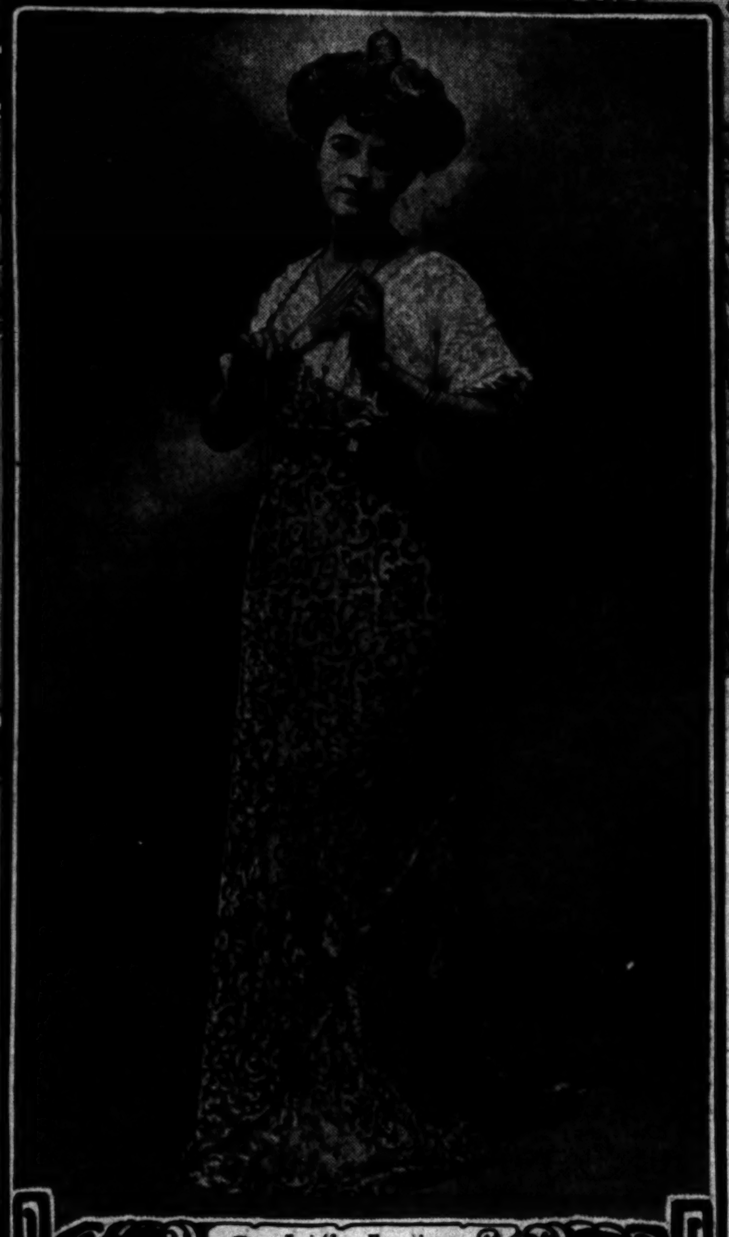
BROCADED VELVET RETURNS



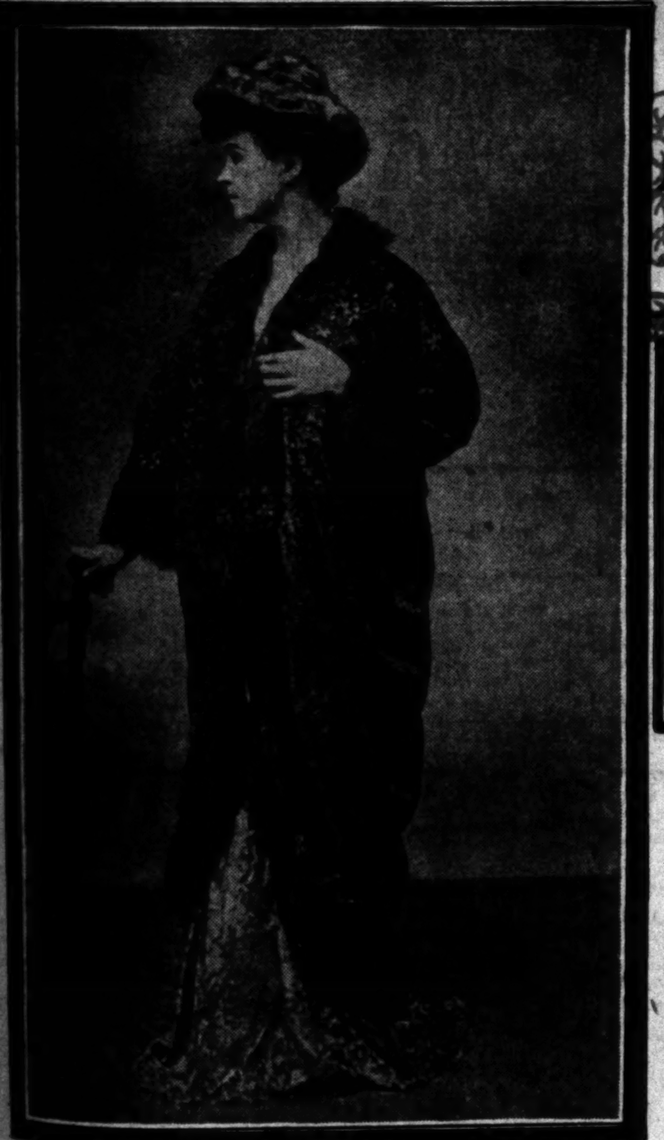
Ribbon is Brocaded



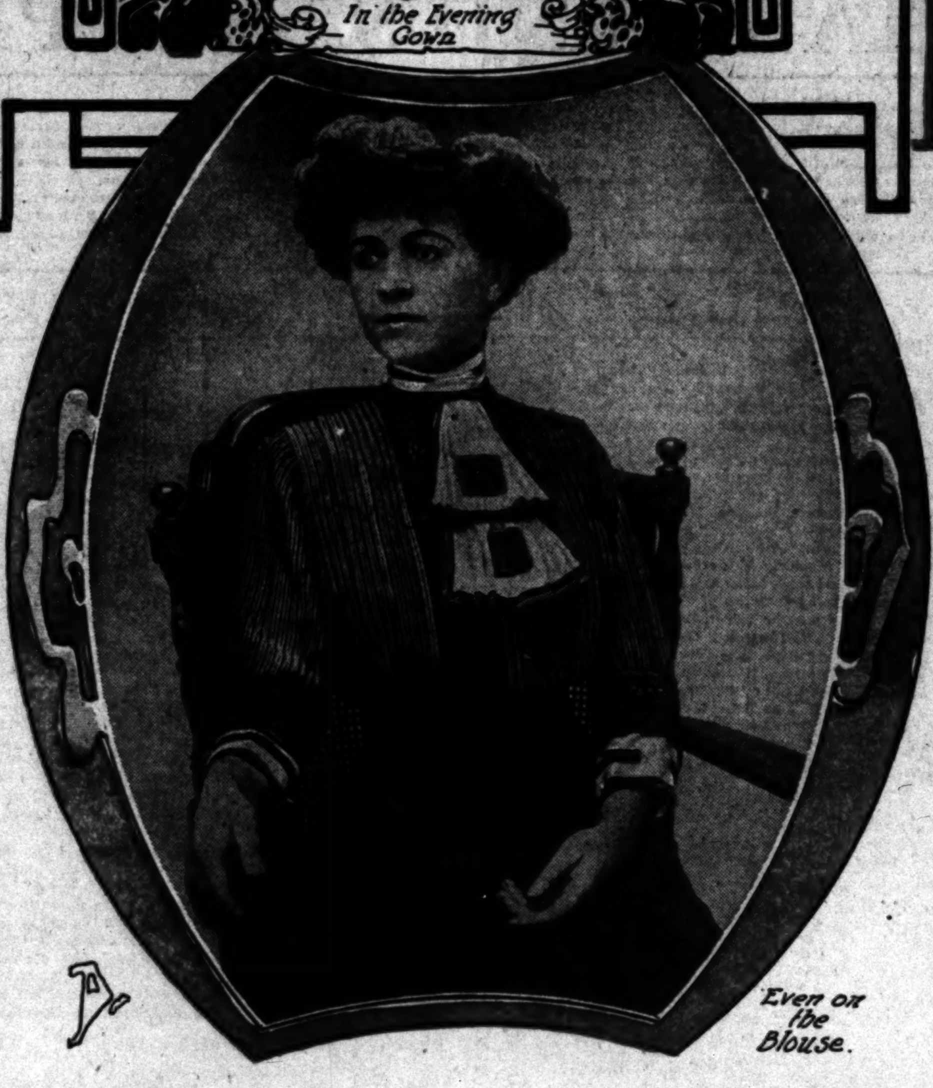
On the Crown of a Hat



In the Evening Gown



The Fur Trimmed Wrap.



Even on the Blouse.

A Black and Gold Effect

JUST two hundred years ago the jolly contributor to the Spectator showed that even his eye was open to the turns of fashion. And we can quote his phrase of wonder in this twentieth century, backed by admiration for the exquisite patterns in velvet and silk that fashion has launched.

Brocaded velvet is quite supple this year. It gives no bulk to our slender figures; it can be draped in clinging lines about the wearer, and lends itself to the accepted alliances with sheer materials.

Brocaded velvet appears in the evening gown of pale rose with the upper bodice of ecru lace. The skirt is wrapped and pieced at the lower part, while a one-sided effect is shown on the bodice. A large gold rose is placed at the waist line, while pink tulle is laid in folds at the neck and appears in a quilling at the edge of each sleeve.

Extremely serviceable is the black-and-gold brocade over old-gold satin. The fichu of the cut velvet is edged with fur and crossed over ecru chiffon in a one-sided effect. A pointed tunic drops over the skirt. Pleated net edges the short sleeves.

It would be surprising if the beautiful brocades did not invade the field of evening wraps. Here is one in a lovely Persian design of blues and gold, draped around the body and edged with skunk fur. The sleeves are gathered into cuffs and protect the arms more satisfactorily than the loose kimono type. The wrap is lined with brocaded silk to match.

On the striped velvet blouse we have a straight vest of brocaded velvet. It consists of two straight pieces at the front, over which falls a pleated tulle jabot trimmed with velvet. Cuffs of brocade edge the simple sleeves with tulle undercuffs. Here is an excellent way to use an odd strip of pretty brocade that you perhaps will find in grandmother's trunk.

The close hat now rejoices in a broad band of lovely brocaded ribbon. This is placed around the high crown and ends in two high wired loops and a broad knot at the side. Any color effect is permissible, because a softening sheen of silver blends the shades of flowers and background into the color of the hat. The flower pattern is perhaps the most favored, but quaint empire designs of wreaths, baskets, landscapes and birds are returning with twentieth-century art to enforce their beauty.

Brocaded velvet forms the crown of the little bonnet edged with sealskin. It is stretched over the crown, and a tiny bow is placed at the front among the wings of fur. If you wish, you can carry this lovely combination idea still further by fashioning a muff or scarf of the left-over pieces and thus complete a set of the accepted alliance for this season.

Brocade recalls to us the elegance of the courts and the beauty of centuries gone by. In satin or velvet form it has returned to us with the same loveliness and the added charm of a revived beautiful fabric.

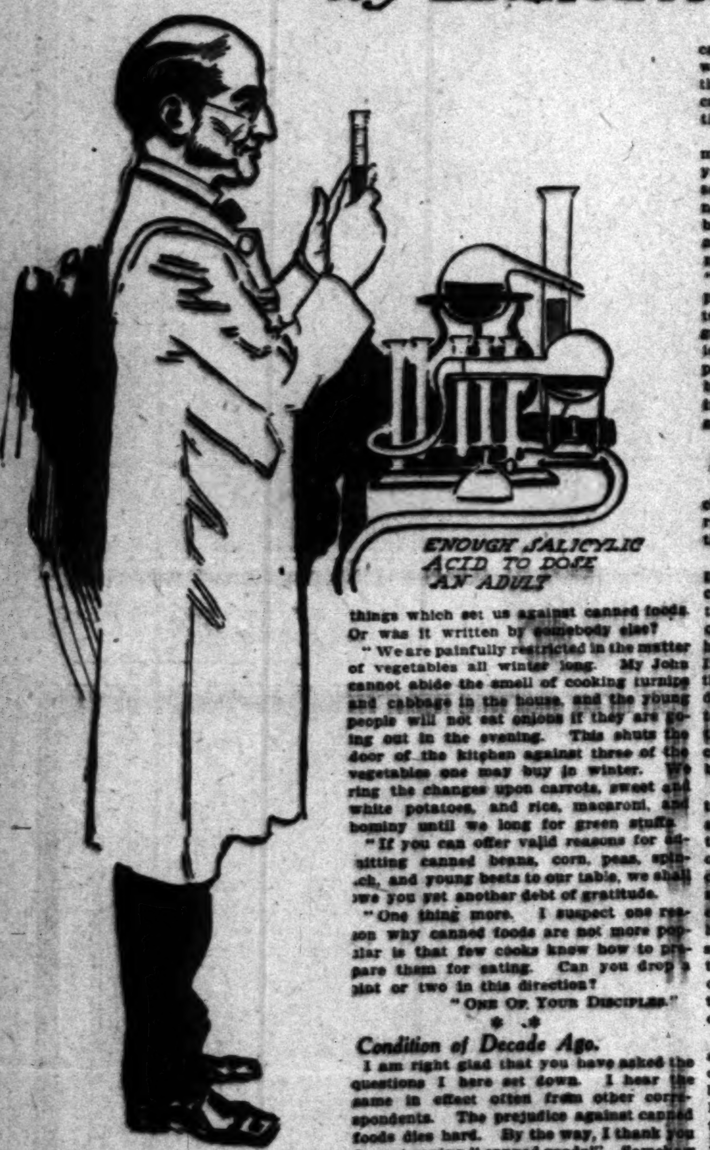
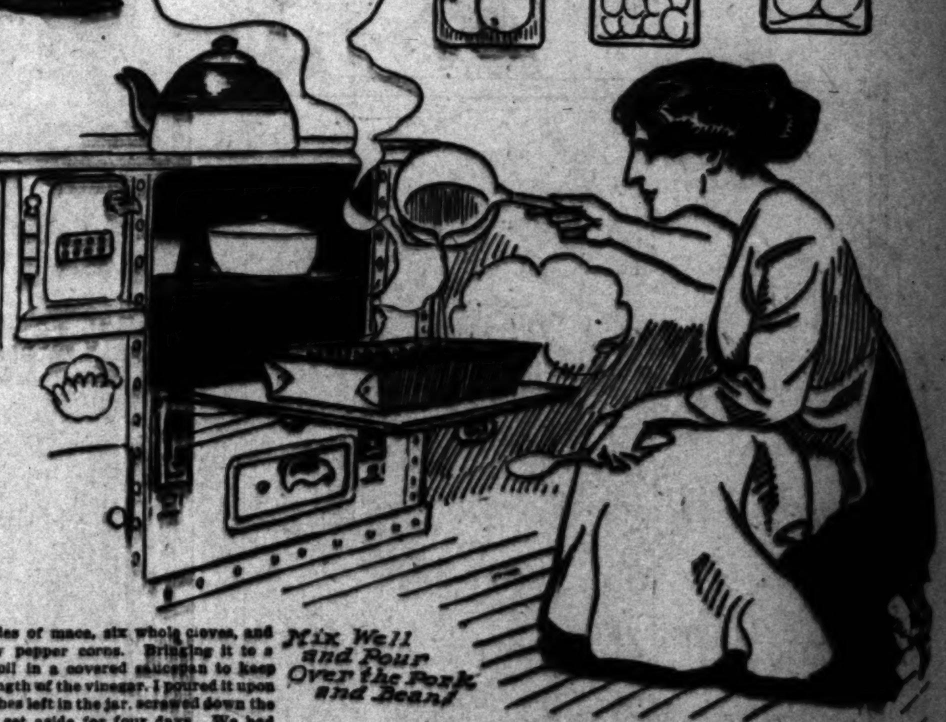
About Canned Foods

HEAVY PENALTIES AWAIT THE MANUFACTURER WHO FAILS TO TELL THE TRUTH IN THE LABEL

By Marion Harland



ENOUGH SALICYLIC ACID TO DOSE AN ADULT



Mix Well and Pour Over the Pork and Beans

AN esteemed and intelligent correspondent writes:

"I have noticed that your 'Family Meals for a Week' include almost daily mention of canned fruits and vegetables. We have read so much of late years concerning poisonous adulterations of canned provisions and so sickened over the novelist's pictures of canning establishments, that we have banished them from our table. If I mistake not, you refrained for years from recommending these foods. Would you mind letting us know what has altered your views? Unless my memory is at fault, I read several years back an article from your pen making revelations of deleterious chemicals discovered by you in preserved pears. That story was one of the things which set us against canned foods. Or was it written by somebody else?

"We are painfully restricted in the matter of vegetables all winter long. My John cannot abide the smell of cooking turnips and cabbage in the house, and the young people will not eat onions if they are going out in the evening. This shuts the door of the kitchen against three of the vegetables one may buy in winter. We ring the changes upon carrots, sweet and white potatoes, and rice, macaroni, and hominy until we long for green stuffs.

"If you can offer valid reasons for admitting canned beans, corn, peas, spinach, and young beets to our table, we shall owe you yet another debt of gratitude.

"One thing more. I suspect one reason why canned foods are not more popular is that few cooks know how to prepare them for eating. Can you drop a hint or two in this direction?

* *

Condition of Decade Ago.

I am right glad that you have asked the questions I here set down. I hear the same in effect often from other correspondents. The prejudice against canned foods dies hard. By the way, I thank you for not saying "canned goods!" Somehow I always connect the idea of "goods" with a yard stick. Under conditions which existed a score—or even a decade—of years ago, the objections to the use of them entertained by you and other intelligent housemothers were not groundless. Novels and newspapers may have plied the muck rake over-zealously in bringing to light the unspeakable abominations of slaughter house and canning factories. There was foundation for the shocking tales. One could hardly pick up a paper that did not contain the report of somebody poisoned by eating canned corned beef or potted salmon. Now and then a chemist told of analysis excited by suspicion of family or individuals who had suffered agonies of indigestion after indulging freely in canned oysters or fruits. It is not always true that "there must be fire where there is much smoke." In this matter of canning the smoke became an offense in the nostrils of the community, at length.

You are correct in thinking that I had my say anent canned pears five or seven years ago. I did much of my own preserving and pickling at that time and we never bought canned fruits or any vegetable artificially preserved except, occasionally, tomatoes for soups. A remark of a member of my family in regard to the "brunette complexion" of my Bartlett pears as contrasted with what the critic termed the "chemical blondes" sold by grocers, put me upon the scent. A chemical analysis of the contents of a can of pears put up by one of the most respectable canning houses in the country revealed in three tablespoonfuls of the fruit enough salicylic acid to dose an adult.

* *

Before Days of "Pure Food."

"And this stuff," wrote the indignant chemist—one of our best—who reported the result, "is fed freely to children all over the United States!"

Simultaneously with this discovery by a private citizen, a meeting of eminent physicians, held in the largest city in our country, condemned, in no measured terms, other products put up in airtight cans, as highly deleterious to the human stomach. It was openly suggested at that convention that the alarming increase of Bright's disease in America within the last quarter century might be in consequence of the lavish use of such preservatives as salicylic acid and perhaps, benzoate of soda, by canning companies.

My publication of the Bartlett pear story to which you refer drew down upon my unscientific self a storm of protest from those most nearly interested. One ingenuous manufacturer forwarded to me a list of the agents used in putting up his food stuffs, "to prove the harmless nature of each of them." Salicylic acid stood at the head of the list. An excellent medicine in skilled hands, as were, doubtless, others of the catalogue. But, speaking in behalf of my constituents—the housemothers of the land—I replied that "we do not take our physic at random with our victuals."

Then came a reaction of common sense and scientific revolt. The most beneficent law that has been enacted since we became a nation—the pure food law—swept like the besom of reform from one end of the country to the other. Men like Dr. Harvey P. Wiley held—with steady hand the searchlight that brought the hidden things of darkness into public view. Heavy penalties await the manufacturer who uses adulterants in the preservation of food and fails, to tell the truth in the label affixed to can or parcel.

* *

Canned Foods Made Safe.

Intelligent men with the fear of God before their eyes and the love of their brother man in their hearts combined to make canning safe and honorable. Having watched the progress of this reform from its inception until now, I wish I had space and time in which to tell the story as I should like to lay it before my big family. They must take my word for it that canned foods are now prepared for them far more carefully than they could be were they picked by the housewife's own hand and cooked in her own kitchen. The manufacturers invite and desire inspection of their admirably appointed works. The one and sufficient preservative is HEAT, held continuously at a given point until the work of sterilization is complete. Cans and rubbers are likewise sterilized as is every part of the machinery with which the foods come into contact.

I am thus circumstantial in statements relative to this important subject because in times past I shared fully in the distrust of canned foods expressed by our present correspondent, and did not hesitate to declare my sentiments. I owe it to constituents and to the reformers to whom I award the honor of the great and beneficent change in the conditions we once deplored to explain why I recommend the free use of that which I then deprecated.

It is not right that we should have to live upon starchy foods all winter long, when our overheated houses and lessened outdoor exercise engender bile and a congested state of the whole system. It is an unspeakable comfort to me—and it must be to numberless other housemothers—to be able to order green and succulent adjuncts to the heavy and heating meat dishes which belong to the season. And it is a genuine satisfaction to me that I may conscientiously assure those who do me high honor when, like our correspondent of today, they call themselves my "disciples"—that they may set before their households the "kindly fruits of the earth" in the depth of winter as fearlessly as in summer.

Treatment of Canned Goods.

Now, as to the treatment of canned foods in order to make them palatable to the eater. Many persons do not relish them because they maltreat them as they would not think of handling fruits and vegetables just gathered. The most skillful canner does not pretend to do more than to give you cooked, unseasoned material to be prepared by yourself as you may judge best.

None of the canned foods should be turned directly from the just opened tin or glass into the saucepan, or the dish in which fruit is to be served. Open the jar several hours before cooking or serving, and turn the contents into an uncovered dish. The air takes off the "close" taste inevitable to food that has been hermetically sealed. You "aerate" it by this simple process.

In my home we add sugar to canned fruit before sending it to table. It is usually too tart for the palates of those who like "sweet things sweet." Cream is passed with peaches and berries after they are sugared. A delicious conserve is made by turning the sirup from canned peaches, adding a cupful of sugar for a quart jar, and boiling the sirup for half an hour after the sugar is dissolved. Then pour it boiling hot over the peaches; cover closely, and do not use until next day. As the fruit is not cooked in the sirup it does not lose flavor.

I asked my grocer last week the price of a certain brand of pickled peaches, and was told "80 cents!" This for a quart jar!

I bought a quart can of a brand I knew I could trust, and when it came home drained off every drop of the sirup and brought it to a boil in a saucepan. At this point I added a cupful of vinegar with a few blades of mace, six whole cloves, and as many pepper corns. Bringing it to a quick boil in a covered saucepan to keep the strength of the vinegar, I poured it upon the peaches left in the jar, screwed down the top and set aside for four days. We had pickled peaches as good as those of the fancy brand, at a cost of 30 cents, counting all ingredients. In these days of high prices it is no mean achievement to save 50 cents upon one quart of sweet pickle.

Bit of Culinary Economy.

BAKED PORK AND CANNED BEANS.—Here again is a bit of economical contrivance. Canned pork and beans may be had, but they cost a third more than the can of beans by itself.

Turn out the beans an hour before you are to cook them. Boil a bit of streaked salt pork for the same time; put the beans into the bake dish, scoop a hole in the middle in which bury the pork. Set the vessel containing the water in which the pork was cooked in snow or iced water to throw up the fat. Skim this off and put into the pan in which you save drippings. Add to the skimmed liquor a tablespoonful of molasses, a saltspoonful of made mustard and a dash of pepper. Mix well and pour over the pork and beans. With a fork work these gently to let the liquor reach all parts. Bake, covered, half an hour. Uncover and brown lightly.

This dish will be more delicate in flavor than when the raw beans are prepared for baking by the ordinary method. The saving in time and trouble is a consideration, and the lessened cost in money is something to be thought of.

GREEN CORN SOUFFLE.—Chop a can of green corn fine. Whip the yolks of two eggs light and beat them into the corn. Stir in a tablespoonful of melted butter and the same of sugar, with salt to taste. Dissolve a bit of soda not larger than a pea in a tablespoonful of hot milk, and add to the mixture. Lastly beat the whites of two eggs to a standing froth and whip in. Turn into a buttered pudding dish, cover, and bake in a quick oven for twenty minutes. Brown quickly and serve at once before it falls. It is a delicious accompaniment to roast beef or mutton.

Process an Easy One.

There is no nicer preparation of spinach than this. The wonder is that so few cooks are willing to undertake it, for the process is simple.

SPINACH SOUFFLE.—This is an excellent left over from the dish I have just described.

Turn the remnant of spinach à la crème into a bowl and beat into it a cupful of milk into which you have dropped a tiny bit of soda, then the whipped yolks of two eggs and the stiffened whites of the same. Beat all hard for a minute and pour into a buttered bake dish. Bake, covered, twenty minutes, uncover, brown quickly, and serve before it falls.

If you have no left over from yesterday, chop a can of spinach fine, season with salt, pepper, a teaspoonful of sugar and a little nutmeg, then proceed as directed with the cold spinach.

CANNED GREEN PEAS.—Turn from the can an hour before using, and drain off every drop of liquid. It gives a "flat" taste to the peas. Now lay in iced water for half an hour. Put over the fire in enough boiling water, slightly salted, to cover the peas an inch deep. Bring to a quick boil, add a small lump of sugar; cook for a minute more, and drain. Serve hot, stirring a teaspoonful of butter into the peas after dishing them.

Creamed Corn for Soup.

CANNED CORN SOUP.—If possible get creamed corn for this. Your grocer should be able to procure it for you.

If you cannot, chop the corn fine and put it over the fire with a pint of weak soup stock. If you have no stock on hand use a 10 cent can of beef soup. Cook gently for half an hour, then stir in a tablespoonful of butter cooked to a "roux" with one of flour; a teaspoonful of onion juice, salt and pepper to taste. Boil up once and serve.

GREEN CORN CHOWDER.—Chop the corn fine. Peel and mince an onion and fry it brown in a great tablespoonful of butter. Turn into a saucepan and add the chopped corn, four pilot biscuits that have been soaked half an hour in enough milk to cover them, and two dozen [illegible] cut with a [illegible], then parboiled. Season with pepper, salt, and a tablespoonful of chopped parsley, and pour into the saucepan three cupfuls of boiling water. Simmer slowly half an hour, and stir in a cupful of hot milk which has been thickened with a roux of a tablespoonful of butter stirred up with one of flour in a frying pan. Serve as soon as the soup is mixed with the other ingredients. This is a nourishing and palatable soup, although it has no base of meat stock.

SPINACH A LA CREME.—Turn the spinach from the can an hour before using it. When you are ready to [illegible] chop it fine and set over the fire in the inner vessel of a double boiler, the outer being filled with boiling water. When the spinach is heating make a roux in a frying pan of one tablespoonful of flour and two of butter. When this is a smooth "[illegible]" stir it into the hot spinach. Season with white pepper and salt to taste, with a teaspoonful of white sugar, a dash of [illegible], and a teaspoonful of lemon juice.

Beat all together over the fire and cook for ten minutes, stirring often. Heat half a cupful of cream in a separate vessel with a bit of soda the size of a pea, and when it is scalding hot beat into the spinach. Cook three minutes more, stirring and beating all the time. Serve very hot, garnishing the dish with [illegible] of toast.

MARION HARLAND'S HELPING HAND

"CAN you tell me why for the last few months my cakes fall, no matter how carefully made and whether coal or gas range is used? They are almost sure to fall in the cooking or soon after they are taken from the oven.

"I have been a housekeeper for twenty years and used to be a good cake maker.

The probability is that your batter is too thin. This is, oftener than any other cause, the mistake in cake making. Thin batter puffs up like a souffle when baked, and, like the souffle, collapses in cooling.

Or the fault may be in too rapid baking. Do you cover the cakes during the first half of the time they are in the oven? And is the heat steady? Try making the batter a trifle more consistent.

Three Good Recipes.

"My offering is three recipes that have never failed me. They may help some Newlywed who likes to get up homemade menus.

"GRAHAM BREAD—Two cups of bread dough, one egg, one tablespoonful of lard, one-third of a cupful of sugar, graham flour.

"Mix into the dough as much of the graham flour as you can by using a spoon. Let it rise and, make into a loaf. Set for the second rising and, when it is light, bake.

"WHITE CAKE, ALIAS 'BRIDE'S DELIGHT—Two cups of sugar, one and a half cups of milk, half a cup of butter, three cups of flour, three teaspoonfuls of baking powder, whites of four eggs. N. B.—This cake has never failed.

"FUDGE—Two cups of sugar, one cup of milk, two squares of unsweetened chocolate. Boil slowly, stirring little, until when a little dropped into cold water may be formed with the fingers into a soft ball. Then add butter, about the size of a walnut, and set aside to cool.

"Do not beat until it is perfectly cold. Just before pouring it out of the kettle add a cupful of English walnut meats broken to pieces. If at any time the fudge is too hard, beat again, adding cream.

"In answer to a request made by a Minnesota housewife I add this recipe for:

"REAL GERMAN KAFFELKUCHEN—One cup of bread sponge, one tablespoonful of lard, half a cupful of currants. Flour to make a dough not quite so stiff as that for bread. Just before baking spread with soft butter, sprinkle with sugar and cinnamon.

MRS. L. A. R."

Notable additions to our store of recipes. I wish you had said how soft the bread dough must be which would allow enough graham flour to be worked in to entitle the product to the name of "graham bread." Don't you mean bread sponge? Let us hear from you again on this little point.

As you will see, I have taken the liberty of substituting "teaspoonfuls" of baking powder for your "tablespoonfuls" in the recipe for "bride's delight." The larger quantity was undoubtedly a slip of the pen. Having made the like on sundry occasions, I can comprehend how it happened. Three tablespoonfuls of baking powder to three cupfuls of flour would have made an odd combination which would have been anything but a "delight."

At least, this is my idea of the proportions. I recall that I once wrote "pounds" instead of ounces, and, had not the proofreader "queried" it, the atrocity would habe been published. I have always been grateful to that man!

Recipe for Taffy Apples.

"Could you kindly give me a recipe for taffy apples? I have children who love them dearly.

MRS. W. H."

As your letter did not reach me until the Sunday specified had passed I cannot comply with your request in full. It is never practicable to answer a query in the paper within a week after it comes to me. The mail is immense and a certain degree of order in replying to queries must be preserved. Consoling myself for the inability to do as you wished and as I should like to do, with the reflection that the children's love for the delicacy is likely to be perennial, I offer the coveted recipe.

TAFFY APPLES—Get clean, sound lady apples. Stir a cupful of sugar into a pint of molasses and when the sugar has dissolved set over the fire where it will heat slowly to a boil. Cook for twenty minutes after the bubble becomes general, and drop into the mixture a teaspoonful of baking soda. Do not stir the sirup or it may granulate. The soda will take care of itself and with much fizzling and foaming blend with the acid in the molasses. Shake the pan to prevent scorching at the bottom. Watch it constantly and lift the saucepan into the air for a minute, should the boil become violent. At the end of half an hour test the sirup with a spoon to see if it is brittle. If it spins a thread from the tip of the spoon and hardens instantly when dropped into iced water it is done.

Turn into a bowl to cool and make ready the apples by running a long splint of wood or a hat pin or a toothpick into the stem end. When the taffy is more than lukewarm yet not hot enough to burn the finger dip the apples in and hang them from a line stretched across the room. Let a few clinging drops fall before you hang them. There should be a smart current of frosty air blowing through the room and over them to cool the taffy quickly. You will perhaps have to dip them several times, letting the candy covering then get hard before you do this. The sticks are necessary to keep them in shape. It would not do to lay them down or to let them touch one another.

The success of the recipe depends upon the brittleness of the boiled sirup.

Anent the "Turkey Question."

"Just now the 'Turkey question' is uppermost in the public mind. Now that Thanksgiving and Christmas are among the things that were, I want to tell housemothers of my economical way of serving the parts of the national bird left after the feasts are over.

"First—Take off with a sharp knife all the meat that will come away in nice, large, neat pieces and serve cold or warmed up in the giblet gravy.

"Second—Break apart the bones and pick out and off all the small pieces of meat which adhere to the carcass. Put into a small pan with some of the stuffing and a few stalks of celery. Chop this fine, make into balls or rolls, roll in egg and cracker crumbs, and fry as croquettes.

"Third—Put all the bones thus denuded into a kettle, cover with cold water, and season well. Cook slowly until the bones are perfectly clean, remove them, and strain the soup. You will have a most appetizing broth for the first course of your dinner of cold meat, with the croquettes as an entrée.

MRS. F. A. D."

You might have made a scallop of the first gleaning from the skeleton which would have gone further than the cold meat by reason of the addition of crumbs and milk. The second scrapings might have been wrought into a [illegible] or even elegant salad by the help of the celery. Your dinner would have been [illegible] tempting. Cold meats are [illegible] in winter. We thank you for [illegible] far a turkey may be made to [illegible]. Questions dealing with [illegible] leftovers, yet which play [illegible] gallantly, appeal to me with [illegible]. "Turkey rack soup," as the [illegible] name it, is a prime favorite in our household. It is a sort of final [illegible] the vanishing bird who [illegible] last. Not a scrap of him [illegible] away until the bones are [illegible] drop of savoriness.

What Are "Rillettes"?

Some weeks ago we [illegible] an inquiry as to the nature and [illegible] of "rillettes." A member wrote [illegible] how to make them—[illegible] a dish she had eaten and [illegible] seven years ago which [illegible] pound of fresh rillettes." [illegible] ignorance frankly and [illegible] enment. This is supplied by a Pennsylvania correspondent:

"Upon page [illegible] Dictionary' we read: [illegible] pork.'

"This work was [illegible] Routledge & Sons, London, by [illegible] & Tauchnitz, Leipsic.

"Is this what 'F. L.' wants? C. L. A."

You may be right and the definition correct. In which case "rillettes" would seem to be a refined edition of the [illegible] sausage.

Yet "F. L." should not have had so much trouble in getting them in her city [illegible]. Hear her plaint!

"The rillettes which New York restaurant keepers pretend to make are worthless for our purpose."

So, in spite of Murray, Routledge, [illegible] hard, and Tauchnitz, we are sent groping in the fog again. Who can tell us what the vaunted "rillette" is?

FAMILY MEALS FOR A WEEK

"Some weeks ago the following question and answer appeared in the Helping Hand:

"'I see that you answer questions on household subjects, and especially on management. I am a young housekeeper, and my husband doesn't earn good wages. I should like to know how we can live on $4 a week and have nice things to eat. I don't want anything elaborate. NORA.

"'A puzzle which I submit to a comittee of the whole. Can two healthy persons live and keep in tolerably good plight upon $4 a week for food alone? If so, tell us how, giving figures and food.'

"I purpose to answer this question in the affirmative if you will resign the menu corner to me for one week. The bills of fare I inclose may be filled at the price named by 'Nora.' I send a list of purchases that prove this. You need not print the menus if you are not convinced by the examination of this list that my claim is valid.

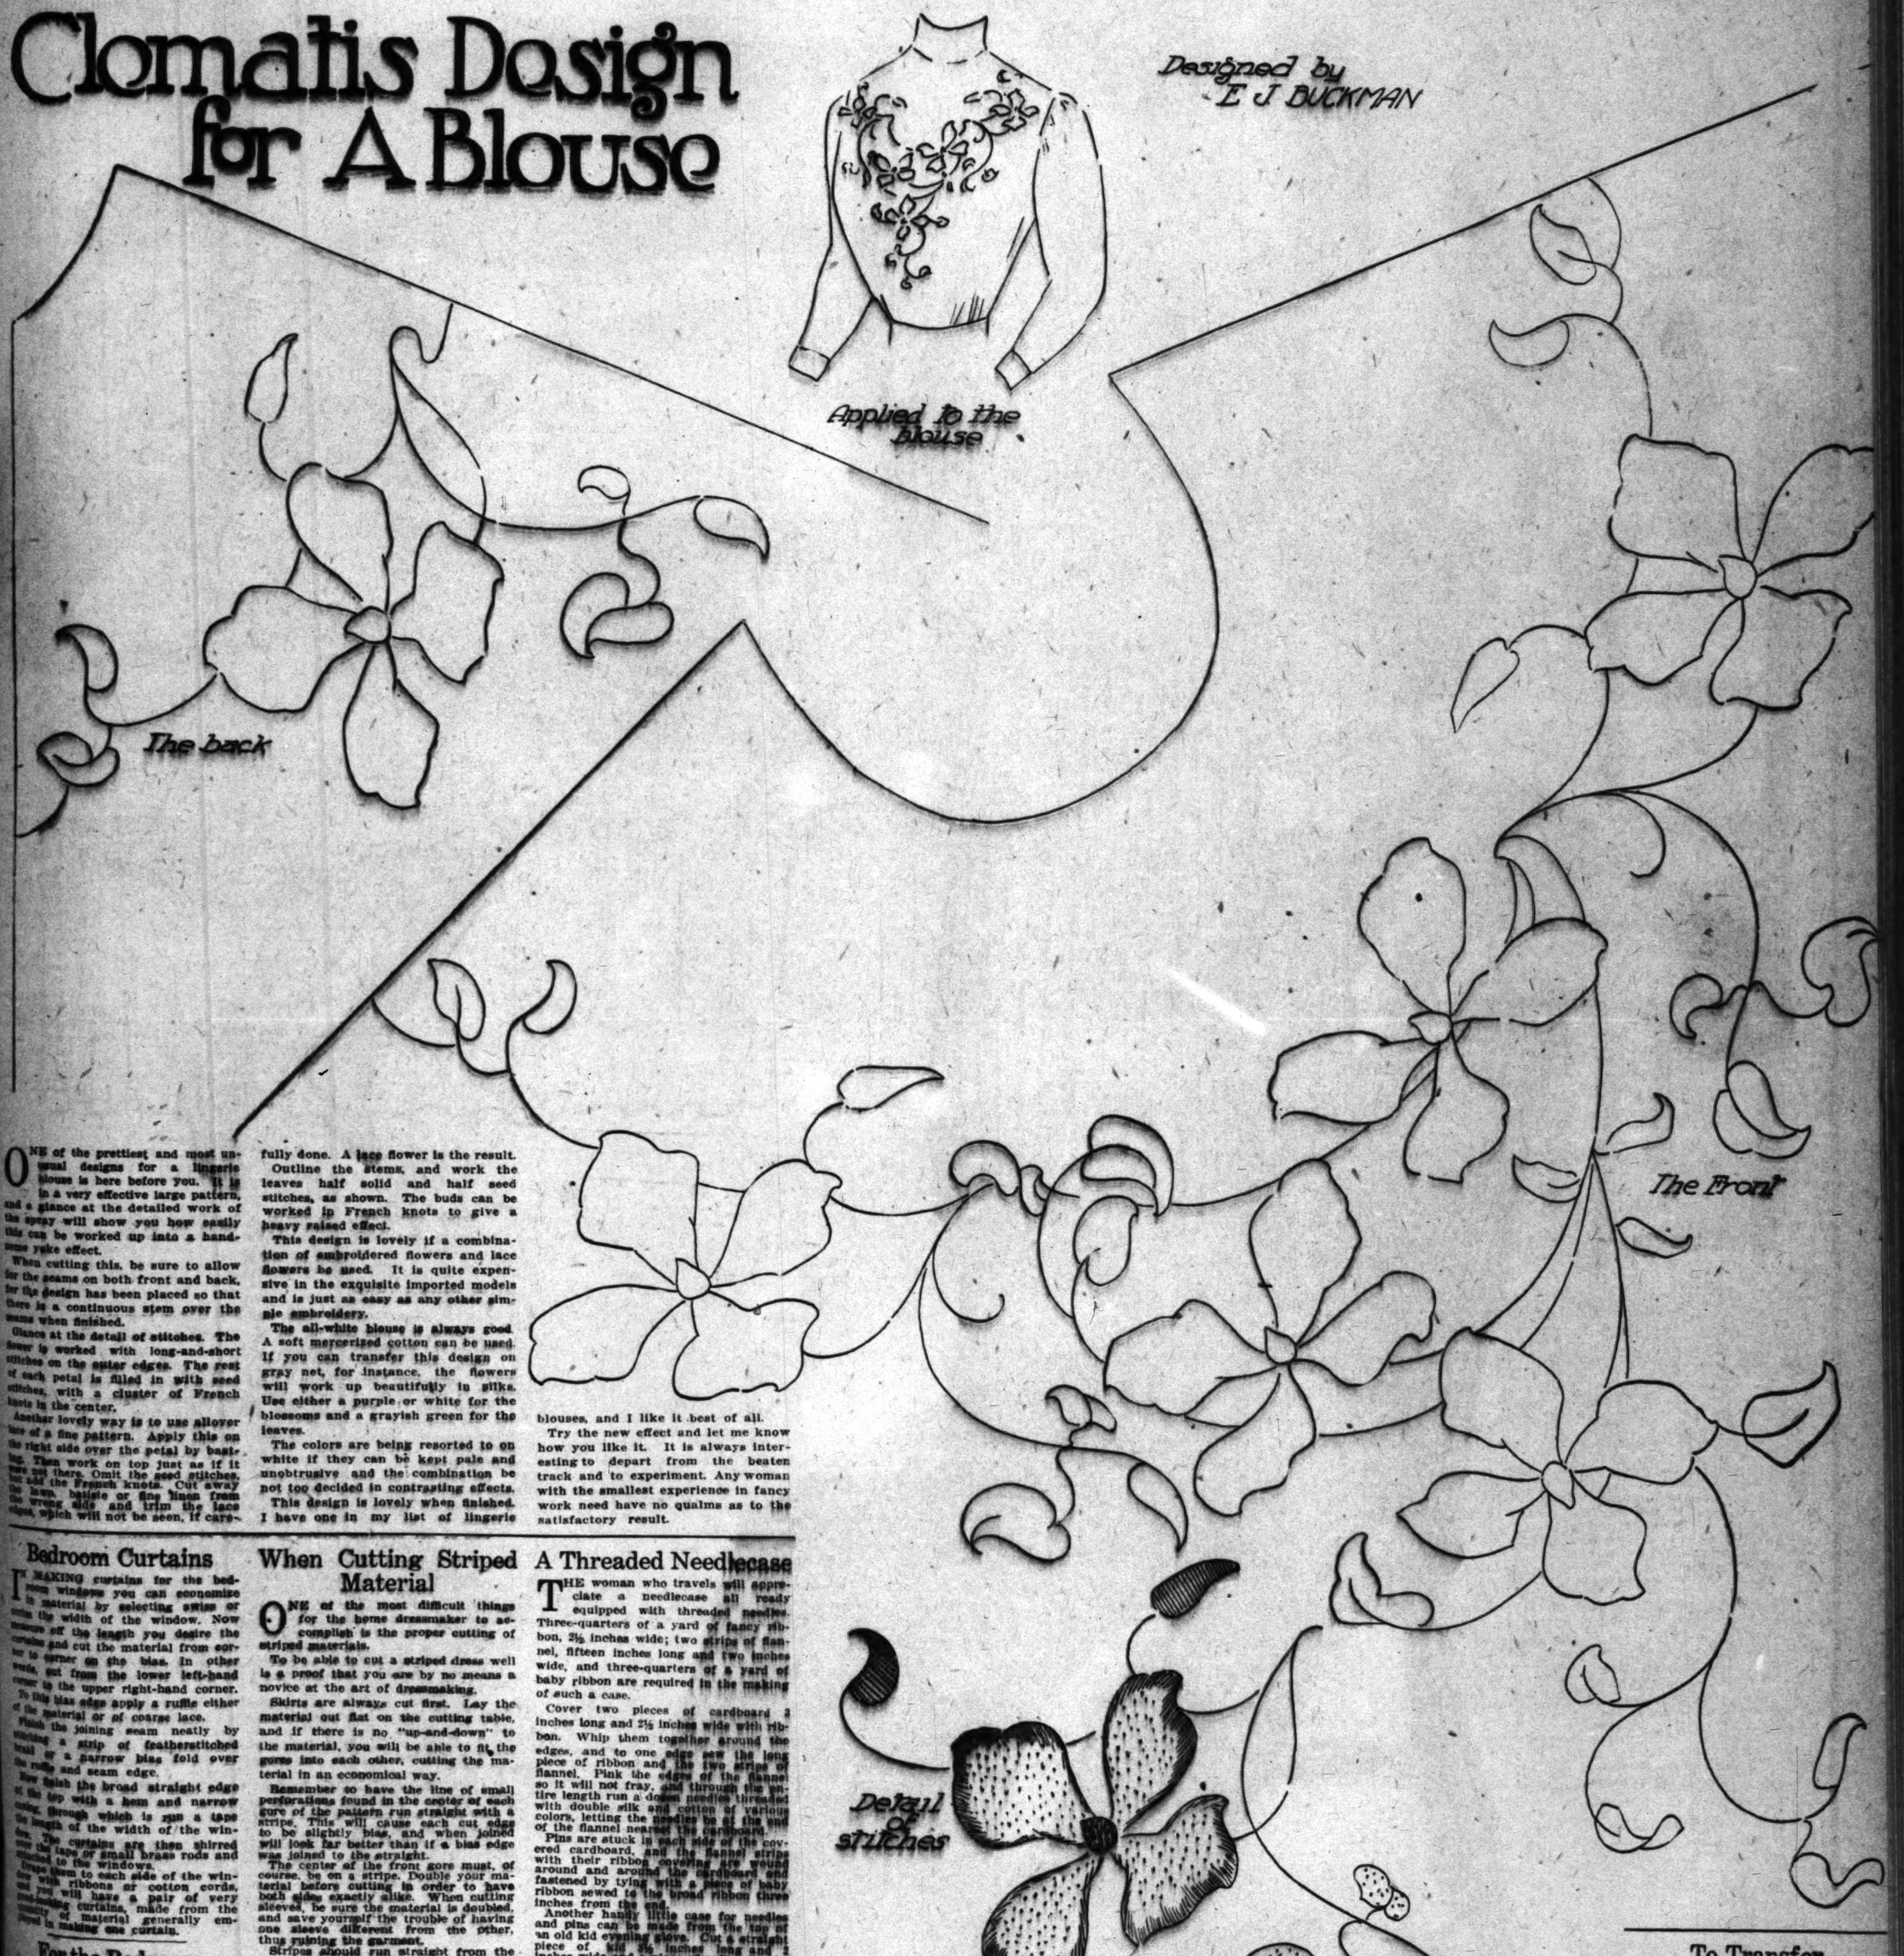
The foregoing is submitted to the judgment of housewives who clamor for economical menus which shall yet combine palatableness with nourishment, variety, and cheapness. They are also referred for careful consideration to the scores of Johns who prick up their ears at sound of "four dollars a week enough for a family of two or three," and forthwith demand of their respective and harried spouses, "Why cannot you do what other women and housekeepers do?" There is not a doubt that the above meals may be set upon the table for the sum named by the compiler in reply to "Nora." Will our critical John be content with it for his healthy, hungry self? We should like to hear from wives and husbands upon the points suggested.

For the INDUSTRIOUS NEEDLEWOMAN

By ADELAIDE BYRD

Clematis Design for A Blouse



ONE of the prettiest and most unusual designs for a lingerie blouse is here before you. It is in a very effective large pattern, and a glance at the detailed work of the spray will show you how easily this can be worked up into a handsome yoke effect.

When cutting this, be sure to allow for the seams on both front and back, for the design has been placed so that there is a continuous stem over the seams when finished.

Glance at the detail of stitches. The flower is worked with long-and-short stitches on the outer edges. The rest of each petal is filled in with seed stitches, with a cluster of French knots in the center.

Another lovely way is to use allover lace of a fine pattern. Apply this on the right side over the petal by basting. Then work on top just as if it were not there. Omit the seed stitches, but add the French knots. Cut away the lawn, batiste or fine linen from the wrong side and trim the lace edges, which will not be seen, if carefully done. A lace flower is the result.

Outline the stems, and work the leaves half solid and half seed stitches, as shown. The buds can be worked in French knots to give a heavy raised effect.

This design is lovely if a combination of embroidered flowers and lace flowers be used. It is quite expensive in the exquisite imported models and is just as easy as any other simple embroidery.

The all-white blouse is always good. A soft mercerized cotton can be used. If you can transfer this design on gray net, for instance, the flowers will work up beautifully in silks. Use either a purple or white for the blossoms and a grayish green for the leaves.

The colors are being resorted to on white if they can be kept pale and unobtrusive and the combination be not too decided in contrasting effects.

This design is lovely when finished. I have one in my list of lingerie blouses, and I like it best of all.

Try the new effect and let me know how you like it. It is always interesting to depart from the beaten track and to experiment. Any woman with the smallest experience in fancy work need have no qualms as to the satisfactory result.

Bedroom Curtains

IN MAKING curtains for the bedroom windows you can economize in material by selecting swiss or satin the width of the window. Now measure off the length you desire the curtains and cut the material from corner to corner on the bias. In other words, cut from the lower left-hand corner to the upper right-hand corner. To this bias edge apply a ruffle either of the material or of coarse lace.

Finish the joining seam neatly by stitching a strip of featherstitched braid or a narrow bias fold over the ruffle and seam edge.

Now finish the broad straight edge at the top with a hem and narrow casing, through which is run a tape the length of the width of the window. The curtains are then shirred over the tape or small brass rods and attached to the windows.

Drape them to each side of the window with ribbons or cotton cords, and you will have a pair of very good-looking curtains, made from the quantity of material generally employed in making one curtain.

For the Bedroom

DAINTY bedroom accessories in the way of curtains, bedspread, bureau and dresser scarfs can be easily made at small cost of striped or checked gingham.

Blue and white is a clean, cool color to select.

For the bedspread use coarse white lace insertion about an inch and a half wide to join the breadths together down the center and also to place at the heading of a ruffle eight inches wide that is placed on each side and across the bottom of the spread.

Shams for pillows are edged with narrow insertion and a four-inch ruffle. For the bureau scarf use three twelve-inch strips of gingham, joined and edged with insertion.

The window curtains are made perfectly plain, excepting for a ruffle [illegible] beaded with insertion. A [illegible] valance across the top is edged with a narrow ruffle also. With a blue-and-white [illegible] rug on the floor this makes a most attractive room for a young girl. Gingham is very inexpensive and launders beautifully.

When Cutting Striped Material

To be able to cut a striped dress well is a proof that you are by no means a novice at the art of dressmaking.

Skirts are always cut first. Lay the material out flat on the cutting table, and if there is no "up-and-down" to the material, you will be able to fit the gores into each other, cutting the material in an economical way.

Remember to have the line of small perforations found in the center of each gore of the pattern run straight with a stripe. This will cause each cut edge to be slightly bias, and when joined will look far better than if a bias edge was joined to the straight.

The center of the front gore must, of course, be on a stripe. Double your material before cutting in order to have both sides exactly alike. When cutting sleeves, be sure the material is doubled, and save yourself the trouble of having one sleeve different from the other, thus ruining the garment.

Stripes should run straight from the shoulder to the waist in sleeves. Have the stripes run straight down the center of the front and straight down the center of the back when cutting the bodice. Always allow plenty of material for seams when striped material is used, and be sure that the stripes match in the joining of seams.

Gilded Laces

ONE clever woman who appreciates artistic touches on her gowns and hats discovered while gilding little fancy things for Christmas that laces are made very beautiful by applying to them a coat of gilt paint.

She experimented at first with old bits of lace, and found the result so satisfactory that some yards of coarse imitation Irish lace were gilded and used as trimming on an evening gown.

To do the gilding, lay the lace perfectly flat over a clean piece of blotting paper and apply the gilt with a brush.

Let one side dry, turn and repeat the process on the other side.

If necessary, apply two coats of paint. Silver and copper can be applied in the same way. Lace treated thus is lovely for all sorts of fancy work, besides trimming for gowns and hats.

A Threaded Needlecase

THE woman who travels will appreciate a needlecase all ready equipped with threaded needles. Three-quarters of a yard of fancy ribbon, 2½ inches wide; two strips of flannel, fifteen inches long and two inches wide, and three-quarters of a yard of baby ribbon are required in the making of such a case.

Cover two pieces of cardboard 3 inches long and 2½ inches wide with ribbon. Whip them together around the edges, and to one edge sew the long piece of ribbon and the two strips of flannel. Pink the edges of the flannel so it will not fray, and through the entire length run a dozen needles threaded with double silk and cotton of various colors, letting the needles be at the end of the flannel nearest the cardboard.

Pins are stuck in each side of the covered cardboard, and the flannel strips with their ribbon covering are wound around and around the cardboard and fastened by tying with a piece of baby ribbon sewed to the broad ribbon three inches from the end.

Another handy little case for needles and pins can be made from the top of an old kid evening glove. Cut a straight piece of kid 3½ inches long and 2 inches wide and a piece of soft satin the same size. Turn in the edges of the satin and featherstitch with self-colored silk. A little pocket is attached to one end by stitching a piece of satin one inch wide to the lining satin, and all are stitched securely to the kid covering.

Pins, safety pins and needles are stuck into the satin, and in the pocket are slipped two little cardboard bobbins wound with black and white thread. The case is then folded over in three parts and fastened with a glove snap or tied with ribbon.

On the outside the kid can be decorated as desired or the covering can be of heavy silk, brocade or linen embroidered with any dainty design.

A Rolled Hem

TO WHIP on the edge of a frill or as trimming for an undergarment without rolling the edge of the material, place the lace one-fourth of an inch from the edge of the material and whip it closely; then roll the material into a neat and even hem.

This is particularly satisfactory for bias materials or circular edges, and will iron without wrinkling.

When Placing Sleeves

A GOOD rule to follow when determining the proper position of sleeves when placing them in a blouse is to fold the sleeve along the forward seam and crease it at the top of the fold at the opposite side.

This crease marks the point of the sleeve that is to be sewed to the shoulder seam.

On this crease the forward seam of the sleeve is pinned. It is then an easy matter to baste in the under part of the sleeve and, gathering the upper part of the sleeve, baste that in even with the edge of the armhole.

Lace-Edged Doilies

IN MAKING a set of round doilies for Christmas gifts one woman made the discovery that by stitching narrow hems in the edges with a rather long machine stitch she could very easily crochet linen thread lace on the edges, catching a loop of the linen thread in each machine stitch.

A simple wreath of scattered daisies and leaves was embroidered on each linen circle, then a two-inch edge of lace, resembling torchon, was crocheted about the edge of each. The effect is wonderfully good. The work is easily done, making a charming set for gifts.

About Buttonholes

EVEN such simple things as buttons and buttonholes require proper treatment to insure neatness.

When buttoning or unbuttoning a garment, forcing the buttons across the width of the hole will soon tear out the latter.

For this reason, buttons with only two holes are better than those with four, and should be so placed that their holes will be on a line with the length of the buttonhole.

Some women place buttons with four holes so that only two holes need be sewed through—those on the opposite corners—thus making them last longer than if all four were used.

To Transfer

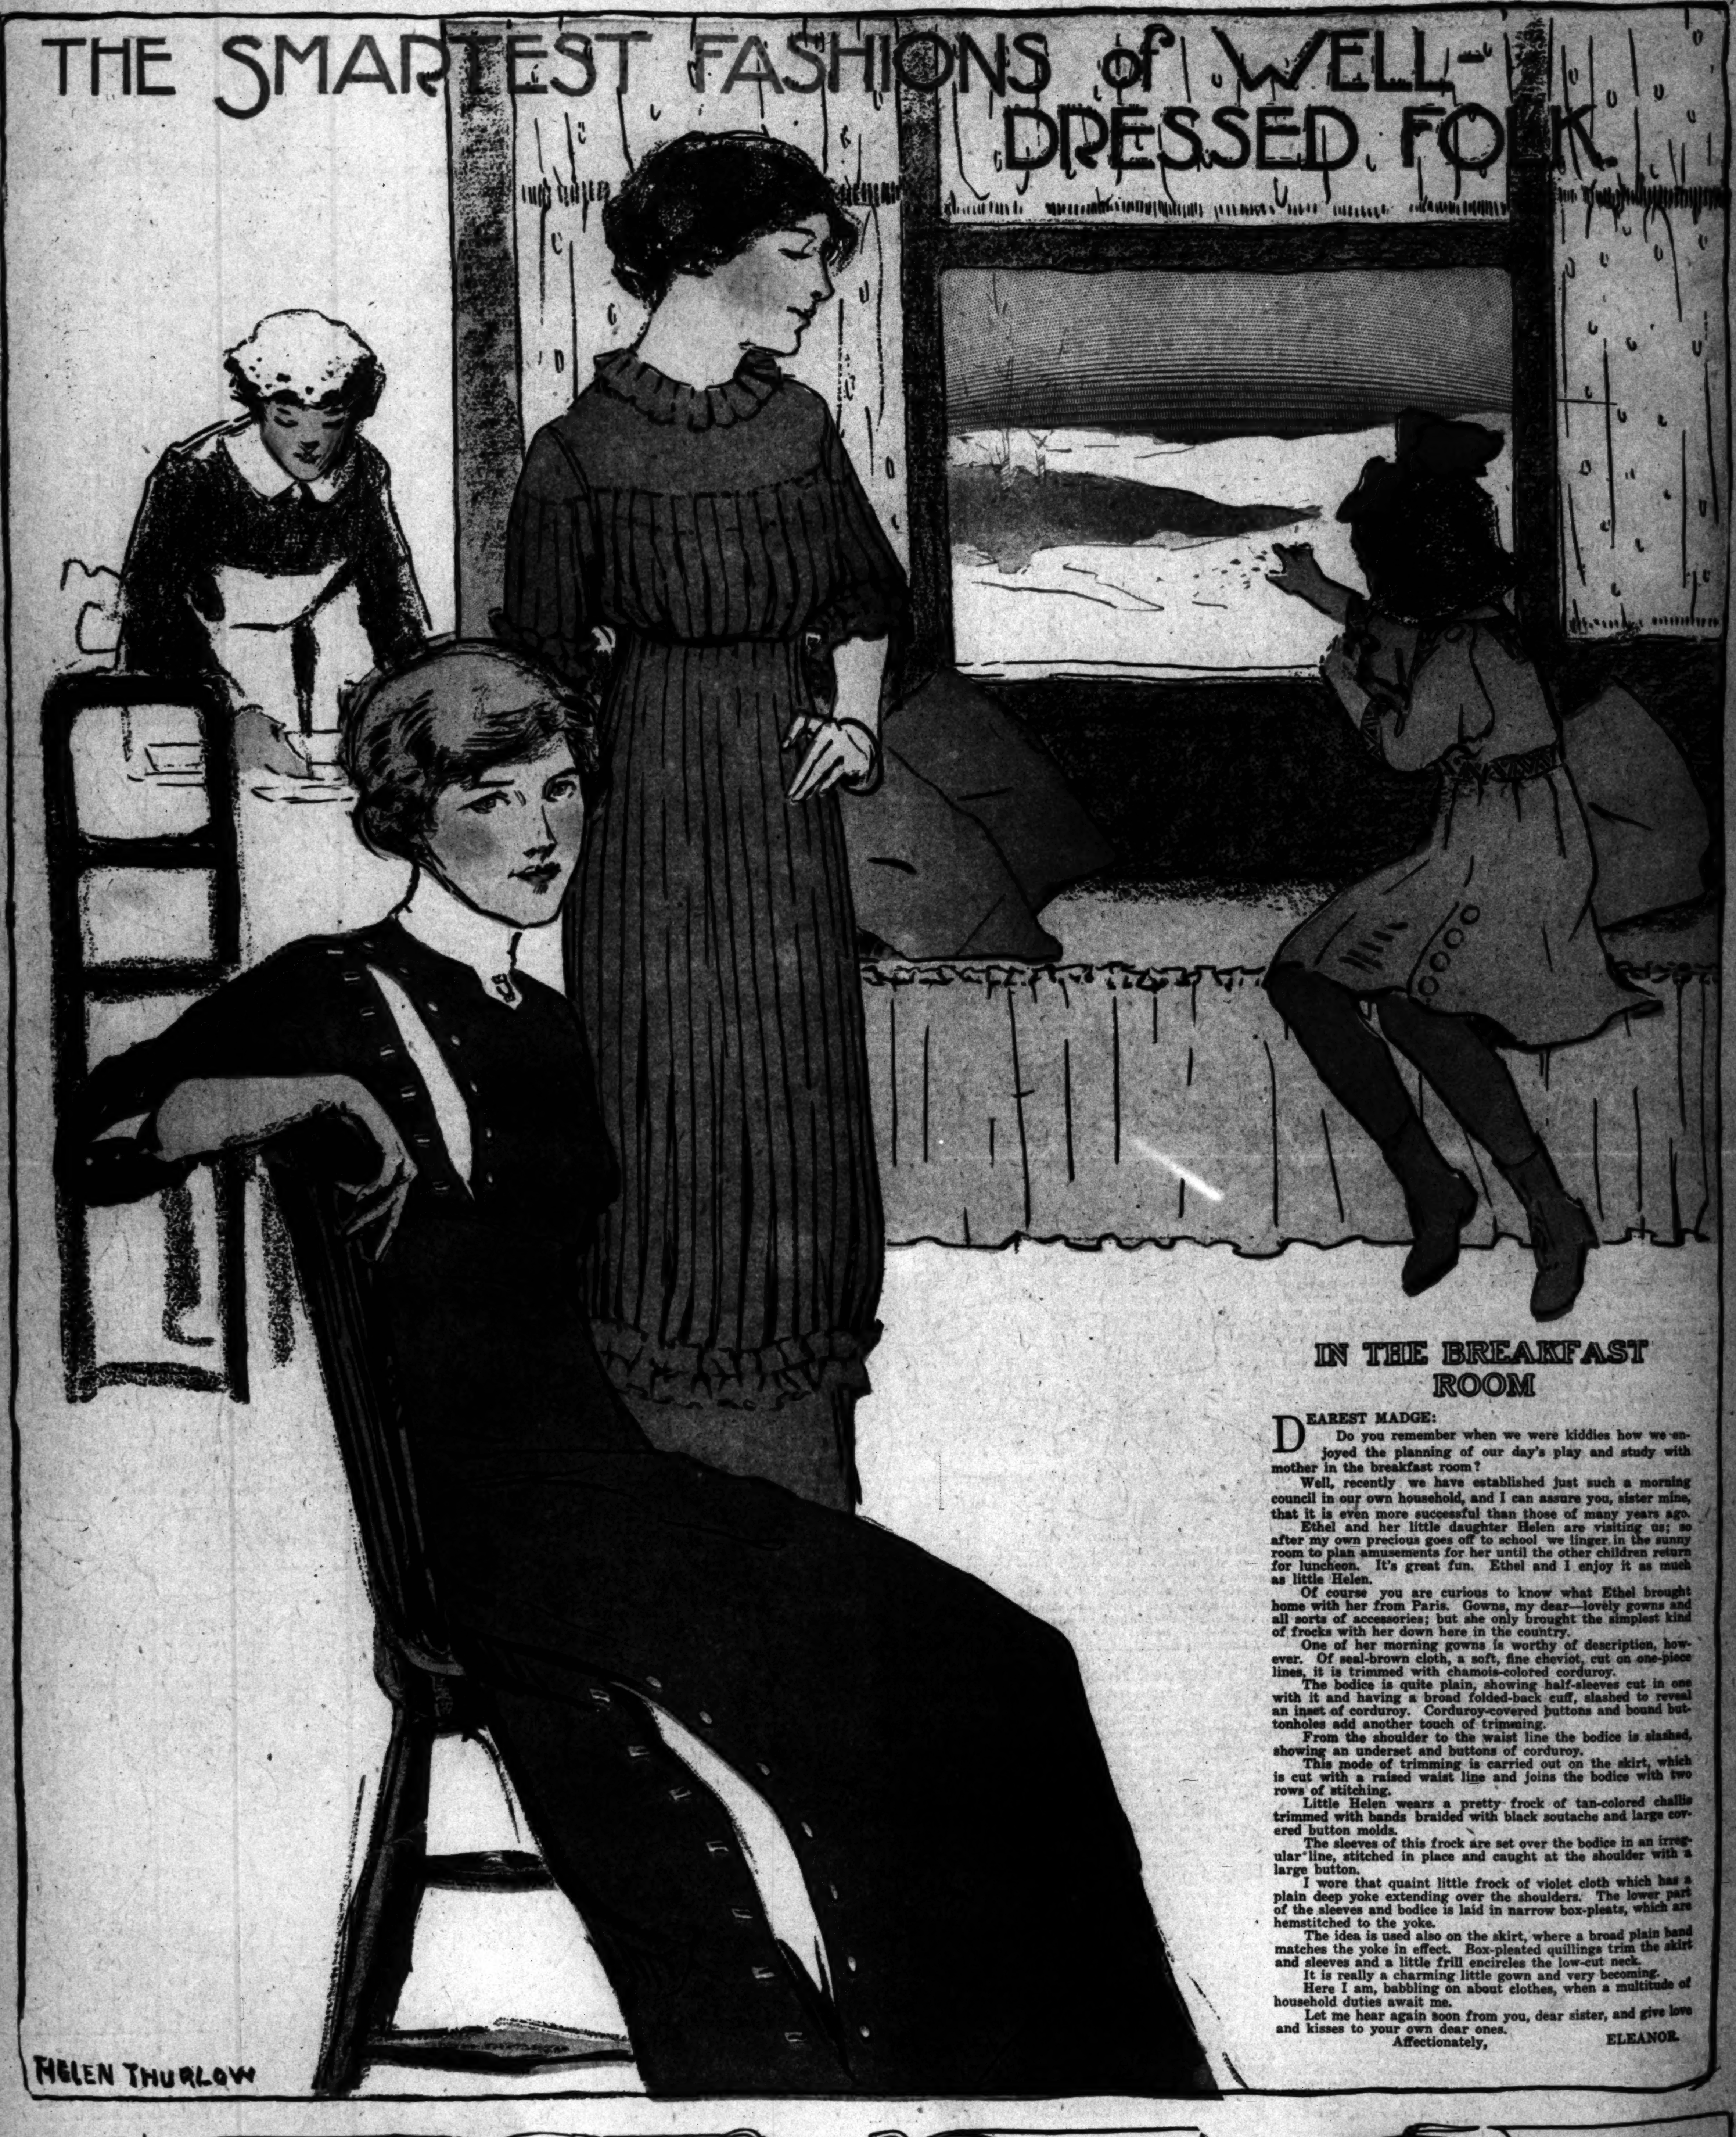
HERE are suggestions for transferring the pattern before yo to any material before work

Perhaps the easiest way is the "w dow-pane" method. This is succes when the material is thin, like lin batiste, etc. Pin the sheet of paper the material together and hold them against the glass of a window. W a sharp pencil draw on the mater the design, which can be easily se through the goods. If one-half of the design only be given, unpin the paper and turn the other side to the fabric. The strong light behind will make it plain.

If you have carbon paper, you should place the sheet between your fabric and the newspaper. This latter is on top. With a sharp pencil go over the outline of the design. The impression will be left in fine lines and will last until worked. This method is successful on heavy material.

Surely the way is easy.

THE SMARTEST FASHIONS of WELL-DRESSED FOLK



IN THE BREAKFAST ROOM

DEAREST MADGE:

Do you remember when we were kiddies how we enjoyed the planning of our day's play and study with mother in the breakfast room?

Well, recently we have established just such a morning council in our own household, and I can assure you, sister mine, that it is even more successful than those of many years ago.

Ethel and her little daughter Helen are visiting us; so after my own precious goes off to school we linger in the sunny room to plan amusements for her until the other children return for luncheon. It's great fun. Ethel and I enjoy it as much as little Helen.

Of course you are curious to know what Ethel brought home with her from Paris. Gowns, my dear—lovely gowns and all sorts of accessories; but she only brought the simplest kind of frocks with her down here in the country.

One of her morning gowns is worthy of description, however. Of seal-brown cloth, a soft, fine cheviot, cut on one-piece lines, it is trimmed with chamois-colored corduroy.

The bodice is quite plain, showing half-sleeves cut in one with it and having a broad folded-back cuff, slashed to reveal an inset of corduroy. Corduroy-covered buttons and bound buttonholes add another touch of trimming.

From the shoulder to the waist line the bodice is slashed, showing an underset and buttons of corduroy.

This mode of trimming is carried out on the skirt, which is cut with a raised waist line and joins the bodice with two rows of stitching.

The sleeves of this frock are set over the bodice in an irregular line, stitched in place and caught at the shoulder with a large button.

I wore that quaint little frock of violet cloth which has a plain deep yoke extending over the shoulders. The lower part of the sleeves and bodice is laid in narrow box-pleats, which are hemstitched to the yoke.

The idea is used also on the skirt, where a broad plain band matches the yoke in effect. Box-pleated quillings trim the skirt and sleeves and a little frill encircles the low-cut neck.

It is really a charming little gown and very becoming.

Here I am, babbling on about clothes, when a multitude of household duties await me.

Let me hear again soon from you, dear sister, and give love and kisses to your own dear ones.

Affectionately, ELEANOR.
